A letter from Jay Farner

Rocket Companies, CEO

Numbers and money follow, they do not lead.

That may seem like an unconventional, maybe even odd, way to kick off the first page of an S-1. But then again, if you ask around, you quickly learn our company has spent the last 35 years becoming America's largest mortgage lender by taking the road less traveled. We invest for the long term and place tremendous value in supporting our team members, clients and hometowns.

Our company operates with 19 principles as key drivers. Known as "ISMs," these deceptively simple fundamentals drive our decisions and are at the heart of our entrepreneurial culture. If you were to ask for our secret sauce it would be our ISMs.

One of those ISMs is numbers and money follow, they do not lead.

You see, Rocket Mortgage—a name now synonymous with digital mortgage lending—could never have been built if we had taken a short-term view, focused solely on short-term profitability. More than 500 developers, designers, QA technicians and business analysts worked for more than three years to completely redesign the highly complex mortgage process into what we introduced to the world in late 2015. We distilled a complicated, paper-intensive process down to a simple app that could be completed quickly, and from the convenience of a smart phone.

We were blessed with the blueprints for this type of success. In 1998 our founder and chairman, Dan Gilbert, pioneered the digitization of mortgages in America by penning a now famous email calling out the opportunity that the internet presented to consumers and lenders alike. Less than a year after that letter, we launched Rockloans.com and centralized all our operations into internet lending centers. This centralization and technology legacy created the opportunity that led to Rocket Mortgage.

Revolutionizing the mortgage industry, twice, took vision, and patience, to see the process through—but as Dan always reminds us: building something great is messy. I'm proud to lead 20,000 team members who love the messy, frustrating, difficult process of creating and are always eager to get their hands dirty to help our clients.

This dogged vision toward the future is simply who we are. As we embark on this process of making a public offering, there are a few things I want you to know about our company. Above and beyond the strong financials you'll see in the S-1, you'll get an up close and personal view into how Rocket Companies operates. These are some of the things I want you to keep in mind as you read this document:

- We seek to execute for the long term. Rocket Mortgage took three years to get right because we refused to bring an inferior product to market. We saw a need and knew what it would take to revolutionize an industry. We will never settle for just 'good enough' to garner publicity or to meet arbitrary deadlines. We love complex markets with complex problems, and we have a team of 20,000 people who have a track record of making the complex simple.

- We invest in our people. Our team members are the lifeblood of our success. They drive everything we do. From helping our clients with a mortgage to helping them purchase their next car, our people are the difference in our clients' lives.

  When COVID struck, and we saw its concerning impacts on China, our technology team was able to quickly purchase millions of dollars' worth of computer equipment to ensure all our 20,000 team members had the ability to work from home. This decision was not only the right thing to do to protect our people, but it was also the catalyst to ensure that we had record months in March, April, May and June—all while 98% of our team members worked from home. As I said—numbers and money follow.

- We obsess over our clients. In this case, the numbers that followed are 10 consecutive #1 rankings on J.D Power's study of client service in mortgage origination and 6 straight top spots for mortgage servicing. This recognition is based solely on client feedback and is the end result of our commitment to making sure every client had the best experience. Every time—no exceptions, no excuses.

  We sweat the small stuff when it comes to our clients' experiences. So much so that in 2004 we created an entire team, which we call Mousetrap, to help us find every possible process improvement to simplify and revolutionize the process for our clients. This philosophy has permeated our company and today is a driving force behind everything we do.

- We do things the right way. Our policy is that we never sacrifice our reputation, or our clients' best interest, for short-term profitability. When you do the right thing, success follows. Our company has always been obsessed with this philosophy – it is instrumental in protecting the reputation of our 20,000 team members and the financial futures of our clients.

- We help the communities we call home. One of our greatest assets is our philosophy of being a "for-more-than-profit" company. We are part of a community that is bigger than ourselves. We are proud to put a portion of our profits back into the cities where we work and live— helping those who are not having their needs met. Through the Quicken Loans Community Fund, our contributions and expertise have been able to improve access to housing, employment and education. Each year, we provide millions of dollars to community organizations and programing. Just as impressive, our team members have spent more than 720,000 hours volunteering in the community.

  You won't see a return on this investment in a quarterly earnings report, but some of the most impactful investments are never found on a spreadsheet anyway. We know our community outreach efforts are critical for our neighbors and community partners and often provides wealth found far beyond a pay stub—just ask the 70-plus percent of our team members who gave their time in the community in the last year alone. Simply put, you can do well by doing good.

As you consider our company, I want you to think about who we are just as much as the success we've had. We are strong, both in our financial results and in our resolve to be a force for good.

Last, when thinking about where our company is headed, look at our past. We have a proven record of leading the industry and being prepared no matter where the market takes us. Our digital- first brand is a driver for growth in this highly fragmented market. Even with the title of largest mortgage lender, we believe there is significant opportunity ahead and fresh strategies to reach even more clients. We will build on the blueprint that got us to where we are, while finding new, innovative ways to reach new clients every month.

In closing, I'll quote our founder, Dan Gilbert when we made the well-publicized decision to move our company to downtown Detroit 10 years ago: "who's coming with us?!"

PROSPECTUS SUMMARY

The following summary contains selected information about us and about this offering. It does not contain all of the information that is important to you and your investment decision. Before you make an investment decision, you should review this prospectus in its entirety, including matters set forth under "Risk Factors," "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations," and the historical financial statements and the related notes thereto included elsewhere in this prospectus. Some of the statements in the following summary constitute forward-looking statements. See "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements." Certain percentages and other figures provided and used in this prospectus may not add up to 100.0% due to the rounding of individual components.

COMPANY OVERVIEW

We are a Detroit-based company obsessed with helping our clients achieve the American dream of home ownership and financial freedom. We are committed to providing an industry-leading client experience powered by our award-winning culture and innovative technologies. We believe our widely recognized "Rocket" brand is synonymous with providing simple, fast, and trusted digital solutions for complex personal transactions.

Since our inception in 1985, we have consistently demonstrated our ability to launch new consumer experiences, scale and automate operations, and extend our proprietary technologies to partners. Our flagship business, Rocket Mortgage, is the industry leader, having provided more than $1 trillion in home loans since inception while growing our market share from 1.3% in 2009 to 9.2% in the first quarter of 2020, a CAGR of 19%. We have also expanded into complementary industries, such as real estate services, personal lending, and auto sales. In each of these gigantic and fragmented markets, we seek to gain share and drive profitable growth by reinventing the client experience.

Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, purposefully created a strong cultural foundation of core principles, or "ISMs", as a cultural operating system to guide decision making by all of our team members. At the heart of the ISMs is a simple, yet powerful, concept: "Love our team members. Love our clients." Our team members put the ISMs into action every day. The result is an empowered and passionate team aligned in a common mission. This has led FORTUNE magazine to name us to their list of "100 Best Companies to Work For" for 16 consecutive years.

Our launch of the Rocket Mortgage online platform in 2015 revolutionized the mortgage process as the first end-to-end digital experience, leveraging decades of technology investment and innovation. Rocket Mortgage is the simplest and most convenient way to get a mortgage. This digital solution utilizes automated data retrieval and advanced underwriting technology to deliver fast, tailored solutions to the palm of a client's hand. Our Rocket Mortgage app, which clients use to apply for a mortgage, interact with our team members, upload documents, e-sign documents, receive statements, and complete monthly payments, has a 4.9 star rating on the Apple App Store.

Rocket Mortgage technology extends well beyond the app, seamlessly serving clients and client-facing team members across the entire front-end user experience. Rocket Mortgage technology also facilitates the origination, underwriting, closing, and servicing process in a manner designed to sustain positive ongoing client relationships. We have also built proprietary sales technology that allows us to more effectively connect with and win potential clients. Building off this technology, we developed Rock Connections, our sales and support organization, which supports both Rocket Mortgage and several other external partners.

Rocket Mortgage offers clients speed and simplicity backed by industry-leading automation created through our proprietary software platform and centralized operations. Traditionally, a single processor sequentially performs most loan origination functions. Our process separates these functions to create specialization among team members, automates key steps and prioritizes workflow. Our technology provides our client specialists visibility into the loan process and enables our loans to close faster and more efficiently than industry averages. In 2019, we closed 6.7 loans per month per average production team member, compared to the industry average of 2.3 according to the Mortgage Bankers Association. In 2020, our year to date average has grown to 8.3 loans per month. The result is an unmatched client experience that has earned us recognition as #1 for Mortgage Origination by J.D. Power for the past 10 years—every year we have been eligible for the award.

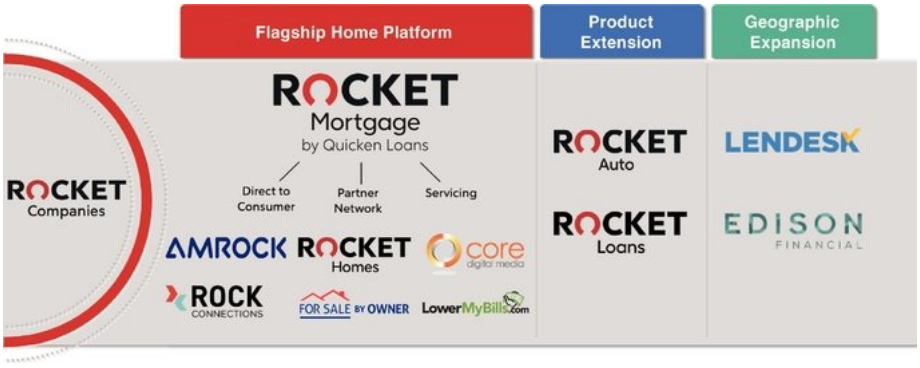
We believe our national Rocket brand establishes a competitive advantage that is difficult to replicate. In our industry, we are the only company of scale with significant digital-first brand recognition. Since our inception, we have invested over $5 billion in marketing, including over $900 million for the year ended December 31, 2019. Our in-house marketing agency has a long history of creating bold and visible events and campaigns, including the Quicken Loans Carrier Classic in 2011—a NCAA Men's Basketball game that raised proceeds for military charities and was attended on Veterans Day by President Obama; the Quicken Loans Billion Dollar Bracket for the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament in 2014, in collaboration with Warren Buffett; the annual Rocket Mortgage Classic—the first ever PGA TOUR event in Detroit; and recently a prominent Super Bowl Squares campaign and our latest Super Bowl ad, featuring actor Jason Momoa, was ranked the fifth best Super Bowl ad by USA Today's Ad Meter.

We also reach potential clients through highly targeted marketing strategies. Our scale and data analytics provide distinct advantages in the efficiency of our marketing initiatives. We utilize data gathered from inquiries, applications and ongoing client relationships to optimize digital performance marketing to reach the right clients with the right solutions. Continuing our growth in digital marketing, in 2017 we acquired Core Digital Media, a top social media and display advertiser. Our specialized marketing capabilities allowed us to generate inquiries from more than 20 million potential clients in 2019.

In 2010, we made the strategic decision to invest in loan servicing. Servicing the loans that we originate provides us with an opportunity to build long-term relationships and continually impress our clients with a seamless experience. We employ the same client-centric culture and technology cultivated in our origination business towards our servicing effort. The result is a differentiated servicing experience focused on client service with positive, regular touchpoints and a better understanding of our clients' future needs. As a result of our operational excellence, in 2019 we achieved overall client retention levels of 63%, and refinancing retention levels of 76%, which is approximately 3.5 times higher than the industry average of 22%. In 2020, our year to date average has grown to nearly 75% overall client retention. Additionally, we have been recognized as #1 for Mortgage Servicing by J.D. Power for the past six years—every year we have been eligible for the award.

Our growth potential is significant. The U.S. residential mortgage market remains highly fragmented. As the largest retail mortgage originator according to Inside Mortgage Finance, we serve 9.2% of an over $2.0 trillion annual market. As adoption of online mortgages increases, we expect to drive further market share growth. Of the clients that applied using our online platform or app, 75% are first-time homeowners and/or Millennials. As a result, we expect our growth to accelerate. As these groups mature and continue to demand a more digital experience, we anticipate that their previous positive experiences with Rocket Mortgage will result in repeat business and further growth of our Company.



One of our strategic priorities is to grow partnerships with other preeminent companies and professionals whose clients benefit from our solutions. We continue to expand our network of high-quality influencers, which include mortgage professionals in the Quicken Loans Mortgage Services (QLMS) network and , and agents. In addition, we have marketing partnerships with Fortune 500 companies such as , and . Our partners rely on our trusted brand and technology to deliver the Rocket experience to their clients. To support this effort, we leveraged our Rocket Mortgage technology to develop Rocket Professional, our proprietary platform that enables our partners to offer our best mortgage options to their clients and provide real-time management of loan applications.

The speed and efficiency of our platform is further enabled by our relationship with our subsidiary Amrock. Amrock is a leading provider of title insurance services, property valuations and settlement services in the nation. This business complements our mortgage origination platform with digital appraisal and closing services integrated throughout our Rocket Mortgage technology and processes. This provides a seamless experience for our clients, from their first interaction with Rocket Mortgage through closing.

We have incubated and organically grown an ecosystem of businesses that creates substantial growth opportunities. Rocket Homes, our proprietary home search platform and real estate agent referral network, helps match Rocket Mortgage clients with highly rated agents, and the coordinated home buying experience improves the certainty of closing. Rocket Homes participated in more than 30,000 real estate transactions in 2019. Rocket Loans, our prime personal loan business, underwrote approximately 25,000 closed loans in 2019 (a year-over-year increase of over 30%). Rocket Auto, our auto sales business that was previously part of Rock Connections, facilitated nearly 20,000 used car sales in 2019, its second full year of operation. We believe our success in the United States can be leveraged in the Canadian mortgage market, a market of approximately $761 billion CAD of annual mortgage originations, and have invested in Lendesk and Edison Financial, two Canadian mortgage business startups.

We have demonstrated a track record of creating value through profitable growth with a capital-light business model. For the year ended December 31, 2019, our total revenue, net was $5.1 billion and net income attributable to Rocket Companies was $893.8 million, representing a 22% and 46% growth from the prior year, respectively. Over the same time period, Adjusted Revenue was $5.9 billion, Adjusted Net Income was $1.3 billion, and Adjusted EBITDA was $1.9 billion. For reconciliation of these non-GAAP measures to their most comparable U.S. GAAP measures, see "Summary Historical and Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial and Other Data" and "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Non-GAAP Financial Measures."

MARKET OPPORTUNITY

We participate in large markets that are changing rapidly. We believe we are well positioned to capitalize on ongoing shifts in market demographics and consumer demands.

We are at the center of the largest consumer asset class in the United States

According to the Mortgage Bankers Association, there is approximately $10.7 trillion of residential mortgage debt outstanding in the United States as of December 31, 2019. Furthermore, the mortgage industry had total originations of $2.2 trillion in 2019 and has averaged $2.0 trillion in annual originations since 2000. Mortgages are almost always the most significant financial product in a consumer's life and loan servicing creates ongoing relationships with clients through their homeownership lifecycle.

The mortgage industry is highly fragmented.

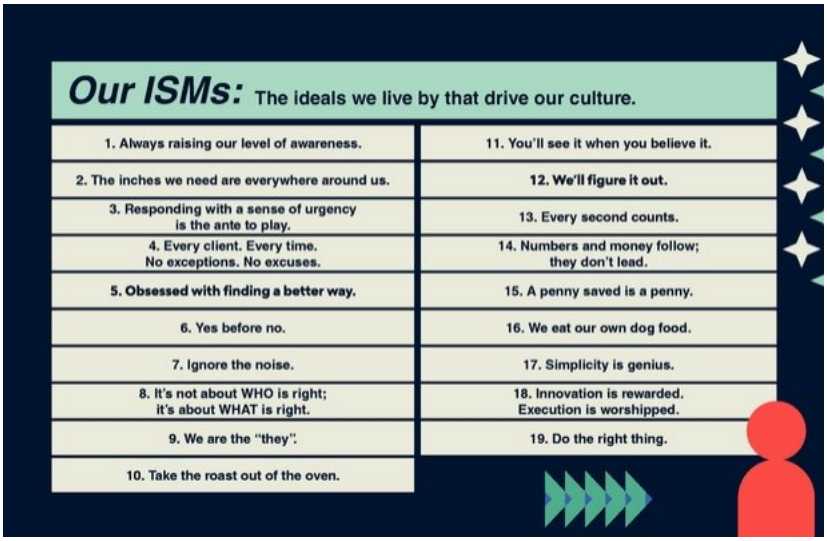
The top five companies in the retail mortgage market only comprised 17.3% of total originations in 2019 according to Inside Mortgage Finance. This fragmentation results from the legacy of a decentralized brick-and-mortar presence for mortgage originators, which limits originators' ability to invest in technology and process automation.

The fragmentation in the mortgage industry contrasts with many other consumer-facing industries where leaders hold a higher market share. As technology continues to create significant differentiation in the competitive landscape for mortgage origination, we believe there will be ongoing opportunities for scalable platforms that combine a superior client experience with faster speed to close to increase their market share.

Consumers increasingly expect a higher level of service and technology-driven user experiences.

In today's on-demand society, consumers expect a technology-based user experience and process in all their financial interactions. They increasingly desire to have the convenience of speed and simplicity at their fingertips, even for their most complex financial transactions. This provides a significant opportunity for those companies that can improve user experiences while also delivering transparency and certainty.

The home buying experience is positioned for disruptive change.



Legacy practices permeate not just mortgages, but the entire home buying experience. The process remains opaque for most consumers, as they are forced to coordinate with multiple parties for many different services. A seamless, integrated approach between the real estate agent and the mortgage originator provides the consumer a streamlined experience that achieves a higher certainty of closing and an overall positive sentiment, which can lead to future transactions with our Company.

OUR STRENGTHS

Culture

We define our culture through 19 ISMs. Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, created the ISMs as the guiding principles and philosophy for our team members. The ISMs are more than catchy phrases; they are the operating system that acts as the blueprint for all our decision-making and builds the foundation of our culture.

Each of our approximately 20,000 team members is empowered to apply the ISMs in all aspects of their work and life. The ISMs define our culture and how we conduct business, and this combination of an empowered team with a common, well-defined mission provides us with a significant strategic advantage in the market.

Always Raising Our Level of Awareness

"Our future, growth, innovation and success starts with the thousands of eyeballs of our team members."

Everything starts with awareness. We challenge our team members to be alert and observant, really listening to and understanding the needs of our clients, and to deliver actionable innovations that improve the client experience and process. Our culture asks not only for ideas, but also drives for execution. The result is a group of empowered professionals creating unrivaled experiences for our clients.

We were pioneers in centralizing and digitizing the mortgage experience. We were also one of the first in our industry to recognize the changing client demands and use the internet to deliver fast and simple mortgages, from this initial idea to our modern solutions like Rocket Mortgage and Rocket Professional, our proprietary platform. The awareness and hyper-focus of our team members drives these innovative solutions and our success.

Every Client. Every Time. No Exceptions. No Excuses

"Every client means 100% of our clients all of the time, not most of the time."

We value our clients and serve them with an unmatched sense of urgency and importance. We maintain a policy that every client will receive a callback within 24 hours. Our clients have acknowledged the positive experience they have with us in our closed consumer surveys, with approximately 94% recommending us. Our superior client experience is evidenced by our net promoter score (NPS) score of 74, a measure of consumer satisfaction, as compared to the average NPS of 16 for the mortgage origination industry according to J.D. Power. Our award-winning client experience has resulted in other world-class consumer-facing organizations, such as , seeking to partner with us.

Obsessed with Finding a Better Way

"Finding a better way is not something we do on the side or when we get the time. Rather, it's a key priority for every one of our team members."

We empower our team members to create the processes and programs that will continue to drive our growth. Team members know their opinion is not only welcome but expected, from providing input on how to improve our existing business to pitching a completely new company idea.

Our obsession with finding a better way is amplified through our constant improvement "Mousetrap Team," and our platform for new ideas "The Cheese Factory." Mousetrap Team members are tasked with closely examining each step of the borrowing process to make it more efficient. Major successes from this team include the development of proprietary technology that prioritizes each step of the loan process based on a client's propensity to close and the development of a texting platform that allows clients to communicate directly with their mortgage banker, reducing delays due to response times. The Cheese Factory and its internal "Pitch Day" competition, both encourage and reward team members for bringing forward ideas.

Our Product Strategy team continues carrying that momentum, analyzing consumer trends and best practices, and then delivering products under the Rocket umbrella that meet the emerging and future needs of our clients. This team has demonstrated its ability to translate our Company's mission and goals into client-focused solutions and experiences. Recognizing the market opportunity to extend our Rocket Mortgage technology and process to our Partner Network, this team successfully led the development and launch of our partner platform Rocket Professional. Combining business and technical savvy, our strategists revolutionize the way we interact with consumers on our never-ending mission to find a better way for everything we do.

We Are the They

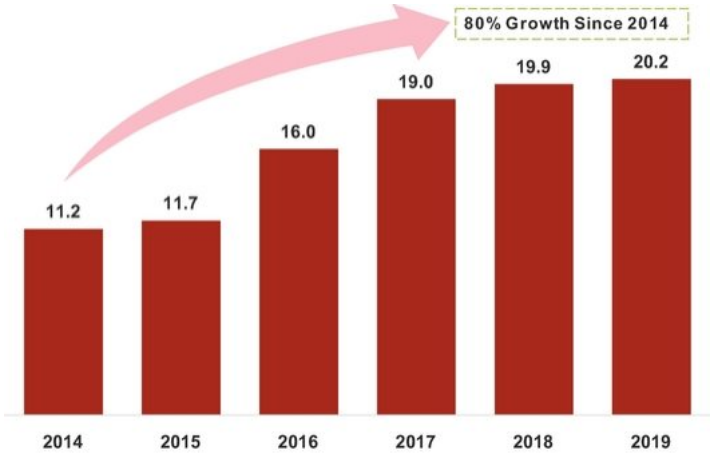
Our organization emphasizes cooperation, respect and teamwork and minimizes hierarchy and bureaucracy, all to achieve better client results. Our team members and leaders, across our ecosystem, are all aligned towards the common goal of helping our clients and providing an amazing client experience. We recruit, train and develop our team members to all align to this philosophy. We do so with the contributions of our robustly staffed training team that focuses on the development and growth of team members. The group has been recognized by Training Magazine as part of the "Training Top 125" for excellence in training and development.

Our unity extends beyond the walls of our organization to the communities we call home. Our "for more than profit" approach includes positively impacting our communities through creating jobs and reinvesting dollars and time into our cities. From education and housing stability initiatives to entrepreneurship programs, our team members are at the forefront of growth—both in our business and the communities in which they live, work, and play.

Technology, Data and Automation Innovation



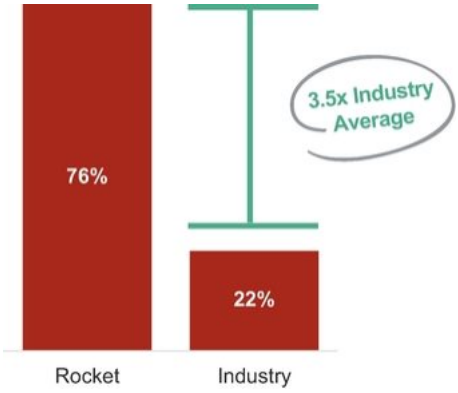
We built a fully integrated technology platform implemented across our ecosystem to provide a seamless and efficient experience for our team members, clients and partners. We have found that the most powerful approach to improving the client experience is to identify the pain points in the process and create scalable technology-driven solutions for each one.

Our leadership and approximately 2,500 technology team members focus on technology along three axes. First, we leverage advanced algorithms and decision trees along with intuitive front-end design to provide an exceptional client interface and service. Second, we use technology and analytics to automate as many steps of our operations as possible to increase our team members' productivity, minimize process lags and errors, and ultimately drive significant improvement in client outcomes on a massive scale. Third, we develop our technology with a view to offer it to external partners in a seamless manner, enabling further growth of our ecosystem.

We have strategically developed our technology in modules to facilitate agile enhancements. This enables us to effectively scale during market expansion, efficiently onboard partners, and grow into new client segments and channels, with less time and investment than our competitors.

Additionally, our cutting-edge technology systems are powered by a significant amount of data. In 2019, we had interactions with over 20 million prospective clients. We have long-term mortgage servicing relationships with approximately 1.83 million client loans. Our technology and data science teams are proficient in leveraging this rich data to streamline the client experience, to improve the efficacy of our marketing campaigns, and to offer products and services suited to each client's specific circumstance.

Client Leads by Year (in millions)



Digital-First Brand and Marketing

Our investment in the Rocket brand has made it nationally recognized as a simple, fast, and trusted digital solution for clients and partners. We invest in a range of targeted marketing campaigns that leverage our brand to acquire new clients and position our brand as the technology-driven solution for consumers.

We have over 250 experienced marketing team members in our in-house advertising agency focused on every aspect of the client lifecycle. We create and execute innovative marketing strategies to identify and reach target audiences, engage with interested clients, and promote the client experience. We also rely on our Core Digital Media business, a leading online marketing and client acquisition platform, to generate additional leads. We have invested considerable capital in our brand. Since our inception, we have invested over $5 billion in marketing, including over $900 million for the year ended December 31, 2019.

While we increase brand awareness through sophisticated marketing, there is no better brand builder than a positive client experience. By providing a positive upfront origination experience, coupled with award-winning servicing over the life of the loan, we establish a long-term relationship with our clients. Servicing a client's loan allows us to remain in contact with our clients and stay current on their financial needs. For example, we rely on insights gained from servicing to offer solutions to clients when they can benefit from a more cost-effective mortgage. As a result of this approach, in 2019 when clients chose their next mortgage, we had overall client retention levels of 63% and refinancing retention levels of 76%, which is approximately 3.5 times higher than the industry average of 22%. In 2020, our year to date average has grown to nearly 75% overall client retention.

2019 Refinancing Retention

Source: Black Knight Mortgage Monitor.

(1) Retention rate is the total unpaid principal balance ("UPB") of our clients that originate a new mortgage with us in a given period divided by total UPB of the clients that paid off their existing mortgage and originated a new mortgage in the same period. This calculation excludes clients to whom we did not actively market due to contractual prohibitions or other business reasons.

Superior Economic Model

We earn the majority of our revenues from the upfront origination of each mortgage through origination fees and the sale of mortgages into the secondary mortgage market. Additional revenue is earned through recurring fees from servicing these same mortgages. We also earn fees from real estate agent referrals in Rocket Homes; origination, gain on sale, and servicing fees in Rocket Loans; and fees from facilitating auto sales in Rocket Auto.

We believe our platform and technology create a significant financial advantage. Our brand effectiveness and marketing capabilities optimize client acquisition investments and our automated processes reduce unnecessary costs across the origination process. We create significant operating leverage through automation. We can scale quickly and efficiently which allows us to grow both the number of transactions and transaction profitability.

Our business model is high-velocity, capital light and cash generating. We originate mortgage loans that are sold either to government-backed entities or to investors in the secondary mortgage market. Most sales occur within three weeks of origination, in turn requiring minimal capital. Of the $145 billion of mortgages we originated for the year ended December 31, 2019, 91% were sold to government-backed entities. For the year ended December 31, 2019, our net income attributable to Rocket Companies was $893.8 million and our Adjusted Net Income was $1.3 billion.

Our business has minimal credit exposure as we sell our mortgage loans to investors in a matter of days. We also do not have direct credit exposure to the servicing portfolio since we do not own the underlying loans that are being serviced. Additionally, our automation and process efficiency are designed to increase data transparency and quality, thereby limiting potential liabilities that could result from errors in underwriting and servicing.

Highly Adaptable and Scalable Platform

We can scale quickly and efficiently which allows us to increase both the number of clients we provide solutions for and our profitability. Our proprietary loan origination platform allows us to originate, underwrite and close loans in all 50 states over the internet. Additionally our centralized loan processing centers give us greater control over the client experience and allows us to take advantage of economies of scale. Our loan funding capacity is generally sourced from repurchase agreements with large financial instituitions as counterparties, cash generated from operations and proceeds from the fixed-income bond market resulting in a diversified funding strategy. As our business continues to grow, we regularly reassess our funding strategy and we believe we have the ability to access the appropriate amount of capital to support our growth from internally generated cash flows and our various debt agreements. We do not intend to use the proceeds from this offering to fund the growth of our business. For more information, see "Use of Proceeds".

Our size and technologies allow us to utilize specialized sub-groups to automate the processing and review of data and documents based on a set of predetermined rules-based workflows. Specialization in each step of the origination process allows us to create experts in each task, enabling our team members to rely on their expertise to quickly solve problems and provide greater certainty to close for our clients. This task-based specialization also results in shorter training time for new team members, enabling us to quickly ramp up operational capacity. Our approach is a true differentiator, allowing us to quickly scale the workforce to match demand and the size of the pipeline.

Our platform provides us the capacity to close a substantially higher amount of loans per month based on current resources without significant investment in infrastructure. This centralized structure and scalable platform also allows Rocket Mortgage to quickly adapt to the evolving regulatory environment and market changes.

Our scale, together with our high-quality, geographically diverse originations, and efficient platform, allows our experienced capital markets team to achieve superior secondary market execution. Our capital markets team aggregates pools of loans to obtain the best pricing for sales into the market. At the same time, our Capital Markets team uses proprietary technologies in addition to outside information services to hedge interest rate positions until loans are sold. Over the last decade we have generated consistently strong margins, which we believe are attributable to the high-quality loans generated from our business model, combined with our experienced management and capital markets teams.

High-Quality Team Member Experience

Our culture creates an environment where team members know their opinions are valued and curiosity is encouraged. This collaborative atmosphere empowers our team members and keeps them engaged, making us stronger, faster, and more innovative as a company. Our internal surveys show approximately 95% of our team members believe the work they do contributes to the success of our Company.

Our high-quality workplace culture creates significant opportunities to attract and retain talent. We encourage our team members to build a long-term career within our Company and focus on a common mission. Our commitment to the cities where we live, work, and play, attracts team members who are similarly focused on building a strong community, further benefitting our cultural identity.

In addition to the recognition we received from FORTUNE magazine, our operations in Phoenix, Cleveland and Charlotte have been recognized as top workplaces in 2019 in local business publications. Of our approximately 20,000 team members, approximately 1,500 team members have been with us for over 10 years.

Strong, Collaborative Senior Leadership Team

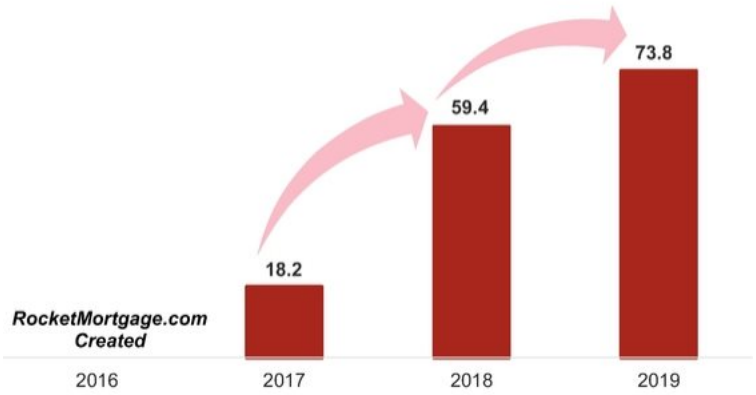
Our senior leadership team's vision has reshaped the mortgage landscape and fueled our substantial growth while consistently reinforcing our culture. This long-tenured team has been with us for an average of 24 years. Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, has provided us with steady leadership during our entire 35-year history and served as Chief Executive Officer from 1985 until 2002. Jay Farner is our current Chief Executive Officer and has been with us for 24 years. Bob Walters is our President and Chief Operating Officer and has been with us for 23 years. Julie Booth is our Chief Financial Officer and has been with us for 16 years. Angelo Vitale is our General Counsel and Secretary and has been with us for 23 years. This team has led us through a variety of housing and economic cycles, and have found ways to take advantage of broader industry disruption to continue our growth and success.

We are focused on developing and promoting talent from within, which has enabled us to develop both the current team of senior leaders as well as the next generation of leaders. Prior to becoming Chief Executive Officer, Jay Farner served as our President and Chief Marketing Officer and Vice President of Web Mortgage Banking before that. In these roles, Jay personally led the building of Rocket Mortgage and brand strategy, as well as online performance marketing and the creation of the centralized banking teams. Prior to becoming President and Chief Operating Officer, Bob Walters served as our Chief Economist and Executive Vice President leading Capital Markets and Servicing. In these roles, Bob oversaw the teams responsible for developing our capital markets capabilities, launching servicing and transforming our client experience and operations teams. Prior to becoming Chief Financial Officer, Julie Booth served as our Vice President, Finance and initiated the creation and development of the Treasury, Procurement, and Internal Audit functions over the years. Angelo Vitale has served as Chief Executive Officer of our subsidiary Rock Central and as our Executive Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary. In these positions, Angelo has been responsible for our legal functions, including regulatory compliance, commercial real estate leasing and enterprise risk management.

OUR GROWTH

Rocket Mortgage Market Share ($ in billions)

We have significant opportunity for continued growth as we advance and leverage our technology, brand, scale, and commitment to providing an exceptional client experience.



Expand Our Lead in Our Core Market

We are the largest retail mortgage originator in the U.S. according to Inside Mortgage Finance, with $145 billion in originations in 2019. We originated $51.7 billion in the three months ended March 31, 2020, which is a 23% CAGR from originations of $25 billion in 2009. We are the scaled leader in the U.S. mortgage industry with market share of 9.2%. Of total originations in 2019, $39 billion, or 27%, were to clients purchasing a home. This would make us the fourth largest retail originator based on purchase volume alone. We will continue to invest significantly in our brand, technical capabilities and our award-winning client experience, which we expect will support a considerable increase in our market share of the mortgage origination and servicing industry. Our superior client experience is evidenced by our net promoter score (NPS) score of 74, a measure of consumer satisfaction, as compared to the average NPS of 16 for the mortgage origination industry according to J.D. Power.

Market Demographics Will Drive Growth

As consumers increasingly gravitate towards a digital experience, we believe Rocket Mortgage can uniquely address their needs. In particular, we stand ready for an expected increase in Millennial homeownership rates, which at approximately 32% significantly lags the rates of Generation X and Baby Boomers. Homeownership remains a top priority among approximately 70% of Millennials and their homeownership rate should trend higher as they continue to build wealth. These consumers increasingly demand a fully digital experience.

Our Partner Network Should Generate Significant Growth

We expect our partner network to support further growth. We have aligned our brand with other high-quality consumer-focused organizations, which we believe will provide us with a differentiated efficient client acquisition channel that our competitors cannot easily replicate. We have formed relationships with influencers who utilize our platform with their clients, like , and marketing partners who refer their clients directly to us, such as , , and . We have a robust pipeline of potential partners that we are working to onboard in 2020 and beyond. Our technology is designed to be easily adaptable, which allows us to seamlessly onboard partners and begin originations in a short time period.

Our Ecosystem Creates Substantial Growth Opportunities

Our ecosystem is a series of connected businesses centered on delivering better solutions to our clients through our technology and scale. The total addressable market for our ecosystem of businesses, including markets for mortgage originations in U.S. and Canada, personal loans, home sales, used auto sales, and real estate advertising amounts to approximately $5.5 trillion.

We actively created a number of businesses in markets where we believe our core strengths will drive success, including:

- Amrock: Amrock is a leading provider of title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services in the country, Amrock uses proprietary technology that integrates seamlessly with the Rocket Mortgage technology and processes. This provides a digital, seamless experience for our clients with speed and efficiency from their first interaction with Rocket Mortgage through closing. Amrock facilitated over 444,000 settlement transactions in 2019.

- Rocket Homes: Through its online home search platform and real estate agent referral network, we provide ancillary services around the real estate point of sale. According to the Consumer Federation of America, the real estate point of sale market has approximately $100 billion of annual sales in the United States.

- Core Digital Media: Core Digital Media is a top digital social and display advertiser in the mortgage, insurance and education sectors, Core Digital Media generated approximately six million client leads for mortgage and other industries in 2019. This business enables growth for our broader ecosystem offering unique insight into the market that allows us to introduce innovative marketing programs designed to increase the conversion rates for online leads. We also leverage Core Digital Media's capabilities in cross-marketing our products and services to clients across our ecosystem.

- Rocket Loans: We launched our personal unsecured loan origination business in 2016 and focus on clients with prime credit scores. According to TransUnion Industry Insights Report, the personal unsecured lending market in the United States has approximately $162 billion of outstanding balances, which have grown at a 16% compound annual growth rate ("CAGR") since 2016.

- Rocket Auto: The sales capabilities in our Rock Connections business has fueled our early success in auto sales, with Rocket Auto facilitating nearly 20,000 used car sales in 2019. According to Edmunds, the consumer auto sales market in the United States had approximately 40.8 million used auto sales units in 2019.
- Lendesk: Our first investment into the Canadian mortgage market, Lendesk is a startup that offers a suite of products to digitize and simplify the Canadian mortgage experience.
- Edison Financial: Our second investment into the Canadian mortgage market, Edison is a digital mortgage firm that will use Lendesk's Spotlight as its lender submission platform. We believe our success in the United States can be leveraged in the Canadian mortgage market, a market of approximately $761 billion CAD of annual mortgage originations.

Each of these businesses benefits from its relationship with Rocket Mortgage and in many cases Rocket Mortgage also benefits from these relationships. For example, our experience has shown that a relationship with a Rocket Homes' partner agent significantly increases the likelihood that we will close a Rocket Mortgage loan. Similarly, we have found that a significant number of personal loan leads from Rocket Loans have turned into mortgage refinance transactions once we are able to spend time with the clients to understand their needs better.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

Business Update in Response to COVID-19 Pandemic

We are closely monitoring the public health response and economic impacts of COVID-19. There is significant uncertainty related to the economic outcomes from this global pandemic, including the response of the federal, state and local governments as well as regulators such as the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA).

Despite this, we believe we are well positioned to continue serving our clients in the same award-winning manner as in the past based on our recent success in transitioning to a remote work environment and our strong balance sheet that can provide liquidity for continued growth amid the significant volatility. This is demonstrated by our record mortgage origination volumes in March, April, May and June 2020. Additionally, we have taken proactive measures to protect our team members, ensure the continuity of business operations and maintain our strong liquidity position.

Team Member Safety

We are focused on the safety and wellness of our team members. In March, we moved to a remote work environment for over 98% of our team members. Many of our team members have had the ability to work from home for years, making a shift like this an easier transition than it would have been otherwise. For essential team members coming into the office, we have imposed additional restrictions for their protection including prohibiting visitors' access to our offices, increasing cleaning, providing protective masks and testing. Our senior leadership team participates in a daily call to plan and execute response activity as well as receive health and economic updates, discuss business operations, and team member wellness. We also have a dedicated group focused on monitoring conditions and making recommendations to senior leadership on necessary changes.

Business Operations and Liquidity

While the financial markets have demonstrated significant volatility due to the economic impacts of COVID-19, interest rates have fallen to historic lows resulting in increased mortgage refinance originations and favorable margins. Our automated, scalable platform and processes enable us to respond quickly to the increased market demand. However, the extent and severity of economic impacts due to COVID-19 are not yet known and, as a result of these factors being outside our control, our origination volumes may decrease in the future.

Beginning in the first quarter of 2020, and despite this uncertainty, we have seen substantial growth in our business and we have undertaken key steps to position our platform for continued success and as a result of these actions realized several substantial achievements.

- Materially increased our cash position
- Negotiated $3.75 billion of increases in loan funding capacity with our current lending partners
- Achieved record Adjusted EBITDA.
- Reduced turn times on originations to record lows
- Stepped up verification of key metrics such as employment and income to ensure the highest quality underwriting standards are maintained.

In March 2020, the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (the "CARES" Act) was signed providing clients with GSE and government agency backed mortgages the ability to request a forbearance plan. As of June 30, 2020, we had approximately 98,000 clients on forbearance plans, which represents approximately 5.1% of our total serviced client loans.

As a servicer, we are required to advance principal and interest to the investor for up to four months on GSE backed mortgages and longer on other government agency backed mortgages on behalf of clients who have entered a forbearance plan. We are able to utilize funds from prepayments and mortgage pay-offs from other clients to fund these principal and interest advances prior to remitting those funds to the agencies. To date, we have been able to fund all required principal and interest advances with these pay-off funds and have not had to use any corporate cash or draw on any facilities in order to fulfill principal and interest advances related to forbearances.

While these advance requirements may be significant at higher levels of forbearance, we believe we are very well-positioned in terms of our liquidity. As of May 31, 2020, we had $2.6 billion of cash and cash equivalents and $1.22 billion in undrawn lines of credit. We are in ongoing discussions with our lending partners around additional advance financing, which would further supplement our liquidity should the need arise. Although the forbearance activity noted above has not yet had a material impact on our cash flows, we expect servicing advances to grow over time and believe they could become material. Actual servicing advances will be driven by the number of clients entering into forbearance plans, the amount of time clients spend in the forbearance plans (most have the ability to extend forbearance plans for up to one year), and the level of successful resolution of forborne amounts at the end of forbearance periods all of which will be impacted by the pace at which the economy recovers from the COVID-19 pandemic.

Protecting our cash position and maintaining sufficient liquidity is a top priority. We maintain diversified liquidity sources to allow us to fund our loan origination business, manage our day-to-day operations and protect us against foreseeable market risks. To support our increased origination volumes in 2020, year to date through June 2020, we negotiated increases totaling $3.75 billion from seven different counterparties for our loan funding facilities, of which $2.75 billion are temporary. Additionally, we added a new counterparty with an aggregate line amount of $0.4 billion. Our subsidiary Quicken Loans entered into a commitment letter in June 2020 with JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("JPM") and Morgan Stanley Senior Funding, Inc. ("MSSF") where JPM and MSSF will arrange and syndicate a senior unsecured revolving credit facility in an aggregate amount of up to $1,000,000,000, with a tenor of 3 years from the closing date of this facility. To date, Quicken Loans and the arrangers have received commitments from lenders, subject to customary closing conditions, of up to $875,000,000. We continue to pursue additional loan funding capacity to fund our origination volumes as needed.

While we appreciate that we are facing an unprecedented set of circumstances today, we believe that we have taken the necessary steps to position the Company for success in both the near term and into the future. We are extremely proud of our team members and what they have been able to achieve amidst this challenging environment. We look forward to continuing to serve our clients and helping them through these unprecedented times.

Preliminary Estimated Financials Results for the Six Months Ended June 30, 2020

Our financial results for the six months ended June 30, 2020 are not yet complete and will not be available until after the completion of this offering. Accordingly, we are presenting below certain preliminary estimated unaudited financial data as of and for the six months ended June 30, 2020. The unaudited estimated financial data set forth below are preliminary and subject to revision based upon the completion of our quarter-end financial closing processes as well as the related external review of the results of operations for the six months ended June 30, 2020. Our estimated financial data are forward-looking statements based solely on information available to us as of the date of this prospectus. As a result, our actual results for the six months ended June 30, 2020 may differ materially from the preliminary estimated financial results set forth below upon the completion of our financial closing procedures, final adjustments, and other developments that may arise prior to the time our financial results are finalized. You should not place undue reliance on these estimates. The information presented herein should not be considered a substitute for the financial information to be filed with the SEC in our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the fiscal quarter ended June 30, 2020 once it becomes available. For additional information, see "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements" and "Risk Factors."

Our preliminary estimated data contained in this prospectus have been prepared in good faith by, and are the responsibility of, management based upon our internal reporting for the six months ended June 30, 2020. Ernst & Young LLP has not audited, reviewed, compiled or performed any procedures with respect to the following preliminary financial data. Accordingly, Ernst & Young LLP does not express an opinion or any other form of assurance with respect thereto.

We have presented the following preliminary estimated data as of and for the six months ended June 30, 2020:

	As of June 30,
	2020		2019
($ in thousands)	Low	High	(Actual)
Cash and cash equivalents	$	$	$
Funding facilities	$	$	$
Other financing facilities & debt	$	$	$
Total equity	$	$	$

	For the Six Months Ended June 30,
	2020		2019
($ in thousands)	Low	High	(Actual)
Closed loan origination volume	$	$	$
Revenue	$	$	$
Net income (loss)	$	$	$
Adjusted Net Income(1)	$	$	$
Adjusted EBITDA(1)	$	$	$

(1) We define "Adjusted Net Income" as tax-effected earnings before stock-based compensation expense and the change in fair value of MSRs due to valuation assumptions, and the tax effects of those adjustments. We define "Adjusted EBITDA" as earnings before interest and amortization expense on non-funding debt, income tax, and depreciation and amortization, net of the change in fair value of MSRs due to valuation assumptions and stock-based compensation expense. We exclude from each of these non-GAAP revenues the change in fair value of MSRs due to valuation assumptions as this represents a non-cash non-realized adjustment to our total revenues, reflecting changes in assumptions including discount rates and prepayment speed assumptions, mostly due to changes in market interest rates, which is not indicative of our performance or results of operation. Adjusted EBITDA includes interest expense on funding facilities, which are recorded as a component of 'interest income, net', as these expenses are a direct operating expense driven by loan origination volume. By contrast, interest and amortization expense on non-funding debt is a function of our capital structure and is therefore excluded from Adjusted EBITDA.

For a more specific and thorough discussion on Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA, see "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Non-GAAP Financial Measures."

