FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CENTURYTEL EXPLORING SEPARATION OF WIRELESS OPERATIONS

MONROE, LA, August 15, 2001 - CenturyTel, Inc. (NYSE: CTL) today announced that it is exploring the potential separation of the Company's wireless and wireline businesses.

"While the wireless business continues to produce strong results, CenturyTel believes that attractive acquisition alternatives are developing in the wireline sector that could drive strong growth," said Glen F. Post, III, President and Chief Executive Officer. "This process could result in the positioning of CenturyTel as the leading pure-play rural local exchange carrier in the industry."

CenturyTel is in discussions with a number of parties who have expressed interest in its wireless operations. The Company had previously offered Alltel an opportunity to participate in this process.

Last week CenturyTel's Board unanimously rejected Alltel's unsolicited merger proposal after full and appropriate consideration and advice from its financial and legal advisors. CenturyTel is highly suspicious of Alltel's motives in making public CenturyTel's confidential exploration of the possible separation of its wireless and wireline businesses.

Post said, "Alltel's unsolicited proposal and inappropriate disclosure will not deter CenturyTel from continuing to compete with Alltel for wireline acquisitions or pursuing other strategies that it believes are in the best interests of the Company. Our Board has the means and the will to execute our strategies. A combination with Alltel would not accomplish these strategic objectives."
