Dear [Name],

On 28 January it was announced to the New York Stock Exchange that Delphi Technologies and BorgWarner have entered into an agreement under which BorgWarner will acquire Delphi Technologies, creating a pioneering propulsion technologies company uniquely equipped to serve OEM and Aftermarket customers around the world.

You can read the full stock exchange announcement here <https://leadingpropulsion.com/>

This deal presents an exciting opportunity for the companies to evolve together to meet our customers' current and future propulsion opportunities. Delphi Technologies and Borg Warner will have greater scale and complementary portfolios of industry-leading products, systems and technologies, with combined revenues of more than $14bn and comprehensive global reach.

We will be well positioned to serve OEMs and IAM customers around the world across the full range of combustion, hybrid and electric propulsion and Aftermarket products, as the demand grows for cleaner and more efficient vehicles. BorgWarner's leadership team shares our focus on addressing today's and tomorrow's market opportunities.

Further strengths of the combination include:

- A more balanced revenue exposure to light and commercial vehicle segments.
- Almost doubling the size of our Aftermarket business.
- A stronger balance sheet that can support incremental investment in people, new products and operating facilities.

Important Information for our customers:

- From here, we start the process to receive approval from our shareholders and regulatory authorities, and we expect transaction to close in the second half of 2020.
- Until this happens, it's business as usual, and Delphi Technologies and BorgWarner will continue to operate as separate, independent companies.
- Until the transaction is complete, our product roadmap and customer service commitment remains unaffected.

We will share more information over the coming weeks, but please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any further queries.

With Best Regards,