The following table presents a reconciliation of Adjusted Net Income to net income attributable to Rocket Companies.

Change in fair value of MSRs due to valuation assumptions(b)
Tax impact of adjustments(c)	$	$	$
Adjusted Net Income	$	$	$

(a) The Issuer will be subject to U.S. Federal income taxes, in addition to state, local and Canadian taxes with respect to its allocable share of any net taxable income of Holdings. The adjustment to the provision for income tax reflects the effective tax rates below, assuming the Issuer owns 100% of the Holdings Units (as defined below).

(a) Reflects changes in assumptions including discount rates and prepayment speed assumptions, mostly due to changes in market interest rates.

REORGANIZATION TRANSACTIONS

Prior to the commencement of the reorganization transactions described below and this offering, all of the outstanding equity interests of Quicken Loans, as well as all or a majority of the outstanding equity interests in our other operating subsidiaries, that historically have operated our businesses, were directly or indirectly owned by RHI.

Prior to the completion of this offering, we will consummate an internal reorganization, which we refer to as the "reorganization transactions." In connection with the reorganization transactions, the following steps have or will occur:

- the Issuer was incorporated in Delaware on February 26, 2020, as a wholly-owned subsidiary of RHI;
- Holdings was formed in Michigan on March 6, 2020, as a wholly-owned subsidiary of RHI;
- Quicken Loans Inc. converted to a Michigan limited liability company on April 15, 2020;
- the Combined Businesses will make a cash distribution to RHI in an aggregate amount of $ million (the "Special Distribution");
- in July 2020, RHI will contribute to Holdings (a) Quicken Loans, LLC and (b) the interests it holds in certain of the other Combined Businesses.
- in July 2020, Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, will contribute $20.0 million to Holdings and become a member of Holdings;
- prior to the completion of this offering, RHI will contribute to Holdings the interests it holds in the remaining Combined Businesses. As a result, Holdings will become the direct holder of the interests of Quicken Loans and of all the Combined Businesses, which are RHI's direct and indirect subsidiaries through which it conducts the following businesses and activities: (i) our title insurance services, property valuations and settlement services business, (ii) our real estate agent network, (iii) our home search website, (iv) our client care center, (v) our auto sales business, (vi) our personal loan business, (vii) our support services provider, (viii) our loan securitization business, (ix) our Canadian mortgage business and (x) our Canadian technology service provider;

- prior to the completion of this offering, the Issuer will become the sole managing member of Holdings;

- prior to the completion of this offering, we will amend the operating agreement of Holdings and provide that, among other things, all of the existing equity interests in Holdings will be reclassified into Holdings' non-voting common interest units, which we refer to as "Holdings Units." Holdings will issue Holdings Units to RHI and Holdings Units to Dan Gilbert (assuming, in each case, an initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus));

- prior to the completion of this offering, we will amend and restate our certificate of incorporation and we will be authorized to issue four classes of common stock: Class A common stock, Class B common stock, Class C common stock and Class D common stock, which we refer to collectively as our "common stock." The Class A common stock and Class C common stock will each provide holders with one vote on all matters submitted to a vote of stockholders, and the Class B common stock and Class D common stock will each provide holders with 10 votes on all matters submitted to a vote of stockholders. The holders of Class C common stock and Class D common stock will not have any of the economic rights (including rights to dividends and distributions upon liquidation) provided to holders of Class A common stock and Class B common stock. These attributes are summarized in the following table:

Class of Common Stock	Votes	Economic Rights
Class A common stock	1	Yes
Class B common stock	10	Yes
Class C common stock	1	No
Class D common stock	10	No

Our certificate of incorporation provides that, at any time when the aggregate voting power of the outstanding common stock or preferred stock beneficially owned by RHI or any entity disregarded as separate from RHI for U.S. federal income tax purposes (the "RHI Securities") would be equal to or greater than 79% of the total voting power of our outstanding stock, the number of votes per share of each RHI Security shall be reduced such that the aggregate voting power of all of the RHI Securities is equal to 79%.

Shares of our common stock will generally vote together as a single class on all matters submitted to a vote of our stockholders. There will be no shares of Class B common stock and no shares of Class C common stock outstanding after the completion of this offering;

- prior to the completion of this offering, we will issue RHI and Dan Gilbert a number of shares of our Class D common stock in exchange for a payment by RHI and Dan Gilbert, as applicable, of the aggregate par value of the Class D common stock received equal to the number of Holdings Units held by RHI and Dan Gilbert, as applicable;

- prior to the completion of this offering, each of RHI and Dan Gilbert will be granted the right to exchange its Holdings Units, together with a corresponding number of shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock, for, at our option, (i) shares of our Class B common stock or Class A common stock or (ii) cash (based on the market price of our Class A common stock); and

- prior to the completion of this offering, we will enter into an acquisition agreement with RHI and its direct subsidiary Amrock Holdings Inc. pursuant to which we will acquire Amrock Title Insurance Company ("ATI"), an entity through which RHI conducts its title insurance underwriting business, for total aggregate consideration of $14.4 million that will consist of Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock of RHI valued at the price to the public in this offering (Holdings Units, (assuming an initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus)) (such acquisition, the "ATI acquisition"). ATI's net income for the year ended December 31, 2019 was $4.7 million. The consummation of this acquisition is subject to customary closing conditions, including the receipt of regulatory approvals. We expect the ATI acquisition will close in the fourth quarter of 2020.

For more information, see "Organizational Structure."

After the completion of this offering, based on an assumed initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus), we intend to use the entire aggregate amount of $ million of the net proceeds from this offering (or $ million if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full) to acquire a number of Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock from RHI equal to the amount of such net proceeds divided by the price paid by the underwriters for shares of our Class A common stock in this offering (Holdings Units or, if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full, Holdings Units). We do not intend to use any proceeds from this offering to acquire any Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock from Dan Gilbert.

We estimate that the offering expenses (other than the underwriting discounts) will be approximately $ million. All of such offering expenses will be paid for or otherwise borne by Holdings. For more information, see "Use of Proceeds."

The following diagram depicts our organizational structure following the reorganization transactions, this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering (assuming an initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus) and no exercise of the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares). This chart is provided for illustrative purposes only and does not purport to represent all legal entities within our organizational structure:

(1) Includes the Combined Businesses other than Quicken Loans, which are our direct and indirect subsidiaries through which we will conduct the following businesses and activities: (i) our title insurance services, property valuations and settlement services business, (ii) our real estate agent network, (iii) our home search website, (iv) our client care center, (v) our auto sales business, (vi) our personal loan business, (vii) our support services provider, (viii) our loan securitization business, (ix) our Canadian mortgage business and (x) our Canadian technology service provider. After the ATI acquisition closes, which we expect to happen in the fourth quarter of 2020, ATI will become one of our subsidiaries through which we will conduct title insurance underwriting business.

In connection with the reorganization transactions, we will be appointed as the sole managing member of Holdings pursuant to the operating agreement of Holdings. Because we will manage and operate the business and control the strategic decisions and day-to-day operations of Holdings and will also have a substantial financial interest in Holdings, we will consolidate the financial results of Holdings, and a portion of our net income (loss) will be allocated to the non-controlling interest to reflect the entitlement of RHI and of Dan Gilbert to a portion of Holdings' net income (loss). In addition, because the Combined Businesses will be under the common control of RHI before and after the reorganization transactions, we will account for the reorganization transactions as a reorganization of entities under common control and will initially measure the interests of RHI in the assets and liabilities of Holdings at their carrying amounts as of the date of the completion of the reorganization transactions.

Upon the completion of this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering, assuming no exercise of the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares (based on an assumed initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus)), we will hold approximately % of the outstanding Holdings Units, RHI will hold approximately % of the outstanding Holdings Units and approximately 79% of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock, Dan Gilbert will hold approximately % of the outstanding Holdings Units and approximately % of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock and the investors in this offering will hold approximately % of the combined voting power of our common stock. See "Organizational Structure," "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions" and "Description of Capital Stock" for more information on the rights associated with our capital stock and the Holdings Units.

RISK FACTORS

Participating in this offering involves substantial risk. Our ability to execute our strategy also is subject to certain risks. The risks described under the heading "Risk Factors" immediately following this summary may cause us not to realize the full benefits of our competitive strengths or may cause us to be unable to successfully execute all or part of our strategy. Some of the more significant challenges and risks we face include the following:

- technology disruptions or failures, including a failure in our operational or security systems or infrastructure;
- cyberattacks and other data and security breaches;
- our dependence on macroeconomic and U.S. residential real estate market conditions;
- changes in interest rates and U.S. monetary policies that affect interest rates;
- our reliance on our loan funding facilities to fund mortgage loans and otherwise operate our business;
- our ability to sell loans in the secondary market to a limited number of investors and to the government sponsored enterprises ("GSEs") (Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac), and to securitize our loans into mortgage-backed securities ("MBS") through the GSEs and Ginnie Mae;

- our ability to comply with complex and continuously changing laws and regulations applicable to our business, and to avoid potentially severe sanctions for non-compliance;
- disruptions in the secondary home loan market, including the MBS market;
- changes in the GSEs, U.S. Federal Housing Authority, U.S. Department of Agriculture ("USDA") and U.S. Department of Veteran's Affairs ("VA") guidelines or GSE and Ginnie Mae guarantees;
- our ability to maintain or grow our servicing business;
- intense competition in the markets we serve; and
- failure to accurately predict the demand or growth of new financial products and services that we are developing.

OUR PRINCIPAL EQUITYHOLDER

Following the completion of the reorganization transactions and this offering, RHI will control approximately 79% of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock. As a result, RHI will control any action requiring the general approval of our stockholders, including the election of our board of directors, the adoption of amendments to our certificate of incorporation and bylaws and the approval of any merger or sale of substantially all of our assets. Because RHI will control more than 50% of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock, we will be a "controlled company" under the corporate governance rules for Exchange-listed companies. Therefore we will be permitted to, and we intend to, elect not to comply with certain corporate governance requirements of the Exchange. For more information on the implications of this distinction, see "Risk Factors—Risks Related to this Offering and our Class A Common Stock," "Management—Controlled Company," and "Principal Stockholders."

In addition to being our principal stockholder, RHI is the majority stockholder of several other businesses, including a technology services provider (Detroit Labs) and the preeminent online dictionary (Dictionary.com). For more information on RHI, see "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions."

Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, is the majority stockholder of RHI and serves as the chairman of RHI's board of directors. Dan is passionate about building great American cities and has invested billions of dollars into properties and community programming in Detroit and Cleveland. Dan is also the majority shareholder of the Cleveland Cavaliers of the National Basketball Association, the majority shareholder and founder of the real estate investment firm Bedrock and the controlling shareholder and founder of the unicorn online startup StockX. For more information on Dan, see "Management."

CORPORATE INFORMATION

We were incorporated under the laws of the state of Delaware, on February 26, 2020. Our principal executive offices are located at 1050 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, MI 48226. Our telephone number is (313) 373-7990. Our website is located at ir.rocketcompanies.com. Our website and the information contained on, or that can be accessed through, our website will not be deemed to be incorporated by reference in, and are not considered part of, this prospectus. You should not rely on our website or any such information in making your decision whether to purchase shares of our Class A common stock.

THE OFFERING

Issuer	Rocket Companies, Inc.
Class A common stock outstanding before this offering	None.
Class A common stock offered by us	shares.
Option to purchase additional shares	We have granted the underwriters an option to purchase up to an additional shares of Class A common stock. The underwriters may exercise this option at any time within 30 days from the date of this prospectus. See "Underwriting."
Class A common stock to be outstanding immediately after this offering	shares (or shares if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full). If, immediately after this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering, RHI and Dan Gilbert were to elect to exchange all their Holdings Units and corresponding shares of Class D common stock for shares of our Class B common stock and any such shares of our Class B common stock were then converted into shares of Class A common stock, shares of our Class A common stock would be outstanding (% of which would be owned by non-affiliates of the Company) (or shares (% of which would be owned by non-affiliates of the Company) if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full).
Class B common stock to be outstanding immediately after this offering	None.
Class C common stock to be outstanding immediately after this offering	None.
Class D common stock to be outstanding immediately after this offering	shares. Shares of our Class D common stock have voting but no economic rights (including rights to dividends and distributions upon liquidation) and will be issued to RHI and Dan Gilbert in the reorganization transactions in an amount equal to the number of Holdings Units held by RHI and Dan Gilbert, as applicable. When a Holdings Unit, together with a share of our Class D common stock, is exchanged for a share of our Class B common stock, the corresponding share of our Class D common stock will be cancelled.

Voting rights	Except as described below, each share of our Class A common stock entitles its holder to one vote per share. Except as described below, each share of our Class B common stock entitles its holder to 10 votes per share. No shares of Class B common stock will be issued and outstanding upon the completion of this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering. Except as described below, each share of our Class C common stock entitles its holder to one vote per share. No shares of Class C common stock will be issued and outstanding upon the completion of this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering. Except as described below, each share of our Class D common stock entitles its holder to 10 votes per share. All classes of our common stock with voting rights generally vote together as a single class on all matters submitted to a vote of our stockholders. Upon the completion of this offering, all of our outstanding Class D common stock will be held by RHI and Dan Gilbert. See "Description of Capital Stock. Our certificate of incorporation provides that, at any time when the aggregate voting power of the outstanding common stock or preferred stock beneficially owned by RHI or any entity disregarded as separate from RHI for U.S. federal income tax purposes (the "RHI Securities") would be equal to or greater than 79% of the total voting power of our outstanding stock, the number of votes per share of each RHI Security shall be reduced such that the aggregate voting power of all of the RHI Securities is equal to 79% (such provision, the "Voting Limitation").

	As a result of the Voting Limitation, (a) each outstanding share of Class D common stock held by RHI will initially be entitled to votes per share (or votes per share if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full), representing an aggregate of 79% of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock upon the completion of this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering; (b) each outstanding share of Class D common stock held by Dan Gilbert will initially be entitled to 10 votes per share, representing an aggregate of % of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock upon the completion of this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering (based on an assumed initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus)) and (c) each outstanding share of Class A common stock will initially be entitled to one vote per share, representing an aggregate of % of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock upon the completion of this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering (based on an assumed initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus)).
Exchange and conversion rights	Holdings Units, together with a corresponding number of shares of Class D common stock or Class C common stock, may be exchanged for, at our option (as the sole managing member of Holdings), (i) shares of our Class B common stock or Class A common stock, as applicable, on a one-for-one basis or (ii) cash (based on the market price of our Class A common stock), subject to customary conversion rate adjustments for stock splits, stock dividends and reclassifications. Each share of our Class D common stock is convertible at any time, at the option of the holder, into one share of Class C common stock. Each share of our Class B common stock is convertible at any time, at the option of the holder, into one share of Class A common stock.

	Each share of our Class B common stock and Class D common stock, as applicable, will automatically convert into one share of Class A common stock or Class C common stock, as applicable, (a) immediately prior to any sale or other transfer of such share by a holder of such share, subject to certain limited exceptions, such as transfers to permitted transferees, or (b) if RHI, the direct or indirect equityholders of RHI and their permitted transferees own less than 10% of our issued and outstanding common stock. See "Description of Capital Stock."
Use of proceeds	We estimate that our net proceeds from this offering will be approximately $ million (or approximately $ million if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares), after deducting underwriting discounts and commissions, based on an assumed initial offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus). We intend to use the entire aggregate amount of the net proceeds from this offering to acquire a number of Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock from RHI equal to the amount of such net proceeds divided by the price paid by the underwriters for shares of our Class A common stock in this offering (Holdings Units at the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus or, if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full, Holdings Units). We do not intend to use any proceeds from this offering to acquire any Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock from Dan Gilbert. We estimate that the offering expenses (other than the underwriting discounts) will be approximately $ million. All of such offering expenses will be paid for or otherwise borne by Holdings.
Controlled company	Upon completion of this offering, RHI will continue to beneficially own more than 50% of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock. As a result, we intend to avail ourselves of the "controlled company" exemptions under the rules of the Exchange, including exemptions from certain of the corporate governance listing requirements. See "Management—Controlled Company."

Dividend policy	We do not intend to pay cash dividends on our common stock in the foreseeable future. However, we may, in the future, decide to pay dividends on our common stock. Any declaration and payment of future dividends to holders of our common stock may be limited by restrictive covenants in our debt agreements, will be at the sole discretion of our board of directors and will depend on many factors, including our financial condition, earnings, capital requirements, level of indebtedness, statutory and contractual restrictions applicable to the payment of dividends and other considerations that the board of directors deems relevant. See "Dividend Policy."
Listing	We have applied to list our Class A common stock on the Exchange under the symbol "RKT."
Risk factors	You should read the section titled "Risk Factors" and the other information included in this prospectus for a discussion of some of the risks and uncertainties you should carefully consider before deciding to invest in our Class A common stock.
Directed share program	At our request, the underwriters have reserved for sale, at the initial public offering price, up to % of the Class A common stock for sale to certain persons associated with us. The sales will be made at our direction through a directed share program. Each person buying shares of Class A common stock through the directed share program will be subject to a 180-day lock-up period with respect to such shares. If these persons purchase Class A common stock it will reduce the number of shares of Class A common stock available for sale to the general public. Any reserved shares of Class A common stock that are not so purchased will be offered by the underwriters to the general public on the same terms as the other shares of Class A common stock offered by this prospectus. See "Underwriting—Directed Share Program" for more information.

Unless we indicate otherwise, the number of shares of our Class A common stock outstanding after this offering excludes:

- shares issuable pursuant to equity-based awards with respect to an aggregate amount of shares of Class A common stock we expect to issue in connection with this offering under the Rocket Companies, Inc. 2020 Management Incentive Plan (the "2020 Management Incentive Plan"). For more information on the 2020 Management Incentive Plan, see "Executive Compensation;"
- additional shares issuable pursuant to equity-based awards with respect to an aggregate amount of shares of Class A common stock, that we expect to remain available for issuance under the 2020 Management Incentive Plan following the completion of this offering. For more information on the 2020 Management Incentive Plan, see "Executive Compensation;" and

- shares of our Class A common stock reserved for issuance upon the exchange of Holdings Units (together with the corresponding shares of our Class D common stock) into shares of Class B common stock and the conversion of our Class B common stock into Class A common stock.

Unless we indicate otherwise, all information in this prospectus assumes (i) that the underwriters do not exercise their option to purchase up to additional shares from us and (ii) an initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus).

SUMMARY HISTORICAL AND PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL AND OTHER DATA

The following tables set forth our summary historical and pro forma condensed combined financial and other data for the periods presented. We were formed as a Delaware corporation on February 26, 2020 and have not, to date, conducted any activities other than those incidental to our formation and the preparation of this prospectus and the registration statement of which this prospectus forms a part.

The condensed combined statements of income for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017 and the combined balance sheet data as of December 31, 2019 and 2018 have been derived from the audited combined financial statements of the Combined Businesses included elsewhere in this prospectus. The condensed combined statements of income for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019 and the combined balance sheet data as of March 31, 2020 and 2019 have been derived from unaudited condensed combined financial statements of the Combined Businesses also included elsewhere in this prospectus and which, in the opinion of management, include all adjustments, consisting only of normal recurring adjustments, necessary for a fair statement of the results for the unaudited interim periods.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined statement of income for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the year ended December 31, 2019 gives effect to (i) the reorganization transactions described under "Organizational Structure," (ii) the creation or acquisition of certain tax assets in connection with this offering and the reorganization transactions and the creation of related liabilities in connection with entering into the tax receivable agreement with RHI and Dan Gilbert and (iii) this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering, as if each had occurred on January 1, 2019. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet as of March 31, 2020 gives effect to the three above items as if each had occurred on March 31, 2020. See "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information."

The summary historical and pro forma condensed combined financial and other data presented below do not purport to be indicative of the results that can be expected for any future period and should be read together with "Capitalization," "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information," "Selected Historical Combined Financial and Other Data," "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" and the combined financial statements and related notes thereto included elsewhere in this prospectus.

(1) We define "Adjusted Revenue" as total revenues net of the change in fair value of mortgage servicing rights ("MSRs") due to valuation assumptions. We define "Adjusted Net Income" as tax-effected earnings before stock-based compensation expense and the change in fair value of MSRs due to valuation assumptions, and the tax effects of those adjustments. We define "Adjusted EBITDA" as earnings before interest and amortization expense on non-funding debt, income tax, and depreciation and amortization, net of the change in fair value of MSRs due to valuation assumptions and stock-based compensation expense. We exclude from each of these non-GAAP revenues the change in fair value of MSRs due to valuation assumptions as this represents a non-cash non-realized adjustment to our total revenues, reflecting changes in assumptions including discount rates and prepayment speed assumptions, mostly due to changes in market interest rates, which is not indicative of our performance or results of operation. Adjusted EBITDA includes interest expense on funding facilities, which are recorded as a component of "interest income, net", as these expenses are a direct operating expense driven by loan origination volume. By contrast, interest and amortization expense on non-funding debt is a function of our capital structure and is therefore excluded from Adjusted EBITDA.

For a more specific and thorough discussion on Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA, see "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Non-GAAP Financial Measures."

(2) Rocket Mortgage origination volume, market share, and margins exclude all reverse mortgage activity.

(3) Gain on sale margin is the gain on sale of loans, net divided by net rate lock volume for the period, excluding all reverse mortgage activity. Gain on sale of loans, net includes the net gain on sale of loans, fair value of originated MSRs and fair value adjustment on loans held for sale.

(4) MSR fair market value multiple is a metric used to determine the relative value of the MSR asset in relation to the annualized retained servicing fee, which is the cash that the holder of the MSR asset would receive from the portfolio as of such date. It is calculated as the quotient of (a) the MSR fair market value as of a specified date divided by (b) the weighted average annualized retained servicing fee for our MSR portfolio as of such date. The weighted average annualized retained servicing fee for our MSR portfolio was 0.310% and 0.293% for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, and 0.307%, 0.283%, and 0.277% for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively. The vast majority of our portfolio consists of originated MSRs and consequently, purchased MSRs do not have a material impact on our weighted average service fee.

(5) Net revenue presented above is calculated as gross revenues less intercompany revenue eliminations. A significant portion of the other Rocket Companies revenues is generated through intercompany transactions. These intercompany transactions take place with entities that are part of our ecosystem. Consequently, we view gross revenue of individual other Rocket Companies as a key performance indicator, and we consider net revenue of other Rocket Companies on a combined basis.

RISK FACTORS

Investing in our Class A common stock involves substantial risks. In addition to the other information in this prospectus, you should carefully consider the following factors before investing in our Class A common stock. Any of the risk factors we describe below could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition or results of operations. The market price of our Class A common stock could decline if one or more of these risks or uncertainties develop into actual events, causing you to lose all or part of your investment. While we believe these risks and uncertainties are especially important for you to consider, we may face other risks and uncertainties that could have a material adverse effect on our business. Certain statements contained in the risk factors described below are forward-looking statements. See "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements" for more information.

Risks Related to Our Business

The COVID-19 pandemic poses unique challenges to our business and the effects of the pandemic could adversely impact our ability to originate mortgages, our servicing operations, our liquidity and our employees.

The COVID-19 pandemic has had, and continues to have, a significant impact on the national economy and the communities in which we operate. While the pandemic's effect on the macroeconomic environment has yet to be fully determined and could continue for months or years, we expect that the pandemic and governmental programs created as a response to the pandemic, will affect the core aspects of our business, including the origination of mortgages, our servicing operations, our liquidity and our employees. Such effects, if they continue for a prolonged period, may have a material adverse effect on our business and results of operation.

We expect that the COVID-19 pandemic may impact our origination of mortgages. In response to the pandemic, many state and local governments have issued shelter-in-place orders. The scope of the orders varies by locality, and the duration of these orders is currently unknown. While the origination of a mortgage is permitted under most shelter-in-place orders as an essential service, the restrictions have slowed our business operations that depend on third parties such as appraisers, closing agents and others for loan related verifications. Additionally, home sales have slowed, and future growth is uncertain. If the COVID-19 pandemic leads to a prolonged economic downturn with sustained high unemployment rates, we anticipate that real estate transactions will continue to decrease. Any such slowdown may materially decrease the number and volume of mortgages we originate.

The COVID-19 pandemic is also affecting our servicing operations. As part of the federal response to the COVID-19 pandemic, the CARES Act allows borrowers to request a mortgage forbearance. Nevertheless, servicers of mortgage loans are contractually bound to advance monthly payments to investors, insurers and taxing authorities regardless of whether the borrower actually makes those payments. We expect, however, that such payments may continue to increase throughout the duration of the pandemic. While Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac recently issued guidance limiting the number of payments a servicer must advance in the case of a forbearance, we expect that a borrower who has experienced a loss of employment or a reduction of income may not repay the forborne payments at the end of the forbearance period. Additionally, we are prohibited from collecting certain servicing related fees, such as late fees, and initiating foreclosure proceedings. We have so far successfully utilized prepayments and mortgage payoffs from other clients to fund principal and interest advances relating to forborne loans, and have not advanced any principal or interest associated with forbearances. But, there is no assurance that we will be successful in doing so in the coming months and we will ultimately have to replace such funds to make payments in respect of such prepayments and mortgage payoffs. As a result, we may have to use our cash, including borrowings under our debt agreements, to make the payments required under our servicing operation.

Our liquidity may be affected by the COVID-19 pandemic. We fund substantially all of the mortgage loans we close through borrowings under our loan funding facilities. Given the broad impact of COVID-19 on the financial markets, our future ability to borrow money to fund our current and future loan production is unknown. Our mortgage origination liquidity could also be affected as our lenders reassess their exposure to the mortgage origination industry and either curtail access to uncommitted mortgage warehouse financing capacity or impose higher costs to access such capacity. Our liquidity may be further constrained as there may be less demand by investors to acquire our mortgage loans in the secondary market. Even if such demand exists, we face a substantially higher repurchase risk as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic stemming from our clients inability to repay the underlying loans.

We also expect that the COVID-19 pandemic may affect the productivity of our team members. As a result of the pandemic, in March, we transitioned to a remote working environment for over 98% of our team members. While our team members have transitioned well to working from home, over time such remote operations may decrease the cohesiveness of our teams and our ability to maintain our culture, both of which are integral to our success. Additionally, a remote working environment may impede our ability to undertake new business projects, to foster a creative environment, to hire new team members and to retain existing team members.

Technology disruptions or failures, including a failure in our operational or security systems or infrastructure, or those of third parties with whom we do business, could disrupt our business, cause legal or reputational harm and adversely impact our results of operations and financial condition.

We are dependent on the secure, efficient, and uninterrupted operation of our technology infrastructure, including computer systems, related software applications and data centers, as well as those of certain third parties and affiliates. Our websites and computer/telecommunication networks must accommodate a high volume of traffic and deliver frequently updated information, the accuracy and timeliness of which is critical to our business. Our technology must be able to facilitate a loan application experience that equals or exceeds the experience provided by our competitors. We have or may in the future experience service disruptions and failures caused by system or software failure, fire, power loss, telecommunications failures, team member misconduct, human error, computer hackers, computer viruses and disabling devices, malicious or destructive code, denial of service or information, as well as natural disasters, health pandemics and other similar events and our disaster recovery planning may not be sufficient for all situations. This is especially applicable in the current response to the COVID-19 pandemic and the shift we have experienced in having most of our team members work from their homes for the time being, as our team members access our secure networks through their home networks. The implementation of technology changes and upgrades to maintain current and integrate new technology systems may also cause service interruptions. Any such disruption could interrupt or delay our ability to provide services to our clients and loan applicants, and could also impair the ability of third parties to provide critical services to us.

Additionally, the technology and other controls and processes we have created to help us identify misrepresented information in our loan origination operations were designed to obtain reasonable, not absolute, assurance that such information is identified and addressed appropriately. Accordingly, such controls may not have detected, and may fail in the future to detect, all misrepresented information in our loan origination operations. If our operations are disrupted or otherwise negatively affected by a technology disruption or failure, this could result in client dissatisfaction and damage to our reputation and brand, and material adverse impacts on our business. We do not carry business interruption insurance sufficient to compensate us for all losses that may result from interruptions in our service as a result of systems disruptions, failures and similar events.

The success and growth of our business will depend upon our ability to adapt to and implement technological changes.

We operate in an industry experiencing rapid technological change and frequent product introductions. We rely on our proprietary technology to make our platform available to clients, evaluate loan applicants and service loans. In addition, we may increasingly rely on technological innovation as we introduce new products, expand our current products into new markets and continue to streamline various loan-related and lending processes. The process of developing new technologies and products is complex, and if we are unable to successfully innovate and continue to deliver a superior client experience, the demand for our products and services may decrease and our growth and operations may be harmed.

The origination process is increasingly dependent on technology, and our business relies on our continued ability to process loan applications over the internet, accept electronic signatures, provide instant process status updates and other client- and loan applicant-expected conveniences. Maintaining and improving this technology will require significant capital expenditures.

Our dedication to incorporating technological advancements into our loan origination and servicing platforms requires significant financial and personnel resources. To the extent we are dependent on any particular technology or technological solution, we may be harmed if such technology or technological solution becomes non-compliant with existing industry standards, fails to meet or exceed the capabilities of our competitors' equivalent technologies or technological solutions, becomes increasingly expensive to service, retain and update, becomes subject to third-party claims of intellectual property infringement, misappropriation or other violation, or malfunctions or functions in a way we did not anticipate that results in loan defects potentially requiring repurchase. Additionally, new technologies and technological solutions are continually being released. As such, it is difficult to predict the problems we may encounter in improving our websites' and other technologies' functionality.

To operate our websites and apps, and provide our loan products and services, we use software packages from a variety of third parties, which are customized and integrated with code that we have developed ourselves. We rely on third-party software products and services related to automated underwriting functions, loan document production and loan servicing. If we are unable to integrate this software in a fully functional manner, we may experience increased costs and difficulties that could delay or prevent the successful development, introduction or marketing of new products and services.

There is no assurance that we will be able to successfully adopt new technology as critical systems and applications become obsolete and better ones become available. Additionally, if we fail to develop our websites and other technologies to respond to technological developments and changing client and loan applicant needs in a cost-effective manner, or fail to acquire, integrate or interface with third-party technologies effectively, we may experience disruptions in our operations, lose market share or incur substantial costs.

We are reliant on internet search engines and app market places to connect with consumers, and limitations on our ability to obtain new clients through those channels could adversely affect our business.

We rely on our ability to attract online consumers to our websites and web-centers and convert them into loan applicants and clients in a cost-effective manner. We depend, in part, on search engines and other online sources for our website traffic. We are included in search results as a result of both paid search listings, where we purchase specific search terms that will result in the inclusion of our listing, and unpaid or algorithmic searches, which depend upon the searchable content on our sites. We devote significant time and resources to digital marketing initiatives, such as search engine optimization, to improve our search result rankings and increase visits to our sites. These marketing efforts may prove unsuccessful due to a variety of factors, including increased costs to use online advertising platforms, ineffective campaigns and increased competition, as well as certain factors not within our control, such as a change to the search engine ranking algorithm.

Our internet marketing efforts depend on data signals from user activity on websites and services that we do not control, and changes to the regulatory environment (including the California Consumer Protection Act), third-party mobile operating systems and browsers have impacted, and will continue to impact, the availability of such signals, which may adversely affect our digital marketing efforts. In particular, mobile operating system and browser providers, such as Apple and Google, have announced product changes as well as future plans to limit the ability of application developers to use these signals to target and measure advertising on their platforms. These developments have limited and are expected to limit our ability to target our marketing efforts, and any additional loss of such signals in the future will adversely affect our targeting capabilities and our marketing efforts.

We also rely on app marketplaces like Apple's App Store and Google Play to connect users with our apps. These marketplaces may change in a way that negatively affects the prominence of or ease with which users can access our apps. If one or more of the search engines, app marketplaces or other online sources were to change in a way that adversely impacted our ability to connect with consumers, our business could suffer.

Cyberattacks and other data and security breaches could result in serious harm to our reputation and adversely affect our business.

We are dependent on information technology networks and systems, including the internet, to securely collect, process, transmit and store electronic information. In the ordinary course of our business, we receive, process, retain and transmit proprietary information and sensitive or confidential data, including the public and non-public personal information of our team members, clients and loan applicants. Despite devoting significant time and resources to ensure the integrity of our information technology systems, we have not always been able to, and may not be able to in the future, anticipate or implement effective preventive measures against all security breaches or unauthorized access of our information technology systems or the information technology systems of third-party vendors that receive, process, retain and transmit electronic information on our behalf.

Security breaches, acts of vandalism, natural disasters, fire, power loss, telecommunication failures, team member misconduct, human error and developments in computer intrusion capabilities could result in a compromise or breach of the technology that we or our third-party vendors use to collect, process, retain, transmit and protect the personal information and transaction data of our team members, clients and loan applicants. Similar events outside of our control can also affect the demands we and our vendors may make to respond to any security breaches or similar disruptive events. We invest in industry-standard security technology designed to protect our data and business processes against risk of a data security breach and cyberattack. Our data security management program includes identity, trust, vulnerability and threat management business processes as well as the adoption of standard data protection policies. We measure our data security effectiveness through industry-accepted methods and remediate significant findings. The technology and other controls and processes designed to secure our team member, client and loan applicant information and to prevent, detect and remedy any unauthorized access to that information were designed to obtain reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that such information is secure and that any unauthorized access is identified and addressed appropriately. Such controls have not always detected, and may in the future fail to prevent or detect, unauthorized access to our team member, client and loan applicant information.

The techniques used to obtain unauthorized, improper or illegal access to our systems and those of our third-party vendors, our data, our team members', clients' and loan applicants' data or to disable, degrade or sabotage service are constantly evolving, and have become increasingly complex and sophisticated. Furthermore, such techniques change frequently and are often not recognized or detected until after they have been launched, and therefore, we may be unable to anticipate these techniques and may not become aware in a timely manner of such a security breach, which could exacerbate any damage we experience. Security attacks can originate from a wide variety of sources, including third parties such as computer hackers, persons involved with organized crime or associated with external service providers, or foreign state or foreign state-supported actors. Those parties may also attempt to fraudulently induce team members, clients and loan applicants or other users of our systems to disclose sensitive information in order to gain access to our data or that of our team members, clients and loan applicants.

Cybersecurity risks for lenders have significantly increased in recent years, in part, because of the proliferation of new technologies, the use of the internet and telecommunications technologies to conduct financial transactions, and the increased sophistication and activities of computer hackers, organized crime, terrorists, and other external parties, including foreign state actors. We, our clients and loan applicants, regulators and other third parties have been subject to, and are likely to continue to be the target of, cyberattacks. These cyberattacks could include computer viruses, malicious or destructive code, phishing attacks, denial of service or information, improper access by team members or third-party vendors or other security breaches that have or could in the future result in the unauthorized release, gathering, monitoring, misuse, loss or destruction of confidential, proprietary and other information of ours, our team members, our clients and loan applicants or of third parties, or otherwise materially disrupt our or our clients' and loan applicants' or other third parties' network access or business operations.

Additionally, cyberattacks on local and state government databases and offices, including the rising trend of ransomware attacks, expose us to the risk of losing access to critical data and the ability to provide services to our clients. These attacks can cause havoc and have at times led title insurance underwriters to prohibit us from issuing policies, and to suspend closings, on properties located in the affected counties or states.

Any penetration of our or our third-party vendors' information technology systems, network security, mobile devices or other misappropriation or misuse of personal information of our team members, clients or loan applicants, including wire fraud, phishing attacks and business e-mail compromise, could cause interruptions in the operations of our businesses, financial loss to our clients or loan applicants, damage to our computers or operating systems and to those of our clients, loan applicants and counterparties, and subject us to increased costs, litigation, disputes, damages, and other liabilities. In addition, the foregoing events could result in violations of applicable privacy and other laws. If this information is inappropriately accessed and used by a third party or a team member for illegal purposes, such as identity theft, we may be responsible to the affected individuals for any losses they may have incurred as a result of misappropriation. In such an instance, we may also be subject to regulatory action, investigation or liable to a governmental authority for fines or penalties associated with a lapse in the integrity and security of our team members', clients' and loan applicants' information. We may be required to expend significant capital and other resources to protect against and remedy any potential or existing security breaches and their consequences. In addition, our remediation efforts may not be successful and we may not have adequate insurance to cover these losses.

Security breaches could also significantly damage our reputation with existing and prospective clients and third parties with whom we do business. Any publicized security problems affecting our businesses and/or those of such third parties may negatively impact the market perception of our products and discourage clients from doing business with us. These risks may increase in the future as we continue to increase our reliance on the internet and use of web-based product offerings and on the use of cybersecurity.

We may not be able to make technological improvements as quickly as demanded by our clients, which could harm our ability to attract clients and adversely affect our results of operations, financial condition and liquidity.

The financial services industry is undergoing rapid technological changes, with frequent introductions of new technology-driven products and services. The effective use of technology increases efficiency and enables financial and lending institutions to better serve clients and reduce costs. Our future success will depend, in part, upon our ability to address the needs of our clients by using technology, such as mobile and online services, to provide products and services that will satisfy client demands for convenience, as well as to create additional efficiencies in our operations. We may not be able to effectively implement new technology-driven products and services as quickly as competitors or be successful in marketing these products and services to our clients. Failure to successfully keep pace with technological change affecting the financial services industry could harm our ability to attract clients and adversely affect our results of operations, financial condition and liquidity.

Our products use software, hardware and services that may be difficult to replace or cause errors or failures of our products that could adversely affect our business.

In addition to our proprietary software, we license third-party software, utilize third-party hardware and depend on services from various third parties for use in our products. In the future, this software or these services may not be available to us on commercially reasonable terms, or at all. Any loss of the right to use any of the software or services could result in decreased functionality of our products until equivalent technology is either developed by us or, if available from another provider, is identified, obtained and integrated, which could adversely affect our business. In addition, any errors or defects in or failures of the software or services we rely on, whether maintained by us or by third parties, could result in errors or defects in our products or cause our products to fail, which could adversely affect our business and be costly to correct. Many of our third-party providers attempt to impose limitations on their liability for such errors, defects or failures, and if enforceable, we may have additional liability to our clients or to other third parties that could harm our reputation and increase our operating costs. We will need to maintain our relationships with third-party software and service providers and to obtain software and services from such providers that do not contain any errors or defects. Any failure to do so could adversely affect our ability to deliver effective products to our clients and loan applicants and adversely affect our business.

Some aspects of our platform include open source software, and any failure to comply with the terms of one or more of these open source licenses could adversely affect our business.

Aspects of our platform incorporate software covered by open source licenses, which may include, by way of example, the GNU General Public License and the Apache License. The terms of various open source licenses have not been interpreted by U.S. courts, and there is a risk that such licenses could be construed in a manner that limits our use of the software, inhibits certain aspects of the platform or otherwise adversely affects our business operations. We may also face claims from others claiming ownership of, or seeking to enforce the terms of, an open source license, including by demanding release of the open source software, derivative works or our proprietary source code that was developed using such software. These claims could also result in litigation, require us to purchase a costly license or require us to devote additional research and development resources to change our software, any of which could adversely affect our business.

Some open source licenses subject licensees to certain conditions, including requiring licensees to make available source code for modifications or derivative works created based upon the type of open source software used for no or reduced cost, or to license the products that use open source software under terms that allow reverse engineering, reverse assembly or disassembly. If portions of our proprietary software are determined to be subject to an open source license, or if the license terms for the open source software that we incorporate change, we could be required to publicly release the affected portions of our source code, re-engineer all or a portion of our platform or otherwise change our business activities, each of which could reduce or eliminate the value of our platform and products and services. In addition to risks related to license requirements, the use of open source software can lead to greater risks than the use of third-party commercial software because open source licensors generally make their open source software available "as-is" and do not provide indemnities, warranties or controls on the origin of the software. Many of the risks associated with the use of open source software cannot be eliminated, and could adversely affect our business.

We could be adversely affected if we inadequately obtain, maintain, protect and enforce our intellectual property and proprietary rights and may encounter disputes from time to time relating to our use of the intellectual property of third parties.

Trademarks and other intellectual property and proprietary rights are important to our success and our competitive position. We rely on a combination of trademarks, service marks, copyrights, patents, trade secrets and domain names, as well as confidentiality procedures and contractual provisions to protect our intellectual property and proprietary rights. Despite these measures, third parties may attempt to disclose, obtain, copy or use intellectual property rights owned or licensed by us and these measures may not prevent misappropriation, infringement, reverse engineering or other violation of intellectual property or proprietary rights owned or licensed by us, particularly in foreign countries where laws or enforcement practices may not protect our proprietary rights as fully as in the United States. Furthermore, confidentiality procedures and contractual provisions can be difficult to enforce and, even if successfully enforced, may not be entirely effective. In addition, we cannot guarantee that we have entered into confidentiality agreements with all team members, partners, independent contractors or consultants that have or may have had access to our trade secrets and other proprietary information. Any issued or registered intellectual property rights owned by or licensed to us may be challenged, invalidated, held unenforceable or circumvented in litigation or other proceedings, including re-examination, inter partes review, post-grant review, interference and derivation proceedings and equivalent proceedings in foreign jurisdictions (e.g., opposition proceedings), and such intellectual property rights may be lost or no longer provide us meaningful competitive advantages. Third parties may also independently develop products, services and technology similar to or duplicative of our products and services.

In order to protect our intellectual property rights, we may be required to spend significant resources. Litigation brought to protect and enforce our intellectual property rights could be costly, time consuming and could result in the diversion of time and attention of our management team and could result in the impairment or loss of portions of our intellectual property. Furthermore, attempts to enforce our intellectual property rights against third parties could also provoke these third parties to assert their own intellectual property or other rights against us, or result in a holding that invalidates or narrows the scope of our rights, in whole or in part. Our failure to secure, maintain, protect and enforce our intellectual property rights could adversely affect our brands and adversely impact our business.

Our success and ability to compete also depends in part on our ability to operate without infringing, misappropriating or otherwise violating the intellectual property or proprietary rights of third parties. We have encountered, and may in the future encounter, disputes from time to time concerning intellectual property rights of others, including our competitors, and we may not prevail in these disputes. Third parties may raise claims against us alleging an infringement, misappropriation or other violation of their intellectual property rights, including trademarks, copyrights, patents, trade secrets or other intellectual property or proprietary rights. Some third-party intellectual property rights may be extremely broad, and it may not be possible for us to conduct our operations in such a way as to avoid all alleged infringements, misappropriations or other violations of such intellectual property rights. In addition, former employers of our current, former or future team members may assert claims that such team members have improperly disclosed to us the confidential or proprietary information of these former employers. The resolution of any such disputes or litigations is difficult to predict. Future litigation may also involve non-practicing entities or other intellectual property owners who have no relevant product offerings or revenue and against whom our ownership of intellectual property may therefore provide little or no deterrence or protection. An assertion of an intellectual property infringement, misappropriation or other violation claim against us may result in adverse judgments, settlement on unfavorable terms or cause us to spend significant amounts to defend the claim, even if we ultimately prevail and we may have to pay significant money damages, lose significant revenues, be prohibited from using the relevant systems, processes, technologies or other intellectual property (temporarily or permanently), cease offering certain products or services, or incur significant license, royalty or technology development expenses. Even in instances where we believe that claims and allegations of intellectual property infringement, misappropriation or other violation against us are without merit, defending against such claims could be costly, time consuming and could result in the diversion of time and attention of our management team. In addition, although in some cases a third party may have agreed to indemnify us for such infringement, misappropriation or other violation, such indemnifying party may refuse or be unable to uphold its contractual obligations. In other cases, our insurance may not cover potential claims of this type adequately or at all, and we may be required to pay monetary damages, which may be significant.

Our subsidiary, Quicken Loans, is party to a license agreement with Intuit, Inc. governing the use of the "Quicken Loans" name and trademark that may be terminated if Quicken Loans commits a material breach of its obligations thereunder, undergoes certain changes of control or in certain instances of wrongdoing or alleged wrongdoing.

Quicken Loans licenses the "Quicken Loans" name and trademark from Intuit, Inc. ("Intuit") on an exclusive, royalty-bearing basis for use in connection with our business in the United States. Although the license is perpetual, Intuit may terminate the license agreement under various circumstances, including, among other things, if Quicken Loans commits a material breach of its obligations thereunder, undergoes certain changes of control, or in certain instances where wrongdoing or alleged wrongdoing by Quicken Loans or any controlling person could have a material adverse effect on Intuit. Termination of the license agreement would preclude us from using the "Quicken Loans" name and trademark, and the transition to a different brand (whether new or existing in our portfolio) would be time consuming and expensive. Any improper use of the "Quicken Loans" name or trademark by us, Intuit or any other third parties could adversely affect our business. We have entered into an agreement with Intuit that, among other things, gives Quicken Loans full ownership of the "Quicken Loans" brand in 2022 in exchange for certain agreements, subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions.

Our success depends largely on the health of the U.S. residential real estate industry, which is seasonal, cyclical, and affected by changes in general economic conditions beyond our control. Economic factors such as increased interest rates, slow economic growth or recessionary conditions, the pace of home price appreciation or the lack of it, changes in household debt levels, and increased unemployment or stagnant or declining wages affect our clients' income and thus their ability and willingness to make loan payments. National or global events including, but not limited to the COVID-19 pandemic, affect all such macroeconomic conditions. Weak or a significant deterioration in economic conditions reduce the amount of disposable income consumers have, which in turn reduces consumer spending and the willingness of qualified potential clients to take out loans. As a result, such economic factors affect loan origination volume.

