Taubman Provides Update on Board Refreshment and Declassification Commitments

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. - July 26, 2017 - Taubman Centers, Inc. (NYSE: TCO) (the “Company”) today provided updates on its previously announced commitments to accelerate board refreshment and transition to annual elections for directors:

Taubman is advancing with its plans to refresh the Board and intends to announce at least two new independent directors prior to the 2018 Annual Meeting and an additional third new independent director by the 2019 Annual Meeting if not before, along with a like number of director retirements. These changes will be in addition to the two new independent directors, Myron (“Mike”) E. Ullman and Cia Buckley Marakovits, who joined Taubman’s nine member Board last year. Taubman is moving expeditiously and is working with a leading, nationally recognized independent director search firm. Taubman’s board refreshment goals take into account input from Taubman’s shareholders and its self-assessment and evaluation process and include bringing additive skillsets to the Board, increasing board diversity and reducing the average age and tenure of the Board’s independent directors through director additions and retirements.

In transitioning to annual elections as previously announced, directors will be elected for one-year terms beginning with the 2018 class of directors. Later classes will also stand for one-year terms at subsequent annual meetings, and the board will be fully declassified by the 2020 annual meeting when the directors in the 2017 director class complete their elected terms.

“We appreciate and value the perspectives our shareholders have shared with us, and we remain focused on following through on our commitments, including identifying highly qualified new independent directors to complement the Board’s expertise,” said Mike Ullman, Lead Director of Taubman and Chair of the Board’s Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee. “The Board unanimously supports these actions and remains committed to acting in the best interests of the Company and all of its shareholders. Taubman is navigating a rapidly evolving retail environment from a strong competitive position with best-in-class assets, and the Board and management are focused on executing the right strategies that will help build on Taubman’s long track record of success.”