Additional macroeconomic factors including, but not limited to, rising government debt levels, the withdrawal or augmentation of government interventions into the financial markets, changing U.S. consumer spending patterns, changing expectations for inflation and deflation, and weak credit markets may create low consumer confidence in the U.S. economy or the U.S. residential real estate industry. Excessive home building or historically high foreclosure rates resulting in an oversupply of housing in a particular area may also increase the amount of losses incurred on defaulted mortgage loans. In addition, the United States has imposed tariffs on certain imports from certain foreign countries and it is possible that the United States may impose additional or increase such tariffs in the future, having the effect of, among other things, raising prices to consumers, potentially eliciting reciprocal tariffs, and slowing the global economy.

Recently, financial markets have experienced significant volatility as a result of the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic. Many state and local jurisdictions have enacted measures requiring closure of businesses and other economically restrictive efforts to combat the COVID-19 pandemic. Unemployment levels have increased significantly and may remain at elevated levels or continue to rise. There may be a significant increase in the rate and number of mortgage payment delinquencies, and house sales, home prices, and multifamily fundamentals may be adversely affected, leading to an overall material adverse decrease on our mortgage origination activities. See "—The COVID-19 pandemic poses unique challenges to our business and the effects of the pandemic could adversely impact our ability to originate mortgages, our servicing operations, our liquidity and our employees".

Furthermore, several state and local governments in the United States are experiencing, and may continue to experience, budgetary strain, which will be exacerbated by the impact of COVID-19. One or more states or significant local governments could default on their debt or seek relief from their debt under the U.S. bankruptcy code or by agreement with their creditors. Any or all of the circumstances described above may lead to further volatility in or disruption of the credit markets at any time and adversely affect our financial condition.

Any uncertainty or deterioration in market conditions, including changes caused by COVID-19, that leads to a decrease in loan originations will result in lower revenue on loans sold into the secondary market. Lower loan origination volumes generally place downward pressure on margins, thus compounding the effect of the deteriorating market conditions. Such events could be detrimental to our business. Moreover, any deterioration in market conditions that leads to an increase in loan delinquencies will result in lower revenue for loans we service for the GSEs and Ginnie Mae because we collect servicing fees from them only for performing loans. While increased delinquencies generate higher ancillary revenues, including late fees, these fees are likely unrecoverable when the related loan is liquidated. Additionally, it is not clear if we will be able to collect such ancillary fees for delinquencies relating to the COVID-19 pandemic as the federal and state legislation and regulations responding to the COVID-19 pandemic continue to evolve.

Increased delinquencies may also increase the cost of servicing the loans. The decreased cash flow from lower servicing fees could decrease the estimated value of our MSRs, resulting in recognition of losses when we write down those values. In addition, an increase in delinquencies lowers the interest income we receive on cash held in collection and other accounts and increases our obligation to advance certain principal, interest, tax and insurance obligations owed by the delinquent mortgage loan borrower. An increase in delinquencies could therefore be detrimental to our business. We anticipate that the effects of the COVID-19 pandemic will have such effects on our servicing business, see "—The COVID-19 pandemic poses unique challenges to our business and the effects of the pandemic could adversely impact our ability to originate mortgages, our servicing operations, our liquidity and our employees".

Additionally, origination of loans can be seasonal. Historically, our loan origination has increased activity in the second and third quarters and reduced activity in the first and fourth quarters as home buyers tend to purchase their homes during the spring and summer in order to move to a new home before the start of the school year. As a result, our loan origination revenues varies from quarter to quarter. However, this historical pattern may be disrupted for the foreseeable future as a result of the shelter-in-place and similar protective orders that have been issued in response to the pandemic.

Any of the circumstances described above, alone or in combination, may lead to volatility in or disruption of the credit markets at any time and have a detrimental effect on our business.

Our business is significantly impacted by interest rates. Changes in prevailing interest rates or U.S. monetary policies that affect interest rates may have a detrimental effect on our business.

Our financial performance is directly affected by changes in prevailing interest rates. Our financial performance may decrease or be subject to substantial volatility because of changes in prevailing interest rates. Due to the unprecedented events surrounding the COVID-19 pandemic along with the associated severe market dislocation, there is an increased degree of uncertainty and unpredictability concerning current interest rates, future interest rates and potential negative interest rates.

With regard to the portion of our business that is centered on refinancing existing mortgages, we generally note that the refinance market experiences more significant fluctuations than the purchase market as a result of interest rate changes. Long-term residential mortgage interest rates have been at or near record lows for an extended period, but they may increase in the future. As interest rates rise, refinancing generally becomes a smaller portion of the market as fewer consumers are interested in refinancing their mortgages. With regard to our purchase mortgage loan business, higher interest rates may also reduce demand for purchase mortgages as home ownership becomes more expensive. This could adversely affect our revenues or require us to increase marketing expenditures in an attempt to increase or maintain our volume of mortgages. Decreases in interest rates can also adversely affect our financial condition, the value of our MSR portfolio, and the results of operations. With sustained low interest rates, as we have been experiencing, refinancing transactions decline over time, as many clients and potential clients have already taken advantage of the low interest rates.

Changes in interest rates are also a key driver of the performance of our servicing business, particularly because our portfolio is composed primarily of MSRs related to high-quality loans, the values of which are highly sensitive to changes in interest rates. Historically, the value of MSRs has increased when interest rates rise as higher interest rates lead to decreased prepayment rates, and has decreased when interest rates decline as lower interest rates lead to increased prepayment rates. As a result, decreases in interest rates could have a detrimental effect on our business.

Borrowings under some of our finance and warehouse facilities are at variable rates of interest, which also expose us to interest rate risk. If interest rates increase, our debt service obligations on certain of our variable-rate indebtedness will increase even though the amount borrowed remains the same, and our net income and cash flows, including cash available for servicing our indebtedness, will correspondingly decrease. We currently have entered into, and in the future we may continue to enter into, interest rate swaps that involve the exchange of floating for fixed-rate interest payments to reduce interest rate volatility. However, we may not maintain interest rate swaps with respect to all of our variable-rate indebtedness, and any such swaps may not fully mitigate our interest rate risk, may prove disadvantageous, or may create additional risks.

In addition, our business is materially affected by the monetary policies of the U.S. government and its agencies. We are particularly affected by the policies of the U.S. Federal Reserve, which influence interest rates and impact the size of the loan origination market. In 2017, the U.S. Federal Reserve ended its quantitative easing program and started its balance sheet reduction plan. The U.S. Federal Reserve's balance sheet consists of U.S. Treasuries and MBS issued by Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and Ginnie Mae. To shrink its balance sheet prior to the COVID-19 pandemic, the U.S. Federal Reserve had slowed the pace of MBS purchases to a point at which natural runoff exceeded new purchases, resulting in a net reduction. Recently, in response to the COVID-19 pandemic, state and federal authorities have taken several actions to provide relief to those negatively affected by COVID-19, such as the CARES Act and the Federal Reserve's support of the financial markets. In particular, U.S. Federal Reserve announced programs to increase its purchase of certain MBS products in response to the COVID-19 pandemic's effect on the U.S. economy, and the market for MBS in particular. The results of this recent policy change by the U.S. Federal Reserve are unknown at this time, as is its duration, but could affect the liquidity of MBS in the future.

Our risk management efforts may not be effective.

We could incur substantial losses and our business operations could be disrupted if we are unable to effectively identify, manage, monitor, and mitigate financial risks, such as credit risk, interest rate risk, prepayment risk, liquidity risk, and other market-related risks, as well as operational and legal risks related to our business, assets, and liabilities. We also are subject to various laws, regulations and rules that are not industry specific, including employment laws related to employee hiring and termination practices, health and safety laws, environmental laws and other federal, state and local laws, regulations and rules in the jurisdictions in which we operate. Our risk management policies, procedures, and techniques may not be sufficient to identify all of the risks to which we are exposed, mitigate the risks we have identified, or identify additional risks to which we may become subject in the future. Expansion of our business activities may also result in our being exposed to risks to which we have not previously been exposed or may increase our exposure to certain types of risks, and we may not effectively identify, manage, monitor, and mitigate these risks as our business activities change or increase.

Employment litigation and related unfavorable publicity could negatively affect our future business.

Team members and former team members may, from time to time, bring lawsuits against us regarding injury, creation of a hostile workplace, discrimination, wage and hour, employee benefits, sexual harassment and other employment issues. In recent years there has been an increase in the number of discrimination and harassment claims against employers generally. Coupled with the expansion of social media platforms and similar devices that allow individuals access to a broad audience, these claims have had a significant negative impact on some businesses. Companies that have faced employment or harassment related lawsuits have had to terminate management or other key personnel and have suffered reputational harm that has negatively impacted their businesses. If we experience significant incidents involving employment or harassment related claims, we could face substantial out-of-pocket losses, fines or negative publicity. In addition, such claims may give rise to litigation, which may be time consuming, distracting to our management team and costly.

We may not be able to hire, train and retain qualified personnel to support our growth, and difficulties with hiring, employee training and other labor issues could adversely affect our ability to implement our business objectives and disrupt our operations.

Our operations depend on the work of our approximately 20,000 team members. Our future success will depend on our ability to continue to hire, integrate, develop and retain highly-qualified personnel for all areas of our organization. Any talent acquisition and retention challenges could reduce our operating efficiency, increase our costs of operations and harm our overall financial condition. We could face these challenges if competition for qualified personnel intensifies or the pool of qualified candidates becomes more limited. Additionally, we invest heavily in training our team members, which increases their value to competitors who may seek to recruit them. The inability to attract or retain qualified personnel could have a detrimental effect on our business.

Loss of our key management could result in a material adverse effect on our business.

Our future success depends to a significant extent on the continued services of our senior management, including Jay Farner, our Chief Executive Officer, Bob Walters, our President and Chief Operating Officer, Julie Booth, our Chief Financial Officer and Angelo Vitale, our General Counsel and Secretary. The experience of our senior management is a valuable asset to us and would be difficult to replace. We do not maintain "key person" life insurance for, or employment contracts with, any of our personnel. The loss of the services of our Chief Executive Officer, our President or our Chief Financial Officer or other members of senior management could disrupt and have a detrimental effect on our business.

If we cannot maintain our corporate culture, we could lose the innovation, collaboration and focus on the mission that contribute to our business.

We believe that a critical component of our success is our corporate culture and our deep commitment to our mission. We believe this mission-based culture fosters innovation, encourages teamwork and cultivates creativity. Our mission defines our business philosophy as well as the emphasis that we place on our clients, our people and our culture and is consistently reinforced to and by our team members. As we develop the infrastructure of a public company and continue to grow, we may find it difficult to maintain these valuable aspects of our corporate culture and our long-term mission. Any failure to preserve our culture, including a failure due to the growth from becoming a public company, could negatively impact our future success, including our ability to attract and retain team members, encourage innovation and teamwork, and effectively focus on and pursue our mission and corporate objectives.

Acquisitions and strategic alliances could distract management and expose us to financial, execution and operational risks that could have a detrimental effect on our business.

We may acquire or make investments in complementary or what we view as strategic businesses, technologies, services or products. The risks associated with acquisitions include, without limitation, difficulty assimilating and integrating the acquired company's personnel, operations, technology, services, products and software, the inability to retain key team members, the disruption of our ongoing business and increases in our expenses, and the diversion of management's attention from core business concerns. Through acquisitions, we may enter into business lines in which we have not previously operated, which would require additional integration and be even more distracting for management.

The businesses and assets we acquire through acquisitions might not perform at levels we expect and we may not be able to achieve the anticipated synergies. We may find that we overpaid for the acquired business or assets or that the economic conditions underlying our acquisition decision have changed. It may also take time to fully integrate newly-acquired businesses and assets into our business, during which time our business could suffer from inefficiency.

Furthermore, we may incur additional indebtedness to pay for acquisitions, thereby increasing our leverage and diminishing our liquidity.

We are, and intend to continue, developing new products and services, and our failure to accurately predict their demand or growth could have an adverse effect on our business.

We are, and intend in the future to continue, investing significant resources in developing new tools, features, services, products and other offerings. New initiatives are inherently risky, as each involves unproven business strategies and new products and services with which we have limited or no prior development or operating experience. Risks from our innovative initiatives include those associated with potential defects in the design and development of the technologies used to automate processes, misapplication of technologies, the reliance on data that may prove inadequate, and failure to meet client expectations, among others. As a result of these risks, we could experience increased claims, reputational damage or other adverse effects, which could be material. Additionally, we can provide no assurance that we will be able to develop, commercially market and achieve acceptance of our new products and services. In addition, our investment of resources to develop new products and services may either be insufficient or result in expenses that are excessive in light of revenue actually originated from these new products and services.

The profile of potential clients using our new products and services may not be as attractive as the profile of the clients that we currently serve, which may lead to higher levels of delinquencies or defaults than we have historically experienced. Failure to accurately predict demand or growth with respect to our new products and services could have an adverse impact on our business, and there is always risk that these new products and services will be unprofitable, will increase our costs or will decrease our operating margins or take longer than anticipated to achieve target margins. Further, our development efforts with respect to these initiatives could distract management from current operations and could divert capital and other resources from our existing business. If we do not realize the expected benefits of our investments, our business may be harmed.

We are subject to various legal actions that if decided adversely, could be detrimental to our business.

We operate in an industry that is highly sensitive to consumer protection, and we are subject to numerous local, state and federal laws that are continuously changing. Remediation for non-compliance with these laws can be costly and significant fines may be incurred. We are routinely involved in legal proceedings alleging improper lending, servicing or marketing practices, abusive loan terms and fees, disclosure violations, quiet title actions, improper foreclosure practices, violations of consumer protection, securities or other laws, breach of contract and other related matters. See "Business—Legal and Regulatory Proceedings." We will incur defense costs and other legal expenses in connection with these lawsuits. Additionally, the final resolution of these actions may be unfavorable to us, which could be detrimental to our business. In cases where the final resolution is favorable to us, we may still incur a significant amount of legal expenses. For example, although we were able to reach a resolution with the Department of Justice (the "DOJ") in 2019 for $25.5 million plus $7.0 million in accrued interest related to a claim by the DOJ that the Company violated the False Claims Act, 31 U.S.C. § 3729, we still incurred a substantial amount of expenses in connection therewith. In addition to the expense and burden incurred in defending any of these actions and any damages that we may incur, our management's efforts and attention may be diverted from the ordinary business operations in order to address these claims. Additionally, we may be deemed in default of our debt agreements if a judgment for money that exceeds specified thresholds is rendered against us and we fail to timely address such judgment.

Our Rocket Mortgage business relies on our loan funding facilities to fund mortgage loans and otherwise operate our business. If one or more of such facilities are terminated, we may be unable to find replacement financing at commercially favorable terms, or at all, which could be detrimental to our business.

We fund substantially all of the mortgage loans we close through borrowings under our loan funding facilities and funds generated by our operations. Our borrowings are in turn generally repaid with the proceeds we receive from mortgage loan sales. We are currently, and may in the future continue to be, dependent upon a handful of lenders to provide the primary funding facilities for our loans. As of May 31, 2020, we had nine loan funding facilities which provide us with an aggregate maximum principal amount of $16.25 billion in loan origination availability, six of which allow drawings to fund loans at closing, and seven of which are with large global financial institutions. Included in those nine loan funding facilities are two loan funding facilities with GSEs. Additionally we are parties to an uncommitted agency MSR backed master repurchase agreement facility and a committed line of credit collateralized by GSE MSRs, each of which provides us access to up to $200.0 million of liquidity. As of May 31, 2020, we also had available to us $500.0 million of financing through a master repurchase agreement facility specialized for the early buy-out of certain mortgage loans in agency mortgage pools, and up to $175.0 million on an unsecured revolving line of credit with a national bank, and up to $1.0 billion on an unsecured line of credit, with Rock Holdings.

Of the seven existing global bank loan funding facilities, three are 364-day facilities, with an aggregate of $3.5 billion scheduled to expire over staggered maturities throughout 2020. The other four of our existing global bank loan funding facilities provide financing for up to two or three years, with maturities staggered in 2021 and 2022. Approximately $11.9 billion of our mortgage loan funding facilities are uncommitted and can be terminated by the applicable lender at any time. Moreover, three of our loan funding facilities require that we have additional borrowing capacity so that each such facility does not represent more than a specified percentage of our total borrowing capacity. If we were unable to maintain the required ratio with availability under other facilities, our funding availability under those facilities could also be terminated.

In the event that any of our loan funding facilities is terminated or is not renewed, or if the principal amount that may be drawn under our funding agreements that provide for immediate funding at closing were to significantly decrease, we may be unable to find replacement financing on commercially favorable terms, or at all, which could be detrimental to our business. Further, if we are unable to refinance or obtain additional funds for borrowing, our ability to maintain or grow our business could be limited.

Our ability to refinance existing debt and borrow additional funds is affected by a variety of factors including:

- limitations imposed on us under the indenture governing our 5.250% Senior Notes due 2028, the indenture governing our 5.750% Senior Notes Due 2025 and other existing and future financing facilities that contain restrictive covenants and borrowing conditions that may limit our ability to raise additional debt;
- a decline in liquidity in the credit markets;
- prevailing interest rates;
- the financial strength of the lenders from whom we borrow;

- the decision of lenders from whom we borrow to reduce their exposure to mortgage loans due to a change in such lenders' strategic plan, future lines of business or otherwise;
- the amount of eligible collateral pledged on advance facilities, which may be less than the borrowing capacity of the facility;
- the larger portion of our loan funding facilities that is uncommitted, versus committed;
- more stringent financial covenants in such refinanced facilities, which we may not be able to achieve; and
- accounting changes that impact calculations of covenants in our debt agreements.

If the refinancing or borrowing guidelines become more stringent and such changes result in increased costs to comply or decreased mortgage origination volume, such changes could be detrimental to our business.

Our loan funding facilities, MSR facilities and unsecured lines of credit contain covenants, including requirements to maintain a certain minimum tangible net worth, minimum liquidity, maximum total debt or liabilities to net worth ratio, pre-tax net income requirements, litigation judgment thresholds, and other customary debt covenants. A breach of the covenants can result in an event of default under these facilities and as such allow the lenders to pursue certain remedies. In addition, each of these facilities includes cross default or cross acceleration provisions that could result in most, if not all, facilities terminating if an event of default or acceleration of maturity occurs under any facility. See "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Liquidity and Capital Resources" for more information about these and other financing arrangements. If we are unable to meet or maintain the necessary covenant requirements or satisfy, or obtain waivers for, the continuing covenants, we may lose the ability to borrow under all of our financing facilities, which could be detrimental to our business.

We may not be able to continue to grow our loan origination business or effectively manage significant increases in our loan production volume, both of which could negatively affect our reputation and business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our mortgage loan origination business consists of providing purchase money loans to homebuyers and refinancing existing loans. The origination of purchase money mortgage loans is greatly influenced by traditional business clients in the home buying process such as realtors and builders. As a result, our ability to secure relationships with such traditional business clients will influence our ability to grow our loan origination business. Historically, our originations have been more heavily refinancings than the overall origination market, and accordingly if interest rates rise and the market shifts to purchase originations, our market share could be adversely affected if we are unable to increase our share of purchase originations. Our loan origination business also operates through third party mortgage professionals who do business with us on a best efforts basis, i.e., they are not contractually obligated to do business with us. Further, our competitors also have relationships with these brokers and actively compete with us in our efforts to expand our broker networks. Accordingly, we may not be successful in maintaining our existing relationships or expanding our broker networks. Our production and consumer direct lending operations are also subject to overall market factors that can impact our ability to grow our loan production volume. For example, increased competition from new and existing market participants, reductions in the overall level of refinancing activity or slow growth in the level of new home purchase activity can impact our ability to continue to grow our loan production volumes, and we may be forced to accept lower margins in our respective businesses in order to continue to compete and keep our volume of activity consistent with past or projected levels. If we are unable to continue to grow our loan origination business, this could adversely affect our business.

On the other hand, we may experience significant growth in our mortgage loan volume and MSRs. If we do not effectively manage our growth, the quality of our services could suffer, which could negatively affect our brand and operating results.

If the value of the collateral underlying certain of our loan funding facilities decreases, we could be required to satisfy a margin call, and an unanticipated margin call could have a material adverse effect on our liquidity.

Certain of our loan funding, early buy-out facilities, and MSR-backed facilities are subject to margin calls based on the lender's opinion of the value of the loan collateral securing such financing and certain of our hedges related to newly originated mortgages are also subject to margin calls. A margin call would require us to repay a portion of the outstanding borrowings. A large, unanticipated margin call could have a material adverse effect on our liquidity. As a result of the change in the interest rate market due to COVID-19, we have faced some margin calls on hedges. To date these calls have not been material but if the interest rate market continues to be significantly impacted by COVID-19, we could face additional margin calls that could impact our liquidity.

We depend on our ability to sell loans in the secondary market to a limited number of investors and to the GSEs, and to securitize our loans into MBS through the GSEs and Ginnie Mae. If our ability to sell or securitize mortgage loans is impaired, we may not be able to originate mortgage loans.

Substantially all of our loan originations are sold into the secondary market. We securitize loans into MBSs through Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and Ginnie Mae. Loans originated outside of Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and the guidelines of the FHA (as defined below), USDA, or VA (for loans securitized with Ginnie Mae) are sold to private investors and mortgage conduits, including our loan securitization company, Woodward Capital Management LLC, which primarily securitizes such non-GSE loan products. For further discussion, see "Risk Factors—Our business is highly dependent on Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac and certain U.S. government agencies, and any changes in these entities or their current roles could be detrimental to our business."

The gain recognized from sales in the secondary market represents a significant portion of our revenues and net earnings. A decrease in the prices paid to us upon sale of our loans could be detrimental to our business, as we are dependent on the cash generated from such sales to fund our future loan closings and repay borrowings under our loan funding facilities. If it is not possible or economical for us to complete the sale or securitization of certain of our loans held for sale, we may lack liquidity to continue to fund such loans and our revenues and margins on new loan originations could be materially and negatively impacted. The severity of the impact would be most significant to the extent we were unable to sell conforming home loans to the GSEs or securitize such loans pursuant to the GSEs and government agency-sponsored programs.

Further, there may be delays in our ability to sell future mortgage loans which we originate, or there may be a market shift that causes buyers of our non-GSE products—including jumbo mortgage loans and home equity lines of credit—to reduce their demand for such products. These market shifts can be caused by factors outside of our control, including, but not limited to market shifts in response to the COVID-19 pandemic that affect investor appetite for such non-GSE products. To the extent that happens, we could need to reduce our origination volume. Delays in the sale of mortgage loans also increases our exposure to market risks, which could adversely affect our profitability on sales of loans. Any such delays or failure to sell loans could be detrimental to our business.

A disruption in the secondary home loan market, including the MBS market, could have a detrimental effect on our business.

Demand in the secondary market and our ability to complete the sale or securitization of our home loans depends on a number of factors, many of which are beyond our control, including general economic conditions, general conditions in the banking system, the willingness of lenders to provide funding for home loans, the willingness of investors to purchase home loans and MBS, and changes in regulatory requirements. Disruptions in the general MBS market may occur, including, but not limited to in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Any significant disruption or period of illiquidity in the general MBS market could directly affect our liquidity because no existing alternative secondary market would likely be able to accommodate on a timely basis the volume of loans that we typically sell in any given period. Accordingly, if the MBS market experiences a period of illiquidity, we might be prevented from selling the loans that we produce into the secondary market in a timely manner or at favorable prices, which could be detrimental to our business.

Changes in the GSEs, FHA, VA, and USDA guidelines or GSE and Ginnie Mae guarantees could adversely affect our business.

We are required to follow specific guidelines and eligibility standards that impact the way we service and originate GSE and U.S. government agency loans, including guidelines and standards with respect to:

- credit standards for mortgage loans;
- our staffing levels and other servicing practices;
- the servicing and ancillary fees that we may charge;
- our modification standards and procedures;
- the amount of reimbursable and non-reimbursable advances that we may make; and
- the types of loan products that are eligible for sale or securitization.

These guidelines provide the GSEs and other government agencies with the ability to provide monetary incentives for loan servicers that perform well and to assess penalties for those that do not. At the direction of the Federal Housing Finance Agency ("FHFA"), Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac have aligned their guidelines for servicing delinquent mortgages, which could result in monetary incentives for servicers that perform well and to assess compensatory penalties against servicers in connection with the failure to meet specified timelines relating to delinquent loans and foreclosure proceedings, and other breaches of servicing obligations. We generally cannot negotiate these terms with the agencies and they are subject to change at any time without our specific consent. A significant change in these guidelines, that decreases the fees we charge or requires us to expend additional resources to provide mortgage services, could decrease our revenues or increase our costs.

In addition, changes in the nature or extent of the guarantees provided by Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, Ginnie Mae, the USDA or the VA, or the insurance provided by the FHA, or coverage provided by private mortgage insurers, could also have broad adverse market implications. Any future increases in guarantee fees or changes to their structure or increases in the premiums we are required to pay to the FHA or private mortgage insurers for insurance or to the VA or the USDA for guarantees could increase mortgage origination costs and insurance premiums for our clients. These industry changes could negatively affect demand for our mortgage services and consequently our origination volume, which could be detrimental to our business. We cannot predict whether the impact of any proposals to move Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac out of conservatorship would require them to increase their fees. For further discussion, see "Risk Factors—Our business is highly dependent on Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac and certain U.S. government agencies, and any changes in these entities or their current roles could be detrimental to our business."

Our business is highly dependent on Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac and certain U.S. government agencies, and any changes in these entities or their current roles could be detrimental to our business.

We originate loans eligible for sale to Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, and government insured or guaranteed loans, such as FHA, VA and USDA loans eligible for Ginnie Mae securities issuance.

In 2008, FHFA placed Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac into conservatorship and, as their conservator, controls and directs their operations.

There is significant uncertainty regarding the future of the GSEs, including with respect to how long they will continue to be in existence, the extent of their roles in the market and what forms they will have, and whether they will be government agencies, government-sponsored agencies or private for-profit entities. Since they have been placed into conservatorship, many legislative and administrative plans for GSE reform have been put forth, but all have been met with resistance from various constituencies.

The Trump administration has made reforming Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, including their relationship with the federal government, a priority. In September 2019, the U.S. Department of the Treasury released a proposal for reform, and, in October 2019, FHFA released a strategic plan regarding the conservatorships, which included a Scorecard that has preparing for exiting conservatorship as one of its key objectives. Among other things, the Treasury recommendations include recapitalizing the GSEs, increasing private-sector competition with the GSEs, replacing GSE statutory affordable housing goals, changing mortgage underwriting requirements for GSE guarantees, revising the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau's ("CFPB") qualified mortgage regulations (for further discussion of these regulations, see "—Risks Related to Regulatory Environment—The CFPB continues to be active in its monitoring of the loan origination and servicing sectors, and its recently issued rules increase our regulatory compliance burden and associated costs."), and continuing to support the market for 30-year fixed-rate mortgages. Some of Treasury's recommendations would require administrative action whereas others would require legislative action. It is uncertain whether these recommendations will be enacted. If these recommendations are enacted, the future roles of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac could be reduced (perhaps significantly) and the nature of their guarantee obligations could be considerably limited relative to historical measurements. In addition, various other proposals to generally reform the U.S. housing finance market have been offered by members of the U.S. Congress, and certain of these proposals seek to significantly reduce or eliminate over time the role of the GSEs in purchasing and guaranteeing mortgage loans. Any such proposals, if enacted, may have broad adverse implications for the MBS market and our business. It is possible that the adoption of any such proposals might lead to higher fees being charged by the GSEs or lower prices on our sales of mortgage loans to them.

The extent and timing of any regulatory reform regarding the GSEs and the U.S. housing finance market, as well as any effect on our business operations and financial results, are uncertain. It is not yet possible to determine whether such proposals will be enacted and, if so, when, what form any final legislation or policies might take or how proposals, legislation or policies may impact the MBS market and our business. Our inability to make the necessary adjustments to respond to these changing market conditions or loss of our approved seller/servicer status with the GSEs could have a material adverse effect on our mortgage origination operations and our mortgage servicing operations. If those agencies cease to exist, wind down, or otherwise significantly change their business operations or if we lost approvals with those agencies or our relationships with those agencies is otherwise adversely affected, we would seek alternative secondary market participants to acquire our mortgage loans at a volume sufficient to sustain our business. If such participants are not available on reasonably comparable economic terms, the above changes could have a material adverse effect on our ability to profitably sell loans we originate that are securitized through Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac or Ginnie Mae.

We are required to make servicing advances that can be subject to delays in recovery or may not be recoverable in certain circumstances.

During any period in which one of our clients is not making payments on a loan we service, including in certain circumstances where a client prepays a loan, we are required under most of our servicing agreements to advance our own funds to meet contractual principal and interest remittance requirements, pay property taxes and insurance premiums, legal expenses and other protective advances. We also advance funds to maintain, repair and market real estate properties. For our mortgage loans, as home values change, we may have to reconsider certain of the assumptions underlying our decisions to make advances, and in certain situations our contractual obligations may require us to make certain advances for which we may not be reimbursed. In addition, in the event a loan serviced by us defaults or becomes delinquent, or to the extent a mortgagee under such loan is allowed to enter into a forbearance by applicable law or regulation, the repayment to us of any advance related to such events may be delayed until the loan is repaid or refinanced or liquidation occurs. A delay in our ability to collect an advance may adversely affect our liquidity, and our inability to be reimbursed for an advance could be detrimental to our business. As our servicing portfolio continues to age, defaults might increase as the loans get older, which may increase our costs of servicing and could be detrimental to our business. Market disruptions such as the COVID-19 pandemic and the response by the CARES Act, enacted by the U.S. Congress on March 27, 2020, and the GSEs, through which a temporary period of forbearance is being offered for clients unable to pay on certain mortgage loans as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic may also increase the number of defaults, delinquencies or forbearances related to the loans we service, increasing the advances we make for such loans. With specific regard to the COVID-19 pandemic, any regulatory or GSE-specific relief on servicing advance obligations provided to mortgage loan servicers has so far been limited to GSE-eligible mortgage loans, leaving out any non-GSE mortgage loan products such as jumbo mortgage loans. Approximately 5.1% of our serviced loans are in forbearance as of June 30, 2020.

With delinquent VA guaranteed loans, the VA guarantee may not make us whole on losses or advances we may have made on the loan. If the VA determines the amount of the guarantee payment will be less than the cost of acquiring the property, it may elect to pay the VA guarantee and leave the property securing the loan with us (a "VA no-bid"). If we cannot sell the property for a sufficient amount to cover amounts outstanding on the loan we will suffer a loss which may, on an aggregate basis and if the percentage of VA no-bids increases, have a detrimental impact on our business and financial condition.

In addition, for certain loans sold to Ginnie Mae, we, as the servicer, have the unilateral right to repurchase any individual loan in a Ginnie Mae securitization pool if that loan meets defined criteria, including being delinquent greater than 90 days. Once we have the unilateral right to repurchase the delinquent loan, we have effectively regained control over the loan and we must recognize the loan on our balance sheet and recognize a corresponding financial liability. Any significant increase in required servicing advances or delinquent loan repurchases, could have a significant adverse impact on our cash flows, even if they are reimbursable, and could also have a detrimental effect on our business and financial condition.

Our counterparties may terminate our servicing rights and subservicing contracts under which we conduct servicing activities.

The majority of the mortgage loans we service are serviced on behalf of Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and Ginnie Mae. These entities establish the base service fee to compensate us for servicing loans as well as the assessment of fines and penalties that may be imposed upon us for failing to meet servicing standards.

As is standard in the industry, under the terms of our master servicing agreements with the GSEs, the GSEs have the right to terminate us as servicer of the loans we service on their behalf at any time and also have the right to cause us to sell the MSRs to a third party. In addition, failure to comply with servicing standards could result in termination of our agreements with the GSEs with little or no notice and without any compensation. If any of Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac or Ginnie Mae were to terminate us as a servicer, or increase our costs related to such servicing by way of additional fees, fines or penalties, such changes could have a material adverse effect on the revenue we derive from servicing activity, as well as the value of the related MSRs. These agreements, and other servicing agreements under which we service mortgage loans for non-GSE loan purchasers, also require that we service in accordance with GSE servicing guidelines and contain financial covenants. Under our subservicing contracts, the primary servicers for which we conduct subservicing activities have the right to terminate our subservicing rights with or without cause, with little notice and little to no compensation. If we were to have our servicing or subservicing rights terminated on a material portion of our servicing portfolio, this could adversely affect our business.

A failure to maintain the ratings assigned to us by a rating agency could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our mortgage origination and servicing platforms, as well as several securitization transactions that are composed of our mortgage loan products, are routinely rated by national rating agencies for various purposes. These ratings are subject to change without notice. Our ratings may be downgraded in the future, and any such downgrade could be detrimental to our business.

Our origination and servicing businesses and operating results may be adversely impacted due to a decline in market share for our origination business, a decline in repeat clients and an inability to recapture loans from borrowers who refinance.

If our loan origination business loses market share, if loan originations otherwise decrease or if the loans in our servicing portfolio are repaid or refinanced at a faster pace than expected, we may not be able to maintain or grow the size of our servicing portfolio, as our servicing portfolio is subject to "run-off" (i.e., mortgage loans serviced by us may be repaid at maturity, prepaid prior to maturity, refinanced with a mortgage not serviced by us, liquidated through foreclosure, deed-in-lieu of foreclosure or other liquidation process, or repaid through standard amortization of principal). As a result, our ability to maintain the size of our servicing portfolio depends on our ability to originate loans with respect to which we retain the servicing rights.

Additionally, in order for us to maintain or improve our operating results, it is important that we continue to extend loans to returning clients who have successfully repaid their previous loans at a pace substantially consistent with the market. Our repeat loan rates may decline or fluctuate as a result of our expansion into new products and markets or because our clients are able to obtain alternative sources of funding based on their credit history with us, and new clients we acquire in the future may not be as loyal as our current client base. Furthermore, clients who refinance have no obligation to refinance their loans with us and may choose to refinance with a different originator. If borrowers refinance with a different originator, this decreases the profitability of our MSRs because the original loan will be repaid, and we will not have an opportunity to earn further servicing fees after the original loan is repaid. If we are not successful in recapturing our existing loans that are refinanced, our MSRs may become increasingly subject to run-off, and in order to maintain our servicing portfolios at consistent levels we may need to purchase additional MSRs on the open market to add to our servicing portfolio, which would increase our costs and risks and decrease the profitability of our servicing business.

Our MSRs are highly volatile assets with continually changing values, and these changes in value, or inaccuracies in our estimates of their value, could adversely affect our business and financial condition.

The value of our MSRs is based on the cash flows projected to result from the servicing of the related mortgage loans and continually fluctuates due to a number of factors. These factors include changes in interest rates; historically, the value of MSRs has increased when interest rates rise as higher interest rates lead to decreased prepayment rates, and has decreased when interest rates decline as lower interest rates lead to increased prepayment rates and refinancings. Other market conditions also affect the number of loans that are refinanced and thus no longer result in cash flows, and the number of loans that become delinquent.

We use internal financial models that utilize market participant data to value our MSRs for purposes of financial reporting and for purposes of determining the price that we pay to acquire loans for which we will retain MSRs. These models are complex and use asset-specific collateral data and market inputs for interest and discount rates. In addition, the modeling requirements of MSRs are complex because of the high number of variables that drive cash flows associated with MSRs, and because of the complexity involved with anticipating such variables over the life of the MSR. Even if the general accuracy of our valuation models is validated, valuations are highly dependent upon the reasonableness of our assumptions and the results of the models.

If loan delinquencies or prepayment speeds are higher than anticipated or other factors perform worse than modeled, the recorded value of certain of our MSRs may decrease, which could adversely affect our business and financial condition.

We may be required to repurchase or substitute mortgage loans or MSRs that we have sold, or indemnify purchasers of our mortgage loans or MSRs.

We make representations and warranties to purchasers when we sell them a mortgage loan or a MSR, including in connection with our MBS securitizations. If a mortgage loan or MSR does not comply with the representations and warranties that we made with respect to it at the time of its sale, we could be required to repurchase the loan, replace it with a substitute loan and/or indemnify secondary market purchasers for losses. If this occurs, we may have to bear any associated losses directly, as repurchased loans typically can only be resold at a steep discount to their repurchase price, if at all. We also may be subject to claims by purchasers for repayment of a portion of the premium we received from such purchaser on the sale of certain loans or MSRs if such loans or MSRs are repaid in their entirety within a specified time period after the sale of the loan. As of March 31, 2020, we accrued $55.7 million in expenses in connection with our reserve for repurchase and indemnification obligations. Actual repurchase and indemnification obligations could materially exceed the reserves we have recorded in our financial statements. Any significant repurchases, substitutions, indemnifications or premium recapture could be detrimental to our business.

Additionally, we may not be able to recover amounts from some third parties from whom we may seek indemnification or against whom we may assert a loan repurchase demand in connection with a breach of a representation or warranty due to financial difficulties or otherwise. As a result, we are exposed to counterparty risk in the event of non-performance by counterparties to our various contracts, including, without limitation, as a result of the rejection of an agreement or transaction in bankruptcy proceedings, which could result in substantial losses for which we may not have insurance coverage.

We face intense competition that could adversely affect us.

Competition in the mortgage and other consumer lending space is intense. In addition, the mortgage and other consumer lending business has experienced substantial consolidation. Some of our competitors may have more name recognition and greater financial and other resources than we have (including access to capital). Other of our competitors, such as correspondent lenders who originate mortgage loans using their own funds, may have more operational flexibility in approving loans. Additionally, we operate at a competitive disadvantage to U.S. federal banks and thrifts and their subsidiaries because they enjoy federal preemption and, as a result, conduct their business under relatively uniform U.S. federal rules and standards and are generally not subject to the laws of the states in which they do business (including state "predatory lending" laws). Unlike our federally chartered competitors, we are generally subject to all state and local laws applicable to lenders in each jurisdiction in which we originate and service loans. To compete effectively, we must have a very high level of operational, technological and managerial expertise, as well as access to capital at a competitive cost.

Competition in our industry can take many forms, including the variety of loan programs being made available, interest rates and fees charged for a loan, convenience in obtaining a loan, client service levels, the amount and term of a loan, and marketing and distribution channels. Fluctuations in interest rates and general economic conditions may also affect our competitive position. During periods of rising rates, competitors that have locked in low borrowing costs may have a competitive advantage. Furthermore, a cyclical decline in the industry's overall level of originations, or decreased demand for loans due to a higher interest rate environment, may lead to increased competition for the remaining loans. Any increase in these competitive pressures could be detrimental to our business.

If the credit decisioning and scoring models we use contain errors or are otherwise ineffective, our reputation and relationships with borrowers and investors could be harmed and our market share could decline.

We use credit decisioning and scoring models that assign each loan a grade and a corresponding interest rate. Our credit decisioning and scoring models are based on algorithms that evaluate a number of factors, including behavioral data, transactional data and employment information, which may not effectively predict future loan losses. If we are unable to effectively segment borrowers into relative risk profiles, we may be unable to offer attractive interest rates for borrowers and returns for investors in the loans. We refine these algorithms based on new data and changing macro and economic conditions. If any of these credit decisioning and scoring models contain programming or other errors, are ineffective or the data provided by borrowers or third parties is incorrect or stale, or if we are unable to obtain the data from borrowers or third parties, our loan pricing and approval process could be negatively affected, resulting in mispriced or misclassified loans or incorrect approvals or denials of loans.

Certain of our loans involve a high degree of business and financial risk, which can result in substantial losses that could adversely affect our financial condition.

A client's ability to repay their loan may be adversely impacted by numerous factors, including a change in the borrower's employment or other negative local or more general economic conditions. Deterioration in a client's financial condition and prospects may be accompanied by deterioration in the value of the collateral for the loan.

Additionally, many of our clients are self-employed. Self-employed clients may be more likely to default on their loans than salaried or commissioned clients and generally have less predictable income. In addition, many self-employed clients are small business owners who may be personally liable for their business debt. Consequently, a higher number of self-employed clients may result in increased defaults on the loans we originate or service.

Some of the loans we originate or acquire have been, and in the future could be, made to clients who do not live in the mortgaged property. These loans secured by rental or investment properties tend to default more than loans secured by properties regularly occupied or used by the client. In a default, clients not occupying the mortgaged property may be more likely to abandon the property, increasing our financial exposure.

These higher risk loans are more expensive to service because they require more frequent interaction with clients and greater monitoring and oversight. Additionally, these higher risk loans may be subject to increased scrutiny by state and federal regulators and lead to higher compliance and regulatory costs, which could result in a further increase in servicing costs. We may not be able to pass along any of the additional expenses we incur in servicing these higher risk loans to our servicing clients. The greater cost of servicing higher risk loans could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our personal loans are not secured, guaranteed or insured and involve a high degree of financial risk.

Personal loans made through our Rocket Loans platform are not secured by any collateral, not guaranteed or insured by any third party and not backed by any governmental authority in any way. We are therefore limited in our ability to collect on these loans if a client is unwilling or unable to repay them. A client's ability to repay their loans can be negatively impacted by increases in their payment obligations to other lenders under mortgage, credit card and other loans resulting from increases in base lending rates or structured increases in payment obligations. If a client defaults on a loan, we may be unsuccessful in our efforts to collect the amount of the loan. As such, our partner bank Cross River Bank could decide to originate fewer loans on our platform and there could be less demand in the secondary market for loans originated through the RocketLoans.com site.

Additionally, these short-term loans also pose significant risks. Sometimes, borrowers use the proceeds of a long-term mortgage loan or the sale of a property to repay a short-term loan. We may therefore depend on a client's ability to obtain permanent financing or sell a property to repay our short-term loans, which could depend on market conditions and other factors. In a period of rising interest rates, it may be more difficult for our clients to obtain long-term financing, which increases the risk of non-payment of our short-term loans. Short-term loans are also subject to risks of defaults, bankruptcies, fraud, losses and special hazard losses that are not covered by standard hazard insurance.

An increase in defaults precipitated by the risks and uncertainties associated with the above operations and activities could have a detrimental effect on our business.

Fraud could result in significant financial losses and harm to our reputation.

We use automated underwriting engines from Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac to assist us in determining if a loan applicant is creditworthy, as well as other proprietary and third-party tools and safeguards to detect and prevent fraud. We are unable, however, to prevent every instance of fraud that may be engaged in by our clients or team members, and any seller, real estate broker, notary, settlement agent, appraiser, title agent, or third-party originator that misrepresents facts about a loan, including the information contained in the loan application, property valuation, title information and employment and income stated on the loan application. If any of this information was intentionally or negligently misrepresented and such misrepresentation was not detected prior to the acquisition or closing of the loan, the value of the loan could be significantly lower than expected, resulting in a loan being approved in circumstances where it would not have been, had we been provided with accurate data. A loan subject to a material misrepresentation is typically unsalable or subject to repurchase if it is sold before detection of the misrepresentation. In addition, the persons and entities making a misrepresentation are often difficult to locate and it is often difficult to collect from them any monetary losses we have suffered.

Additionally, we continue to develop and expand our use of internet and telecommunications technologies (including mobile devices) to offer our products and services. These new mobile technologies may be more susceptible to the fraudulent activities of computer hackers, organized criminals, perpetrators of fraud, terrorists and others. Our resources, technologies and fraud prevention tools may be insufficient to accurately detect and prevent fraud on this channel.

High profile fraudulent activity also could negatively impact our brand and reputation, which could impact our business. In addition, significant increases in fraudulent activity could lead to regulatory intervention, which could increase our costs and also negatively impact our business.

The conduct of the brokers through whom we originate could subject us to fines or other penalties.

The brokers through whom we originate have parallel and separate legal obligations to which they are subject. While these laws may not explicitly hold the originating lenders responsible for the legal violations of such brokers, U.S. federal and state agencies increasingly have sought to impose such liability. The U.S. Department of Justice ("DOJ"), through its use of a disparate impact theory under the FHA, is actively holding home loan lenders responsible for the pricing practices of brokers, alleging that the lender is directly responsible for the total fees and charges paid by the borrower even if the lender neither dictated what the broker could charge nor kept the money for its own account. In addition, under the TILA-RESPA Integrated Disclosure ("TRID") rule, we may be held responsible for improper disclosures made to clients by brokers. We may be subject to claims for fines or other penalties based upon the conduct of the independent home loan brokers with which we do business.

We are exposed to volatility in LIBOR, which can result in higher than market interest rates and may have a detrimental effect on our business.

The interest rate of our variable-rate indebtedness and the interest rate on the adjustable rate loans we originate and service is based on LIBOR. In July 2017, the U.K. Financial Conduct Authority announced that it intends to stop collecting LIBOR rates from banks after 2021. The announcement indicates that LIBOR will not continue to exist on the current basis. U.S.-dollar LIBOR is expected to be replaced with the Secured Overnight Financing Rate ("SOFR"), a new index calculated by reference to short-term repurchase agreements for U.S. Treasury securities. Although there have been a few issuances utilizing SOFR or the Sterling Over Night Index Average, an alternative reference rate that is based on transactions, it is unknown whether any of these alternative reference rates will attain market acceptance as replacements for LIBOR. There is currently no definitive successor reference rate to LIBOR and various industry organizations are still working to develop workable transition mechanisms. As part of this industry transition, we will be required to migrate any current adjustable rate loans we service to any such successor reference rate. Until a successor rate is determined, we cannot implement the transition away from LIBOR for the adjustable rate loans we service. As such, we are unable to predict the effect of any changes to LIBOR, the establishment and success of any alternative reference rates, or any other reforms to LIBOR or any replacement of LIBOR that may be enacted in the United States or elsewhere. Such changes, reforms or replacements relating to LIBOR could have an adverse impact on the market for or value of any LIBOR-linked securities, loans, derivatives or other financial instruments or extensions of credit held by us. LIBOR-related changes could affect our overall results of operations and financial condition.

Our hedging strategies may not be successful in mitigating our risks associated with changes in interest rates.

Our profitability is directly affected by changes in interest rates. The market value of closed loans held for sale and interest rate locks generally change along with interest rates. The value of such assets moves opposite of interest rate changes. For example, as interest rates rise, the value of existing mortgage assets falls.

We employ various economic hedging strategies to mitigate the interest rate and the anticipated loan financing probability or "pull-through risk" inherent in such mortgage assets. Our use of these hedge instruments may expose us to counterparty risk as they are not traded on regulated exchanges or guaranteed by an exchange or its clearinghouse and, consequently, there may not be the same level of protections with respect to margin requirements and positions and other requirements designed to protect both us and our counterparties. Furthermore, the enforceability of agreements underlying hedging transactions may depend on compliance with applicable statutory, commodity and other regulatory requirements and, depending on the domicile of the counterparty, applicable international requirements. Consequently, if a counterparty fails to perform under a derivative agreement we could incur a significant loss.

Our hedge instruments are accounted for as free-standing derivatives and are included on our consolidated balance sheet at fair market value. Our operating results could be negatively affected because the losses on the hedge instruments we enter into may not be offset by a change in the fair value of the related hedged transaction.

Our hedging strategies also require us to provide cash margin to our hedging counterparties from time to time. Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. ("FINRA") requires us to provide daily cash margin to (or receive daily cash margin from, depending on the daily value of related MBS) our hedging counterparties from time to time. The collection of daily margin between us and our hedging counterparties could, under certain MBS market conditions, adversely affect our short-term liquidity and cash-on-hand. Additionally, our hedge instruments may expose us to counterparty risk —the possibility that a loss may occur from the failure of another party to perform in accordance with the terms of the contract, which loss exceeds the value of existing collateral, if any.

A portion of our assets consist of MSRs, which may fluctuate in value. We recently began hedging a portion of the risks associated with such fluctuations. There can be no assurance such hedges adequately protect us from a decline in the value of the MSRs we own, or that the hedging strategy utilized by us with respect to our MSRs is well-designed or properly executed to adequately address such fluctuations. A decline in the value of MSRs may have a detrimental effect on our business.

Our hedging activities in the future may include entering into interest rate swaps, caps and floors, options to purchase these items, purchasing or selling U.S. Treasury securities, and/or other tools and strategies. These hedging decisions will be determined in light of the facts and circumstances existing at the time and may differ from our current hedging strategy. These hedging strategies may be less effective than our current hedging strategies in mitigating the risks described above, which could be detrimental to our business and financial condition.

We rely on internal models to manage risk and to make business decisions. Our business could be adversely affected if those models fail to produce reliable and/or valid results.

We make significant use of business and financial models in connection with our proprietary technology to measure and monitor our risk exposures and to manage our business. For example, we use models to measure and monitor our exposures to interest rate, credit and other market risks. The information provided by these models is used in making business decisions relating to strategies, initiatives, transactions, pricing and products. If these models are ineffective at predicting future losses or are otherwise inadequate, we may incur unexpected losses or otherwise be adversely affected.

We build these models using historical data and our assumptions about factors such as future mortgage loan demand, default rates, home price trends and other factors that may overstate or understate future experience. Our assumptions may be inaccurate and our models may not be as predictive as expected for many reasons, including the fact that they often involve matters that are inherently beyond our control and difficult to predict, such as macroeconomic conditions, and that they often involve complex interactions between a number of variables and factors.

Our models could produce unreliable results for a variety of reasons, including but not limited to, the limitations of historical data to predict results due to unprecedented events or circumstances, invalid or incorrect assumptions underlying the models, the need for manual adjustments in response to rapid changes in economic conditions, incorrect coding of the models, incorrect data being used by the models, or inappropriate application of a model to products or events outside of the model's intended use. In particular, models are less dependable when the economic environment is outside of historical experience, as was the case from 2008-2010 or during the present COVID-19 pandemic.

We continue to monitor the markets and make necessary adjustments to our models and apply appropriate management judgment in the interpretation and adjustment of the results produced by our models. This process takes into account updated information while maintaining controlled processes for model updates, including model development, testing, independent validation and implementation. As a result of the time and resources, including technical and staffing resources, that are required to perform these processes effectively, it may not be possible to replace existing models quickly enough to ensure that they will always properly account for the impacts of recent information and actions.

A substantial portion of our assets are measured at fair value. Fair value determinations require many assumptions and complex analyses, and we cannot control many of the underlying factors. If our estimates prove to be incorrect, we may be required to write down the value of such assets, which could adversely affect our earnings, financial condition and liquidity.

We measure the fair value of our mortgage loans held for sale, derivatives, interest rate lock commitments ("IRLCs") and MSRs on a recurring basis and we measure the fair value of other assets, such as mortgage loans held for investment, certain impaired loans and other real estate owned, on a nonrecurring basis. Fair value determinations require many assumptions and complex analyses, especially to the extent there are not active markets for identical assets. For example, we generally estimate the fair value of loans held for sale based on quoted market prices for securities backed by similar types of loans. If quoted market prices are not available, fair value is estimated based on other relevant factors, including dealer price quotations and prices available for similar instruments, to approximate the amounts that would be received from a third party. In addition, the fair value of IRLCs are measured based upon the difference between the current fair value of similar loans (as determined generally for mortgages held for sale) and the price at which we have committed to originate the loans, subject to the anticipated loan financing probability, or pull-through factor (which is both significant and highly subjective).

Further, MSRs do not trade in an active market with readily observable prices and therefore, their fair value is determined using a valuation model that calculates the present value of estimated net future cash flows, using estimates of prepayment speeds, discount rate, cost to service, float earnings, contractual servicing fee income and ancillary income, and late fees.

If our estimates of fair value prove to be incorrect, we may be required to write down the value of such assets, which could adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations.

Because accounting rules for valuing certain assets and liabilities are highly complex and involve significant judgment and assumptions, these complexities could lead to a delay in preparation of financial information and the delivery of this information to our stockholders and also increase the risk of errors and restatements, as well as the cost of compliance.

Our reported financial results may be materially and adversely affected by future changes in accounting principles generally accepted in the United States.

U.S. GAAP is subject to standard setting or interpretation by the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB"), the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board ("PCAOB"), the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") and various bodies formed to promulgate and interpret appropriate accounting principles. A change in these principles or interpretations could have a significant effect on our reported financial results and could materially and adversely affect the transactions completed before the announcement of a change. A change in these principles or interpretations could also require us to alter our accounting systems in a manner that could increase our operating costs, impact the content of our financial statements and impact our ability to timely prepare our financial statements. Our inability to timely prepare our financial statements in the future would likely adversely affect our share price.

Challenges to the MERS System could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial condition.

MERSCORP, Inc. is a privately held company that maintains an electronic registry, referred to as the MERS System, which tracks servicing rights and ownership of home loans in the United States. Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc. ("MERS"), a wholly owned subsidiary of MERSCORP, Inc., can serve as a nominee for the owner of a home loan and in that role initiate foreclosures or become the mortgagee of record for the loan in local land records. We have in the past and may continue to use MERS as a nominee. The MERS System is widely used by participants in the mortgage finance industry.

Several legal challenges in the courts and by governmental authorities have been made disputing MERS's legal standing to initiate foreclosures or act as nominee for lenders in mortgages and deeds of trust recorded in local land records. These challenges have focused public attention on MERS and on how home loans are recorded in local land records. Although most legal decisions have accepted MERS as mortgagee, these challenges could result in delays and additional costs in commencing, prosecuting and completing foreclosure proceedings, conducting foreclosure sales of mortgaged properties and submitting proofs of claim in client bankruptcy cases.

Negative public opinion could damage our reputation and adversely affect our earnings.

Reputational risk is inherent in our business. Negative public opinion can result from our actual or alleged conduct in any number of activities, including loan origination, loan servicing, debt collection practices, corporate governance and other activities, such as the lawsuits against us.

Negative public opinion can also result from actions taken by government regulators and community organizations in response to our activities, from consumer complaints, including in the CFPB complaints database, and from media coverage, whether accurate or not.

In recent years, consumer advocacy groups and some media reports have advocated governmental action to prohibit or place severe restrictions on non-bank consumer loans. If the negative characterization of independent mortgage loan originators becomes increasingly accepted by consumers, demand for any or all of our consumer loan products could significantly decrease. Additionally, if the negative characterization of independent mortgage loan originators is accepted by legislators and regulators, we could become subject to more restrictive laws and regulations applicable to consumer loan products.

In addition, our ability to attract and retain clients is highly dependent upon the external perceptions of our level of service, trustworthiness, business practices, financial condition and other subjective qualities. Negative perceptions or publicity regarding these matters—even if related to seemingly isolated incidents, or even if related to practices not specific to the origination or servicing of loans, such as debt collection—could erode trust and confidence and damage our reputation among existing and potential clients. In turn, this could decrease the demand for our products, increase regulatory scrutiny and detrimentally effect our business.

Regulation of title insurance rates could adversely affect our subsidiary, Amrock.

Amrock is subject to extensive rate regulation by the applicable state agencies in the jurisdictions in which it operates. Title insurance rates are regulated differently in various states, with some states requiring Amrock to file and receive approval of rates before such rates become effective and some states promulgating the rates that can be charged. These regulations could hinder Amrock's ability to promptly adapt to changing market dynamics through price adjustments, which could adversely affect its results of operations, particularly in a rapidly declining market.

Amrock's position as an agent utilizing third party vendors for issuing a significant amount of title insurance policies could adversely impact the frequency and severity of title claims.

In its position as a licensed title agent, Amrock performs the search and examination function or may purchase a search product from another third party vendor. In either case, Amrock is responsible for ensuring that the search and examination is completed. Amrock's relationship with each title insurance underwriter is governed by an agency agreement defining how it issues a title insurance policy on their behalf. The agency agreement also sets forth Amrock's liability to the underwriter for policy losses attributable to Amrock's errors. Periodic audits by Amrock's underwriters are also conducted. Despite Amrock's efforts to monitor third party vendors with which it transacts business, there is no guarantee that they will comply with their contractual obligations. Furthermore, Amrock cannot be certain that, due to changes in the regulatory environment and litigation trends, Amrock will not be held liable for errors and omissions by these vendors. Accordingly, Amrock's use of third party vendors could adversely impact the frequency and severity of title claims.

We may not be able to close on the proposed acquisition of Amrock Title Insurance Company after consummation of this offering.

As part of our reorganization transaction, we will enter into an acquisition agreement immediately prior to the completion of this offering with RHI and its direct subsidiary Amrock Holdings Inc. pursuant to which we will acquire Amrock Title Insurance Company ("ATI"), an entity through which RHI conducts its title insurance underwriting business. The consummation of this acquisition is subject to customary closing conditions, including the receipt of regulatory approvals. No assurances can be given that all closing conditions to our acquisition of ATI will be satisfied or waived, including the receipt of regulatory approvals, and no assurances can be given that we will be able to close on this proposed acquisition.

Our subsidiary, Rocket Loans, is a rapidly growing company that faces increased risks, uncertainties, expenses and difficulties due to its relatively limited operating history and its reliance on third party relationships and sources.

Our Rocket Loans business has a limited operating history at its current scale, and has encountered and will continue to encounter risks, uncertainties, expenses and difficulties, including navigating the complex and evolving regulatory and competitive environments, increasing its number of clients and increasing its volume of loans. If we are not able to timely and effectively address these requirements, our business may be harmed. Additionally, Rocket Loans is reliant on a third-party relationship with Cross River Bank, a New Jersey state chartered bank that handles a variety of consumer and commercial financing programs to originate all of its loans and to comply with various federal, state and other laws and third-party relationships with certain investors that have committed to purchase loans upon origination pursuant to agreements that contain certain conditions and terminate within one to three years. If Rocket Loans is unable to maintain its relationship with Cross River Bank, or if Cross River Bank were to suspend or cease its operations, we would need to implement a substantially similar arrangement with another issuing bank, obtain additional state licenses or curtail Rocket Loans' operations. Our agreements with Cross River Bank are non-exclusive and do not prohibit Cross River Bank from working with our competitors or from offering competing services. We could in the future have disagreements or disputes with Cross River Bank, which could negatively impact or threaten our relationship. Additionally, Rocket Loans relies on third party sources, including credit bureaus, for credit, identification, employment and other relevant information in order to review and select qualified borrowers and sufficient investors. If this information becomes unavailable, becomes more expensive to access or is incorrect, our business may be harmed.

Our Rocket Homes business model subjects us to challenges not faced by traditional brokerages.

One of our subsidiaries, Rocket Homes, competes with traditional brokerages while also facing expanded risks not faced by traditional brokerages. Rocket Homes' core business is the referral of homebuyers, who have been prequalified for a mortgage by Quicken Loans, to a network of third-party partner real estate agents that assist those homebuyers in the purchase of their new home. In addition, a new component of our Rocket Homes business is listing and selling homes directly for a fee that is typically less than what a traditional brokerage would charge. In both our core referral business and in our efforts to list and sell homes from our centralized location, Rocket Homes and our agents are required to be licensed and comply with the requirements governing the licensing and conduct of real estate brokerage and brokerage-related businesses in the markets where we operate. Rocket Homes also operates a website for searching property listings and connecting with our partner agents. The listing data is provided via license from approximately 200 Multiple Listing Service ("MLS"), and we must also comply with the contractual obligations and restrictions from each MLS in order to access and use its listings data. Because of this multifaceted business model, we face additional challenges that include: improper actions by our partner agents beyond our control that subject us to reputational, business or legal harms; failure to comply with the requirements governing the licensing and conduct of real estate brokerage and brokerage-related businesses, which could result in penalties or the suspension of operations; increases in competition in the residential brokerage industry that reduce profitability; continuing low home inventory levels that reduce demand; or a restriction or termination of our access to and use of listings data.

Our subsidiary, Core Digital Media, may experience a rise in costs related to its digital media operations and may be unable to profitably generate client leads, negatively affecting our business.

Our subsidiary, Core Digital Media, is an online marketing and client lead acquisition platform that conducts its marketing efforts exclusively through the use of digital media. If Core Digital Media experiences an increase in its costs related to digital media marketing or online advertising, it may be unable to maintain its amount and quality of leads for mortgage origination. Furthermore, in the face of higher costs per lead, Core Digital Media may be unable to effectively manage its pricing strategy and revenue opportunities, and could experience a decline in profitability that may adversely affect our business.

We recently invested in two Canadian mortgage business startups. Such expansion into Canadian operations, and our limited experience with international markets outside of the United States, could subject us to risks and expenses that could adversely impact our business.

We have evaluated, and continue to evaluate, potential expansion outside of the United States. In 2018, we invested in Lendesk, and in 2020, we invested in Edison Financial, both Canadian mortgage business startups.

As we expand into Canada, our operations are subject to a variety of risks, including fluctuations in currency exchange rates, unexpected changes in legal and regulatory requirements, political, economic and civil instability and uncertainty (including acts of terrorism, civil unrest, drug-cartel related and other forms of violence and outbreaks of war), investment restrictions or requirements, potentially adverse tax consequences, and difficulty in complying with foreign laws and regulations, as well as U.S. laws and regulations that govern foreign activities, such as the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act. Economic uncertainty in Canada could negatively impact our operations in those areas. Also, as we pursue expansion efforts in Canada, it may be necessary or desirable to contract with third parties, and we may not be able to enter into such agreements on commercially acceptable terms or at all. Further, such arrangements, including investing in Lendesk and Edison Financial, may not perform to our expectations, and we may be exposed to various risks as a result of the activities of our partners.

In addition, prior to investing in Lendesk and Edison Financial, we had very limited experience undertaking international operations outside of the United States. The structuring, expansion and administration of Lendesk and Edison Financial may require significant management attention and financial and operational resources that may result in increased operational, administrative, legal, compliance and other costs and may divert management's attention and employee resources from other priorities. Lendesk and Edison Financial may not generate its currently expected profitability, if any, and we may experience adverse effects on our business.

Any occurrences of the risks associated with our Canadian operations and related expansion could adversely affect our business, reputation and ability to further expand internationally.

Changes in tax laws may adversely affect us, and the Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") or a court may disagree with tax positions taken by the Issuer or Holdings, which may result in adverse effects on our financial condition or the value of our common stock.

The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (the "TCJA"), enacted on December 22, 2017, significantly affected U.S. tax law, including by changing how the U.S. imposes tax on certain types of income of corporations and by reducing the U.S. federal corporate income tax rate to 21%. It also imposed new limitations on a number of tax benefits, including deductions for business interest, use of net operating loss carry forwards, taxation of foreign income, and the foreign tax credit, among others.

The CARES Act, enacted on March 27, 2020, in response to the COVID-19 pandemic, further amended the U.S. federal tax code, including in respect of certain changes that were made by the TCJA, generally on a temporary basis. There can be no assurance that future tax law changes will not increase the rate of the corporate income tax significantly, impose new limitations on deductions, credits or other tax benefits, or make other changes that may adversely affect our business, cash flows or financial performance. In addition, the IRS has yet to issue guidance on a number of important issues regarding the changes made by the TCJA and the CARES Act. In the absence of such guidance, the Company will take positions with respect to a number of unsettled issues. There is no assurance that the IRS or a court will agree with the positions taken by us, in which case tax penalties and interest may be imposed that could adversely affect our business, cash flows or financial performance.

Terrorist attacks and other acts of violence or war may affect the lending industry generally and our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The terrorist attacks on September 11, 2001 disrupted the U.S. financial markets, including the real estate capital markets, and negatively impacted the U.S. economy in general. Any future terrorist attacks, the anticipation of any such attacks, the consequences of any military or other response by the United States and its allies, and other armed conflicts could cause consumer confidence and spending to decrease or result in increased volatility in the United States and worldwide financial markets and economy. The economic impact of these events could also adversely affect the credit quality of some of our loans and investments and the properties underlying our interests.

If such events lead to a prolonged economic slowdown, recession or declining real estate values, they could impair the performance of our investments and harm our financial condition and results of operations, increase our funding costs, limit our access to the capital markets or result in a decision by lenders not to extend credit to us. In addition, the activation of additional U.S. military reservists or members of the National Guard may significantly increase the proportion of mortgage loans whose interest rates are reduced by application of the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (the "Relief Act") or similar state or local laws. As a result, any such attacks may adversely impact our performance. Losses resulting from these types of events may not be fully insurable.

Our business is subject to the risks of earthquakes, fires, floods and other natural catastrophic events and to interruption by man-made issues such as strikes.

Our systems and operations are vulnerable to damage or interruption from earthquakes, fires, floods, power losses, telecommunications failures, strikes, health pandemics and similar events. For example, a significant natural disaster in Detroit, such as an earthquake, fire or flood, could have a material adverse impact on our business, operating results and financial condition, and our insurance coverage may be insufficient to compensate us for losses that may occur. Disease outbreaks have occurred in the past (including severe acute respiratory syndrome, or SARS, avian flu, H1N1/09 flu and COVID-19) and any prolonged occurrence of infectious disease or other adverse public health developments could have a material adverse effect on the macro economy and/or our business operations. In addition, strikes and other geopolitical unrest could cause disruptions in our business and lead to interruptions, delays or loss of critical data. These types of catastrophic events could also affect our loan servicing costs, increase our recoverable and our non-recoverable servicing advances, increase servicing defaults and negatively affect the value of our MSRs. We may not have sufficient protection or recovery plans in certain circumstances, such as natural disasters affecting the Detroit, Phoenix, Cleveland or Charlotte areas, and our business interruption insurance may be insufficient to compensate us for losses that may occur.

Risks Related to Regulatory Environment

We operate in a heavily regulated industry, and our mortgage loan origination and servicing activities expose us to risks of noncompliance with an increasing and inconsistent body of complex laws and regulations at the U.S. federal, state and local levels, as well as in Canada.

Due to the heavily regulated nature of the mortgage industry, we are required to comply with a wide array of Canadian, U.S. federal, state and local laws and regulations that regulate, among other things, the manner in which we conduct our loan origination and servicing businesses and the fees that we may charge, and the collection, use, retention, protection, disclosure, transfer and other processing of personal information. Governmental authorities and various Canadian, U.S., federal and state agencies have broad oversight and supervisory authority over our business.

Because we originate mortgage loans and provide servicing activities nationwide and have operations in Canada, we must be licensed in all relevant jurisdictions and comply with the respective laws and regulations of each, as well as with judicial and administrative decisions applicable to us. Such licensing requirements also require the submission of information regarding any person who has 10% or more of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock. As a result of the Voting Limitation, as long as persons other than RHI hold approximately 21% or less of our outstanding common stock, a person could have 10% or more of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock even though such person holds less than 10% of our outstanding common stock. In addition, we are currently subject to a variety of, and may in the future become subject to additional Canadian, U.S. federal, state, and local laws that are continuously evolving and developing, including laws on advertising, as well as privacy laws, including the Telephone Consumer Protection Act ("TCPA"), the Telemarketing Sales Rule, the CAN-SPAM Act, the Canadian Anti-Spam Law, the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act, and the newly enacted California Consumer Privacy Act ("CCPA"). We expect more states to enact legislation similar to the CCPA, which provides consumers with new privacy rights such as the right to request deletion of their data, the right to receive data on record for them and the right to know what categories of data (generally) are maintained about them, and increases the privacy and security obligations of entities handling certain personal information of such consumers. These regulations directly impact our business and require ongoing compliance, monitoring and internal and external audits as they continue to evolve, and may result in ever-increasing public scrutiny and escalating levels of enforcement and sanctions. Subsequent changes to data protection and privacy laws could also impact how we process personal information, and therefore limit the effectiveness of our products or services or our ability to operate or expand our business, including limiting strategic partnerships that may involve the sharing of personal information.

We must also comply with a number of federal, state and local consumer protection laws including, among others, the Truth in Lending Act ("TILA"), the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act ("RESPA"), the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the Fair Housing Act ("FHA"), the TCPA, the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act, the Electronic Fund Transfer Act, the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act, Military Lending Act, the Homeowners Protection Act, the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act, the SAFE Act, the Federal Trade Commission Act, the Dodd Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act of 2010 ("Dodd-Frank Act"), U.S. federal and state laws prohibiting unfair, deceptive, or abusive acts or practices, and state foreclosure laws. These statutes apply to loan origination, marketing, use of credit reports, safeguarding of non-public, personally identifiable information about our clients, foreclosure and claims handling, investment of and interest payments on escrow balances and escrow payment features, and mandate certain disclosures and notices to clients.

In particular, various federal, state and local laws have been enacted that are designed to discourage predatory lending and servicing practices. The Home Ownership and Equity Protection Act of 1994 ("HOEPA") prohibits inclusion of certain provisions in residential loans that have mortgage rates or origination costs in excess of prescribed levels and requires that borrowers be given certain disclosures prior to origination. Some states have enacted, or may enact, similar laws or regulations, which in some cases impose restrictions and requirements greater than those in HOEPA. In addition, under the anti-predatory lending laws of some states, the origination of certain residential loans, including loans that are not classified as "high cost" loans under applicable law, must satisfy a net tangible benefits test with respect to the related borrower. This test may be highly subjective and open to interpretation. As a result, a court may determine that a residential loan, for example, does not meet the test even if the related originator reasonably believed that the test was satisfied. Failure of residential loan originators or servicers to comply with these laws, to the extent any of their residential loans are or become part of our mortgage-related assets, could subject us, as a servicer or, in the case of acquired loans, as an assignee or purchaser, to monetary penalties and could result in the borrowers rescinding the affected loans. Lawsuits have been brought in various states making claims against originators, servicers, assignees and purchasers of high cost loans for violations of state law. Named defendants in these cases have included numerous participants within the secondary mortgage market. If our loans are found to have been originated in violation of predatory or abusive lending laws, we could be subject to lawsuits or governmental actions, or we could be fined or incur losses.

Both the scope of the laws and regulations and the intensity of the supervision to which our business is subject have increased over time, in response to the financial crisis as well as other factors such as technological and market changes. Regulatory enforcement and fines have also increased across the banking and financial services sector. We expect that our business will remain subject to extensive regulation and supervision. These regulatory changes could result in an increase in our regulatory compliance burden and associated costs and place restrictions on our origination and servicing operations. Our failure to comply with applicable Canadian, U.S. federal, state and local consumer protection and data privacy laws could lead to:

- loss of our licenses and approvals to engage in our servicing and lending businesses;
- damage to our reputation in the industry;
- governmental investigations and enforcement actions;
- administrative fines and penalties and litigation;
- civil and criminal liability, including class action lawsuits;
- diminished ability to sell loans that we originate or purchase, requirements to sell such loans at a discount compared to other loans or repurchase or address indemnification claims from purchasers of such loans, including the GSEs;
- inability to raise capital; and
- inability to execute on our business strategy, including our growth plans.

As these Canadian, U.S. federal, state and local laws evolve, it may be more difficult for us to identify these developments comprehensively, to interpret changes accurately and to train our team members effectively with respect to these laws and regulations. Adding to these difficulties, U.S. and Canadian laws may conflict with each other, and if we comply with the laws of one jurisdiction, we may find that we are violating laws of another jurisdiction. These difficulties potentially increase our exposure to the risks of noncompliance with these laws and regulations, which could be detrimental to our business. In addition, our failure to comply with these laws, regulations and rules may result in reduced payments by clients, modification of the original terms of loans, permanent forgiveness of debt, delays in the foreclosure process, increased servicing advances, litigation, enforcement actions, and repurchase and indemnification obligations. A failure to adequately supervise service providers and vendors, including outside foreclosure counsel, may also have these negative results.

The laws and regulations applicable to us are subject to administrative or judicial interpretation, but some of these laws and regulations have been enacted only recently and may not yet have been interpreted or may be interpreted infrequently. Ambiguities in applicable laws and regulations may leave uncertainty with respect to permitted or restricted conduct and may make compliance with laws, and risk assessment decisions with respect to compliance with laws difficult and uncertain. In addition, ambiguities make it difficult, in certain circumstances, to determine if, and how, compliance violations may be cured. The adoption by industry participants of different interpretations of these statutes and regulations has added uncertainty and complexity to compliance. We may fail to comply with applicable statutes and regulations even if acting in good faith due to a lack of clarity regarding the interpretation of such statutes and regulations, which may lead to regulatory investigations, governmental enforcement actions or private causes of action with respect to our compliance.

To resolve issues raised in examinations or other governmental actions, we may be required to take various corrective actions, including changing certain business practices, making refunds or taking other actions that could be financially or competitively detrimental to us. We expect to continue to incur costs to comply with governmental regulations. In addition, certain legislative actions and judicial decisions can give rise to the initiation of lawsuits against us for activities we conducted in the past. Furthermore, provisions in our mortgage loan and other loan product documentation, including but not limited to the mortgage and promissory notes we use in loan originations, could be construed as unenforceable by a court. We have been, and expect to continue to be, subject to regulatory enforcement actions and private causes of action from time to time with respect to our compliance with applicable laws and regulations.

The recent influx of new laws, regulations, and other directives adopted in response to the recent COVID-19 pandemic exemplifies the ever-changing and increasingly complex regulatory landscape we operate in. While some regulatory reactions to COVID-19 relaxed certain compliance obligations, the forbearance requirements imposed on mortgages servicers in the recently passed CARES Act added new regulatory responsibilities. The GSEs and the FHFA, Ginnie Mae, HUD, various investors and others have also issued guidance relating to COVID-19. In recent weeks, we received and expect to continue to receive inquiries from various federal and state lawmakers, attorneys general and regulators seeking information on our COVID-19 response and its impact on our business, team members, and clients. Future regulatory scrutiny and enforcement resulting from COVID-19 is unknown.

As a licensed real estate brokerage, our Rocket Homes business is currently subject to a variety of, and may in the future become subject to, additional, federal, state, and local laws that are continuously changing, including laws related to: the real estate, brokerage, title, and mortgage industries; mobile- and internet-based businesses; and data security, advertising, privacy and consumer protection laws. For instance, we are subject to federal laws such as the FHA and RESPA. These laws can be costly to comply with, require significant management attention, and could subject us to claims, government enforcement actions, civil and criminal liability, or other remedies, including revocation of licenses and suspension of business operations.

In some cases, it is unclear as to how such laws and regulations affect Rocket Homes based on our business model that is unlike traditional brokerages, and the fact that those laws and regulations were created for traditional real estate brokerages. If we are unable to comply with and become liable for violations of these laws or regulations, or if unfavorable regulations or interpretations of existing regulations by courts or regulatory bodies are implemented, we could be directly harmed and forced to implement new measures to reduce our liability exposure. It could cause our operations in affected markets to become overly expensive, time consuming, or even impossible. This may require us to expend significant time, capital, managerial, and other resources to modify or discontinue certain operations, limiting our ability to execute our business strategies, deepen our presence in our existing markets, or expand into new markets. In addition, any negative exposure or liability could harm our brand and reputation. Any costs incurred as a result of this potential liability could harm our business.

As a licensed title and settlement services provider, Amrock is currently subject to a variety of, and may in the future become subject to, additional, federal, state, and local laws that are continuously changing, including laws related to: the real estate, brokerage, title, and mortgage industries; mobile-and internet-based businesses; and data security, advertising, privacy and consumer protection laws. For instance, Amrock is subject to federal laws such as the FHA and RESPA. These laws can be costly to comply with, require significant management attention, and could subject us to claims, government enforcement actions, civil and criminal liability, or other remedies, including revocation of licenses and suspension of business operations.

Although we have systems and procedures directed to comply with these legal and regulatory requirements, we cannot assure you that more restrictive laws and regulations will not be adopted in the future, or that governmental bodies or courts will not interpret existing laws or regulations in a more restrictive manner, which could render our current business practices non-compliant or which could make compliance more difficult or expensive. Any of these, or other, changes in laws or regulations could have a detrimental effect on our business.

The CFPB continues to be active in its monitoring of the loan origination and servicing sectors, and its recently issued rules increase our regulatory compliance burden and associated costs.

We are subject to the regulatory, supervisory and examination authority of the CFPB, which has oversight of federal and state non-depository lending and servicing institutions, including residential mortgage originators and loan servicers. The CFPB has rulemaking authority with respect to many of the federal consumer protection laws applicable to mortgage lenders and servicers, including TILA and RESPA and the Fair Debt Collections Practices Act. The CFPB has issued a number of regulations under the Dodd-Frank Act relating to loan origination and servicing activities, including ability-to-repay and "Qualified Mortgage" standards and other origination standards and practices as well as servicing requirements that address, among other things, periodic billing statements, certain notices and acknowledgements, prompt crediting of borrowers' accounts for payments received, additional notice, review and timing requirements with respect to delinquent borrowers, loss mitigation, prompt investigation of complaints by borrowers, and lender-placed insurance notices. The CFPB has also amended provisions of HOEPA regarding the determination of high-cost mortgages, and of Regulation B, to implement additional requirements under the Equal Credit Opportunity Act with respect to valuations, including appraisals and automated valuation models. The CFPB has also issued guidance to loan servicers to address potential risks to borrowers that may arise in connection with transfers of servicing. Additionally, through bulletins 2012-03 and 2016-02, the CFPB has increased the focus on lender liability and vendor management across the mortgage and settlement services industries, which may vary depending on the services being performed.

For example, the CFPB iteratively adopted rules over the course of several years regarding mortgage servicing practices that required us to make modifications and enhancements to our mortgage servicing processes and systems. While the CFPB recently announced its flexible supervisory and enforcement approach during the COVID-19 pandemic on certain consumer communications required by the mortgage servicing rules, managing to the CFPB's loss mitigation rules with mounting CARES Act forbearance requests is particularly challenging. The intersection of the CFPB's mortgage servicing rules and COVID-19 is evolving and will pose new challenges to the servicing industry. The CFPB's recent publication of COVID-19-related FAQs did not resolve potential conflicts between the CARES Act with respect to reporting of consumer credit information mandated by the Fair Credit Reporting Act. There are conflicting interpretations of the CARES Act amendment of the Fair Credit Reporting Act with regards to delinquent loans entering a forbearance.

The mortgage lending sector is currently relying, for a significant portion of the mortgages originated, on a temporary CFPB regulation, commonly called the "QM Patch", which permits mortgage lenders to comply with the CFPB's ability to repay requirements by relying on the fact that the mortgage is eligible for sale to Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac. Reliance on the QM Patch has become widespread due to the operational complexity and practical inability for many mortgage lenders to rely on other ways to show compliance with the ability to repay regulations. For a more in-depth explanation, see "—Risks Related to Our Business—Our business is highly dependent on Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac and certain U.S. government agencies, and any changes in these entities or their current roles could be detrimental to our business." The QM Patch is scheduled to expire on January 10, 2021 or sooner if Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac exit FHFA conservatorship. In June 2020, the CFPB issued proposed rules to revise its ability to repay requirements and to extend the QM Patch until those revisions are effective. We cannot predict what final actions the CFPB will take and how it might affect us and other mortgage originators. For a discussion of the risk to our business due to possible changes in the conservatorship status of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, see "Business —Government Regulations Affecting Loan Originations and Servicing."

The CFPB's examinations have increased, and will likely continue to increase, our administrative and compliance costs. They could also greatly influence the availability and cost of residential mortgage credit and increase servicing costs and risks. These increased costs of compliance, the effect of these rules on the lending industry and loan servicing, and any failure in our ability to comply with the new rules by their effective dates, could be detrimental to our business. The CFPB also issued guidelines on sending examiners to banks and other institutions that service and/or originate mortgages to assess whether consumers' interests are protected. The CFPB has conducted routine examinations of our business and will conduct future examinations.

The CFPB also has broad enforcement powers, and can order, among other things, rescission or reformation of contracts, the refund of moneys or the return of real property, restitution, disgorgement or compensation for unjust enrichment, the payment of damages or other monetary relief, public notifications regarding violations, limits on activities or functions, remediation of practices, external compliance monitoring and civil money penalties. The CFPB has been active in investigations and enforcement actions and, when necessary, has issued civil money penalties to parties the CFPB determines has violated the laws and regulations it enforces. Our failure to comply with the federal consumer protection laws, rules and regulations to which we are subject, whether actual or alleged, could expose us to enforcement actions or potential litigation liabilities. In May 2020, the CFPB issued a civil investigative demand to our subsidiary, Rocket Homes, the stated purpose of which is to determine if Rocket Homes conducted any activities in a manner that violated RESPA and to determine if further CFPB action is necessary. We intend to cooperate fully with the CFPB in this investigation and are confident in the compliance processes that Rocket Homes has in place.

In addition, the occurrence of one or more of the foregoing events or a determination by any court or regulatory agency that our policies and procedures do not comply with applicable law could impact our business operations. For example, if the violation is related to our servicing operations it could lead to downgrades by one or more rating agencies, a transfer of our servicing responsibilities, increased delinquencies on mortgage loans we service or any combination of these events. Such a determination could also require us to modify our servicing standards. The expense of complying with new or modified servicing standards may be substantial. Any such changes or revisions may have a material impact on our servicing operations, which could be detrimental to our business.

The state regulatory agencies continue to be active in their supervision of the loan origination and servicing sectors and the results of these examinations may be detrimental to our business.

We are also supervised by regulatory agencies under Canadian and state law. State attorneys general, state licensing regulators, and state and local consumer protection offices have authority to investigate consumer complaints and to commence investigations and other formal and informal proceedings regarding our operations and activities. In addition, the GSEs and the FHFA, Ginnie Mae, the U.S. Federal Trade Commission ("FTC"), the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development ("HUD"), various investors, non-agency securitization trustees and others subject us to periodic reviews and audits. A determination of our failure to comply with applicable law could lead to enforcement action, administrative fines and penalties, or other administrative action.

If we are unable to comply with TRID rules, our business and operations could be materially and adversely affected and our plans to expand our lending business could be adversely impacted.

The CFPB implemented loan disclosure requirements, effective in October 2015, to combine and amend certain TILA and RESPA disclosures. The TRID rules significantly changed consumer facing disclosure rules and added certain waiting periods to allow consumers time to shop for and consider the loan terms after receiving the required disclosures. If we fail to comply with the TRID rules, we may be unable to sell loans that we originate or purchase, or we may be required to sell such loans at a discount compared to other loans. We could also be subject to repurchase or indemnification claims from purchasers of such loans, including the GSEs.

As regulatory guidance and enforcement and the views of the GSEs and other market participants evolve, we may need to modify further our loan origination processes and systems in order to adjust to evolution in the regulatory landscape and successfully operate our lending business. In such circumstances, if we are unable to make the necessary adjustments, our business and operations could be adversely affected and we may not be able to execute on our plans to grow our lending business.

Material changes to the laws, regulations or practices applicable to reverse mortgage programs operated by FHA and HUD could adversely affect our reverse mortgage business.

The reverse mortgage industry is largely dependent upon the FHA and HUD, and there can be no guarantee that these entities will continue to participate in the reverse mortgage industry or that they will not make material changes to the laws, regulations, rules or practices applicable to reverse mortgage programs. The vast majority of reverse mortgage loan products we originate through our subsidiary, One Reverse Mortgage LLC, are Home Equity Conversion Mortgages ("HECM"), an FHA-insured loan that must comply with the FHA's and other regulatory requirements. One Reverse Mortgage LLC also originates non-HECM reverse mortgage products, for which there is a limited secondary market. The FHA regulations governing the HECM product have changed from time to time. For example, on September 3, 2013, the FHA announced changes to the HECM program, pursuant to authority under the Reverse Mortgage Stabilization Act. The changes impact initial mortgage insurance premiums and principal limit factors, impose restrictions on the amount of funds that senior borrowers may draw down at closing and during the first 12 months after closing and require a financial assessment for all HECM borrowers to ensure they have the capacity and willingness to meet their financial obligations and the terms of the reverse mortgage. In addition, the changes require borrowers to set aside a portion of the loan proceeds they receive at closing (or withhold a portion of monthly loan disbursements) for the payment of property taxes and homeowners insurance based on the results of the financial assessment. The FHA also amended or clarified requirements related to HECMs through a series of issuances in 2014, including three Mortgagee Letters issued in June of 2014. The new requirements relate to advertising, restrictions on loan provisions, limitations on payment methods, new underwriting requirements, revised principal limits, revised financial assessment and property charge requirements and the treatment of non-borrowing spouses. The FHA has continued to issue additional guidance aimed at strengthening the HECM program. Most recently, the FHA issued a Mortgagee Letter changing initial and annual mortgage insurance premium rates and the principal limit factors for all HECMs. Our reverse mortgage business is also subject to state statutory and regulatory requirements including, but not limited to, licensing requirements, required disclosures and permissible fees. It is unclear how the various new requirements, including the financial assessment requirement, will impact our reverse mortgage business. We continue to evaluate our reverse mortgage business and the future loan production remains uncertain.

If we do not obtain and maintain the appropriate state licenses, we will not be allowed to originate or service loans in some states, which would adversely affect our operations.

Our operations are subject to regulation, supervision and licensing under various federal, state and local statutes, ordinances and regulations. In most states in which we operate, a regulatory agency regulates and enforces laws relating to loan servicing companies and loan origination companies such as us. These rules and regulations generally provide for licensing as a loan servicing company, loan origination company, loan marketing company, debt collection agency or third-party default specialist, as applicable, requirements as to the form and content of contracts and other documentation, licensing of employees and employee hiring background checks, restrictions on collection practices, disclosure and record-keeping requirements and enforcement of borrowers' rights. In most states, we are subject to periodic examination by state regulatory authorities. Some states in which we operate require special licensing or provide extensive regulation of our business.

Similarly, due to the geographic scope of our operations and the nature of the services our Rocket Homes business provides, we may be required to obtain and maintain additional real estate brokerage licenses in certain states where we operate. Because its lender clients are in multiple states, Amrock is required to obtain and maintain various licenses, for its title agents, providers of appraisal management services, abstracters, and escrow and closing personnel. Some states, such as California, require Amrock to obtain entity or agency licensure, while other states require insurance agents or insurance producers to be licensed individually. There are also states that require both licensures. Many state licenses are perpetual, but licensees must take some periodic actions to keep the license in good standing.

If we enter new markets, we may be required to comply with new laws, regulations and licensing requirements. As part of licensing requirements, we are typically required to designate individual licensees of record. We cannot ensure that we are, and will always remain, in full compliance with all real estate licensing laws and regulations, and we may be subject to fines or penalties, including license revocation, for any non-compliance. If in the future a state agency were to determine that we are required to obtain additional licenses in that state in order to transact business, or if we lose an existing license or are otherwise found to be in violation of a law or regulation, our business operations in that state may be suspended until we obtain the license or otherwise remedy the compliance issue.

We may not be able to maintain all requisite licenses and permits, and the failure to satisfy those and other regulatory requirements could restrict our ability to broker, originate, purchase, sell or service loans. In addition, our failure to satisfy any such requirements relating to servicing of loans could result in a default under our servicing agreements and have a material adverse effect on our operations. Those states that currently do not provide extensive regulation of our business may later choose to do so, and if such states so act, we may not be able to obtain or maintain all requisite licenses and permits. The failure to satisfy those and other regulatory requirements could limit our ability to broker, originate, purchase, sell or service loans in a certain state, or could result in a default under our financing and servicing agreements and have a material adverse effect on our operations. Furthermore, the adoption of additional, or the revision of existing, rules and regulations could have a detrimental effect on our business.

The executive, legislative and regulatory reaction to COVID-19, including the passage of the CARES Act, poses new and quickly evolving compliance obligations on our business, and we may experience unfavorable changes in or failure to comply with existing or future regulations and laws adopted in response to COVID-19.

Due to the unprecedented pause of major sectors of the U.S. economy from COVID-19, numerous states and the federal government adopted measures requiring mortgage servicers to work with consumers negatively impacted by COVID-19. The CARES Act imposes several new compliance obligations on our mortgage servicing activities, including, but not limited to mandatory forbearance offerings, altered credit reporting obligations, and moratoriums on foreclosure actions and late fee assessments. Many states have taken similar measures to provide mortgage payment and other relief to consumers, which create additional complexity around our mortgage servicing compliance activities.

With the urgency to help consumers, the expedient passage of the CARES Act increases the likelihood of unintended consequences from the legislation. An example of such unintended consequences is the liquidity pressure placed on mortgage servicers given our contractual obligation to continue to advance payments to investors on loans in forbearance where consumers are not making their typical monthly mortgage payments. Moreover, certain provisions of the CARES Act are subject to interpretation given the existing ambiguities in the legislation, which creates class action and other litigation risk.

Although much of the executive, legislative and regulatory actions stemming from COVID-19 are servicing-centric, regulators are adjusting compliance obligations impacting our mortgage origination activities. Many states have adopted temporary measures allowing for otherwise prohibited remote mortgage loan origination activities. While these temporary measures allow us to continue to do business remotely, they impose notice, procedural, and other compliance obligations on our origination activity.

Federal, state, and local executive, legislative and regulatory responses to COVID-19 are rapidly evolving, not consistent in scope or application, and subject to change without advance notice. Such efforts may impose additional compliance obligations, which may negatively impact our mortgage origination and servicing business. Any additional legal or regulatory responses to COVID-19 may unfavorably restrict our business operations, alter our established business practices, and otherwise raise our compliance costs.

We are subject to laws and regulations regarding our use of telemarketing; a failure to comply with such laws, including the TCPA could increase our operating costs and adversely impact our business.

We engage in outbound telephone and text communications with consumers, and accordingly must comply with a number of laws and regulations that govern said communications and the use of automatic telephone dialing systems ("ATDS"), including the TCPA and Telemarketing Sales Rules. The U.S. Federal Communications Commission ("FCC") and the FTC have responsibility for regulating various aspects of these laws. Among other requirements, the TCPA requires us to obtain prior express written consent for certain telemarketing calls and to adhere to "do-not-call" registry requirements which, in part, mandate we maintain and regularly update lists of consumers who have chosen not to be called and restrict calls to consumers who are on the national do-not-call list. Many states have similar consumer protection laws regulating telemarketing. These laws limit our ability to communicate with consumers and reduce the effectiveness of our marketing programs. The TCPA does not distinguish between voice and data, and, as such, SMS/MMS messages are also "calls" for the purpose of TCPA obligations and restrictions.

For violations of the TCPA, the law provides for a private right of action under which a plaintiff may recover monetary damages of $500 for each call or text made in violation of the prohibitions on calls made using an "artificial or pre-recorded voice" or an ATDS. A court may treble the amount of damages upon a finding of a "willful or knowing" violation. There is no statutory cap on maximum aggregate exposure (although some courts have applied in TCPA class actions constitutional limits on excessive penalties). An action may be brought by the FCC, a state attorney general, an individual, or a class of individuals. Like other companies that rely on telephone and text communications, we are regularly subject to putative class action suits alleging violations of the TCPA. To date, no such class has been certified. If in the future we are found to have violated the TCPA, the amount of damages and potential liability could be extensive and adversely impact our business. Accordingly, were such a class certified or if we are unable to successfully defend such a suit, as we have in the past, then TCPA damages could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition. For a discussion of current putative class actions under the TCPA, see "Business—Legal and Regulatory Proceedings."

If new laws and regulations lengthen foreclosure times or introduce new regulatory requirements regarding foreclosure procedures, our operating costs could increase and we could be subject to regulatory action.

When a mortgage loan we service is in foreclosure, we are generally required to continue to advance delinquent principal and interest to the securitization trust and to make advances for delinquent taxes and insurance and foreclosure costs and the upkeep of vacant property in foreclosure to the extent that we determine that such amounts are recoverable. These servicing advances are generally recovered when the delinquency is resolved. Regulatory actions that lengthen the foreclosure process will increase the amount of servicing advances that we are required to make, lengthen the time it takes for us to be reimbursed for such advances and increase the costs incurred during the foreclosure process.

The CARES Act paused all foreclosures until May 17, 2020. Many state governors issued orders, directives, guidance or recommendations halting foreclosure activity including evictions. This will increase our operating costs, extend the time we advance for delinquent taxes and insurance and could delay our ability to seek reimbursement from the investor to recoup some or all of the advances.

Increased regulatory scrutiny and new laws and procedures could cause us to adopt additional compliance measures and incur additional compliance costs in connection with our foreclosure processes. We may incur legal and other costs responding to regulatory inquiries or any allegation that we improperly foreclosed on a client. We could also suffer reputational damage and could be fined or otherwise penalized if we are found to have breached regulatory requirements.

Our servicing policies and procedures are subject to examination by our regulators, and the results of these examinations may be detrimental to our business.

As a loan servicer, we are examined for compliance with U.S. federal, state and local laws, rules and guidelines by numerous regulatory agencies. It is possible that any of these regulators will inquire about our servicing practices, policies or procedures and require us to revise them in the future. The occurrence of one or more of the foregoing events or a determination by any court or regulatory agency that our servicing policies and procedures do not comply with applicable law could lead to downgrades by one or more rating agencies, a transfer of our servicing responsibilities, increased delinquencies on mortgage loans we service or any combination of these events. Such a determination could also require us to modify our servicing standards.

Regulatory agencies and consumer advocacy groups are becoming more aggressive in asserting claims that the practices of lenders and loan servicers result in a disparate impact on protected classes.

Antidiscrimination statutes, such as the FHA and the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, prohibit creditors from discriminating against loan applicants and borrowers based on certain characteristics, such as race, religion and national origin. Various federal regulatory agencies and departments, including the DOJ and CFPB, take the position that these laws apply not only to intentional discrimination, but also to neutral practices that have a disparate impact on a group that shares a characteristic that a creditor may not consider in making credit decisions (i.e., creditor or servicing practices that have a disproportionate negative affect on a protected class of individuals).

These regulatory agencies, as well as consumer advocacy groups and plaintiffs' attorneys, are focusing greater attention on "disparate impact" claims. The U.S. Supreme Court recently confirmed that the "disparate impact" theory applies to cases brought under the FHA, while emphasizing that a causal relationship must be shown between a specific policy of the defendant and a discriminatory result that is not justified by a legitimate objective of the defendant. Although it is still unclear whether the theory applies under the Equal Credit Opportunity Act, regulatory agencies and private plaintiffs can be expected to continue to apply it to both the FHA and the Equal Credit Opportunity Act in the context of home loan lending and servicing. To extent that the "disparate impact" theory continues to apply, we may be faced with significant administrative burdens in attempting to comply and potential liability for failures to comply.

Furthermore, many industry observers believe that the "ability to repay" rule issued by the CFPB, discussed above, will have the unintended consequence of having a disparate impact on protected classes. Specifically, it is possible that lenders that make only qualified mortgages may be exposed to discrimination claims under a disparate impact theory.

In addition to reputational harm, violations of the Equal Credit Opportunity Act and the FHA can result in actual damages, punitive damages, injunctive or equitable relief, attorneys' fees and civil money penalties.

Government regulation of the internet and other aspects of our business is evolving, and we may experience unfavorable changes in or failure to comply with existing or future regulations and laws.

We are subject to a number of regulations and laws that apply generally to businesses, as well as regulations and laws specifically governing the internet and the marketing over the internet. Existing and future regulations and laws may impede the growth and availability of the internet and online services and may limit our ability to operate our business. These laws and regulations, which continue to evolve, cover privacy and data protection, data security, pricing, content, copyrights, distribution, mobile and other communications, advertising practices, electronic contracts, consumer protections, the provision of online payment services, unencumbered internet access to our services, the design and operation of websites and the characteristics and quality of offerings online. We cannot guarantee that we have been or will be fully compliant in every jurisdiction, as it is not entirely clear how existing laws and regulations governing issues such as property ownership, consumer protection, libel and personal privacy apply or will be enforced with respect to the internet and e-commerce, as many of these laws were adopted prior to the advent of the internet and do not contemplate or address the unique issues they raise. Moreover, increasing regulation and enforcement efforts by federal and state agencies and the prospects for private litigation claims related to our data collection, privacy policies or other e-commerce practices become more likely. In addition, the adoption of any laws or regulations, or the imposition of other legal requirements, that adversely affect our digital marketing efforts could decrease our ability to offer, or client demand for, our offerings, resulting in lower revenue. Future regulations, or changes in laws and regulations or their existing interpretations or applications, could also require us to change our business practices, raise compliance costs or other costs of doing business and materially adversely affect our business, financial condition and operating results.

Risks Related to Our Organization and Structure

We are a holding company and our principal asset after completion of this offering will be our equity interests in Holdings, and accordingly we are dependent upon distributions from Holdings to pay taxes and other expenses.

We are a holding company and, upon completion of the reorganization transactions and this offering, our principal asset will be our ownership of Holdings. See "Organizational Structure." We have no independent means of generating revenue. As the sole managing member of Holdings, we intend to cause Holdings to make distributions to us, RHI and Dan Gilbert, the three equityholders of Holdings, in amounts sufficient to cover the taxes on their allocable share of the taxable income of Holdings, all applicable taxes payable by us, any payments we are obligated to make under the tax receivable agreement we intend to enter into as part of the reorganization transactions and other costs or expenses. However, certain laws and regulations may result in restrictions on Holdings' ability to make distributions to us or the ability of Holdings' subsidiaries to make distributions to it.

To the extent that we need funds and Holdings or its subsidiaries are restricted from making such distributions, we may not be able to obtain such funds on terms acceptable to us or at all and as a result could suffer an adverse effect on our liquidity and financial condition.

In certain circumstances, Holdings will be required to make distributions to us, RHI and Dan Gilbert, and the distributions that Holdings will be required to make may be substantial and in excess of our tax liabilities and obligations under the tax receivable agreement. To the extent we do not distribute such excess cash, RHI and Dan Gilbert would benefit from any value attributable to such cash balances as a result of their ownership of Class B common stock (or Class A common stock, as applicable) following an exchange of their Holdings Units and corresponding shares of common stock.

Holdings will continue to be treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes and, as such, will not be subject to any entity-level U.S. federal income tax. Instead, taxable income will be allocated to us, RHI and Dan Gilbert, as holders of Holdings Units. See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Operating Agreement of RKT Holdings, LLC." Accordingly, we will incur income taxes on our allocable share of any net taxable income of Holdings. Under the operating agreement of Holdings (the "Holdings Operating Agreement"), Holdings will generally be required from time to time to make pro rata distributions in cash to its equityholders, RHI, Dan Gilbert and us, in amounts sufficient to cover the taxes on their allocable share of the taxable income of Holdings. As a result of (i) potential non pro rata allocations of net taxable income allocable to us, RHI and Dan Gilbert, (ii) the lower tax rate applicable to corporations as compared to individuals and (iii) the favorable tax benefits that we anticipate receiving from (a) the exchange of Holdings Units and corresponding shares of Class D common stock or Class C common stock and future purchases of Holdings Units (along with corresponding shares of Class D common stock or Class C common stock) from RHI and Dan Gilbert and (b) payments under the tax receivable agreement, we expect that these tax distributions will be in amounts that exceed our tax liabilities and obligations to make payments under the tax receivable agreement. Our board of directors will determine the appropriate uses for any excess cash so accumulated, which may include, among other uses, any potential dividends, stock buybacks, the payment obligations under the tax receivable agreement and the payment of other expenses. We will have no obligation to distribute such cash (or other available cash other than any declared dividend) to our stockholders. No adjustments to the exchange ratio for Holdings Units and corresponding shares of common stock will be made as a result of (i) any cash distribution by Holdings or (ii) any cash that we retain and do not distribute to our stockholders, and in any event the ratio will remain one-to-one.

We will be controlled by RHI, an entity controlled by Dan Gilbert, whose interests may conflict with our interests and the interests of other stockholders.

After giving effect to the reorganization transactions and this offering, RHI, an entity controlled by Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, will hold % of our issued and outstanding Class D common stock after this offering and will control 79% of the combined voting power of our common stock. As a result, RHI will be able to control any action requiring the general approval of our stockholders as long as it owns at least 10% of our issued and outstanding common stock, including the election of our board of directors, the adoption of amendments to our certificate of incorporation and bylaws and the approval of any merger or sale of substantially all of our assets. So long as RHI continues to directly or indirectly own a significant amount of our equity, even if such amount is less than a majority of the combined voting power of our common stock, RHI will continue to be able to substantially influence the outcome of votes on all matters requiring approval by the stockholders, including our ability to enter into certain corporate transactions. The interests of RHI could conflict with or differ from our interests or the interests of our other stockholders. For example, the concentration of ownership held by RHI could delay, defer or prevent a change of control of our Company or impede a merger, takeover or other business combination that may otherwise be favorable for us.

We will share our Chief Executive Officer and certain directors with RHI, our Chief Executive Officer will not devote his full time and attention to our affairs, and the overlap may give rise to conflicts.

Following the completion of our initial public offering, our Chief Executive Officer, Jay Farner, will also continue to serve as Chief Executive Officer of RHI. Although we expect that Jay will devote a majority of his time to the business of the Company, he will not be able to devote his full time, effort and attention to the Company's affairs. In addition, after the completion of our initial public offering, our Chief Executive Officer, our other executive officers and the directors affiliated with RHI will continue to own equity interests in RHI. Furthermore, immediately following the completion of our initial public offering, four members of our board of directors (Dan Gilbert, Jennifer Gilbert, Matthew Rizik and Jay Farner) will also be directors and, in the case of Jay and Matthew, officers of RHI. The overlap and the ownership of RHI equity interests may lead to actual or apparent conflicts of interest with respect to matters involving or affecting our Company and RHI and its affiliates other than the Company and its subsidiaries (collectively, RHI and its affiliates other than the Company and its subsidiaries, the "RHI Affiliated Entities"). For example, there will be a potential for a conflict of interest if there are issues or disputes under the commercial arrangements that will exist between us and the RHI Affiliated Entities or if we or one of the RHI Affiliated Entities look at acquisition or investment opportunities that may be suitable for both companies. See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions" for more information on the transactions and relationships between the Company and the RHI Affiliated Entities and certain policies concerning related party transactions that we will adopt following the completion of this offering.

Our certificate of incorporation will contain a provision renouncing our interest and expectancy in certain corporate opportunities.

Our certificate of incorporation will provide that no RHI Affiliated Entity nor any officer, director, member, partner or employee of any RHI Affiliated Entity (each, an "RHI Party") will have any duty to refrain from engaging in the same or similar business activities or lines of business, doing business with any of our clients or suppliers or employing or otherwise engaging or soliciting for employment any of our directors, officers or employees. Our certificate of incorporation will provide that, to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, we renounce our right to certain business opportunities, and that each RHI party has no duty to communicate or offer such business opportunity to us and is not liable to us or any of our stockholders for breach of any fiduciary or other duty under statutory or common law, as a director, officer or controlling stockholder, or otherwise, by reason of the fact that any such individual pursues or acquires such business opportunity, directs such business opportunity to another person or fails to present such business opportunity, or information regarding such business opportunity, to us. The Exchange Agreement will provide that these provisions of our certificate of incorporation may not be amended without RHI's consent for so long as RHI holds any Holdings Units. See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Exchange Agreement." These provisions of our certificate of incorporation create the possibility that a corporate opportunity of ours may be used for the benefit of the RHI Affiliated Entities.

We are a "controlled company" within the meaning of the Exchange rules and, as a result, qualify for and intend to rely on exemptions from certain corporate governance requirements.

After giving effect to the reorganization transactions and the closing of this offering, RHI will continue to control a majority of the voting power of our outstanding voting stock, and, as a result, we will be a controlled company within the meaning of the Exchange rules. Under the Exchange rules, a company of which more than 50% of the voting power is held by another person or group of persons acting together is a controlled company and may elect not to comply with certain corporate governance requirements, including the requirements that:

- a majority of the board of directors consist of independent directors;
- the nominating and corporate governance committee be composed entirely of independent directors with a written charter addressing the committee's purpose and responsibilities; and
- the compensation committee be composed entirely of independent directors with a written charter addressing the committee's purpose and responsibilities.

These requirements will not apply to us as long as we remain a controlled company. Accordingly, you may not have the same protections afforded to stockholders of companies that are subject to all of the corporate governance requirements of the Exchange.

We are required to pay RHI and Dan Gilbert for certain tax benefits we may claim, and the amounts we may pay could be significant.

We intend to enter into a tax receivable agreement with RHI and Dan Gilbert that will provide for the payment by us to RHI and Dan Gilbert (or their transferees of Holdings Units or other assignees) of 90% of the amount of cash savings, if any, in U.S. federal, state and local income tax or franchise tax that we actually realize (computed using simplifying assumptions to address the impact of state and local taxes) as a result of (i) certain increases in our allocable share of the tax basis in Holdings' assets resulting from (a) the purchases of Holdings Units (along with the corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock) from RHI and Dan Gilbert (or their transferees of Holdings Units or other assignees) using the net proceeds from this offering or in any future offering, (b) exchanges by RHI and Dan Gilbert (or their transferees of Holdings Units or other assignees) of Holdings Units (along with the corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock) for cash or shares of our Class B common stock or Class A common stock, as applicable, or (c) payments under the tax receivable agreement; (ii) tax benefits related to imputed interest deemed arising as a result of payments made under the tax receivable agreement and (iii) disproportionate allocations (if any) of tax benefits to Holdings as a result of section 704(c) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code") that relate to the reorganization transaction. The tax receivable agreement will make certain simplifying assumptions regarding the determination of the cash savings that we realize or are deemed to realize from the covered tax attributes, which may result in payments pursuant to the tax receivable agreement in excess of those that would result if such assumptions were not made.

The actual tax benefit, as well as the amount and timing of any payments under the tax receivable agreement, will vary depending upon a number of factors, including, among others, the timing of exchanges by or purchases from RHI and Dan Gilbert, the price of our Class A common stock at the time of the exchanges or purchases, the extent to which such exchanges are taxable, the amount and timing of the taxable income we generate in the future and the tax rate then applicable, and the portion of our payments under the tax receivable agreement constituting imputed interest.

Future payments under the tax receivable agreement could be substantial. Assuming that all Holdings Units eligible to be exchanged for cash or Class A common stock would be exchanged for Class A common stock by RHI and Dan Gilbert at the time of the offering and that we will have sufficient taxable income to utilize all of the tax attributes covered by the tax receivable agreement when they are first available to be utilized under applicable law, we estimate that payments to RHI and Dan Gilbert under the tax receivable agreement would aggregate to approximately $ million over the next 20 years and for yearly payments over that time to range between approximately $ million to $ million per year, based on an assumed public offering price of $ (the high point of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus). The payments under the tax receivable agreement are not conditioned upon RHI's or Dan Gilbert's continued ownership of us.

There is a possibility that under certain circumstances not all of the 90% of the applicable cash savings will be paid to the selling or exchanging holder of Holdings Units at the time described above. If we determine that such circumstances apply and all or a portion of such applicable tax savings is in doubt, we will pay to the holders of such Holdings Units the amount attributable to the portion of the applicable tax savings that we determine is not in doubt and pay the remainder at such time as we reasonably determine the actual tax savings or that the amount is no longer in doubt.

In addition, RHI and Dan Gilbert (or their transferees or other assignees) will not reimburse us for any payments previously made if any covered tax benefits are subsequently disallowed, except that any excess payments made to RHI or Dan Gilbert (or such holder's transferees or assignees) will be netted against future payments that would otherwise be made under the tax receivable agreement with RHI and Dan Gilbert, if any, after our determination of such excess. We could make payments to RHI and Dan Gilbert under the tax receivable agreement that are greater than our actual cash tax savings and may not be able to recoup those payments, which could negatively impact our liquidity.

In addition, the tax receivable agreement will provide that in the case of a change in control of the Company or a material breach of our obligations under the tax receivable agreement, we will be required to make a payment to RHI and Dan Gilbert in an amount equal to the present value of future payments (calculated using a discount rate equal to the lesser of 6.50% or LIBOR plus 100 basis points, which may differ from our, or a potential acquirer's, then-current cost of capital) under the tax receivable agreement, which payment would be based on certain assumptions, including those relating to our future taxable income. For additional discussion of LIBOR, see "—Risks Related to Our Business—We are exposed to volatility in LIBOR, which can result in higher than market interest rates and may have a detrimental effect on our business." In these situations, our obligations under the tax receivable agreement could have a substantial negative impact on our, or a potential acquirer's, liquidity and could have the effect of delaying, deferring, modifying or preventing certain mergers, asset sales, other forms of business combinations or other changes of control. These provisions of the tax receivable agreement may result in situations where RHI and Dan Gilbert have interests that differ from or are in addition to those of our other stockholders. In addition, we could be required to make payments under the tax receivable agreement that are substantial, significantly in advance of any potential actual realization of such further tax benefits, and in excess of our, or a potential acquirer's, actual cash savings in income tax.

Finally, because we are a holding company with no operations of our own, our ability to make payments under the tax receivable agreement is dependent on the ability of our subsidiaries to make distributions to us. Our debt agreements restrict the ability of our subsidiaries to make distributions to us, which could affect our ability to make payments under the tax receivable agreement. To the extent that we are unable to make payments under the tax receivable agreement as a result of restrictions in our debt agreements, such payments will be deferred and will accrue interest until paid, which could negatively impact our results of operations and could also affect our liquidity in periods in which such payments are made.

Risks Related to this Offering and our Class A Common Stock

No public market currently exists for our Class A common stock, and there can be no assurance that an active public market for our Class A common stock will develop.

Prior to this offering, there has been no public market for our Class A common stock. The initial public offering price for our Class A common stock will be determined through negotiations between us and the representatives of the underwriters and may not be indicative of the market price of our Class A common stock after this offering. If you purchase shares of our Class A common stock, you may not be able to resell those shares of Class A common stock at or above the initial public offering price. We cannot predict the extent to which investor interest in our Class A common stock will lead to the development of an active trading market on the Exchange or otherwise or how liquid that market might become. If an active public market for our Class A common stock does not develop, or is not sustained, it may be difficult for you to sell your Class A common stock at a price that is attractive to you or at all.

Future sales of our common stock, or the perception in the public markets that these sales may occur, may depress the price of our Class A common stock.

Additional sales of a substantial number of shares of our common stock in the public market after this offering, or the perception that such sales may occur, could have an adverse effect on our stock price and could impair our ability to raise capital through the sale of additional stock. In the future, we may attempt to obtain financing or to further increase our capital resources by issuing additional shares of our common stock. Issuing additional shares of our Class A common stock, Class B common stock or other equity securities or securities convertible into equity may dilute the economic and voting rights of our existing stockholders or reduce the market price of our Class A common stock or both. Issuing additional shares of our Class C common stock or Class D common stock, when issued with corresponding Holdings Units, may also dilute the economic and voting rights of our existing stockholders or reduce the market price of our Class A common stock or both.

Upon the completion of this offering, we will have shares of Class A common stock issued and outstanding (or shares of Class A common stock if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares) based on an assumed initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus). In addition, shares of Class A common stock may be issued upon the exercise of the exchange and/or conversion rights described elsewhere in this prospectus. The Class A common stock offered hereby will be freely tradable without restriction under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the "Securities Act"), except for any Class A common stock that may be held or acquired by our directors, executive officers and other affiliates (as that term is defined in the Securities Act), which will be restricted securities under the Securities Act. The shares of Class A common stock not being offered hereby or issuable upon the exercise of the exchange and/or conversion rights as described above will be restricted securities. Restricted securities may not be sold in the public market unless they are registered under the Securities Act or an exemption from registration is available.

We and each of our executive officers and directors and all of our other existing equityholders have agreed with the underwriters that for a period of 180 days after the date of this prospectus, we and they will not offer, sell, assign, transfer, pledge, contract to sell or otherwise dispose of or hedge any of our Class A common stock, or any options or warrants to purchase any of our Class A common stock or any securities convertible into or exchangeable for our Class A common stock, subject to specified exceptions. The representatives of the underwriters may, in their discretion, at any time without prior notice, release all or any portion of the Class A common stock from the restrictions in any such agreement. See "Underwriting" for more information. After the lock-up agreements expire, up to an additional shares of Class A common stock may be sold by these equityholders in the public market either in a registered offering or pursuant to an exemption from registration, such as Rule 144 promulgated under the Securities Act ("Rule 144"). See "Shares Eligible for Future Sale" for a more detailed description of the restrictions on selling Class A common stock after this offering.

We intend to file a registration statement under the Securities Act registering shares of our Class A common stock reserved for issuance under the 2020 Management Incentive Plan. We have entered into a Registration Rights Agreement pursuant to which we have granted demand and piggyback registration rights to RHI and Dan Gilbert. See "Shares Eligible for Future Sale" for a more detailed description of the shares that will be available for future sale upon completion of this offering.

The price of our Class A common stock may be volatile, and you may be unable to resell your Class A common stock at or above the initial public offering price or at all.

After this offering, the market price for our Class A common stock is likely to be volatile, in part, because our Class A common stock has not previously been traded publicly. In addition, the market price for our Class A common stock may fluctuate significantly in response to a number of factors, most of which we cannot control, including, among others:

- our reliance on our loan funding facilities to fund mortgage loans and otherwise operate our business;
- our ability to sell loans in the secondary market to a limited number of investors and to the GSEs (Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac), and to securitize our loans into MBS through the GSEs and Ginnie Mae and through our subsidiary, Woodward Capital Management LLC;
- disruptions in the secondary home loan market, including the MBS market;
- changes in the GSEs, FHA, USDA and VA guidelines or GSE and Ginnie Mae guarantees;

- our ability to maintain or grow our servicing business;
- intense competition in the markets we serve;
- failure to accurately predict the demand or growth of new financial products and services that we are developing;
- fluctuations in quarterly revenue and operating results, as well as differences between our actual financial and operating results and those expected by investors;
- the public's response to press releases or other public announcements by us or third parties, including our filings with the SEC;
- announcements relating to litigation;
- guidance, if any, that we provide to the public, any changes in such guidance or our failure to meet such guidance;
- changes in financial estimates or ratings by any securities analysts who follow our Class A common stock, our failure to meet such estimates or failure of those analysts to initiate or maintain coverage of our Class A common stock;
- the development and sustainability of an active trading market for our Class A common stock;
- investor perceptions of the investment opportunity associated with our Class A common stock relative to other investment alternatives;
- the inclusion, exclusion or deletion of our Class A stock from any trading indices;
- future sales of our Class A common stock by our officers, directors and significant stockholders;
- other events or factors, including those resulting from system failures and disruptions, hurricanes, wars, acts of terrorism, other natural disasters or responses to such events;
- price and volume fluctuations in the overall stock market, including as a result of trends in the economy as a whole; and
- changes in accounting principles.

These and other factors may lower the market price of our Class A common stock, regardless of our actual operating performance. As a result, our Class A common stock may trade at prices significantly below the initial public offering price.

In addition, the stock markets, including the Exchange, have experienced extreme price and volume fluctuations that have affected and continue to affect the market prices of equity securities of many companies. In the past, stockholders have instituted securities class action litigation following periods of market volatility. If we were to become involved in securities litigation, we could incur substantial costs and our resources and the attention of management could be diverted from our business.

If you invest in our Class A common stock, you will experience dilution to the extent of the difference between the initial public offering price per share of our Class A common stock and the pro forma net tangible book value per share of our Class A common stock.

Purchasers of our Class A common stock in this offering will experience immediate and substantial dilution in net tangible book value per share to the extent of the difference between the initial public offering price per share of our Class A common stock and the pro forma net tangible book value per share of our Class A common stock. After giving effect to the reorganization transactions, the estimated impact of the tax receivable agreement, this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering, on a fully exchanged and converted basis, our pro forma net tangible book value would have been approximately $ million, or $ per share, representing an immediate increase in net tangible book value of $ per share to existing equityholders and an immediate dilution in net tangible book value of $ per share to new investors in this offering. For a further description of the dilution that you will experience immediately after the closing of this offering, see "Dilution."

We do not expect to pay any cash dividends for the foreseeable future.

We currently expect to retain all of our future earnings for use in the operation and expansion of our business and do not anticipate paying any cash dividends for the foreseeable future following the completion of this offering. The declaration and payment of future dividends to holders of our Class A common stock will be at the discretion of our board of directors and will depend upon many factors, including our financial condition, earnings, legal requirements, tax obligations, restrictions in our debt instruments and other factors deemed relevant by our board of directors. See "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Liquidity and Capital Resources" for more information on the restrictions our debt agreements impose on our ability to declare and pay cash dividends. As a holding company, our ability to pay dividends depends on our receipt of cash dividends from our subsidiaries, which may further restrict our ability to pay dividends as a result of the laws of their respective jurisdictions of organization, agreements of our subsidiaries or covenants under future indebtedness that we or they may incur.

If we are unable to effectively implement or maintain a system of internal control over financial reporting, we may not be able to accurately or timely report our financial results and our stock price could be adversely affected.

Section 404 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 ("Sarbanes-Oxley") requires us to evaluate the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting as of the end of each fiscal year, include a management report assessing the effectiveness of our internal control over financial reporting, and include a report issued by our independent registered public accounting firm based on its audit of the Company's internal control over financial reporting, in each case, beginning with our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ending December 31, 2021. We may identify weaknesses or deficiencies that we may be unable to remedy before the requisite deadline for those reports. Our ability to comply with the annual internal control report requirements will depend on the effectiveness of our financial reporting and data systems and controls across the Company. We expect these systems and controls to involve significant expenditures and to become increasingly complex as our business grows. To effectively manage this complexity, we will need to continue to improve our operational, financial and management controls and our reporting systems and procedures. Any weaknesses or deficiencies or any failure to implement required new or improved controls, or difficulties encountered in the implementation or operation of these controls, could harm our operating results and cause us to fail to meet our financial reporting obligations or result in material misstatements in our financial statements, which could adversely affect our business and reduce our stock price.

If securities or industry analysts do not publish research or publish inaccurate or unfavorable research about us or our business, the price of our Class A common stock and trading volume could decline.

The trading market for our Class A common stock will depend, in part, on the research and reports that securities or industry analysts publish about us or our business. We do not currently have and may never obtain research coverage by securities and industry analysts. If no securities or industry analysts commence coverage of the Company, the trading price for our Class A common stock would be negatively impacted. If we obtain securities or industry analyst coverage and if one or more of the analysts who cover us downgrades our Class A common stock or publishes inaccurate or unfavorable research about us or our business, our share price would likely decline. If one or more of these analysts cease coverage of us or fail to publish reports on us regularly, demand for our Class A common stock could decrease, which could cause our stock price and trading volume to decline. In addition, if our operating results fail to meet the expectations of securities analysts, our stock price would likely decline.

Our organizational documents may impede or discourage a takeover, which could deprive our investors of the opportunity to receive a premium for their shares.

Provisions of our certificate of incorporation and our bylaws may make it more difficult for, or prevent a third party from, acquiring control of us without the approval of our board of directors. These provisions include:

- having a dual class common stock structure, which provides RHI with the ability to control the outcome of matters requiring stockholder approval, even if it beneficially owns significantly less than a majority of the shares of our outstanding common stock;
- having a classified board of directors;
- providing that, when the RHI Affiliated Entities and permitted transferees (collectively, the "RHI Parties") beneficially own less than a majority of the combined voting power of the common stock, a director may only be removed with cause by the affirmative vote of 75% of the combined voting power of our common stock;
- providing that, when the RHI Parties beneficially own less than a majority of the combined voting power of our common stock, vacancies on our board of directors, whether resulting from an increase in the number of directors or the death, removal or resignation of a director, will be filled only by our board of directors and not by stockholders;
- providing that, when the RHI Parties beneficially own less than a majority of the combined voting power of our common stock, certain amendments to our certificate of incorporation or amendments to our bylaws will require the approval of 75% of the combined voting power of our common stock;
- prohibiting stockholders from calling a special meeting of stockholders;
- authorizing stockholders to act by written consent only until the RHI Parties cease to beneficially own a majority of the combined voting power of our common stock;
- establishing advance notice requirements for nominations for election to our board of directors or for proposing matters that can be acted on by stockholders at stockholder meetings;
- authorizing "blank check" preferred stock, the terms and issuance of which can be determined by our board of directors without any need for action by stockholders; and
- providing that the decision to transfer our corporate headquarters outside of Detroit, Michigan will require the approval of 75% of the combined voting power of our common stock.

Additionally, Section 203 of the Delaware General Corporation Law (the "DGCL") prohibits a publicly held Delaware corporation from engaging in a business combination with an interested stockholder, unless the business combination is approved in a prescribed manner. An interested stockholder includes a person, individually or together with any other interested stockholder, who within the last three years has owned 15% of our voting stock. We will opt out of Section 203 of the DGCL, but our certificate of incorporation will include a provision that restricts us from engaging in any business combination with an interested stockholder for three years following the date that person becomes an interested stockholder. Such restrictions, however, do not apply to any business combination between RHI, any direct or indirect equityholder of RHI or any person that acquires (other than in connection with a registered public offering) our voting stock from RHI or any of its affiliates or successors or any "group," or any member of any such group, to which such persons are a party under Rule 13d-5 of the Exchange Act and who is designated in writing by RHI as an "RHI Transferee", on the one hand, and us, on the other.

Until the RHI Parties cease to beneficially own at least 50% of the voting power of our common stock, RHI will be able to control all matters requiring stockholder approval, including the election of directors, amendment of our certificate of incorporation and certain corporate transactions. Together, these provisions of our certificate of incorporation and bylaws could make the removal of management more difficult and may discourage transactions that otherwise could involve payment of a premium over prevailing market prices for our Class A common stock. Furthermore, the existence of the foregoing provisions, as well as the significant Class A common stock beneficially owned by RHI, could limit the price that investors might be willing to pay in the future for shares of our Class A common stock. They could also deter potential acquirers of us, thereby reducing the likelihood that you could receive a premium for your Class A common stock in an acquisition.

The provision of our certificate of incorporation requiring exclusive forum in certain courts in the State of Michigan or the State of Delaware or the federal district courts of the United States for certain types of lawsuits may have the effect of discouraging lawsuits against our directors and officers.

Our certificate of incorporation will require, to the fullest extent permitted by law, that (i) any derivative action or proceeding brought on our behalf, (ii) any action asserting a claim of breach of a fiduciary duty owed by any of our directors, officers or stockholders to us or our stockholders, (iii) any action asserting a claim against us arising pursuant to any provision of the DGCL or our certificate of incorporation or our bylaws or (iv) any action asserting a claim against us governed by the internal affairs doctrine will have to be brought only in the Third Judicial Circuit, Wayne County, Michigan (or, if the Third Judicial Circuit, Wayne County, Michigan lacks jurisdiction over such action or proceeding, then another state court of the State of Michigan or, if no state court of the State of Michigan has jurisdiction, the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan) or the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware (or if the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware lacks jurisdiction, any other state court of the State of Delaware, or if no state court of the State of Delaware has jurisdiction, the federal district court for the District of Delaware), unless we consent in writing to the selection of an alternative forum. The foregoing provision will not apply to claims arising under the Securities Act, the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act") or other federal securities laws for which there is exclusive federal or concurrent federal and state jurisdiction. Additionally, unless we consent in writing to the selection of an alternative forum, the federal district courts of the United States of America shall be the exclusive forum for the resolution of any complaint asserting a cause of action arising under the Securities Act. Although we believe these exclusive forum provisions benefit us by providing increased consistency in the application of Delaware or Michigan law and federal securities laws in the types of lawsuits to which each applies, the exclusive forum provisions may limit a stockholder's ability to bring a claim in a judicial forum that it finds favorable for disputes with us or any of our directors, officers or stockholders, which may discourage lawsuits with respect to such claims. Our stockholders will not be deemed to have waived our compliance with the federal securities laws and the rules and regulations thereunder as a result of our exclusive forum provisions. Further, in the event a court finds either exclusive forum provision contained in our certificate of incorporation to be unenforceable or inapplicable in an action, we may incur additional costs associated with resolving such action in other jurisdictions, which could harm our business, operating results and financial condition.

Transformation into a public company may increase our costs and disrupt the regular operations of our business.

We have historically operated as a privately owned company, and we have incurred, and expect to in the future incur, significant additional legal, accounting, reporting and other expenses as a result of having publicly traded common stock, including, but not limited to, increased costs related to auditor fees, legal fees, directors' fees, directors and officers insurance, investor relations and various other costs. We also anticipate that we will incur costs associated with corporate governance requirements, including requirements under the Exchange Act, Sarbanes-Oxley and the Dodd-Frank Act, as well as rules implemented by the SEC and the Exchange. Compliance with these rules and regulations will make some activities more difficult, time-consuming, or costly, and increase demand, and as a result may place a strain, on our systems and resources. Moreover, the additional demands associated with being a public company may disrupt regular operations of our business by diverting the attention of some of our senior management team away from revenue producing activities. Furthermore, because we have not operated as a company with publicly traded common stock in the past, we might not be successful in implementing these requirements.

In addition, changing laws, regulations and standards relating to corporate governance and public disclosure are creating uncertainty for public companies, increasing legal and financial compliance costs and making some activities more time consuming. These laws, regulations and standards are subject to varying interpretations, in many cases due to their lack of specificity, and, as a result, their application in practice may evolve over time as new guidance is provided by regulatory and governing bodies. This could result in continuing uncertainty regarding compliance matters and higher costs necessitated by ongoing revisions to disclosure and governance practices. We intend to invest resources to comply with evolving laws, regulations and standards, and this investment may result in increased general and administrative expenses and a diversion of management's time and attention from revenue-generating activities to compliance activities. If our efforts to comply with new laws, regulations and standards differ from the activities intended by regulatory or governing bodies due to ambiguities related to practice, regulatory authorities may initiate legal proceedings against us, which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

The dual class structure of our common stock may adversely affect the trading market for our Class A common stock.

In July 2017, S&P Dow Jones and FTSE Russell announced changes to their eligibility criteria for the inclusion of shares of public companies on certain indices, including the Russell 2000, the S&P 500, the S&P MidCap 400 and the S&P SmallCap 600, to exclude companies with multiple classes of shares of common stock from being added to these indices. As a result, our dual class capital structure would make us ineligible for inclusion in any of these indices, and mutual funds, exchange-traded funds and other investment vehicles that attempt to passively track these indices will not be investing in our stock. Furthermore, we cannot assure you that other stock indices will not take a similar approach to S&P Dow Jones or FTSE Russell in the future. Exclusion from indices could make our Class A common stock less attractive to investors and, as a result, the market price of our Class A common stock could be adversely affected.

CAUTIONARY NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This prospectus contains forward-looking statements, which involve risks and uncertainties. These forward-looking statements are generally identified by the use of forward-looking terminology, including the terms "anticipate," "believe," "could," "estimate," "expect," "intend," "may," "plan," "potential," "predict," "project," "should," "target," "will," "would" and, in each case, their negative or other various or comparable terminology. All statements other than statements of historical facts contained in this prospectus, including statements regarding our strategy, future operations, future financial position, future revenue, projected costs, prospects, plans, objectives of management and expected market growth are forward-looking statements. The forward-looking statements are contained principally in the sections entitled "Prospectus Summary," "Risk Factors," "Use of Proceeds," "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" and "Business" and include, among other things, statements relating to:

- our strategy, outlook and growth prospects;
- our operational and financial targets and dividend policy;
- general economic trends and trends in the industry and markets; and
- the competitive environment in which we operate.

These statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other important factors that may cause our actual results, performance or achievements to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements. Important factors that could cause our results to vary from expectations include, but are not limited to:

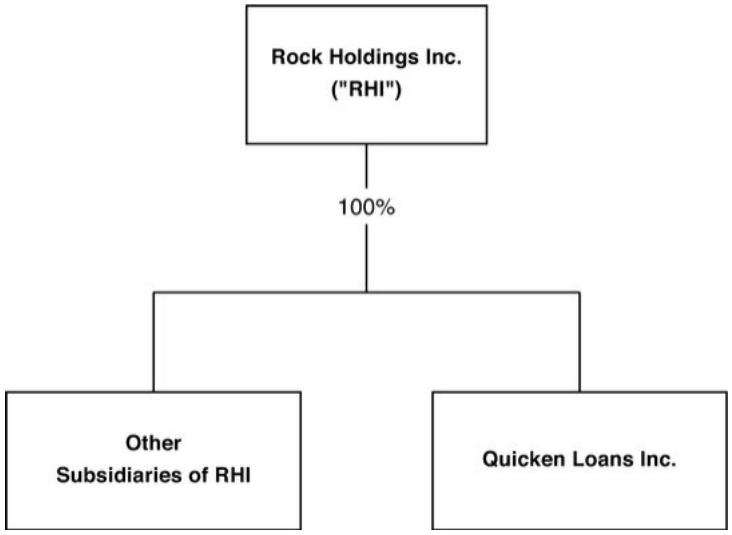
- the unique challenges posed to our business by the COVID-19 pandemic and the effects of the pandemic on our ability to originate mortgages, our servicing operations, our liquidity and our employees;
- disruption of our business due to technology failures, including a failure in our operational or security systems or infrastructure, or those of third parties;
- our ability to adapt and to implement technological changes;
- our inability to connect with consumers through internet search engines and app market places;
- cyberattacks and other data and security breaches;
- our inability to make technological improvements quickly;
- our use of software, hardware and services that may be difficult to replace;
- failure to comply with the terms of one or more of the open source licenses that some aspects of our platform is dependent on;
- our inability to adequately obtain, maintain, protect and enforce our intellectual property and potential intellectual property disputes related to our use of the intellectual property of third parties;
- the potential termination of the license agreement between our subsidiary Quicken Loans and Intuit, Inc. governing the use of the "Quicken Loans" name and trademark;
- our dependence on macroeconomic and U.S. residential real estate market conditions;
- changes in U.S. monetary policies that affect interest rates;

- ineffective risk management efforts;
- potential employment litigation and unfavorable publicity;
- our inability to hire, train and retain qualified personnel to support our growth;
- loss of our key management;
- failure to maintain our corporate culture;
- distraction of management due to acquisitions or strategic alliances;
- failure to accurately predict the demand or growth of new products and services that we are developing;
- the various legal actions that we are party to;
- our reliance on our loan funding facilities to fund mortgage loans and otherwise operate our business;
- our inability to continue to grow our loan origination business or effectively manage significant increases in our loan origination volume;
- a decrease in the value of the collateral underlying certain of our loan funding facilities causing an unanticipated margin call;
- our ability to sell loans in the secondary market to a limited number of investors and to the GSEs (Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac), and to securitize our loans into MBS through the GSEs and Ginnie Mae;
- disruptions in the secondary home loan market, including the MBS market;
- changes in the GSEs', FHA, USDA and VA guidelines or GSE and Ginnie Mae guarantees;
- any changes in Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac and certain U.S. government agencies or their current roles;
- delays in recovery or our inability to recover servicing advances that we are required to make;
- risks associated with our counterparties potentially terminating our servicing rights and subservicing contracts;
- failure to maintain the ratings assigned to us by a rating agency;
- a decline in market share for our origination business, a decline in repeat clients and an inability to recapture loans from clients who refinance;
- the high volatility in value, or inaccuracies in our estimates of value of our MSRs;
- our ability to repurchase or substitute mortgage loans or MSRs that we have sold, or indemnify purchasers of our mortgage loans or MSRs;
- intense competition in the markets we serve;
- errors in the credit decisioning and scoring models that we use;
- high degrees of business and financial risk associated with certain of our loans;
- our ability to collect on our personal loans, which are not secured, guaranteed or insured, if a client is unwilling or unable to repay;
- fraud that could result in significant losses and harm to our reputation;
- the conduct of the brokers through whom we originate our wholesale home loans;

- volatility in LIBOR;
- failure of our hedging strategies to mitigate risks associated with changes in interest rates;
- failure of our internal models to produce reliable and/or valid results;
- failure to accurately estimate the fair value of a substantial portion of our assets;
- future changes in accounting principles generally accepted in the United States;
- challenges to the MERS System;
- negative public opinion and damage to our reputation;
- regulation of title insurance rates;
- Amrock's position as an agent utilizing third party vendors for issuing a significant amount of title insurance policies;
- increased risks, uncertainties, expenses and difficulties due to the relatively limited operating history of our subsidiary, Rocket Loans;
- the business model of our subsidiary, Rocket Homes;
- potential rise in costs related to the digital media operations of our subsidiary Core Digital Media;
- our expansion into the Canadian mortgage market;
- changes in tax laws;
- terrorist attacks and other acts of violence or war;
- earthquakes, fires, floods and other natural catastrophic events and interruption by man-made problems such as strikes;
- noncompliance with an increasing and inconsistent body of complex laws and regulations, including with respect to data privacy, at the U.S. federal, state and local levels, as well as in Canada;
- increased regulatory compliance burden and associated costs associated with the CFPB monitoring the loan origination and servicing sectors, and its recently issued rules;
- failure to comply with applicable state law;
- failure to comply with the TRID rules;
- material changes to the laws, regulations or practices applicable to mortgage loan origination and servicing in general, and to reverse mortgage programs operated by FHA and HUD;
- our inability to obtain and maintain the appropriate state licenses;
- failure to comply with the TCPA and other laws and regulations regarding our use of telemarketing;
- increased operating costs associated with any new laws, regulations regarding foreclosure procedures and timelines;
- the potential for regulatory examinations or investigations of our servicing operations;
- potential violations of predatory lending and/or servicing laws;
- failure to comply with existing or future regulations and laws governing the internet and marketing over the internet;

- being a holding company and relying upon distributions from Holdings to pay taxes and other expenses;
- tax considerations of any distribution;
- our control by RHI;
- overlap of directors and an executive officer with RHI and its affiliates;
- renunciation of certain corporate opportunities;
- our reliance on exemptions from certain corporate governance requirements in connection to us being a "controlled company" within the meaning of the Exchange rules;
- requirement to pay RHI and Dan Gilbert for certain tax benefits we may claim;
- failure of an active public market for our Class A common stock developing;
- future sales of our Class A common stock, or the perception in the public markets that these sales may occur;
- volatility in the price of our Class A common stock;
- dilution in our Class A common stock as a result of this offering;
- no expectation to pay any cash dividends for the foreseeable future;
- our inability to effectively implement or maintain a system of internal control over financial reporting;
- securities or industry analysts not publishing research or publishing inaccurate or unfavorable research about us or our business;
- our organizational documents may impede or discourage a takeover;
- the provision of our certificate of incorporation requiring exclusive forum in the state courts in the State of Michigan or the State of Delaware for certain types of lawsuits may have the effect of discouraging lawsuits against our directors and officers;
- transformation into a public company may increase our costs and disrupt the regular operations of our business;
- the dual class structure of our common stock; and
- other risks, uncertainties and factors set forth in this prospectus, including those set forth under "Risk Factors."

These forward-looking statements reflect our views with respect to future events as of the date of this prospectus and are based on assumptions and subject to risks and uncertainties. Given these uncertainties, you should not place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements represent our estimates and assumptions only as of the date of this prospectus and, except as required by law, we undertake no obligation to update or review publicly any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise after the date of this prospectus. We anticipate that subsequent events and developments will cause our views to change. You should read this prospectus and the documents filed as exhibits to the registration statement, of which this prospectus is a part, completely and with the understanding that our actual future results may be materially different from what we expect. Our forward-looking statements do not reflect the potential impact of any future acquisitions, merger, dispositions, joint ventures or investments we may undertake. We qualify all of our forward-looking statements by these cautionary statements.



ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

Structure Prior to the Reorganization Transactions

We and our predecessors have been in the mortgage loan origination and servicing business for 35 years. We conduct our business through Quicken Loans and its subsidiaries as well as other subsidiaries of RHI. Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, is the principal stockholder of RHI.

Prior to the commencement of the reorganization transactions, all of the outstanding equity interests of Quicken Loans, as well as all or a majority of the outstanding equity interests in our other operating subsidiaries, that historically have operated our businesses, were directly or indirectly owned by RHI.

The following diagram depicts our organizational structure prior to the reorganization transactions. This chart is provided for illustrative purposes only and does not purport to represent all legal entities within our organizational structure.

The Reorganization Transactions

Prior to the completion of this offering, we will consummate an internal reorganization, which we refer to as the "reorganization transactions." In connection with the reorganization transactions, the following steps have or will occur:

- the Issuer was incorporated in Delaware on February 26, 2020, as a wholly-owned subsidiary of RHI;
- Holdings was formed in Michigan on March 6, 2020, as a wholly-owned subsidiary of RHI;
- Quicken Loans Inc. converted to a Michigan limited liability company on April 15, 2020;
- the Combined Businesses will make a cash distribution to RHI in an aggregate amount of $ million (the "Special Distribution");

- in July 2020, RHI will contribute to Holdings (a) Quicken Loans, LLC and (b) the interests it holds in certain of the other Combined Businesses.

- in July 2020, Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, will contribute $20.0 million to Holdings and become a member of Holdings;

- prior to the completion of this offering, RHI will contribute to Holdings the interests it holds in the remaining Combined Businesses. As a result, Holdings will become the direct holder of the interests of Quicken Loans and of all the Combined Businesses, which are RHI's direct and indirect subsidiaries through which RHI conducts the following businesses and activities: (i) our title insurance services, property valuations and settlement services business, (ii) our real estate agent network, (iii) our home search website, (iv) our client care center, (v) our auto sales business, (vi) our personal loan business, (vii) our support services provider, (viii) our loan securitization business, (ix) our Canadian mortgage business and (x) our Canadian technology service provider;

- prior to the completion of this offering, the Issuer will become the sole managing member of Holdings;

- prior to the completion of this offering, we will amend the operating agreement of Holdings and provide that, among other things, all of the existing equity interests in Holdings will be reclassified into Holdings' non-voting common interest units, which we refer to as "Holdings Units." Holdings will issue Holdings Units to RHI and Holdings Units to Dan Gilbert (assuming, in each case, an initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus));

- prior to the completion of this offering, we will amend and restate our certificate of incorporation and we will be authorized to issue four classes of common stock: Class A common stock, Class B common stock, Class C common stock and Class D common stock, which we refer to collectively as our "common stock." The Class A common stock and Class C common stock will each provide holders with one vote on all matters submitted to a vote of stockholders, and the Class B common stock and Class D common stock will each provide holders with 10 votes on all matters submitted to a vote of stockholders. The holders of Class C common stock and Class D common stock will not have any of the economic rights (including rights to dividends and distributions upon liquidation) provided to holders of Class A common stock and Class B common stock. These attributes are summarized in the following table:

Class of Common Stock	Votes	Economic Rights
Class A common stock	1	Yes
Class B common stock	10	Yes
Class C common stock	1	No
Class D common stock	10	No

Our certificate of incorporation provides that, at any time when the aggregate voting power of the outstanding common stock or preferred stock beneficially owned by RHI or any entity disregarded as separate from RHI for U.S. federal income tax purposes (the "RHI Securities") would be equal to or greater than 79% of the total voting power of our outstanding stock, the number of votes per share of each RHI Security shall be reduced such that the aggregate voting power of all of the RHI Securities is equal to 79%.

Shares of our common stock will generally vote together as a single class on all matters submitted to a vote of our stockholders. There will be no shares of Class B common stock and no shares of Class C common stock outstanding after the completion of this offering;

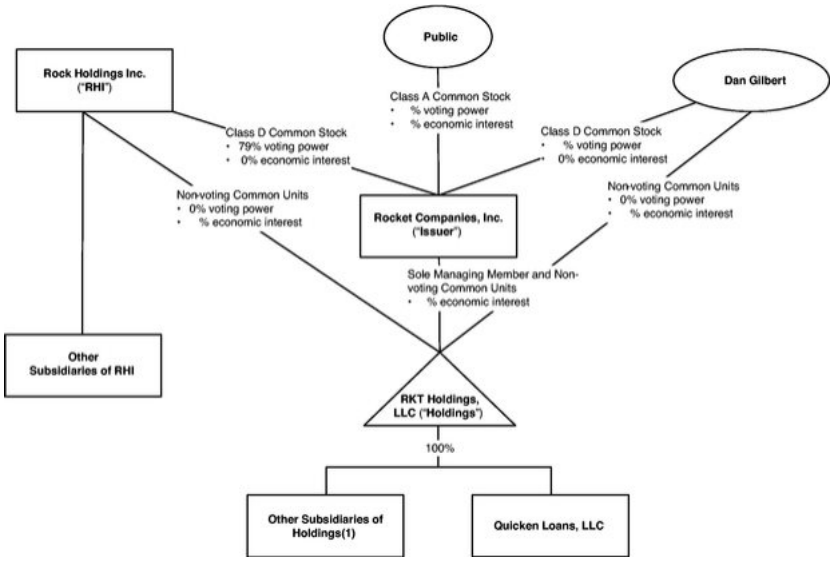
- prior to the completion of this offering, we will issue RHI and Dan Gilbert a number of shares of our Class D common stock in exchange for a payment by RHI and Dan Gilbert, as applicable, of the aggregate par value of the Class D common stock received equal to the number of Holdings Units held by RHI and Dan Gilbert, as applicable;

- prior to the completion of this offering, each of RHI and Dan Gilbert will be granted the right to exchange its Holdings Units, together with a corresponding number of shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock, for, at our option, (i) shares of our Class B common stock or Class A common stock or (ii) cash (based on the market price of our Class A common stock); and

- prior to the completion of this offering, we will enter into an acquisition agreement with RHI and its direct subsidiary Amrock Holdings Inc. pursuant to which we will acquire ATI, an entity through which RHI conducts its title insurance underwriting business, for total aggregate consideration of $14.4 million that will consist of Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock of RHI valued at the price to the public in this offering (Holdings Units, assuming an initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus)) (such acquisition, the "ATI acquisition"). ATI's net income for the year ended December 31, 2019 was $4.7 million. The consummation of this acquisition is subject to customary closing conditions, including the receipt of regulatory approvals. We expect the ATI acquisition will close in the fourth quarter of 2020.

Effect of the Reorganization Transactions and this Offering

The reorganization transactions are intended to create a holding company that will facilitate public ownership of, and investment in, the Company and are structured in a tax-efficient manner for our pre-IPO equityholders. Because we will manage and operate the business and control the strategic decisions and day-to-day operations of Holdings and will also have a substantial financial interest in Holdings, we will consolidate the financial results of Holdings, and a portion of our net income (loss) will be allocated to the noncontrolling interest to reflect the entitlement of RHI and Dan Gilbert to a portion of Holdings' net income (loss). In addition, because the Combined Businesses will be under the common control of RHI before and after the reorganization transactions, we will account for the reorganization transactions as a reorganization of entities under common control and will initially measure the interests of RHI in the assets and liabilities of Holdings at their carrying amounts as of the date of the completion of the reorganization transactions.



We expect that each of RHI and Dan Gilbert may desire that its or his investment maintains its or his tax treatment as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes and, therefore, will continue to hold its or his ownership interests in Holdings until such time in the future as it or he may elect to exchange its or his Holdings Units and corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock, for, at our option (as the sole managing member of Holdings), (a) shares of our Class B common stock or Class A common stock, as applicable, on a one-for-one basis or (b) cash (based on the market price of our Class A common stock), subject to customary conversion rate adjustments for stock splits, stock dividends and reclassifications.

After the completion of this offering, based on an assumed initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus), we intend to use the entire aggregate amount of $ million of the net proceeds from this offering (or $ million if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full) to acquire a number of Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock from RHI equal to the amount of such net proceeds divided by the price paid by the underwriters for shares of our Class A common stock in this offering (Holdings Units or, if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full, Holdings Units). We do not intend to use any proceeds from this offering to acquire any Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock from Dan Gilbert.

We estimate that the offering expenses (other than the underwriting discounts) will be approximately $ million. All of such offering expenses will be paid for or otherwise borne by Holdings. See "Use of Proceeds" for further details.

The following diagram depicts our organizational structure following the reorganization transactions, this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering, including all of the transactions described above (and no exercise of the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares). This chart is provided for illustrative purposes only and does not purport to represent all legal entities within our organizational structure:

(1) Includes the Combined Businesses other than Quicken Loans, which are our direct and indirect subsidiaries through which we will conduct the following businesses and activities: (i) our title insurance services, property valuations and settlement services business, (ii) our real estate agent network, (iii) our home search website, (iv) our client care center, (v) our auto sales business, (vi) our personal loan business, (vii) our support services provider, (viii) our loan securitization business, (ix) our Canadian mortgage business and (x) our Canadian technology service provider. After the ATI acquisition closes, which we expect to happen in the fourth quarter of 2020, ATI will become one of our subsidiaries through which we will conduct title insurance underwriting business.

Upon completion of the transactions described above, this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering:

- we will be appointed as the sole managing member of Holdings and will, directly or indirectly, hold Holdings Units, constituting % of the outstanding equity interests in

Holdings (or Holdings Units, constituting % of the outstanding equity interests in Holdings if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full and giving effect to the use of the net proceeds therefrom);

- RHI will hold an aggregate of shares of our Class D common stock and Holdings Units, constituting % of the outstanding equity interests in Holdings (or constituting % of the outstanding equity interests in Holdings, if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full and giving effect to the use of the net proceeds therefrom), collectively representing 79% of the combined voting power in us;

- Dan Gilbert will hold an aggregate of shares of our Class D common stock and Holdings Units, constituting % of the outstanding equity interests in Holdings (or constituting % of the outstanding equity interests in Holdings, if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full and giving effect to the use of the net proceeds therefrom), collectively representing % of the combined voting power in us (or % if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full and giving effect to the use of the net proceeds therefrom); and

- our public stockholders will collectively hold shares of our Class A common stock, representing % of the combined voting power in us (or shares and %, respectively, if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full and giving effect to the use of the net proceeds therefrom).

Holding Company Structure and Tax Receivable Agreement

We are a holding company, and immediately after the consummation of the reorganization transactions and this offering our principal asset will be our ownership interests in Holdings. The number of Holdings Units we will own at any time will equal the aggregate number of outstanding shares of our Class A common stock and Class B common stock. The economic interest represented by each Holdings Unit that we own will correspond to one share of our Class A common stock or Class B common stock. The total number of Holdings Units owned by us and the holders of our Class C common stock and Class D common stock at any given time will equal the sum of the outstanding shares of all classes of our common stock. Shares of our Class C common stock and Class D common stock cannot be transferred except in connection with a transfer or exchange of Holdings Units.

We do not intend to list our Class B common stock, Class C common stock or Class D common stock on any stock exchange.

The purchase of Holdings Units (along with corresponding shares of our Class D common stock) from RHI using the net proceeds from this offering, future exchanges by RHI or Dan Gilbert (or its transferees or other assignees) of Holdings Units and corresponding shares of Class D common stock or Class C common stock for shares of our Class B common stock or Class A common stock, and future purchases of Holdings Units (along with the corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock) from RHI or Dan Gilbert (or its or his transferees or other assignees) are expected to produce favorable tax attributes for us. These tax attributes would not be available to us in the absence of those transactions.

We intend to enter into a tax receivable agreement with RHI and Dan Gilbert that will provide for the payment by us to RHI and Dan Gilbert (or its or his transferees of Holdings Units or other assignees) of 90% of the amount of cash savings, if any, in U.S. federal, state and local income tax or franchise tax that we actually realize (computed using simplifying assumptions to address the impact of state and local taxes) as a result of (i) certain increases in our allocable share of the tax basis in Holdings' assets resulting from (a) the purchases of Holdings Units (along with the corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock) from RHI or Dan Gilbert (or their transferees of Holdings Units or other assignees) using the net proceeds from this offering or in any future offering, (b) exchanges by RHI or Dan Gilbert (or their transferees of Holdings Units or other assignees) of Holdings Units (along with the corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock) for shares of our Class B common stock or Class A common stock, as applicable, or (c) payments under the tax receivable agreement; (ii) tax benefits related to imputed interest deemed arising as a result of payments made under the tax receivable agreement and (iii) disproportionate allocations (if any) of tax benefits to Holdings as a result of section 704(c) of the Code that relate to the reorganization transactions. Although we are not aware of any issue that would cause the IRS to challenge the tax basis increases or other tax benefits arising under the tax receivable agreement, RHI (or its transferees or assignees) will not reimburse us for any payments previously made if such tax basis increases or other tax benefits are subsequently disallowed, except that excess payments made to RHI and Dan Gilbert will be netted against future payments otherwise to be made under the tax receivable agreement, if any, after our determination of such excess. As a result, in such circumstances we could make future payments to RHI and Dan Gilbert under the tax receivable agreement that are greater than our actual cash tax savings and may not be able to recoup those payments, which could negatively impact our liquidity. In addition, there is a possibility that under certain circumstances not all of the 90% of the applicable cash savings will be paid to the selling or exchanging holder of Holdings Units at the time described above. If we determine that such circumstances apply and all or a portion of such applicable tax savings is in doubt, we will pay to the holders of such Holdings Units the amount attributable to the portion of the applicable tax savings that we determine is not in doubt and pay the remainder at such time as we reasonably determine the actual tax savings or that the amount is no longer in doubt. See "Risk Factors—Risks Related to Our Organization and Structure—We are required to pay the stockholders of RHI for certain tax benefits we may claim, and the amounts we may pay could be significant." and "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Tax Receivable Agreement."

USE OF PROCEEDS

We expect to receive approximately $ of net proceeds (based upon the assumed initial public offering price of $ per share, the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus and assuming no exercise of the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares) from the sale of the Class A common stock offered by us, after deducting underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us. We estimate that the net proceeds to us, if the underwriters exercise their right to purchase the maximum of additional shares of Class A common stock from us, will be approximately $, after deducting underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated expenses payable by us in connection with this offering (based upon the assumed initial public offering price of $ per share, the midpoint of the public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus).

We intend to use the entire aggregate amount of the net proceeds from this offering to acquire a number of Holdings Units and corresponding shares of Class D common stock from RHI equal to the amount of such net proceeds divided by the price paid by the underwriters for shares of our Class A common stock in this offering (Holdings Units and corresponding shares of Class D common stock or, if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full, Holdings Units and corresponding shares of Class D common stock). We do not intend to use any proceeds from this offering to acquire any Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock from Dan Gilbert.

We estimate that the offering expenses (other than the underwriting discounts) will be approximately $ million. All of such offering expenses will be paid for or otherwise borne by Holdings.

A $1.00 increase (decrease) in the assumed initial public offering price of $ per share would increase (decrease) the amount of proceeds to us from this offering by $ million, assuming the number of shares offered by us, as set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, remains the same, and after deducting the estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us.

DIVIDEND POLICY

We have no current plans to pay dividends on our Class A common stock. Any future determination to pay dividends will be made at the discretion of our board of directors, subject to applicable laws, and will depend on a number of factors, including our financial condition, results of operations, capital requirements, contractual, legal, tax and regulatory restrictions, general business conditions and other factors that our board of directors may deem relevant.

We are a holding company and will have no material assets other than our ownership of Holdings Units. Our ability to pay cash dividends will depend on the payment of distributions by our current and future subsidiaries, and such distributions may be restricted as a result of regulatory restrictions, state law regarding distributions by a company to its equityholders or contractual agreements, including our current debt agreements and any future agreements governing their indebtedness. See "Risk Factors—Risks Related to Our Organization and Structure—We are a holding company and our principal asset after completion of this offering will be our equity interests in Holdings, and accordingly we are dependent upon distributions from Holdings to pay taxes and other expenses." and "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Liquidity and Capital Resources."

Subject to having available cash and subject to limitations imposed by applicable law and contractual restrictions (including pursuant to our debt instruments), the Holdings Operating Agreement requires Holdings to make certain distributions to the Issuer, RHI and Dan Gilbert, pro rata, to facilitate their payment of taxes with respect to the income of Holdings that is allocated to the Issuer, RHI and Dan Gilbert. See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Operating Agreement of RKT Holdings, LLC." To the extent that the tax distributions the Issuer receives exceed the amounts the Issuer is actually required to pay taxes, tax receivable agreement payments, and other expenses, the Issuer will not be required to distribute such excess cash. Our board of directors may, in its sole discretion, choose to use such excess cash for any purpose depending upon the facts and circumstances at the time of determination.

As disclosed elsewhere in this prospectus and the combined financial statements and related notes thereto of the Combined Businesses included elsewhere in this prospectus, the Rocket Companies have historically made cash distributions to RHI, including $318.4 million of distributions that were made subsequent to March 31, 2020. Additionally, as part of the reorganization transactions, the Rocket Companies will make a cash distribution to RHI in an aggregate amount of $ million. We refer to this distribution as the "Special Distribution."

CAPITALIZATION

The following table sets forth our cash and cash equivalents and our capitalization as of March 31, 2020, on:

- an actual basis;
- a pro forma basis to reflect the reorganization transactions described under "Organizational Structure" and cash distributions of $318.4 million made by the Rocket Companies to RHI subsequent to March 31, 2020; and
- an as-adjusted basis to give effect to this offering and the application of the net proceeds of this offering as described under "Use of Proceeds."

You should read this table together with the information included elsewhere in this prospectus, including "Prospectus Summary—Summary Historical and Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial and Other Data," "Selected Historical Combined Financial and Other Data," "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" and the audited combined financial statements and related notes thereto of the Combined Businesses included elsewhere in this prospectus.

DILUTION

If you invest in our Class A common stock, you will experience dilution to the extent of the difference between the initial public offering price per share of our Class A common stock and the pro forma net tangible book value per share of our common stock. Dilution results from the fact that the per share offering price of the Class A common stock is substantially in excess of the book value per share attributable to the common stock held by existing equityholders (including all shares issuable upon exchange and/or conversion).

Our pro forma net tangible book value as of March 31, 2020 would have been approximately $ million, or $ per share of our common stock. Pro forma net tangible book value represents the amount of total tangible assets less total liabilities, and pro forma net tangible book value per share represents pro forma net tangible book value divided by the number of shares of common stock outstanding, in each case, after giving effect to the reorganization transactions (based on an assumed initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus)), the estimated impact of the tax receivable agreement, and assuming that RHI and Dan Gilbert exchange all of the Holdings Units and corresponding shares of our Class D common stock for newly issued shares of our Class B common stock on a one-for-one basis.

After giving effect to the reorganization transactions, the estimated impact of the tax receivable agreement, and assuming that RHI and Dan Gilbert exchange all of the Holdings Units and corresponding shares of our Class D common stock for newly issued shares of our Class B common stock on a one-for-one basis, and after giving further effect to the sale of shares of Class A common stock in this offering at the assumed initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated price range on the cover page of this prospectus) and the application of the net proceeds from this offering, our pro forma as adjusted net tangible book value would have been approximately $ million, or $ per share, representing an immediate increase in net tangible book value of $ per share to existing equityholders and an immediate dilution in net tangible book value of $ per share to new investors.

The following table illustrates the per share dilution:

Assumed initial public offering price per share	$
Pro forma net tangible book value per share as of March 31, 2020[1]	$
Increase in pro forma net tangible book value per share attributable to new investors	$
Pro forma as adjusted net tangible book value per share after this offering[2]	$
Dilution in pro forma net tangible book value per share to new investors	**$

(1) Reflects shares of Class B common stock issuable upon the exchange of all of the Holdings Units and corresponding shares of our Class D common stock held by RHI and Dan Gilbert immediately prior to this offering.

(2) Reflects outstanding shares, consisting of (i) shares of Class A common stock to be issued in this offering and (ii) the outstanding shares described in note (1) above.

Dilution is determined by subtracting pro forma net tangible book value per share after this offering from the initial public offering price per share of Class A common stock.

A $1.00 increase (decrease) in the assumed initial public offering price of $ per share would increase (decrease) our pro forma net tangible book value after this offering by $ million and the dilution per share to new investors by $, in each case, assuming the number of shares offered, as set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, remains the same and after deducting the estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us.

The following table sets forth, on a pro forma basis as of March 31, 2020, the number of shares of Class A common stock purchased from us, the total consideration paid to us and the average price per share paid by the existing equityholders and by new investors purchasing shares in this offering, at the assumed initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated price range on the cover page of this prospectus), after deducting the estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us and after giving effect to the reorganization transactions, the estimated impact of the tax receivable agreement, assuming that RHI and Dan Gilbert exchange all of the Holdings Units and corresponding shares of our Class D common stock for newly issued shares of our Class B common stock on a one-for-one basis, and after giving further effect to this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering:

	Shares of Common Stock Purchased		Total Consideration		Average Price
	Number	Percent	Amount	Percent	Per Share
Existing stockholders[1]		%	$	%	$
New investors[2]
Total		100%	$	100%

(1) Reflects approximately $ million of consideration paid by existing equityholders in respect of shares of Holdings Units (together with corresponding shares of Class D common stock).

(2) Includes shares of Class A common stock to be sold in this offering. We intend to use the entire aggregate amount of $ million of the net proceeds from this offering (or $ million if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full) to acquire a number of Holdings Units and corresponding shares of Class D common stock from RHI equal to the amount of such net proceeds divided by the price paid by the underwriters for shares of our Class A common stock in this offering (Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock or, if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full, Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock). We do not intend to use any proceeds from this offering to acquire any Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock from Dan Gilbert. See "Use of Proceeds."

To the extent the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares is exercised, there will be further dilution to new investors.

A $1.00 increase (decrease) in the assumed initial public offering price of $ per share of Class A common stock (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus) would increase (decrease) total consideration paid by new investors in this offering by $ million and would increase (decrease) the average price per share paid by new investors by $1.00, assuming the number of shares offered, as set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, remains the same and after deducting the estimated underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses payable by us.

We may choose to raise additional capital due to market conditions or strategic considerations even if we believe we have sufficient funds for our current or future operating plans. To the extent additional capital is raised through the sale of equity or convertible debt securities, the issuance of these securities could result in further dilution to our stockholders.

UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED FINANCIAL INFORMATION

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet as of March 31, 2020 and the unaudited pro forma condensed combined statements of income for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the year ended December 31, 2019 present our financial position and results of operations after giving pro forma effect to:

(1) The reorganization transactions described under "Organizational Structure," as if such transactions occurred on March 31, 2020 for the unaudited pro forma condensed combined balance sheet and on January 1, 2019 for the unaudited pro forma condensed combined statements of income;

(2) The effects of the tax receivable agreement, as described under "C*ertain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Tax Receivable Agreement*;"

(3) A provision for corporate income taxes on the income attributable to the Issuer at a tax rate of %, inclusive of all U.S. federal, state and local income taxes;

(4) This offering and the application of the estimated net proceeds from this offering as described under "Use of Proceeds;" and

(5) Certain dividends declared and paid by the Company's subsidiaries subsequent to the balance sheet date.

The Company's historical combined financial information has been derived from its combined financial statements and accompanying notes to the combined financial statements of the Combined Businesses included elsewhere in this prospectus. The Issuer was formed on February 26, 2020 and will have no material assets or results of operations until the completion of this offering. Therefore, its historical financial information is not included in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements have been prepared on the basis that we will be taxed as a corporation for U.S. federal and state income tax purposes and, accordingly, will become a taxpaying entity subject to U.S. federal, state and Canadian income taxes. The presentation of the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information is prepared in conformity with Article 11 of Regulation S-X and is based on currently available information and certain estimates and assumptions. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information has been adjusted to give effect to events that are (i) directly attributable to the transactions, (ii) factually supportable and (iii) with respect to the statements of operations, expected to have a continuing impact on the results of operations. See the accompanying notes to the Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial Information for a discussion of assumptions made.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements are not necessarily indicative of financial results that would have been attained had the described transactions occurred on the dates indicated above or that could be achieved in the future. The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information also does not give effect to the potential impact of any anticipated synergies, operating efficiencies or cost savings that may result from the transactions or any integration costs that do not have a continuing impact. Future results may vary significantly from the results reflected in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined statements of income and should not be relied on as an indication of our results after the consummation of this offering and the other transactions contemplated by such unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements. However, management believes that the assumptions provide a reasonable basis for presenting the significant effects of the transactions as contemplated and that the pro forma adjustments give appropriate effect to those assumptions and are properly applied in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial statements.

As a public company, we will be implementing additional procedures and processes for the purpose of addressing the standards and requirements applicable to public companies. We expect to incur additional annual expenses related to these steps and, among other things, additional directors' and officers' liability insurance, director fees, fees to comply with the reporting requirements of the SEC, transfer agent fees, hiring of additional accounting, legal and administrative personnel, increased auditing and legal fees and similar expenses. We have not included any pro forma adjustments relating to these costs.

For purposes of the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information, we have assumed that we will issue shares of Class A common stock at a price per share equal to the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover of this prospectus, and, as a result, immediately following the completion of this offering, the ownership percentage represented by Holdings Units not held by us will be %, and the net income attributable to Holdings Units not held by us will accordingly represent % of our net income. If the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full, the ownership percentage represented by Holdings Units not held by us will be %, and the net income attributable to Holdings Units not held by us will accordingly represent % of our net income.

As described in greater detail under "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Tax Receivable Agreement," in connection with the consummation of this offering, we, RHI and Dan Gilbert will enter into a tax receivable agreement, pursuant to which we will agree to pay RHI and Dan Gilbert 90% of the cash savings, if any, in U.S. federal, state and local income tax or franchise tax that we actually realize (computed using simplifying assumptions to address the impact of state and local taxes) as a result of:

(1) Certain increases in our allocable share of the tax basis in Holdings assets resulting from:

   (a) The purchases of Holdings Units (along with the corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock) from RHI and Dan Gilbert (or their transferees of Holdings Units or other assignees) using the net proceeds from this offering or in any future offering,

   (b) Exchanges by RHI and Dan Gilbert (or their transferees of Holdings Units or other assignees) of Holdings Units (along with the corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock) for shares of our Class B common stock or Class A common stock, or cash, as applicable, or

   (c) Payments under the tax receivable agreement;

(2) Tax benefits related to imputed interest deemed arising as a result of payments made under the tax receivable agreement; and

(3) Disproportionate allocations (if any) of tax benefits to Holdings as a result of Section 704(c) of the Code that relate to the reorganization transactions.

We expect to benefit from the remaining 10% of cash savings, if any, that we realize. Due to the uncertainty in the amount and timing of future exchanges of Holdings Units and corresponding shares of Class D common stock or Class C common stock by RHI and Dan Gilbert and purchases of Holdings Units and corresponding shares of Class D common stock or Class C common stock from RHI and Dan Gilbert, the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information assumes that no exchanges or purchases of Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock have occurred and therefore no increases in tax basis in the Issuer's assets or other tax benefits that may be realized thereunder have been assumed in the unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information. However, if RHI and Dan Gilbert were to exchange or sell us all of their Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock, we would recognize a deferred tax asset of approximately $ million and a liability of approximately $ million, assuming: (i) all exchanges or purchases occurred on the same day; (ii) a price of $ per share (the midpoint of the price range listed on the cover page of this prospectus); (iii) a constant corporate tax rate of %; (iv) that we will have sufficient taxable income to fully utilize the tax benefits and (v) no material changes in tax law.

For each 5% increase (decrease) in the amount of Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock exchanged by or purchased from RHI or Dan Gilbert, our deferred tax asset would increase (decrease) by approximately $ million and the related liability would increase (decrease) by approximately $ million, assuming that the price per share and corporate tax rate remain the same. For each $1.00 increase (decrease) in the assumed share price of $ per share, our deferred tax asset would increase (decrease) by approximately $ million and the related liability would increase (decrease) by approximately $ million, assuming that the number of Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock exchanged by or purchased from RHI and Dan Gilbert and the corporate tax rate remain the same. These amounts are estimates and have been prepared for informational purposes only. The actual amount of deferred tax assets and related liabilities that we will recognize will differ based on, among other things, the timing of the exchanges and purchases, the price of our shares of Class A common stock at the time of the exchange or purchase, and the tax rates then in effect.

The unaudited pro forma condensed combined financial information should be read together with "Organizational Structure," "Capitalization," "Selected Historical Combined Financial and Other Data," "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations" and the audited combined financial statements of the Combined Businesses and related notes thereto as well as the interim condensed combined financial statements of the Combined Businesses and related notes thereto included elsewhere in this prospectus.

NOTES TO UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED BALANCE SHEET

(1) We estimate that the proceeds to us from this offering will be approximately $ million (or $ million if the underwriters exercise in full their option to purchase additional shares of Class A common stock), based on an assumed initial public offering price of $ per share, which is the midpoint of the estimated offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus, after deducting $ of assumed underwriting discounts and commissions and estimated offering expenses. We intend to use the entire aggregate amount of the net proceeds from this offering to acquire a number of Holdings Units and corresponding shares of Class D common stock from RHI. We do not intend to use any proceeds from this offering to acquire any Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock from Dan Gilbert. For more information, see "Use of Proceeds."

(2) Reflects the (i) cash distributions by certain subsidiaries in an aggregate amount of $318.4 million and (ii) the Special Distribution described under "Organizational Structure," to RHI, in an aggregate amount of $ million.

(3) The Issuer is subject to U.S. federal, state, local and Canadian income taxes and will file consolidated income tax returns for U.S. federal and certain state and local jurisdictions. This adjustment reflects the recognition of deferred taxes in connection with the Reorganization Transaction assuming the federal rates currently in effect and the highest statutory rates apportioned to each state, local and Canadian jurisdiction.

We have recorded a pro forma deferred tax asset adjustment of $ million. The deferred tax asset includes (i) $ million related to temporary differences in the book basis as compared to the tax basis of the Issuer's investment in Holdings, and (ii) $ million related to tax benefits from future deductions attributable to payments under the tax receivable agreement as described further in Note (4) below. To the extent we determine it is more likely-than-not that we will not realize the full benefit represented by the deferred tax asset, we will record an appropriate valuation allowance based on an analysis of the objective or subjective negative evidence.

(4) Prior to the completion of this offering, we will enter into a tax receivable agreement with RHI and Dan Gilbert that provides for the payment by Rocket Companies, Inc. to RHI and Dan Gilbert of 90% of the benefits, if any, that Rocket Companies, Inc. realizes as a result of the purchase of Holdings Units (along with corresponding shares of our Class D common stock) from RHI using the net proceeds from this offering. See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Tax Receivable Agreement." The tax receivable agreement will be accounted for as a contingent liability, with amounts accrued when considered probable and reasonably estimable. We will record a $ million of liability based on the Company's estimate of the aggregate amount that it will pay to RHI and Dan Gilbert under the tax receivable agreement as a result of the Offering Transactions. As mentioned in note (1) above, we will record an increase of $ million in deferred tax assets related to tax benefits from future deductions attributable to payments under the tax receivable agreement as a result of the Offering Transactions. Additionally, we will record a decrease to additional paid-in capital of $ million, which is equal to the difference between the increase in deferred tax assets and the increase in liabilities due to existing owners under the tax receivable agreement as a result of the Offering Transactions. No adjustment has been made to reflect future exchanges by RHI or Dan Gilbert (or their transferees of Holdings Units or other assignees) of Holdings Units (along with the corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock) for cash or shares of our Class B common stock or Class A common stock, as applicable.

(5) We are deferring certain costs associated with this offering. These costs primarily represent legal, accounting and other direct costs and are recorded in other assets in our combined balance sheet. Upon completion of this offering, these deferred costs will be charged against the proceeds from this offering with a corresponding reduction to additional paid-in capital.

(6) Represents an adjustment to equity reflecting (i) par value for common stock and (ii) the reclassification of net parent investment of $ million to additional paid-in capital.

(7) As a result of the recapitalization transactions, the operating agreement of RKT Holdings, LLC will be amended and restated to, among other things, designate Rocket Companies, Inc. as the sole managing member of RKT Holdings, LLC. As sole managing member, Rocket Companies, Inc. will exclusively operate and control the business and affairs of RKT Holdings, LLC. The Holdings Units owned by RHI and Dan Gilbert will be considered noncontrolling interests in the consolidated financial statements of Rocket Companies, Inc. The adjustment to non-controlling interest of $ million reflects the proportional interest in the pro forma consolidated total equity of Rocket Companies, Inc. owned by RHI and Dan Gilbert.

(8) The following table is a reconciliation of the adjustments impacting additional paid-in-capital:

Net adjustment from recognition of deferred tax asset	$
Net parent investment reclassification
Gross proceeds from offering of Class A common stock Payment of underwriting discounts and commissions in connection with this offering

NOTES TO UNAUDITED PRO FORMA CONDENSED COMBINED STATEMENTS OF INCOME

(1) Represents the removal of incremental one-time costs of $ million and $ million for professional service fees, such as legal and accounting fees, that were expensed in our combined statements of income and comprehensive income for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the year ended December 31, 2019, respectively, in connection with the offering and related reorganization transactions.

(2) Following the reorganization transactions and offering, the Issuer will be subject to U.S. federal income taxes, in addition to state, local and Canadian taxes. As a result, the pro forma statements of income reflects an adjustment to our provision for corporate income taxes to reflect a statutory tax rate of %, which includes a provision for U.S. federal income taxes and assumes the highest statutory rates apportioned to each state, local and Canadian jurisdiction. Holdings has been, and will continue to be, treated as a partnership for U.S. federal and state income tax purposes. As such, Holdings' profits and losses will flow through to its partners, including the Issuer, and are generally not subject to tax at the Holdings level.

The pro forma adjustments for income tax expense represent tax expense (benefit) on income that will be taxable in jurisdictions after our corporate reorganization that previously had not been taxable. The adjustment is calculated as pro forma income before income taxes multiplied by the ownership percentage of the controlling interest and multiplied by the pro forma statutory tax rate of %.

(3) Following the reorganization transactions, the Issuer will become the sole managing member of Holdings, and upon consummation of this offering, the Issuer will initially own approximately % of the economic interest in Holdings but will have 100% of the voting power and control the management of Holdings. The ownership percentage held by the noncontrolling interest will be approximately %. Net income attributable to the noncontrolling interest will represent approximately % of net income.

(4) Pro forma basic net income per share is computed by dividing the net income available to common stockholders by the weighted-average shares of common stock outstanding during the period. Pro forma diluted net income per share is computed by adjusting the net income available to common stockholders and the weighted-average shares of common stock outstanding to give effect to potentially dilutive securities.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The following management's discussion and analysis of our financial condition and results of operations should be read in conjunction with, and is qualified in its entirety by reference to, our combined financial statements and the related notes and other information included elsewhere in this prospectus. This discussion and analysis contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties which could cause our actual results to differ materially from those anticipated in these forward-looking statements, including, but not limited to, risks and uncertainties discussed under the heading "Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements," "Risk Factors" and elsewhere in this prospectus.

Executive Summary

We are a Detroit-based company obsessed with helping our clients achieve the American dream of home ownership and financial freedom. Our flagship business, Rocket Mortgage, almost exclusively offers GSE-conforming and government insured mortgage loan products, which are marketed in all 50 states through the internet, national television and other marketing channels. In addition to our mortgage business, we have expanded into complementary industries, such as real estate, personal lending, and auto sales. Our ecosystem is a series of connected businesses centered on delivering better solutions to our clients through our technology and scale. We believe this creates substantial growth opportunities.

We primarily operate out of offices located in Detroit, Michigan; Cleveland, Ohio; Scottsdale, Arizona; Charlotte, North Carolina; and Los Angeles, California. Our mortgage origination business derives revenue from originating, processing, underwriting, and servicing predominantly GSE-conforming mortgage loans, along with FHA, USDA and VA mortgage loans, which are subsequently pooled and sold to the secondary market. Revenues in the mortgage origination business are generated primarily from the gain on sale of loans, which includes loan origination fees, revenues from sales of loans into the secondary market, as well as the fair value of originated MSRs and hedging gains and losses. Loan servicing income consists of the contractual fees earned for servicing the loans and includes ancillary revenue such as late fees and modification incentives (collectively, "servicing fee income"), as well as changes in the fair value of MSRs due to changes in valuation assumptions and collection or realization of cash flows. From a cash flow perspective, the vast majority of cash from mortgage originations occurs at the point in time the loans are sold into the secondary market. The vast majority of servicing fee income relates to the 'retained servicing fee' on the loans, where cash is received monthly over the life of the loan and is a product of the client's current unpaid principal balance ("UPB") multiplied by the weighted average service fee.

For more information about our business, operations and strategy, see the discussion under the heading "Business."

Key Factors Affecting Results of Operations for Periods Presented

Market and competitive factors

Our flagship business, Rocket Mortgage, is a technology and service-driven residential mortgage lender. We believe that, as an independent, non-depository mortgage company with a scalable centralized origination and servicing platform, we are more nimble than our competitors. Consequently, we are well-positioned to act quickly in response to market changes and to maintain a business strategy focused on adhering to our conservative underwriting strategies as well as growth and profitability.

We have a track record of quickly adapting to the changing macro-economic and regulatory environments and scaling rapidly to take advantage of new opportunities. As an example, when the Federal Housing Finance Agency initiated HARP in response to the financial crisis of 2008, we were able to leverage our scalable technology platform to expand our capacity swiftly to take advantage of the increased refinancing volume, while maintaining our high quality of originations and standard processing times. As an additional example, we were able also able to leverage our platform in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. See "Prospectus Summary—Recent Developments" for a discussion of our response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Historically, competitors have entered the mortgage space in times of falling rates as the overall mortgage market expands. Conversely, in times of rising interest rates competitors in the mortgage banking space tend to reduce the level of resources employed in the mortgage business. While the overall mortgage market contracts in rising interest rate scenarios, we believe we are well positioned to grow market share during these periods due to our strong market position.

Our two principal sources of revenue, mortgage origination and mortgage loan servicing, contribute to a more stable business profile by creating a natural hedge against changes in the interest rate environment.

Loan origination volumes and refinance volumes in particular are impacted by interest rates. As interest rates decline, refinance volume tends to increase, while in an increasing interest rate environment, the refinancing volume tends to decrease. The volume of loan originations associated with home purchases is generally less affected by rate fluctuations and more affected by broader economic factors such as the strength and stability of the overall economy, including the unemployment level and real estate values. In the past few months, such broad economic factors have been substantially affected by the COVID-19 pandemic, see "Risk Factors—The COVID-19 pandemic poses unique challenges to our business and the effects of the pandemic could adversely impact our ability to originate mortgages, our servicing operations, our liquidity and our employees." The fair value of MSRs is also driven primarily by interest rates, which impact the likelihood of loan prepayments through refinancing.

There has been a long-term trend of falling interest rates, with intermittent periods of rate increases. More recently, there was a rising interest rate environment for the majority of 2018 and a falling interest rate environment in 2019 and during the first quarter of 2020. In periods of rising interest rates, the fair value of the MSRs generally increases as prepayments decrease, and therefore the estimated life of the MSRs and related expected cash flows increase. In a declining interest rate environment, the fair value of MSRs generally decreases as prepayments increase and therefore, the estimated life of the MSRs and related cash flows decrease. Because origination volumes tend to increase in declining interest rate environments and decrease in increasing rate environments, we believe that our two principal sources of revenue, mortgage origination and mortgage loan servicing, contribute to a stable business profile by creating a natural hedge against changes in the interest rate environment.

Three months ended March 31, 2020 summary

For the three months ended March 31, 2020, we originated $51.7 billion in residential mortgage loans, which was a $29.4 billion, or 131.7%, increase from the three months ended March 31, 2019. Our net income was $97.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020, compared to a net loss of $299.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. Results for the three months ended March 31, 2019 include a $321.0 million decrease in fair value of MSRs due to valuation assumptions, which resulted in a net loss for the period. We generated $919.6 million of Adjusted EBITDA for the three months ended March 31, 2020, which was an increase of $839.3 million, or

1,044.9%, compared to $80.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. For more information on Adjusted EBITDA, please see "—Non-GAAP Financial Measures" below.

The increase in net income and Adjusted EBITDA was primarily driven by an increase of $1,094.9 million, or 150.5% in gain on sale of loans, net which was driven primarily by the increase in origination volume in 2020 noted above and an increase in other income of $112.1 million, or 84.8%, due primarily to revenues generated from title and closing activities that were also driven by the increase in origination volume noted above. These increases were partially offset by an increase in collection/realization of cash flows from MSRs of $93.2 million, or 60.2%, which is a reduction in revenue primarily due to an increase in the volume of loans paid in full prior to their scheduled maturity from our servicing book (referred to as 'prepayment speed') in 2020 as compared to 2019. In addition, 2020 results include increased expenses associated with higher production levels as compared to 2019 results. The increase in production led to an increase in salaries, commissions and employee benefits of $225.7 million, or 49.3%, primarily due to variable compensation and an increase in team members in production roles to support our continued growth. Other expenses increased by $75.9 million, or 115.9%, in 2020 as compared to 2019 driven by an increase in payoff interest expense that resulted from an increase in the volume of loans paid in full prior to their scheduled maturity from our servicing book. When individual loans are paid off, we are required to remit interest for an entire month regardless of the date of payoff; however, clients are only responsible for interest accrued up to the date of payoff. The difference between the interest we are required to remit to investors and the interest we collect from the client as a result of an early payoff is referred to as "payoff interest". Other expenses also increased in 2020 due to expenses incurred in connection with the sale of MSRs and an increase in expenses incurred to support the higher level of title and closing activities due to the increased origination volumes noted above.

We retain a majority of the servicing rights associated with our mortgage loan originations. The servicing portfolio is an important asset that helps us build longstanding relationships with our clients and potentially capture future transactions such as their next mortgage origination. We monitor the MSR portfolio on a regular basis seeking to optimize our book by evaluating the risk and return profile of the book. As part of these efforts we sold the servicing of approximately 44,000 loans with $16.3 billion in UPB during 2020. These sales were more than offset by new loans that were added to the MSR portfolio during the year. As of March 31, 2020, our servicing portfolio, including loans subserviced for others, included approximately $343.6 billion of UPB and 1.8 million client loans. The portfolio primarily consists of high quality performing GSE and government (FHA and VA) loans. As of March 31, 2020, delinquent loans (defined as 60-plus days past-due) were 0.92% of our total portfolio.

For the year ended December 31, 2019, we originated $145.2 billion in residential mortgage loans, which was a $62.1 billion, or 74.7%, increase from the year ended December 31, 2018. Our net income was $892.4 million for the year ended December 31, 2019, up $279.8 million, or 45.7%, compared to $612.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2018. We generated $1,939.8 million of Adjusted EBITDA for the year ended December 31, 2019, which was an increase of $1,410.6 million, or 266.6%, in the year ended December 31, 2019, compared to $529.2 million in the year ended December 31, 2018. For more information on Adjusted EBITDA, please see "—Non-GAAP Financial Measures" below.

The increase in net income and Adjusted EBITDA was primarily driven by an increase of $1,983.4 million, or 67.7% in gain on sale of loans, net driven primarily by the increase in origination volume in 2019 noted above, an increase in other income of $150.8 million, or 25.6%, due primarily to revenues generated from title and closing activities that were also driven by the increase in origination volume noted above, and an increase in servicing fee income of $129.9 million, or 15.8%, resulting from continued growth in our servicing portfolio. These increases were partially offset by an increase in collection/realization of cash flows from MSRs of $251.4 million, or 45.3%, which is a reduction in revenue primarily due to higher prepayment speeds in 2019 as compared to 2018. In addition, 2019 results include increased expenses associated with higher production levels as compared to 2018 results. The increase in production led to an increase in salaries, commissions and employee benefits of $378.9 million, or 22.2%, primarily due to variable compensation and an increase in team members in production roles to support our continued growth. General and administrative costs also increased by $91.7 million, or 15.5%, in 2019 as compared to 2018 driven primarily by higher loan processing expenses due to increased production as well as expenses associated with a resolution with the Department of Justice in 2019. Other expenses increased by $126.2 million, or 42.9%, in 2019 as compared to 2018 driven primarily driven by an increase in payoff interest expense that resulted from an increase in prepayment speeds. Other expenses also increased in 2019 due to expenses incurred in connection with the sale of MSRs and an increase in expenses incurred to support the higher level of title and closing activities due to the increased origination volumes noted above.

As of December 31, 2019, our servicing portfolio, including loans subserviced for others, included approximately $338.6 billion of UPB and 1.8 million client loans. The portfolio primarily consists of high quality performing GSE and government (FHA and VA) loans. As of December 31, 2019, delinquent loans (defined as 60-plus days past-due) were 1.01% of our total portfolio. We sold the servicing of approximately 153,000 loans with $42.5 billion in UPB during 2019. These sales were more than offset by new loans that were added to the MSR portfolio during the year.

For the year ended December 31, 2018, we originated $83.1 billion in residential mortgage loans, which was a $2.4 billion, or 2.8%, decrease from the year ended December 31, 2017. Our net income was $612.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2018, down $158.1 million, or 20.5%, compared to $770.7 million for the year ended December 31, 2017. We generated $529.2 million of Adjusted EBITDA for the year ended December 31, 2018, which was a decrease of $503.8 million, or 48.8%, in the year ended December 31, 2018, compared to $1,033.0 million in the year ended December 31, 2017.

The decrease in net income and Adjusted EBITDA was primarily driven by a decrease of $451.3 million, or 13.4%, in gain on sale of loans, net driven by lower origination volume in our Direct to Consumer segment and partially offset by an increase in origination volume in our Partner Network segment during 2018. In addition, marketing and advertising expenses increased by $90.2 million, or 11.4%, due to increased brand and performance marketing spend in 2018. These items were partially offset by increased servicing fee income of $123.7 million, or 17.8%, driven by an increase in the size of the MSR portfolio.

As of December 31, 2018, our servicing portfolio, including loans subserviced for others, included approximately $314.7 billion of UPB and 1.7 million loans. The portfolio primarily consists of high quality performing GSE and government (FHA and VA) loans. As of December 31, 2018, delinquent loans (defined as 60-plus days past-due) were 0.74% of our total portfolio.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

To provide investors with information in addition to our results as determined by GAAP, we disclose Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income, and Adjusted EBITDA as non-GAAP measures which management believes provide useful information to investors. These measures are not financial measures calculated in accordance with GAAP and should not be considered as a substitute for revenue, net income, or any other operating performance measure calculated in accordance with GAAP, and may not be comparable to a similarly titled measure reported by other companies.

We define "Adjusted Revenue" as total revenues net of the change in fair value of mortgage servicing rights ("MSRs") due to valuation assumptions. We define "Adjusted Net Income" as tax-effected earnings before stock-based compensation expense and the change in fair value of MSRs due to valuation assumptions, and the tax effects of those adjustments. We define "Adjusted EBITDA" as earnings before interest and amortization expense on non-funding debt, income tax, and depreciation and amortization, net of the change in fair value of MSRs due to valuation assumptions (net of hedges) and stock-based compensation expense. We exclude from each of these non-GAAP revenues the change in fair value of MSRs due to valuation assumptions (net of hedges) as this represents a non-cash non-realized adjustment to our total revenues, reflecting changes in assumptions including discount rates and prepayment speed assumptions, mostly due to changes in market interest rates, which is not indicative of our performance or results of operation. Adjusted EBITDA includes interest expense on funding facilities, which are recorded as a component of "interest income, net", as these expenses are a direct cost driven by loan origination volume. By contrast, interest and amortization expense on non-funding debt is a function of our capital structure and is therefore excluded from Adjusted EBITDA.

We believe that the presentation of Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA provides useful information to investors regarding our results of operations because each measure assists both investors and management in analyzing and benchmarking the performance and value of our business. Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA provide indicators of performance that are not affected by fluctuations in certain costs or other items. Accordingly, management believes that these measurements are useful for comparing general operating performance from period to period, and management relies on these measures for planning and forecasting of future periods. Additionally, these measures allow management to compare our results with those of other companies that have different financing and capital structures. However, other companies may define Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA differently, and as a result, our measures of Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA may not be directly comparable to those of other companies.

Although we use Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA as financial measures to assess the performance of our business, such use is limited because they do not include certain material costs necessary to operate our business. Additionally, our definitions of each of Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA allows us to add back certain non-cash charges and deduct certain gains that are included in calculating total revenues, net, net income attributable to Rocket Companies or net income (loss). However, these expenses and gains vary greatly, and are difficult to predict. They can represent the effect of long-term strategies as opposed to short-term results. Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA should be considered in addition to, and not as a substitute for, total revenues, net income attributable to Rocket Companies and net income (loss) in accordance with U.S. GAAP as measures of performance. Our presentation of Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA should not be construed as an indication that our future results will be unaffected by unusual or nonrecurring items.

Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA have limitations as analytical tools, and you should not consider them in isolation or as a substitute for analysis of our results as reported under U.S. GAAP. Some of these limitations are:

(a) they do not reflect every cash expenditure, future requirements for capital expenditures or contractual commitments;

(b) Adjusted EBITDA does not reflect the significant interest expense or the cash requirements necessary to service interest or principal payment on our debt;

(c) although depreciation and amortization are non-cash charges, the assets being depreciated and amortized will often have to be replaced or require improvements in the future, and Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA do not reflect any cash requirement for such replacements or improvements; and

(d) they are not adjusted for all non-cash income or expense items that are reflected in our statements of cash flows.

Because of these limitations, Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA are not intended as alternatives to total revenue, net income attributable to Rocket Companies or net income (loss) as an indicator of our operating performance and should not be considered as measures of discretionary cash available to us to invest in the growth of our business or as measures of cash that will be available to us to meet our obligations. We compensate for these limitations by using Adjusted Revenue, Adjusted Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA along with other comparative tools, together with U.S. GAAP measurements, to assist in the evaluation of operating performance. See below for reconciliation of these non-GAAP measures to their most comparable U.S. GAAP measures. Additionally, our U.S. GAAP-based measures can be found in the combined financial statements and related notes included elsewhere in this prospectus.

Key Performance Indicators

We monitor a number of key performance indicators to evaluate the performance of our business operations. Our loan production key performance indicators enable us to monitor our ability to generate gain on sale revenue as well as understand how our performance compares to the total mortgage origination market. Our servicing portfolio key performance indicators enable us to monitor the overall size of our servicing book of business, the related value of our mortgage servicing rights, and the health of the business as measured by the total serviced delinquency rate. Other key performance indicators for other Rocket Companies allow us to monitor both revenues and unit sales generated by these businesses. We also include Rockethomes.com average unique monthly visits, as we believe traffic on the site is an indicator of consumer interest.

(1) Rocket Mortgage origination volume, market share, and margins exclude all reverse mortgage activity.

(2) Gain on sale margin is the gain on sale of loans, net divided by net rate lock volume for the period, excluding all reverse mortgage activity. Gain on sale of loans, net includes the net gain on sale of loans, fair value of originated MSRs, and fair value adjustment on loans held for sale, divided by the UPB of loans subject to IRLC's during the applicable period.

(3) MSR fair market value multiple is a metric used to determine the relative value of the MSR asset in relation to the annualized retained servicing fee, which is the cash that the holder of the MSR asset would receive from the portfolio as of such date. It is calculated as the quotient of (a) the MSR fair market value as of a specified date divided by (b) the weighted average annualized retained servicing fee for our MSR portfolio as of such date. The weighted average annualized retained servicing fee for our MSR portfolio was 0.310% and 0.293% for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, and 0.307%, 0.283%, and 0.277% for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively. The vast majority of our portfolio consists of originated MSRs and consequently, the impact of purchased MSRs does not have a material impact on our weighted average service fee.

(4) Net revenue presented above is calculated as gross revenues less intercompany revenue eliminations. A significant portion of the other Rocket Companies revenues is generated through intercompany transactions. These intercompany transactions take place with entities that are part of our ecosystem. Consequently, we view gross revenue of individual other Rocket Companies as a key performance indicator, and we consider net revenue of other Rocket Companies on a combined basis.

(5) Rockethomes.com average unique monthly visits is calculated by a third party service that monitors website activity. This metric does not have a direct correlation to revenues and is used primarily to monitor consumer interest in the Rockethomes.com site.

Description of Certain Components of Financial Data

Components of revenue

Our sources of revenue include gain on sale of loans, loan servicing income, interest income, and other income.

Gain on sale of loans, net

Gain on sale of loans, net includes all components related to the origination and sale of mortgage loans, including (1) net gain on sale of loans, which represents the premium we receive in excess of the loan principal amount and certain fees charged by investors upon sale of loans into the secondary market, (2) loan origination fees, credits, points and certain costs, (3) provision for or benefit from investor reserves, (4) the change in fair value of interest rate locks ("IRLCs" or "rate lock") and loans held for sale, (5) the gain or loss on forward commitments hedging loans held for sale and IRLCs, and (6) the fair value of originated MSRs.

An estimate of the gain on sale of loans, net is recognized at the time an IRLC is issued, net of an estimated pull-through factor. The pull-through factor is a key assumption and estimates the loan funding probability, as not all loans that reach IRLC status will result in a closed loan. Subsequent changes in the fair value of IRLCs and mortgage loans held for sale are recognized in current period earnings. When the mortgage loan is sold into the secondary market (i.e., funded), any difference between the proceeds received and the current fair value of the loan is recognized in current period earnings in gain on sale of loans.

Loan origination fees generally include underwriting and processing fees. Loan origination costs include lender paid mortgage insurance, recording taxes, investor fees and other related expenses. Net loan origination fees and costs related to the origination of mortgage loans are recognized as a component of the fair value of IRLCs.

We establish reserves for our estimated liabilities associated with the potential repurchase or indemnity of purchasers of loans previously sold due to representation and warranty claims by investors. Additionally, the reserves are established for the estimated liabilities from the need to repay, where applicable, a portion of the premium received from investors on the sale of certain loans if such loans are repaid in their entirety within a specified time period after the sale of the loans. The provision for or benefit from investor reserves is recognized in current period earnings in gain on sale of loans.

We enter into derivative transactions to protect against the risk of adverse interest rate movements that could impact the fair value of certain assets, including IRLCs and loans held for sale. We primarily use forward loan sales commitments to hedge our interest rate risk exposure. Changes in the value of these derivatives, or hedging gains and losses, are included in gain on sale of loans.

Included in gain on sale of loans, net is also the fair value of originated MSRs, which represents the estimated fair value of MSRs related to loans which we have sold and retained the right to service.

Loan servicing income

The value of newly originated MSRs is recognized as a component of the gain on sale of loans, net when loans are sold and the associated servicing rights are retained. Loan servicing fee income consists of the contractual fees earned for servicing the loans and includes ancillary revenue such as late fees and modification incentives. Loan servicing fee income is recorded as earned, which is upon collection of payments from borrowers. We have elected to subsequently measure the MSRs at fair value on a recurring basis. Changes in fair value of MSRs, primarily due to the realization of expected cash flows and/or changes in valuation inputs and estimates, are recognized in current period earnings.

We regularly perform a comprehensive analysis of the MSR portfolio in order to identify and sell certain MSRs that do not align with our strategy for retaining MSRs. To hedge against interest rate exposure on these assets, we enter into forward loan purchase commitments. Changes in the value of derivatives designed to protect against MSR value fluctuations, or MSR hedging gains and losses, are included as a component of servicing fee income.

Interest income, net

Interest income, net is interest earned on mortgage loans held for sale net of the interest expense paid on our loan funding facilities.

Other income

Other income includes revenues generated from Amrock (title insurance services, property valuation, and settlement services), Rocket Homes (real estate network referral fees), Rocket Auto (auto sales business revenues), Core Digital Media (third party lead generation revenues), Rock Connections (third party sales and support revenues), and professional service fees. The professional service fees represent amounts paid for services provided by Quicken Loans to affiliated companies. For additional information on such fees, see "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Transactions with RHI and other Related Parties" and Note 7, Transactions with Related Parties in the notes to the annual combined financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus for additional detail. Services are provided primarily in connection with technology, facilities, human resources, accounting, training, and security functions. Other income also includes revenues from investment interest income.

Components of operating expenses

Our operating expenses as presented in the condensed statement of operations data include salaries, commissions and team member benefits, general and administrative expenses, marketing and advertising expenses, and other expenses.

Salaries, commissions and team member benefits

Salaries, commissions and team member benefits include all payroll and benefit related expenses for our team members.

General and administrative expenses

General and administrative expenses primarily include occupancy costs, professional services, loan processing expenses on loans that do not close or that are not charged to clients on closed loans, commitment fees, fees on loan funding facilities, license fees, office expenses and other operating expenses.

Marketing and advertising expenses

Marketing and advertising expenses are primarily related to performance and brand marketing.

Other expenses

Other expenses primarily consist of depreciation and amortization on property and equipment, mortgage servicing related expenses, and state and local income taxes.

Income taxes

Our Combined Businesses include C corporations that have elected to be treated as Subchapter S subsidiary corporations or single member limited liability companies, both of which are disregarded for federal income tax purposes. The RHI shareholders are responsible for the federal income tax liabilities of RHI and the Combined Businesses. Therefore, no provision for federal income taxes is reflected in the historical financial statements.

Provision for income taxes in the combined financial statements are computed using the liability method. Under this method, deferred income taxes are provided for differences between the financial accounting and income tax basis of assets and liabilities. In assessing the need for a valuation allowance, both positive and negative evidence related to the likelihood of realization of the deferred tax assets is considered. If, based on the weight of the available evidence, it is more likely than not that the deferred tax assets will not be realized, a valuation allowance is recorded. Refer to Note 11, Income Taxes of the notes to the annual combined financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus for further information.

In connection with the completion of this offering and as a result of the reorganization transactions, we will become subject to U.S. federal and certain state taxes applicable to entities treated as corporations for U.S. federal income tax purposes on taxable income attributable to the Company's interest in Holdings.

Stock-based compensation

Stock-based compensation is comprised of both equity and liability awards and is measured and expensed accordingly under Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 718 Compensation—Stock Compensation.

Non-Controlling Interest

Our historical financial statements include a non-controlling interest reported since 2018 related to a minority interest in one of our subsidiaries.

In connection with the reorganization transactions, we will be appointed as the sole managing member of Holdings pursuant to Holdings' operating agreement. Because we will manage and operate the business and control the strategic decisions and day-to-day operations of Holdings and will also have a substantial financial interest in Holdings, we will consolidate the financial results of Holdings, and a portion of our net income (loss) will be allocated to the non-controlling interest to reflect the entitlement of RHI and Dan Gilbert to Holdings' net income (loss). We will hold approximately % of the outstanding Holdings Units (or approximately % of the outstanding Holdings Units if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full), and the remaining Holdings Units will be held by RHI and Dan Gilbert.

Future Public Company Expenses

We expect our operating expenses to increase when we become a public company following this offering. We expect our accounting, legal and personnel-related expenses and directors' and officers' insurance costs to increase as we establish more comprehensive compliance and governance functions, maintain and review internal controls over financial reporting in accordance with Sarbanes-Oxley and prepare and distribute periodic reports as required by the rules and regulations of the SEC. As a result, our historical results of operations may not be indicative of our results of operations in future periods.

Results of Operations for the Three Months Ended March 31, 2020 and 2019

Summary of Operations

Net loss attributable to noncontrolling interest	441	327
Net income (loss) attributable to Rocket Companies	$ 97,721	$ (299,018)

Net income was $97.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020, an increase of $396.7 million, as compared to a net loss of $299.0 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increase was primarily the result of higher gain on sale of loans, net of $1,094.9 million, or 150.5%, due to increased mortgage origination volume in 2020 and an increase in other income of $112.1 million, or 84.8% due primarily to revenues generated from title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services that were also driven by the increase in origination volume noted above. This was partially offset as the fair value of MSRs decreased by $991.3 million in 2020, compared to a decrease of $475.7 million in 2019. The decrease in fair value of MSRs was primarily driven by a greater decline in interest rates during the three months ended March 31, 2020, as compared to the three months ended March 31, 2019. In addition, salaries, commissions and team member benefits expenses increased by $225.7 million, or 49.3%, in 2020 as compared to 2019 primarily due to variable compensation related to increased production as well as an increase in team members in production roles to support our growth. General and administrative expenses increased by $27.7 million, or 16.7%, driven primarily by higher loan processing costs as a result of increased origination volumes. Other expenses increased $75.9 million, or 115.9%, due primarily to expenses incurred from the sale of MSRs associated with prepayment provisions within the sales agreement, an increase in servicing payoff interest due to higher prepayments, and an increase in expenses incurred to support the higher level of title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services due to the increased origination volumes noted above.

Gain on sale of loans, net

The components of gain on sale of loans for the periods presented were as follows:

	Three Months Ended March 31,
($ in thousands)	2020	2019
Net gain on sale of loans(1)	$ 1,412,133	$ 470,802
Fair value of originated MSRs	535,419	296,672
Benefit from (provision for) investor reserves	(1,577)	(493)

Gain on sale of loans, net	$ 1,822,109	$ 727,246

(1) Net gain on sale of loans represents the premium received in excess of the UPB, plus net origination fees.

The table below provides details of the characteristics of our mortgage loan production for each of the periods presented:

($ in thousands)
Loan origination volume by type	2020	2019

Net rate lock volume(1)	$ 56,049,944	$ 27,145,738
Gain on sale margin(2)	3.25%	2.64%

(1) Net rate lock volume includes the UPB of loans subject to IRLCs, net of the pull-through factor as described in the "—Description of Certain Components of Financial Data" section above.

Gain on sale of loans, net was $1,822.1 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020, an increase of $1,094.9 million, or 150.6%, as compared with $727.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increase in gain on sale of loans, net was primarily driven by increases in mortgage loan origination volume of $29.4 billion, or 131.7%. The increase also reflects an increase in gain on sale margin from 2.64% to 3.25%, reflecting favorable market conditions.

Net gain on sales of loans increased $941.3 million, or 199.9%, to $1,412.1 million in the first quarter of 2020 compared to $470.8 million in the first quarter of 2019. This was driven by increased mortgage loan origination volume and increase in gain on sale margin noted above.

The fair value of MSRs originated was $535.4 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020, an increase of $238.7 million, or 80.5%, as compared with $296.7 million during the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increase was primarily due to an increase funded loan volume noted above.

Gain on sale of loans, net also includes unrealized gains and losses from the fair value changes in mortgage loans held for sale and IRLCs as well as realized and unrealized gains and losses from forward commitments used to hedge the loans held for sale and IRLCs. The net loss from these fair value changes was $123.9 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020, compared to a net loss of $39.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019 driven by changes in interest rates and loan volume.

Loan servicing (loss) income

For the periods presented, loan servicing (loss) income consisted of the following:

	Three Months Ended March 31,
($ in thousands)	2020	2019
Retained servicing fee	$ 247,603	$ 215,343
Subservicing income	1,592	1,580

Weighted average service fee	0.310%	0.293%

Loan servicing loss, net was $734.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020, which compares to loan servicing loss, net of $251.1 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increased loss was driven primarily by a reduction in fair market value of MSRs of $991.3 million in 2020 as compared to a reduction in fair market value of MSRs of $475.7 million in 2019. See discussion below on change in MSR fair value for additional discussion. This was partially offset by an increase in retained servicing fee revenue in 2020 of $32.3 million, or 15.0%, driven by a higher weighted average service fee, which increased from 0.293% to 0.310%, and an increase in the overall size of the retained servicing portfolio, which increased to $319.1 billion at March 31, 2020 from $305.4 billion at March 31, 2019. Between March 31, 2019 and March 31, 2020, our newly originated MSRs had a higher weighted average service fee as market conditions were such that we retained a higher level of excess servicing resulting in the increase noted above. We originate the vast majority of our MSR portfolio and did not purchase any MSRs during 2020 and 2019. Both purchased MSRs and subservicing revenues are not material sources of servicing fee income.

The change in MSR fair value was a net loss of $991.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020, as compared with a net loss of $475.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The change in fair value during 2020 included $247.9 million of loss due to collection/realization of cash flows and a decrease in fair value due to change in valuation assumptions (net of hedges) of $743.3 million primarily driven by an increase in prepayment speeds from 14.5% at December 31, 2019 to 19.7% at March 31, 2020. The prepayment speed valuation assumption represents the annual rate at which serviced clients are estimated to repay their UPB. The decrease in fair value during 2019 included $154.7 million of due to collection/realization of cash flows, partially offset by an increase in fair value due to changes in valuation model inputs or assumptions of $321.0 million primarily driven by an increase in prepayment speeds from 10.8% at December 31, 2018 to 13.2% at March 31, 2019.

The components of interest income, net for the periods presented were as follows:

($ in thousands)	Three Months Ended March 31, 2020	2019
Interest income	$ 74,042	$ 47,052
Interest expense on funding facilities	(39,459)	(23,613)
Interest income, net	$ 34,583	$ 23,439

Interest income, net was $34.6 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020, an increase of $11.1 million, or 47.5%, as compared to $23.4 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increase was driven by increased interest income due to higher production volume and partially offset by increased interest expense on funding facilities which was also driven by higher production volume.

Other income

Other income increased $112.1 million, or 84.8%, to $244.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020 as compared to $132.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increase was driven by revenues generated from title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services that were also driven by the increase in origination volume noted above.

Expenses

Expenses for the periods presented were as follows:

($ in thousands)	Three Months Ended March 31, 2020	2019
Salaries, commissions and team member benefits	$ 683,450	$ 457,778
General and administrative expenses	193,566	165,839
Marketing and advertising expenses	217,992	208,897
Interest and amortization expense on non-funding debt	33,107	33,082
Other expenses	141,440	65,521
Total expenses	$ 1,269,555	$ 931,117

Total expenses were $1,269.6 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020, an increase of $338.4 million or 36.3%, as compared with $931.1 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. This was driven primarily by increases in salaries, commissions and team member benefits, general and administrative expenses, and other expenses as described below.

Salaries, commissions and team member benefits were $683.5 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020, an increase of $225.7 million, or 49.3%, as compared with $457.8 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increase was primarily due to variable compensation related to increased production as well as an increase in team members in production roles to support our growth.

General, selling and administrative expenses were $193.6 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020, an increase of $27.7 million, or 16.7%, as compared with $165.8 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increase was driven primarily by increased loan processing expenses due to higher origination volumes.

Other expenses were $141.4 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020, an increase of $75.9 million, or 115.9%, as compared with $65.5 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increase was driven primarily by an increase in payoff interest expense, expenses incurred from the sale of MSRs associated with prepayment provisions within the sales agreement, and increase in expenses incurred to support the higher level of title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services due to the increased origination volumes noted above.

Net income attributable to Rocket Companies	$ 893,754	$ 612,889

Net income was $892.4 million for the year ended December 31, 2019, an increase of $279.8 million, or 45.7%, as compared to $612.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2018. The increase was primarily the result of higher gain on sale of loans, net of $1,983.4 million, or 67.7%, due to increased mortgage origination volume in 2019, an increase in other income of $150.8 million, or 25.6% driven by revenues generated from title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services that were also driven by the increase in origination volume noted above, and an increase in servicing fee income of $129.9 million, or 15.8%, due to an increase in the servicing portfolio during the year. These items were partially offset as the fair value of MSRs decreased by $1,596.6 million in 2019, compared to a decrease of $228.7 million in 2018. The decrease in fair value of MSRs was driven by the decline in interest rates as of December 31, 2019, as compared to December 31, 2018. In addition, salaries, commissions and team member benefits expenses increased by $378.9 million, or 22.2%, in 2019 as compared to 2018 primarily due to variable compensation related to increased production as well as an increase in team members in production roles to support our growth. General and administrative expenses increased by $91.7 million, or 15.5%, driven primarily by higher loan processing costs as a result of increased origination volumes and expenses in connection with a resolution with the Department of Justice in 2019. Other expenses increased $126.2 million, or 42.9%, due primarily to expenses incurred from the sale of MSRs associated with prepayment provisions within the sales agreement, an increase in servicing payoff interest due to higher prepayments, and increase in expenses incurred to support the higher level of title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services due to the increased origination volumes noted above.

Net rate lock volume(1)	$ 152,183,984	$ 81,510,865
Gain on sale margin(2)	3.19%	3.55%

(1) Net rate lock volume includes the UPB of loans subject to IRLCs, net of the pull-through factor as described in the "—Description of Certain Components of Financial Data" section above.

(2) Gain on sale margin is a ratio of gain on sale of loans, net to the net rate lock volume for the period as described above. Gain on sale of loans, net includes the net gain on sale of loans, fair value of originated MSRs, fair value adjustment gain on loans held for sale and IRLCs, and revaluation loss from forward commitments economically hedging loans held for sale and IRLCs. This metric is a measure of profitability for our on-going mortgage business and therefore excludes revenues from other Rocket Companies and reverse mortgage activity. See the table above for each of the components of gain on sale of loans, net.

Gain on sale of loans, net was $4,911.3 million for the year ended December 31, 2019, an increase of $1,983.4 million, or 67.7%, as compared with $2,927.9 million for the year ended

December 31, 2018. The increase in gain on sale of loans, net was primarily driven by increases in mortgage loan origination volume of $62.1 billion, or 74.7%. These were partially offset by a decrease in gain on sale margin to 3.19% in 2019 compared to 3.55% due to a shift in the mix of our business due to growth in the Partner Network segment. See "—Summary results by segment for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017" below for additional detail.

Net gain on sales of loans increased $1,484.9 million, or 83.7%, to $3,259.5 million in 2019 compared to $1,774.7 million in 2018. This was driven by increased mortgage loan origination volume noted above.

The fair value of MSRs originated was $1,771.7 million for the year ended December 31, 2019, an increase of $812.5 million, or 84.7%, as compared with $959.2 million during the year ended December 31, 2018. The increase was primarily due to an increase funded loan volume noted above.

Gain on sale of loans, net also includes unrealized gains and losses from the fair value changes in mortgage loans held for sale and IRLCs as well as realized and unrealized gains and losses from forward commitments used to hedge the loans held for sale and IRLCs. The net loss from these fair value changes was $121.7 million for the year ended December 31, 2019, compared to a net gain of $201.5 million for the year ended December 31, 2018 driven by changes in interest rates and loan volume.

Loan servicing (loss) income

For the periods presented, loan servicing (loss) income consisted of the following:

Loan servicing loss, net was $646.4 million for the year ended December 31, 2019, which compares to loan servicing income of $591.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2018. The decrease was driven primarily by a reduction in fair market value of MSRs of $1,596.6 million in 2019 as compared to a reduction in fair market value of MSRs of $228.7 million in 2018. See discussion below on change in MSR fair value for additional discussion. This was partially offset by an increase in retained servicing fee revenue in 2019 of $120.8 million, or 15.3%, driven by a higher weighted average service fee, which increased from 0.283% to 0.307%, and an increase in the overall size of the retained servicing portfolio, which increased to $311.7 billion from $297.6 billion. During 2019, our newly originated MSRs had a higher weighted average service fee as market conditions were such that we retained a higher level of excess servicing resulting in the increase noted above. We originate the vast majority of our MSR portfolio and did not purchase any MSRs during 2019 and 2018. Both purchased MSRs and subservicing revenues are not material sources of servicing fee income.

The change in MSR fair value was a net loss of $1,596.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2019, as compared with a net loss of $228.7 million for the year ended December 31, 2018. The change in fair value during 2019 included $806.7 million of loss due to collection/realization of cash flows and a decrease in fair value due to change in valuation assumptions of $784.4 million primarily driven by an increase in prepayment speeds from 10.8% at December 31, 2018 to 14.5% at December 31, 2019. The prepayment speed valuation assumption represents the annual rate at which serviced clients are estimated to repay their UPB. The decrease in fair value during 2018 included $555.4 million of due to collection/realization of cash flows, partially offset by an increase in fair value due to changes in valuation model inputs or assumptions of $326.6 million primarily driven by a decrease in prepayment speeds from 11.9% at December 31, 2017 to 10.8% at December 31, 2018. To determine our discount rate assumption, we consider a wide range of factors including industry surveys on what market participants are using for discount rates, advice from third party valuation experts, and current market conditions. Based on consideration of these factors, our discount rate assumption was lower at December 31, 2019 as compared to December 31, 2018.

The components of interest income, net for the periods presented were as follows:

($ in thousands)	Year Ended December 31, 2019	2018
Interest income	$ 250,750	$ 200,927
Interest expense on funding facilities	134,916	99,325
Interest income, net	$ 115,834	$ 101,602

Interest income, net was $115.8 million for the year ended December 31, 2019, an increase of $14.2 million, or 14%, as compared to $101.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2018. The increase was driven by increased interest income due to higher production volume and partially offset by increased interest expense on funding facilities which was also driven by higher production volume.

Other income

Other income increased $150.8 million, or 25.6%, to $739.2 million for the year ended December 31, 2019 as compared to $588.4 million for the year ended December 31, 2018. The increase was driven by revenues generated from title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services due to the increase in origination volume noted above during 2019.

Expenses

Expenses for the periods presented were as follows:

($ in thousands)	Year Ended December 31, 2019	2018
Salaries, commissions and team member benefits	$ 2,082,058	$ 1,703,197
General and administrative expenses	683,116	591,372
Marketing and advertising expenses	905,000	878,027
Interest and amortization expense on non-funding debt	136,853	130,022
Other expenses	420,485	294,314
Total expenses	$ 4,227,512	$ 3,596,932

Total expenses were $4,227.5 million for the year ended December 31, 2019, an increase of $630.6 million or 17.5%, as compared with $3,596.9 million for the year ended December 31, 2018. This was driven primarily by increases in salaries, commissions and team member benefits, general and administrative expenses, and other expenses as described below.

Salaries, commissions and team member benefits were $2,082.1 million for the year ended December 31, 2019, an increase of $378.9 million, or 22.2%, as compared with $1,703.2 million for the year ended December 31, 2018. The increase was primarily due to variable compensation related to increased production as well as an increase in team members in production roles to support our growth.

General, selling and administrative expenses were $683.1 million for the year ended December 31, 2019, an increase of $91.7 million, or 15.5%, as compared with $591.4 million for the year ended December 31, 2018. The increase was driven primarily by increased loan processing expenses due to higher origination volumes and expenses associated with a resolution with the Department of Justice in 2019.

Other expenses were $420.5 million for the year ended December 31, 2019, an increase of $126.2 million, or 42.9%, as compared with $294.3 million for the year ended December 31, 2018. The increase was driven primarily by an increase in payoff interest expense, expenses incurred from the sale of MSRs, and increase in expenses incurred to support the higher level of title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services due to the increased origination volumes noted above.

Results of Operations for the Years Ended December 31, 2018 and 2017

Summary of Operations

Condensed Statement of Operations Data ($ in thousands)	Year Ended December 31, 2018	2017

Net loss (income) attributable to noncontrolling interest	272	(8)
Net income attributable to Rocket Companies	$ 612,889	$ 770,701

Net income was $612.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2018, a decrease of $158.1 million, or 20.5%, as compared to $770.7 million for the year ended December 31, 2017. The decrease was primarily the result of lower gain on sale of loans, net of $451.3 million and higher expenses of $217.8 million primarily due to higher marketing and advertising expenses of $90.2 million, and an increase in interest and amortization expense on non-funding debt of $52.1 million. These items were partially offset by an increase in loan servicing fee income of $123.7 million and a change in MSR value during 2018 of $340.7 million due to rising interest rate conditions that occurred during 2018.

Gain on sale of loans, net

The components of gain on sale of loans for the periods presented were as follows:

($ in thousands)	Year Ended December 31, 2018	2017
Net gain on sale of loans(1)	$ 1,774,659	$ 2,675,619
Fair value of originated MSRs	959,172	813,085
Provision for investor reserves	(7,419)	(1,297)
Fair value adjustment gain on loans held for sale and IRLCs	(7,297)	38,123
Revaluation loss from forward commitments economically hedging loans held for sale and IRLCs	208,773	(146,334)
Gain on sale of loans, net	$ 2,927,888	$ 3,379,196

(1) Net gain on sale of loans represents the premium received in excess of the UPB, and loan level price adjustments charged by investors upon sale of the loans sold into the secondary market, plus net origination fees.

The table below provides details of the characteristics of our mortgage loan production for each of the periods presented:

Conventional Conforming	$ 60,840,127	$ 59,682,164
FHA/VA	17,686,473	20,139,490
Non Agency	4,595,068	5,719,704

To GSEs and government	91.18%	92.02%
To other counterparties	8.82%	7.98%
Servicing-retained	95.70%	95.60%
Servicing-released	4.30%	4.40%
Net rate lock volume(1)	$ 81,510,865	$ 83,624,940
Gain on sale margin(2)	3.55%	3.97%

(1) Net rate lock volume includes the UPB of loans subject to IRLCs, net of the pull-through factor as described in the section "—Description of Certain Components of Financial Data" above.

(2) Gain on sale margin is a ratio of gain on sale of loans, net to the net rate lock volume for the period as described above. Gain on sale of loans, net includes the net gain on sale of loans, fair value of originated MSRs, fair value adjustment gain on loans held for sale and IRLCs, and revaluation loss from forward commitments economically hedging loans held for sale and IRLCs. This metric is a measure of profitability for our on-going mortgage business and therefore excludes revenues from other Rocket Companies and reverse mortgage activity. See the table above for each of the components of gain on sale of loans, net.

Gain on sale of loans, net was $2,927.9 million for the year ended December 31, 2018, a decrease of $451.3 million, or 13.4%, as compared with $3,379.2 million for the year ended December 31, 2017. Loan origination volume decreased $2.4 billion, or 2.8%, to $83.1 billion for the year ended December 31, 2018 from $85.5 billion for the year ended December 31, 2017. Gain on sale of loans, net was also impacted by a reduction in gain on sale margin to 3.55% in 2018 compared to 3.97% in 2017 due to a shift in the mix of our business due to growth in the Partner Network segment. For a discussion of our business segment results, see "—Summary results by segment for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017" and "Note 16, Segments" of the combined financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus.

Net gain on sales of loans decreased $901.0 million, or 33.7%, to $1,774.7 million in 2018 compared to $2,675.6 million in 2017. The decrease was driven by the reduction in rate lock volume as noted above. The decrease was partially offset by an increase in the average servicing fee retained for MSRs originated in 2018 as compared to 2017.

The fair value of MSRs originated was $959.2 million for the year ended December 31, 2018, an increase of $146.1 million, or 18.0%, as compared with $813.1 million during the year ended December 31, 2017. The increase was primarily due to an increase in the average servicing fee retained for MSRs originated in 2018 as compared to 2017.

Gain on sale of loans, net also includes unrealized gains and losses from the fair value changes in mortgage loans held for sale and IRLCs as well as realized and unrealized gains and losses from forward commitments used to hedge the loans held for sale and IRLCs. The net gain from these fair value changes was $201.5 million for the year ended December 31, 2018, and increase of $309.7 million, compared to a net loss of $108.2 million for the year ended December 31, 2017 driven primarily by changes in interest rates.

For the periods presented, loan servicing (loss) income consisted of the following:

	Year Ended December 31,
($ in thousands)	2018	2017
Retained servicing fee	$ 790,106	$ 671,445
Subservicing income	6,676	7,166

Number of loans subserviced and temporarily serviced	78,704	91,127
Total serviced UPB	$ 314,735,582	$ 279,059,691
Total loans serviced	1,726,017	1,546,500
MSR fair value	$ 3,180,530	$ 2,450,081
Total serviced delinquency rate (60+ period end)	0.74%	1.47%
Weighted average credit score	731	732
Weighted average LTV	76%	76%
Weighted average note rate	4.12%	3.95%
Weighted average service fee	0.283%	0.277%

Loan servicing income, net increased $464.4 million, or 365.0%, to $591.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2018, which compares to loan servicing income, net of $127.2 million for the year ended December 31, 2017. The increase was driven primarily by a reduction in fair market value of MSRs of $228.7 million in 2018 as compared to a reduction in fair market value of MSRs of $569.4 million in 2017. See change in MSR fair value discussion below for further detail. In addition, retained servicing fee revenue increased $118.7 million in 2018 as compared to 2017 as described below, to $790.1 million in 2018 from $671.4 million in 2017 driven by a higher weighted average service fee, which increased from 0.277% in 2017 to 0.283% in 2018, and in increase in the overall size of the retained servicing portfolio, which increased from $259.9 billion at December 31, 2017 to $297.6 billion at December 31, 2018.

The change in MSR fair value was a net loss of $228.7 million for the year ended December 31, 2018, as compared with a net loss of $569.4 million for the year ended December 31, 2017. The change in fair value during 2018 included $555.4 million of loss due to collection/realization of cash flows, partially offset by an increase in fair value due to change in valuation assumptions of $326.6 million primarily driven by a decrease in prepayment speeds from 11.9% at December 31, 2017 to 10.8% at December 31, 2018. The change in fair value during 2017 included $488.1 million of due to collection/realization of cash flows and a decrease in fair value due to changes in valuation model inputs or assumptions of $81.3 million primarily driven by an increase in prepayment speeds from 11.0% at December 31, 2016 to 11.9% at December 31, 2017.

The components of interest income, net for the periods presented were as follows:

Condensed Statement of Operations Data ($ in thousands)	Year Ended December 31, 2018	2017
Interest income	$ 200,927	$ 159,581
Interest expense on funding facilities	99,325	102,972
Interest income, net	$ 101,602	$ 56,609

Interest income, net was $101.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2018, an increase of $45.0 million, or 79.5%, as compared to $56.6 million for the year ended December 31, 2017. Interest income increased $41.3 million, or 25.9% to $200.9 million in 2018 from $159.6 million in 2017 as the interest rate environment was higher in 2018 as compared to 2017. Interest expense on funding facilities decreased $3.7 million, or 3.5% to $99.3 million in 2018 as compared to $103.0 million in 2017. The decrease in interest expense was driven by an increase in self-funding, which reduced funding levels on funding facilities and was partially offset by the rising interest rate environment in 2018 noted above.

Expenses

	Year Ended December 31,
($ in thousands)	2018	2017
Salaries, commissions and team member benefits	$ 1,703,197	$ 1,686,811
General and administrative expenses	591,372	540,640
Marketing and advertising expenses	878,027	787,844
Interest and amortization expense on non-funding-debt	130,022	77,967
Other expenses	294,314	285,911
Total expenses	$ 3,596,932	$ 3,379,173

Expenses for the periods presented were as follows:

Total expenses were $3,596.9 million for the year ended December 31, 2018, an increase of $217.7 million or 6.4%, as compared with $3,379.2 million for the year ended December 31, 2017. This was driven primarily by increases in marketing and advertising expenses, and interest and amortization expense on non-funding debt as described below.

Marketing and advertising expenses were $878.0 million for the year ended December 31, 2018, an increase of $90.2 million, or 11.4%, as compared to $787.8 million for the year ended December 31, 2017. Many factors impact the overall effectiveness and magnitude of our marketing and advertising spend. Market conditions impact the relative cost of performance marketing and general economic conditions as well as the interest rate environment impact the level of consumer interest. During 2018, we increased our level of investment in performance marketing and brand spend, including a Super Bowl commercial in February 2018 and increased levels of brand sponsorship spend during the year to drive increased consumer awareness.

Interest and amortization expense on non-funding debt was $130.0 million for the year ended December 31, 2018, an increase of $52.1 million, or 66.8%, as compared with $78.0 million for the year ended December 31, 2017. The increase in 2018 was driven by the full 12 months of interest expense related to the 5.250% Senior Notes that were issued in December 2017, compared to one month of expense in 2017.

Summary results by segment for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017

Our operations are organized by distinct marketing channels which promote client acquisition into our ecosystem and include two reportable segments: Direct to Consumer and Partner Network. In the Direct to Consumer segment, we directly interact with clients and potential clients using various performance marketing channels. Servicing activities are viewed as an extension of the client experience with the primary objective of establishing and maintaining positive, regular touchpoints with our clients, which positions us to recapture the clients' next refinance or purchase mortgage transaction. Consequently, we view servicing as an integral component of the Direct to Consumer segment.

In the Partner Network segment, we are focused on aligning our brand with other high-quality consumer-focused influencers and marketing partnerships who utilize our platform to provide their clients mortgage solutions with a superior client experience.

We measure the performance of the segments primarily on a contribution margin basis. Contribution margin is intended to measure the direct profitability of each segment and is calculated as Adjusted Revenue less directly attributable expenses. Adjusted Revenue is a non-GAAP financial measure described above. Directly attributable expenses include salaries, commissions and team member benefits, general and administrative expenses and other expenses, such as direct servicing costs and origination costs. For segments, we measure gain on sale margin of funded loans and refer to this metric as "funded loan gain on sale margin." A loan is considered funded, when it is sold to investors on the secondary market. Funded loan gain on sale margin represents revenues on loans that have been funded divided by the funded UPB amount. Funded loan gain on sale margin is used specifically in the context of measuring the gain on sale margins of our Direct to Consumer and Partner Network segments. Funded loan gain on sale margin is an important metric in evaluating the revenue generating performance of our segments as it allows us to measure this metric at a segment level with a high degree of precision. By contrast, "gain on sale margin," which we use outside of the segment discussion, measures the gain on sale revenue generation of our combined mortgage business. See below for overview and discussion of segment results for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017. For additional discussion, see Note 12, Segments of the interim condensed combined financial statements and Note 16, Segments of the annual combined financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus. Part of our growth strategy is to continue to grow our Partner Network over time. We generate lower funded loan gain on sale margin in the Partner Network, however this is partially offset by lower expenses in that segment.

(1) Direct expenses attributable to operating segments exclude corporate overhead, depreciation and amortization, and interest and amortization expense on non-funding debt.

For the three months ended March 31, 2020, Direct to Consumer Adjusted Revenue increased $815.1 million, or 98.4% to $1,644.0 million from $828.8 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increase was driven by growth in Direct to Consumer mortgage originations resulting in an increase in gain on sale revenue of $803.2 million, or 120.6%, in 2020. On a funded loan basis, the Direct to Consumer segment generated $31.7 billion in 2020, an increase of $17.2 billion, or 119.2% as compared to 2019. In addition, funded loan gain on sale margin was 4.69% in 2020 as compared to 4.06% in 2019, driven primarily by capacity constraints in the industry which led to margin expansion during 2020 as compared to 2019. The increase in adjusted revenue also reflects an increase in other income of $68.3 million, or 89.0%, related primarily to revenues generated from title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services from increased origination levels. Revenues from title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services are generated by Amrock. In addition, service fee income increased $32.6 million, or 14.6%, due to an increase in the servicing portfolio during 2019. These increases were partially offset by an increase in collection/realization of servicing cash flows in 2020 as compared to 2019. Collection/realization of servicing cash flows is reflected in the changes in fair value of MSRs line item in the table above.

For the three months ended March 31, 2020, Direct to Consumer Attributable Expenses increased $236.3 million, or 43.4%, to $780.6 million in 2020 compared to $544.3 million in 2019. The increase was primarily due to an increase in variable compensation and an increase in team members in production roles needed to support growth. The increase in also reflects greater loan processing costs due to higher origination volumes and an increase in expenses incurred to support the higher level of title insurance services, valuation and settlement services due to the increased origination volumes noted above, as well as an increase payoff interest expense, and costs incurred during in connection with the MSR sales.

For the three months ended March 31, 2020, Direct to Consumer Contribution Margin increased $578.8 million, or 203.4%, to $863.3 million compared to $284.5 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increase in Contribution Margin was driven primarily by the increase in Direct to Consumer originations and higher funded loan gain on sale margin noted above.

For the year ended December 31, 2019, Direct to Consumer Adjusted Revenue increased $1,634.8 million, or 48.9% to $4,980.6 million from $3,345.9 million for the year ended December 31, 2018. The increase was driven by growth in Direct to Consumer mortgage originations resulting in an increase in gain on sale revenue of $1,658.5 million, or 62.3%, in 2019. On a funded loan basis, the Direct to Consumer segment generated $88.9 billion in 2019, an increase of $20.8 billion, or 30.6% as compared to 2018. In addition, funded loan gain on sale margin was 4.45% in 2019 as compared to 4.13% in 2018, driven primarily by more favorable market conditions in 2019 as compared to 2018. The increase in adjusted revenue also reflects an increase in other income of $99.1 million, or 28.8%, related primarily to revenues generated from title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services from increased origination levels and an increase in service fee income of $128.5 million, or 15.7%, due to an increase in the servicing portfolio during 2019. These increases were partially offset by an increase in collection/realization of servicing cash flows in 2019 as compared to 2018. Collection/realization of servicing cash flows is reflected in the changes in fair value of MSRs line item in the table above.

For the year ended December 31, 2019, Direct to Consumer Directly Attributable Expenses increased $361.6 million, or 16.4%, to $2,571.1 million in 2019 compared to $2,209.5 million in 2018. The increase was primarily due to an increase in variable compensation and an increase in team members in production roles needed to support growth. The increase in also reflects greater loan processing costs due to higher origination volumes and an increase in expenses incurred to support the higher level of title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services due to the increased origination volumes noted above, as well as an increase in marketing and advertising expenses, payoff interest expense, costs incurred during in connection with the MSR sales.

For the year ended December 31, 2019, Direct to Consumer Contribution Margin increased $1,273.1 million, or 112.0%, to $2,409.5 million in 2019 compared to $1,136.4 million in 2018. The increase in Contribution Margin was driven primarily by the increase in Direct to Consumer originations and higher funded loan gain on sale margin noted above.

For the year ended December 31, 2018, Direct to Consumer Adjusted Revenue decreased $412.9 million, or 11.0% to $3,345.9 million from $3,758.8 million for the year ended December 31, 2017. The decrease was driven by reduced Direct to Consumer mortgage originations resulting in a decrease in gain on sale revenue of $448.6 million, or 14.4%, in 2018. On a funded loan basis, the Direct to Consumer segment generated $68.1 billion in 2018, a decrease of $3.0 billion, or 4.2%, as compared to 2017. In addition, funded loan gain on sale margin was 4.13% in 2018 as compared to 4.41% in 2017, driven primarily by less favorable market conditions in 2018 as compared to 2017. The decrease in adjusted revenue also reflects a decrease in other income of $51.7 million, or 13.0%, related primarily to a reduction in title insurance services, property valuation and settlement services due to decreased origination levels. The decrease in adjusted revenue was partially offset by an increase in service fee income of $122.4 million, or 17.6%, due to an increase in the servicing portfolio during 2018. In addition, the fair value of MSRs decreased $228.7 million in 2018, compared to a decrease of $569.4 million in 2017. The lower decrease in 2018 was driven by a rising interest rate environment in 2018.

For the year ended December 31, 2018, Direct to Consumer Contribution Margin decreased $424.4 million, or 27.2%, to $1,136.4 million in 2018 compared to $1,560.8 million in 2017. The decrease in contribution margin was driven primarily by the lower Direct to Consumer originations and decrease in funded loan gain on sale margin noted above.

For the three months ended March 31, 2020, Partner Network Adjusted Revenue increased $314.1 million, or 500.8% to $376.8 million from $62.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increase was driven by growth in Partner Network mortgage originations resulting in an increase in gain on sale revenue of $295.2 million, or 588.9%, in 2020. On a funded loan basis, the Partner Network segment generated $19.3 billion in 2020, an increase of $13.9 billion, or 255.4% as compared to 2019. In addition, funded loan gain on sale margin was 0.79% in 2020 as compared to 0.74% in 2019, driven primarily by more favorable market conditions in 2020 as compared to 2019.

For the three months ended March 31, 2020, Partner Network Attributable Expenses increased $49.0 million, or 113.9%, to $91.9 million in 2020 compared to $43.0 million in 2019. The increase was primarily due to an increase in variable compensation and an increase in team members in production roles needed to support growth.

For the three months ended March 31, 2020, Partner Network Contribution Margin increased $265.1 million, or 1,343.9%, to $284.8 million, compared to $19.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2019. The increase in Contribution Margin was driven primarily by the increase in Partner Network originations and higher funded loan gain on sale margin noted above.

For the year ended December 31, 2019 Partner Network Adjusted Revenue increased $345.3 million, or 137.5% to $596.3 million from $251.1 million for the year ended December 31, 2018. The increase was driven by growth in Partner Network mortgage originations resulting in an increase in gain on sale revenue of $314.3 million, or 140.2%, in 2019. On a funded loan basis, the Partner Network segment generated $46.7 billion in 2019, an increase of $28.8 billion, or 161.2% as compared to 2018, driven primarily by efforts to grow market share in this segment during 2019. This increase was partially offset by a decrease in funded loan gain on sale margin to 0.77% in 2019 as compared to 1.21% in 2018, driven primarily by efforts to grow market share in this segment during 2019.

For the year ended December 31, 2019, Partner Network Directly Attributable Expenses increased $120.1 million, or 95.9%, to $245.3 million in 2019 compared to $125.2 million in 2018. The increase was primarily due to an increase in variable compensation and an increase in team members in production roles to support the growth. The increase also reflects higher loan processing costs due to higher origination volumes.

For the year ended December 31, 2019 Partner Network Contribution Margin increased $225.2 million, or 179.0%, to $351.0 million in 2019 compared to $125.8 million in 2018. The increase in contribution margin was driven primarily by the increase in Partner Network originations noted above.

For the year ended December 31, 2018 Partner Network total revenue increased $27.2 million, or 12.1% to $251.1 million from $223.9 million for the year ended December 31, 2017. The increase was driven by growth in Partner Network mortgage originations resulting in an increase in gain on sale revenue of $12.3 million, or 5.8%, in 2018. On a funded loan basis, the Partner Network segment generated $17.9 billion in 2018, an increase of $4.6 billion, or 35.0%, as compared to 2017. In addition, funded loan gain on sale margin was 1.21% in 2018 as compared to 1.57% in 2017, driven primarily by less favorable market conditions in 2018 as compared to 2017.

For the year ended December 31, 2018 Partner Network Contribution Margin increased $10.7 million, or 9.3%, to $125.8 million in 2018 compared to $115.1 million in 2017. The increase in contribution margin was driven primarily by the increase in Partner Network originations noted above.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

Historically, our primary sources of liquidity have included:

- borrowings, including under our loan funding facilities and other secured and unsecured financing facilities;
- cash flow from our operations, including:
  - sale of whole loans into the secondary market;
  - loan origination fees;
  - servicing fee income; and
  - interest income on loans held for sale; and
- cash and marketable securities on hand.

Historically, our primary uses of funds have included:

- origination of loans;
- payment of interest expense;
- prepayment of debt;
- payment of operating expenses; and
- distributions to RHI, including those to fund distributions for payment of taxes by its ultimate shareholders.

We are also subject to contingencies which may have a significant impact on the use of our cash.

In order to originate and aggregate loans for sale into the secondary market, we use our own working capital and borrow or obtain money on a short-term basis primarily through committed and uncommitted loan funding facilities that it has established with large global banks.

Our loan funding facilities are primarily in the form of master repurchase agreements. We also have loan funding facilities directly with the GSEs. Loans financed under these facilities are generally financed at approximately 97% to 98% of the principal balance of the loan (although certain types of loans are financed at lower percentages of the principal balance of the loan), which requires us to fund the balance from cash generated from its operations. Once closed, the underlying residential mortgage loan that is held for sale is pledged as collateral for the borrowing or advance that was made under these loan funding facilities. In most cases, the loans will remain in one of the loan funding facilities for only a short time, generally less than one month, until the loans are pooled and sold. During the time the loans are held for sale, we earn interest income from the borrower on the underlying mortgage loan. This income is partially offset by the interest and fees we have to pay under the loan funding facilities.

When we sell a pool of loans in the secondary market, the proceeds received from the sale of the loans are used to pay back the amounts we owe on the loan funding facilities. We rely on the cash generated from the sale of loans to fund future loans and repay borrowings under our loan funding facilities. Delays or failures to sell loans in the secondary market could have an adverse effect on our liquidity position.

As discussed in Note 5, Borrowings, of the interim condensed combined financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus, as of March 31, 2020, we had 14 different loan funding facilities in different amounts and with various maturities together with the 5.250% Senior Notes due 2028 and the 5.750% Senior Notes due 2025. At March 31, 2020, the aggregate available amount under our loan facilities was $18.3 billion, with combined outstanding balances of $12.7 billion and unutilized capacity of $5.6 billion.

The amount of financing actually advanced on each individual loan under our loan funding facilities, as determined by agreed upon advance rates, may be less than the stated advance rate depending, in part, on the market value of the mortgage loans securing the financings. Each of our loan funding facilities allows the bank providing the funds to evaluate the market value of the loans that are serving as collateral for the borrowings or advances being made. If the bank determines that the value of the collateral has decreased, the bank can require us to provide additional collateral or reduce the amount outstanding with respect to those loans (e.g., initiate a margin call). Our inability or unwillingness to satisfy the request could result in the termination of the facilities and possible default under our other loan funding facilities. In addition, a large unanticipated margin call could have a material adverse effect on our liquidity.

The amount owed and outstanding on our loan funding facilities fluctuates significantly based on our origination volume, the amount of time it takes us to sell the loans it originates, and the amount of loans being self-funded with cash. We may from time to time use surplus cash to "buy-down" the effective interest rate of certain loan funding facilities or to self-fund a portion of our loan originations. As of March 31, 2020, $240.2 million of our cash was used to buy-down our funding facilities and self-fund, $6.0 million of which are buy-down funds that are included in cash on the balance sheet and $234.2 million of which is self-funding that reduces cash on the balance sheet. We have the ability to withdraw the $6.0 million at any time, unless a margin call has been made or a default has occurred under the relevant facilities. We have the right to transfer $234.2 million of self-funded loans on to a warehouse line or early buy out line with a government agency, provided that such loans meet the eligibility criteria to be placed on such warehouse line or early buy out line and no default or margin call has been made on such line, the loans are further subject to any required haircuts, and are subject to its ability to borrow additional funds under the facility.

Our loan funding facilities, MSR facility and unsecured lines of credit also generally require us to comply with certain operating and financial covenants and the availability of funds under these facilities is subject to, among other conditions, our continued compliance with these covenants. These financial covenants include, but are not limited to, maintaining (1) a certain minimum tangible net worth, (2) minimum liquidity, (3) a maximum ratio of total liabilities or total debt to tangible net worth and (4) pre-tax net income requirements. A breach of these covenants can result in an event of default under these facilities and as such allows the lenders to pursue certain remedies. In addition, each of these facilities, as well as our unsecured lines of credit, includes cross default or cross acceleration provisions that could result in all facilities terminating if an event of default or acceleration of maturity occurs under any facility. We were in compliance with all covenants as of March 31, 2020, December 31, 2019 and December 31, 2018.

Our $175.0 million unsecured line of credit also requires us to maintain minimum unencumbered and unrestricted cash and marketable securities. We were in compliance with this covenant as of March 31, 2020, December 31, 2019 and December 31, 2018.

March 31, 2020 compared to March 31, 2019

Cash and cash equivalents

Our cash and cash equivalents were $2,250.6 million at March 31, 2020, an increase of $2,101.6 million, or 1,409.7%, compared to $149.1 million at March 31, 2019. The increase in the cash and cash equivalents balance was impacted by earnings for the period adjusted for non-cash items, the increase in net borrowings on funding facilities to fund the increase in mortgage loans held for sale, $810.0 million of proceeds from borrowings on our line of credit with RHI and $639.2 million of proceeds from MSR sales.

Shareholder's equity

Shareholder's equity was $3,649.4 million as of March 31, 2020, an increase of $1,372.0 million, or 60.2%, as compared to $2,277.5 million as of March 31, 2019. The change was primarily the result of net income of $1,289.0 million and stock-based compensation of $60.3 million.

March 31, 2020 compared to December 31, 2019

Cash and cash equivalents

Our cash and cash equivalents were $2,250.6 million at March 31, 2020, an increase of $899.7 million, or 66.6%, compared to $1,351.0 million at December 31, 2019. The increase in the cash and cash equivalents balance was impacted by earnings for the period adjusted for non-cash items, $810.0 million of proceeds from borrowings on our line of credit with RHI and $177.2 million of proceeds from MSR sales. These increases were partially offset by a decrease in net borrowings on funding facilities to fund mortgage loans held for sale.

Shareholder's equity

Shareholder's equity was $3,649.4 million as of March 31, 2020, an increase of $146.5 million, or 4.2%, as compared to $3,502.9 million as of December 31, 2019. The change was primarily the result of net income of $97.3 million and stock-based compensation of $29.1 million.

December 31, 2019 compared to December 31, 2018

Cash and cash equivalents

Our cash and cash equivalents were $1,351.0 million at December 31, 2019, an increase of $297.1 million, or 28.2%, compared to $1,053.9 million at December 31, 2018. The increase in the cash and cash equivalents balance was impacted by earnings for the period adjusted for non-cash items, the increase in net borrowings on funding facilities to fund the increase in mortgage loans held for sale, and $462.0 million of proceeds from MSR sales, partially offset by net transfers to RHI of $210.9 million.

Shareholder's equity

Shareholder's equity was $3,502.9 million as of December 31, 2019, an increase of $722.0 million, or 26.0%, as compared to $2,780.9 million as of December 31, 2018. The change was primarily the result of net income of $892.4 million and was partially offset by net transfers to parent of $210.9 million.

December 31, 2018 compared to December 31, 2017

Cash and cash equivalents

Our cash and cash equivalents were $1,053.9 million at December 31, 2018 compared to $1,417.8 million at December 31, 2017. The decrease in the cash and cash equivalents balance was primarily driven by net payments of funding facilities of $1,044.2 million and net transfers to our parent of $706.9 million and was partially offset by earnings for the period adjusted for non-cash items.

Shareholder's equity

Shareholder's equity was $2,780.9 million as of December 31, 2018, a decrease of $55.9 million, or 2.0%, as compared to $2,836,8 million as of December 31, 2017. The decrease was the primarily the result net transfers to our parent of $706.9 million, partially offset by net income of $612.6 million.

Contractual Obligations, Commercial Commitments, and Other Contingencies

The following table sets forth certain of our contractual obligations as of December 31, 2019. See Notes 6, Borrowings, and 13, Commitments, Contingencies, and Guarantees, of the notes to the annual combined financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus for further discussion of contractual obligations, commercial commitments, and other contingencies, including legal contingencies. There were no material changes outside the ordinary course of business to our outstanding contractual obligations as of March 31, 2020 from amounts previously disclosed as of December 31, 2019.

(1) We expect to pay Intuit the maximum annual amount of $7.5 million each year under this agreement. We have entered into an agreement with Intuit that, among other things, gives Quicken Loans full ownership of the "Quicken Loans" brand in 2022 in exchange for certain agreements, subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions.

Repurchase and indemnification obligations

In the ordinary course of business, we are exposed to liability under representations and warranties made to purchasers of mortgage loans. Under certain circumstances, we may be required to repurchase mortgage loans, or indemnify the purchaser of such loans for losses incurred, if there has been a breach of representations or warranties, or if the borrower defaults on the loan payments within a contractually defined period (early payment default). Additionally, in certain instances we are contractually obligated to refund to the purchaser certain premiums paid to us on the sale if the mortgagor prepays the loan within a specified period of time, specified in our loan sale agreements. See Note 13, Commitments, Contingencies, and Guarantees of the notes to the annual combined financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus.

Interest rate lock commitments, loan sale and forward commitments

In the normal course of business we are party to financial instruments with off-balance sheet risk. These financial instruments include commitments to extend credit to borrowers at either fixed or floating interest rates. IRLCs are binding agreements to lend to a client at a specified interest rate within a specified period of time as long as there is no violation of conditions established in the contract. Commitments generally have fixed expiration dates or other termination clauses which may require payment of a fee. As many of the commitments expire without being drawn upon, the total commitment amounts do not necessarily represent future cash requirements. In addition, we have contracts to sell mortgage loans into the secondary market at specified future dates (commitments to sell loans), and forward commitments to sell MBS at specified future dates and interest rates.

Following is a summary of the notional amounts of commitments:

	March 31, 2020	December 31, 2019
	(Dollars in thousands)
Interest rate lock commitments—fixed rate	$ 28,551,276	$ 20,577,282
Interest rate lock commitments—variable rate	$ 2,264,826	$ 974,693
Commitments to sell loans	$ 3,418,099	$ 4,992,432
Forward commitments to sell mortgage-backed securities	$ 29,040,384	$ 24,647,275
Forward commitments to purchase mortgage-backed securities	$ 6,885,000	$ 1,990,000

Off Balance Sheet Arrangements

As of March 31, 2020, we guaranteed the debt of another related party totaling $15 million, consisting of three separate guarantees of $5 million each. As of March 31, 2019, we did not record a liability on the interim condensed combined balance sheets for these guarantees because it was not probable that we would be required to make payments under these guarantees. See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Transactions with RHI and other Affiliates—Guarantees."

For further discussion, see Notes 5, Borrowings, and 10, Commitments, Contingencies, and Guarantees, of the notes to the condensed combined financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus.

Distributions

As part of the reorganization transactions, the Rocket Companies will make a cash distribution to RHI in an aggregate amount of $ million. We refer to this distribution as the "Special Distribution."

Three Months ended March 31, 2020

During the three months ended March 31, 2020, we had net transfers from RHI, our parent, of $21.9 million. During the three months ended March 31, 2019, we had net transfers of $212.8 million to, or for the benefit of, RHI, inclusive of both tax and discretionary equity distributions. Except for tax distributions, these distributions are at the discretion of our board of directors.

Year Ended December 31, 2019

During the year ended December 31, 2019, we had net transfers of $210.9 million to, or for the benefit of, RHI, our parent. During the year ended December 31, 2018, we had net transfers of $706.9 million to, or for the benefit of, RHI, inclusive of both tax and discretionary equity distributions. Except for tax distributions, these distributions are at the discretion of our board of directors.

Year Ended December 31, 2018

During the year ended December 31, 2018, we had net transfers of $706.9 million to, or for the benefit of, RHI, inclusive of both tax and discretionary equity distributions. During the year ended December 31, 2017, we had net transfers of $474.3 million to, or for the benefit of, RHI. Except for tax distributions, these distributions are at the discretion of our board of directors.

New Accounting Pronouncements Not Yet Effective

See Note 1, Business, Basis of Presentation, and Accounting Policies of the notes to the condensed combined financial statements and the annual combined financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus for details of recently issued accounting pronouncements and their expected impact on our combined financial statements.

Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

In the normal course of business, we are subject to a variety of risks which can affect our operations and profitability. We broadly define these areas of risk as interest rate, credit risk, counterparty risk, and risk related to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Interest rate risk

We are subject to interest rate risk which may impact our origination volume and associated revenue, MSR valuations, IRLCs and mortgage loans held for sale valuations, and the net interest margin derived from our funding facilities. The fair value of MSRs are driven primarily by interest rates, which impact the likelihood of loan prepayments and refinancing. In periods of rising interest rates, the fair value of the MSRs generally increases as prepayments decrease, and therefore the estimated life of the MSRs and related expected cash flows increase. In a declining interest rate environment, the fair value of MSRs generally decreases as prepayments increase and therefore the estimated life of the MSRs and related cash flows decrease. Because origination volumes tend to increase in declining interest rate environments and decrease in increasing rate environments, we believe that servicing provides a natural hedge to our origination business through the natural counter-cyclicality of servicing and mortgaging originations. We actively manage our MSR portfolio and from time to time identify assets for sale that do not meet our MSR strategy. We use forward loan purchase commitments to economically hedge the risk of potential changes in the value of MSR assets that have been identified for sale and mitigate interest rate risk for this portion of the MSR portfolio.

Our IRLCs and mortgage loans held for sale are exposed to interest rate volatility. During the origination, pooling, and delivery process, this pipeline value rises and falls with changes in interest rates. To mitigate this exposure, we employ a hedge strategy designed to minimize basis risk and maximize effectiveness. Basis risk in this case is the risk that the hedged instrument's price does not move in parallel with the increase or decrease in the market price of the hedged financial instrument. Because substantially all of its production is deliverable to Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, and Ginnie Mae, we utilize forward agency or Ginnie Mae To-Be-Announced ("TBA") securities as its primary hedge instrument to mitigate the basis risk associated with U.S. Treasury futures, Eurodollar futures or other non-mortgage instruments. By fixing the future sale price, we reduce our exposure to changes in mortgage values between interest rate lock and sale. Our non-agency, non-Ginnie Mae production is hedged with a combination of TBAs and whole loan forward commitments. To mitigate the TBA basis risk, we look to sell most of its non-agency, non-Ginnie Mae production forward to its various buyers.

Interest rate risk also occurs in periods where changes in short-term interest rates result in mortgage loans being originated with terms that provide a smaller interest rate spread above the financing terms of our loan funding facilities, which can negatively impact its net interest income.

Credit risk

We are subject to credit risk, which is the risk of default that results from a borrower's inability or unwillingness to make contractually required mortgage payments. Generally, all loans sold into the secondary market are sold without recourse. For such loans, our credit risk is limited to repurchase obligations due to fraud or origination defects. For loans that were repurchased or not sold in the secondary market, we are subject to credit risk to the extent a borrower defaults and the proceeds upon ultimate foreclosure and liquidation of the property are insufficient to cover the amount of the mortgage plus expenses incurred. We believe that this risk is mitigated through the implementation of stringent underwriting standards, strong fraud detection tools, and technology designed to comply with applicable laws and our standards. In addition, we believe that this risk is mitigated through the quality of our loan portfolio. For the three months ended March 31, 2020, our clients' weighted average credit score was 747 and its approximate average loan size was $277,000 with a weighted average loan-to-value ratio of approximately 73%.

Counterparty risk

We are subject to risk that arises from its financing facilities and interest rate risk hedging activities. These activities generally involve an exchange of obligations with unaffiliated banks or companies, referred to in such transactions as "counterparties." If a counterparty were to default, we could potentially be exposed to financial loss if such counterparty were unable to meet its obligations to us. We manage this risk by selecting only counterparties that we believe to be financially strong, spreading the risk among many such counterparties, placing contractual limits on the amount of unsecured credit extended to any single counterparty, and entering into netting agreements with the counterparties as appropriate.

In accordance with Treasury Market Practices Group's recommendation, we execute Securities Industry and Financial Markets Association trading agreements with all material trading partners. Each such agreement provides for an exchange of margin money should either party's exposure exceed a predetermined contractual limit. Such margin requirements limit our overall counterparty exposure. The master netting agreements contain a legal right to offset amounts due to and from the same counterparty. Derivative assets in the combined balance sheets represent derivative contracts in a gain position net of loss positions with the same counterparty and, therefore, also represent our maximum counterparty credit risk. We incurred no losses due to nonperformance by any of its counterparties during the first quarter of 2020, 2019 and 2018.

Also, in the case of our financing facilities, we are subject to risk if the counterparty chooses not to renew a borrowing agreement and we are unable to obtain financing to originate mortgage loans. With our financing facilities, we seek to mitigate this risk by ensuring that it has sufficient borrowing capacity with a variety of well-established counterparties to meet its funding needs.

Risk related to the COVID-19 pandemic

The COVID-19 pandemic has had, and continues to have, a significant impact on the national economy and the communities in which we operate. While the pandemic's effect on the macroeconomic environment operate has yet to be fully determined and could continue for months or years, we expect that the pandemic and governmental programs created as a response to the pandemic, will affect the core aspects of our business, including the origination of mortgages, our servicing operations, our liquidity and our employees. Such effects, if they continue for a prolonged period, may have a material adverse effect on our business and results of operation. For additional discussion on these risks please refer to "Risk Factors—Risks Related to Our Business—The COVID-19 pandemic poses unique challenges to our business and the effects of the pandemic could adversely impact our ability to originate mortgages, our servicing operations, our liquidity and our employees" included elsewhere in this prospectus.

Critical Accounting Policies

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. We have identified certain accounting policies as being critical because they require us to make difficult, subjective or complex judgments about matters that are uncertain. We believe that the judgment, estimates and assumptions used in the preparation of our combined financial statements are appropriate given the factual circumstances at the time. However, actual results could differ and the use of other assumptions or estimates could result in material differences in our results of operations or financial condition. Our critical accounting policies and estimates are discussed below and relate to fair value measurements, particularly those determined to be Level 2 and Level 3 as discussed in Note 2, Fair Value Measurements, of the annual combined financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus.

Mortgage loans held for sale

We have elected to record mortgage loans held for sale at fair value. Included in mortgage loans held for sale are loans originated as held for sale that are expected to be sold into the secondary market and loans that have been previously sold and repurchased from investors that management intends to resell into the secondary market, which are all recorded at fair value.

The fair value of loans held for sale that trade in active secondary markets is estimated using Level 2 measurements derived from observable market data, including market prices of securities backed by similar mortgage loans adjusted for certain factors to approximate the fair value of a whole mortgage loan, including the value attributable to mortgage servicing and credit risk. Loans held for sale for which there is little to no observable trading activity of similar instruments are valued using Level 3 measurements based upon dealer price quotations which typically results in credit spreads (i.e., purchase price discounts). Changes in fair value of mortgage loans held for sale are included in gain on sale of loans in the annual combined statements of income.

Changes in economic or other relevant conditions could cause our assumptions with respect to market prices of securities backed by similar mortgage loans to be different than our estimates. Increases in the market yields of similar mortgage loans result in a lower mortgage loans held for sale fair value.

Mortgage servicing rights

We have elected to record MSRs at fair value. MSRs are recognized as a component of the gain on sale of loans when loans are sold and the associated servicing rights are retained.

Subsequent changes in fair value of MSRs due to the collection and realization of cash flows and changes in model inputs and assumptions are recognized in current period earnings and included as a separate line item in the combined statements of income. Fair value is determined on a monthly basis using a valuation model that calculates the present value of estimated future net servicing fee income. The model uses estimates of prepayment speeds, discount rate, cost to service, escrow account earnings, contractual servicing fee income, and ancillary income and late fees, among others. These estimates are supported by market and economic data collected from various outside sources. On a quarterly basis we obtain an independent third-party valuation to corroborate the value estimated by our internal model. All of our MSRs are classified as a Level 3 asset.

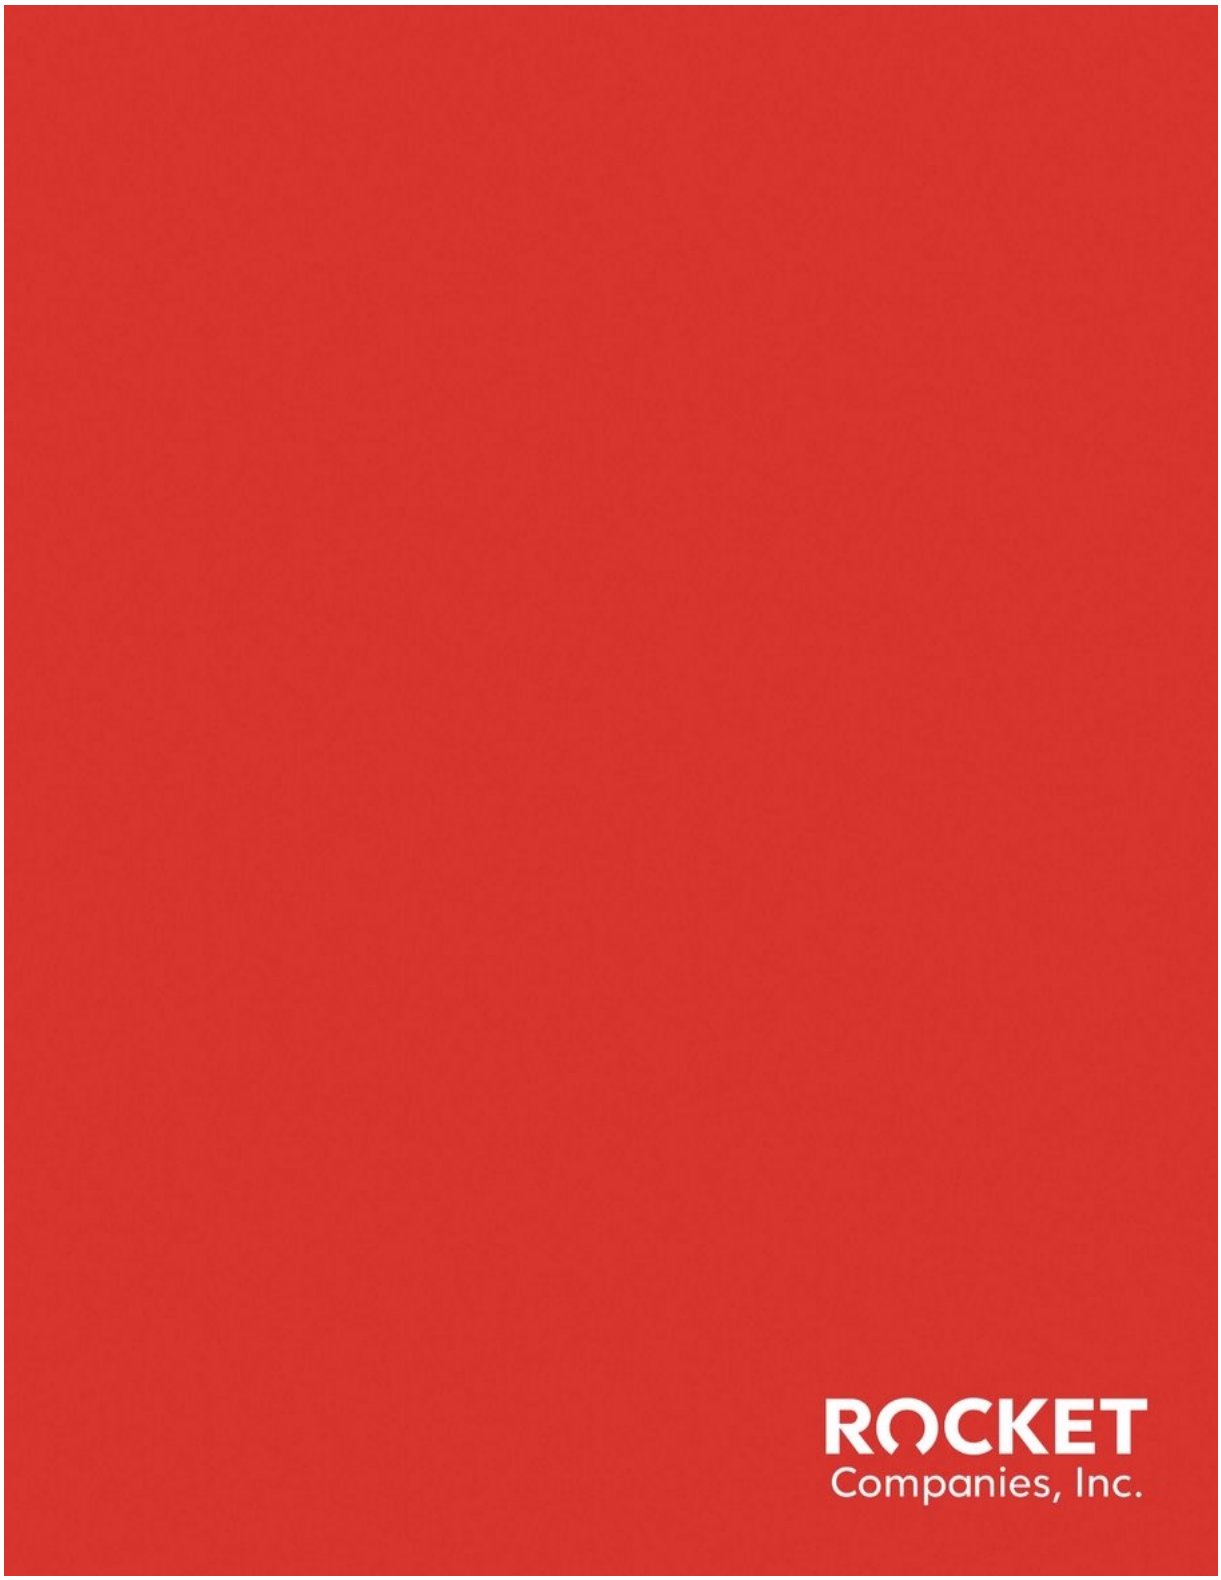
Changes in economic and other relevant conditions could cause our assumptions, such as with respect to the prepayment speeds, to be different than our estimates. The key assumptions used to estimate the fair value of MSRs are prepayment speeds and the discount rate. Increases in prepayment speeds generally have an adverse effect on the value of MSRs as the underlying loans prepay faster, which causes accelerated MSR amortization. Increases in the discount rate result in a lower MSR value and decreases in the discount rate result in a higher MSR value. See Note 3, Mortgage Servicing Rights of the notes in the combined financial statements included elsewhere in this prospectus for an illustration of the hypothetical effect on the fair value of the MSRs using various unfavorable variations of the expected levels of the assumed discount rate and prepayment speeds used in valuing MSRs.

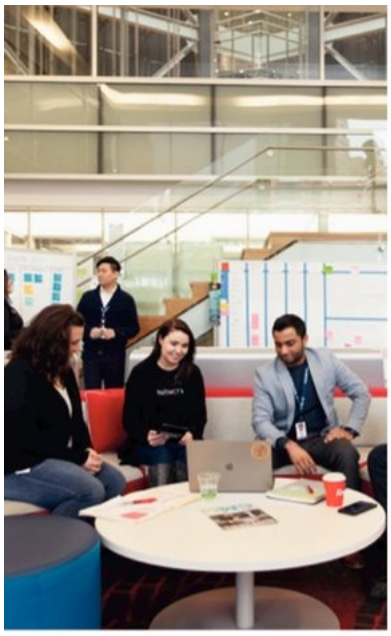
Derivative financial instruments

We enter into IRLCs, forward commitments to sell mortgage loans, and forward commitments to purchase mortgage loans which are considered derivative financial instruments. Our derivative financial instruments are accounted for as free-standing derivatives and are included in the combined balance sheets at fair value. Changes in the fair value of the IRLCs and forward commitments to sell mortgage loans derivative instruments are recognized in current period earnings and are included in gain on sale of loans in the combined statements of income. Forward commitments to purchase mortgage loans are recognized in current period earnings and are included as a component of servicing fee income.



Commitments to fund residential mortgage loans with our potential borrowers are a binding agreement to lend funds to these potential borrowers at a specified interest rate within a specified period of time. The fair value of IRLCs is derived from the fair value of similar mortgage loans or bonds, which is based on observable market data. Changes to the fair value of IRLCs are recognized based on changes in interest rates, changes in the probability that the commitment will be exercised (pull through factor), and the passage of time. The expected net future cash flows related to the associated servicing of the loan are included in the fair value measurement of IRLCs. Given the unobservable nature of the pull through factor, IRLCs are classified as Level 3.

Outstanding IRLCs and mortgage loans held for sale not yet committed to trade expose us to the risk that the price of the mortgage loans held and mortgage loans underlying the commitments might decline due to increases in mortgage interest rates during the life of the commitment. To protect against this risk, we use forward loan sale commitments to economically hedge the risk of potential changes in the value of the loans. MSR assets (including the MSR value associated with outstanding IRLCs) that have been identified to be sold expose us to the risk that the price of MSRs might decline due to decreases in mortgage interest rates prior to the sale of these assets. To protect against this risk, we use forward loan purchase commitments to economically hedge the risk of potential changes in the value of the MSR assets that have been identified for sale. We expect that the changes in fair value of the forward commitments will either substantially or partially offset the changes in fair value of the IRLCs, uncommitted mortgage loans held for sale, and MSR assets that we intend to sell. Our forward commitments are valued based on quoted prices for similar assets in an active market with inputs that are observable and are classified as Level 2 assets and liabilities.



Changes in economic or other relevant conditions could cause our assumptions with respect to forward commitments to be different than our estimates. Decreases in the market yields of mortgage loans result in a lower fair value for forward commitments to sell mortgage loans and increases in market yields of mortgage loans result in lower fair value for forward commitments to purchase mortgage loans.

BUSINESS

COMPANY OVERVIEW

We are a Detroit-based company obsessed with helping our clients achieve the American dream of home ownership and financial freedom. We are committed to providing an industry-leading client experience powered by our award-winning culture and innovative technologies. We believe our widely recognized "Rocket" brand is synonymous with providing simple, fast, and trusted digital solutions for complex personal transactions.

Since our inception in 1985, we have consistently demonstrated our ability to launch new consumer experiences, scale and automate operations, and extend our proprietary technologies to partners. Our flagship business, Rocket Mortgage, is the industry leader, having provided more than $1 trillion in home loans since inception while growing our market share from 1.3% in 2009 to 9.2% in the first quarter of 2020, a CAGR of 19%. We have also expanded into complementary industries, such as real estate services, personal lending, and auto sales. In each of these gigantic and fragmented markets, we seek to gain share and drive profitable growth by reinventing the client experience.

Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, purposefully created a strong cultural foundation of core principles, or "ISMs", as a cultural operating system to guide decision-making by all of our team members. At the heart of the ISMs is a simple, yet powerful, concept: "Love our team members. Love our clients." Our team members put the ISMs into action every day. The result is an empowered and passionate team aligned in a common mission. This has led FORTUNE magazine to name us to their list of "100 Best Companies to Work For" for 16 consecutive years.

Our launch of the Rocket Mortgage online platform in 2015 revolutionized the mortgage process as the first end-to-end digital experience, leveraging decades of technology investment and innovation. Rocket Mortgage is the simplest and most convenient way to get a mortgage. This digital solution utilizes automated data retrieval and advanced underwriting technology to deliver fast, tailored solutions to the palm of a client's hand. Our Rocket Mortgage app, which clients use to apply for a mortgage, interact with our team members, upload documents, e-sign documents, receive statements, and complete monthly payments, has a 4.9-star rating on the Apple App Store.

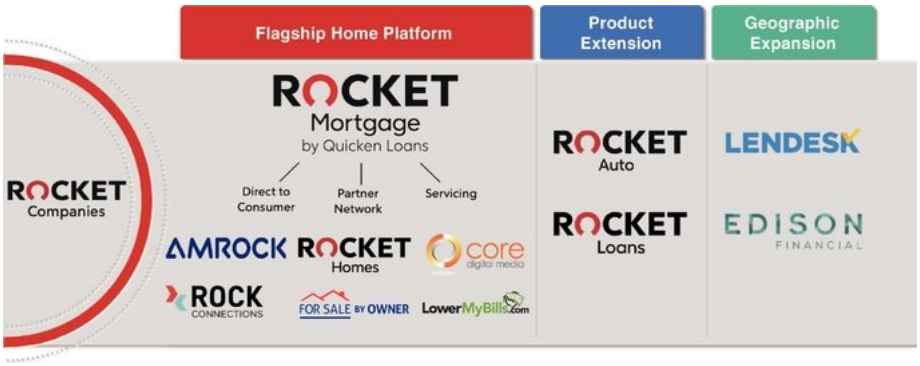
Rocket Mortgage technology extends well beyond the app, seamlessly serving clients and client-facing team members across the entire front-end user experience. Rocket Mortgage technology also facilitates the origination, underwriting, closing, and servicing process in a manner designed to sustain positive ongoing client relationships. We have also built proprietary sales technology that allows us to more effectively connect with and win potential clients. Building off this technology, we developed Rock Connections, our sales and support organization, which supports both Rocket Mortgage and several other external partners.

Rocket Mortgage offers clients speed and simplicity backed by industry-leading automation created through our proprietary software platform and centralized operations. Traditionally, a single processor sequentially performs most loan origination functions. Our process separates these functions to create specialization among team members, automates key steps and prioritizes workflow. Our technology provides our client specialists visibility into the loan process and enables our loans to close faster and more efficiently than industry averages. In 2019, we closed 6.7 loans per month per average production team member, compared to the industry average of 2.3 according to the Mortgage Bankers Association. In 2020, our year to date average has grown to 8.3 loans per month. The result is an unmatched client experience that has earned us recognition as #1 for Mortgage Origination by J.D. Power for the past 10 years—every year we have been eligible for the award.

We believe our national Rocket brand establishes a competitive advantage that is difficult to replicate. In our industry, we are the only company of scale with significant digital-first brand recognition, with marketing investment of over $5 billion since our inception and over $900 million for the year ending December 31, 2019. Our in-house marketing agency has a long history of creating bold and visible events and campaigns, including the Quicken Loans Carrier Classic in 2011—a NCAA Men's Basketball game that raised proceeds for military charities and was attended on Veterans Day by President Obama; the Quicken Loans Billion Dollar Bracket for the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament in 2014, in collaboration with Warren Buffett; the annual Rocket Mortgage Classic—the first ever PGA TOUR event in Detroit; and recently a prominent Super Bowl Squares and our latest Super Bowl ad, featuring actor Jason Momoa, was ranked the fifth best Super Bowl ad by USA Today's Ad Meter.

We also reach potential clients through highly targeted marketing strategies. Our scale and data analytics provide distinct advantages in the efficiency of our marketing initiatives. We utilize data gathered from inquiries, applications and ongoing client relationships to optimize digital performance marketing to reach the right clients with the right solutions. Continuing our growth in digital marketing, in 2017 we acquired Core Digital Media, a top social media and display advertiser. Our specialized marketing capabilities allowed us to generate inquiries from more than 20 million potential clients in 2019.

In 2010, we made the strategic decision to invest in loan servicing. Servicing the loans that we originate provides us with an opportunity to build long-term relationships and continually impress our clients with a seamless experience. We employ the same client-centric culture and technology cultivated in our origination business towards our servicing effort. The result is a differentiated servicing experience focused on client service with positive, regular touchpoints and a better understanding of our clients' future needs. As a result of our operational excellence, in 2019 we achieved overall client retention levels of 63%, and refinancing retention levels of 76%, which is approximately 3.5 times higher than the industry average of 22%. In 2020, our year to date average has grown to nearly 75% overall client retention. Additionally, we have been recognized as #1 for Mortgage Servicing by J.D. Power for the past six years—every year we have been eligible for the award.



Our growth potential is significant. The U.S. residential mortgage market remains highly fragmented. As the largest retail mortgage originator according to Inside Mortgage Finance, we serve 9.2% of an over $2.0 trillion annual market. As adoption of online mortgages increases, we expect to drive further market share growth. Of the clients that applied using our online platform or app, 75% are first-time homeowners and/or Millennials. As a result, we expect our growth to accelerate. As these groups mature and continue to demand a more digital experience, we anticipate that their previous positive experiences with Rocket Mortgage will result in repeat business and further growth of our Company.

One of our strategic priorities is to grow partnerships with other preeminent companies and professionals whose clients benefit from our solutions. We continue to expand our network of high-quality influencers, which include mortgage professionals in the Quicken Loans Mortgage Services (QLMS) network and , and agents. In addition, we have marketing partnerships with Fortune 500 companies such as , and . Our partners rely on our trusted brand and technology to deliver the Rocket experience to their clients. To support this effort, we leverage our Rocket Mortgage technology to develop Rocket Professional, our proprietary platform that enables our partners to offer our best mortgage options to their clients and provide real-time management of loan applications.

Our ecosystem of businesses we have incubated and organically grown also creates substantial growth opportunities. Rocket Homes, our proprietary home search platform and real estate agent referral network, helps match Rocket Mortgage clients with highly rated agents, and the coordinated home buying experience improves the certainty of closing. Rocket Homes participated in more than 30,000 real estate transactions in 2019. Rocket Loans, our prime personal loan business, underwrote approximately 25,000 closed loans in 2019 (a year-over-year increase of over 30%). Rocket Auto, our auto sales business that was previously part of Rock Connections, facilitated nearly 20,000 used car sales in 2019, its second year of operation. We believe our success in the United States can be leveraged in the Canadian mortgage market, a market of approximately $761 billion CAD of annual mortgage originations, and have invested in Lendesk and Edison Financial, two Canadian mortgage business startups.

We have demonstrated a track record of creating value through profitable growth with a capital-light business model. For the year ended December 31, 2019, our total revenue, net was $5.1 billion and net income attributable to Rocket Companies was $893.8 million, representing a 22% and 46% growth from the prior year, respectively. Over the same time period, Adjusted Revenue was $5.9 billion, Adjusted Net Income was $1.3 billion, and Adjusted EBITDA was $1.9 billion. For reconciliation of these non-GAAP measures to their most comparable U.S. GAAP measures, see "Summary Historical and Pro Forma Condensed Combined Financial and Other Data" and "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations—Non-GAAP Financial Measures."

OUR BUSINESSES

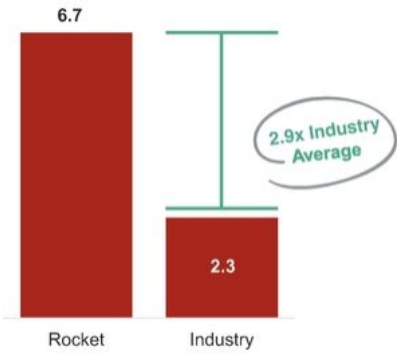
We operate an ecosystem of businesses driven by a commitment to provide an industry-leading client experience. We leverage our award-winning culture and technologies, along with our brand, data and scale, to provide a suite of services related to the homeownership experience and other personal financial transactions. Rocket Mortgage is at the center of this ecosystem and with our exceptional growth in this business, we have paved the way for disrupting large and fragmented industries. We continue to drive significant growth and profitability in each of our businesses while also extending the symbiotic relationship within our ecosystem of companies.

Company Milestones and Origination History ($ in billions)

Rocket Mortgage

Rocket Mortgage is an industry leader with a widely recognized and valuable brand in the sector. We serve clients in all 50 states and originated over $145 billion in residential mortgage loans in 2019 and $51.7 billion in the three months ended March 31, 2020. The power of our platform comes from the combination of our innovative technologies and passionate team members. This produces a superior client experience and underpins our growth and market share gains. We have reengineered the mortgage process from the ground up, adding automation at nearly every step. Our brand recognition, national scale and targeted marketing support the efficient acquisition of new clients. Combined with our scale and unique operating model, this has allowed us to grow more quickly and operate efficiently. These attributes have also supported our rapid expansion into partnership channels, which we refer to as our "Partner Network," where we are providing mortgage professionals and other consumer-facing organizations with a superior experience for their clients.

Our obsession with the client experience, powered by our seamless and efficient digital solutions, has supported our product development since we first pioneered online mortgage lending over two decades ago. Our launch of Rocket Mortgage in 2015 revolutionized the mortgage process with the first end-to-end digital and on-demand mortgage experience. As TechCrunch's headline read the day we introduced Rocket Mortgage—this was the "mortgage industry's iPhone moment." Rocket Mortgage has wide adoption with over 200,000 users daily in 2019.



Our clients can apply for mortgage loans by submitting an application through our Rocket Mortgage app or website. Rocket Mortgage provides clients real-time quotes and access to mortgage calculators to help them choose the most appropriate solutions to support their financial goals. Clients can leverage our easy-to-use mobile application or website to communicate with our licensed mortgage professionals and client experience team members throughout the mortgage origination process and after the loan closes in our servicing process. This platform is particularly popular with Millennials and first-time home buyers with 75% of potential clients who access the platform coming from these two demographics.

Our clients can also apply for a loan by speaking with one of our almost 5,000 licensed mortgage professionals. Our mortgage banking team provides tailored mortgage options based on our understanding of each client's situation and financial goals as well as expert advice at every stage of the process.

Behind Rocket Mortgage's intuitive client interface, we have built a centralized, paperless platform that enhances efficiency, scalability and quality control. Over the past 35 years, we have invested significantly in transforming the mortgage origination process. We have achieved this by breaking an archaic, linear and manual process into a series of smaller steps that can be automated and processed in parallel. Documents and data are imported into our proprietary system and are reviewed, processed and analyzed based on a set of predetermined, rules-based work-flows. We use specialized sub-groups of operations team members who are dedicated solely to particular tasks in the process, which significantly reduces the risk for underwriting errors or fraud. We are also able to train our team members on a few specific tasks within this process, increasing their productivity and reducing onboarding time.

The efficiency of our proprietary technology and process is evident in how a majority of our loans close within approximately 32 days from our receipt of client documents compared to approximately 43 days on average for the industry. In addition to being faster than the industry, we are also more efficient due to our investment in technology and unique workflow processes. In 2019, we closed 6.7 loans per month per average production team member, compared to the industry average of 2.3 according to the Mortgage Bankers Association. In 2019, our average grew to 8.3. As we are obsessed with finding a better way for our clients, we have made and continue to make investments focused on improving our processes to further increase efficiency.

With our proprietary technology and superior client experience we continue to take market share from our competitors. We have grown to become the nation's largest retail mortgage originator according to Inside Mortgage Finance, with 9.2% total market share for the quarter ended March 31, 2020, up from 1.3% total market share in 2009. The following chart depicts Rocket Mortgage's growing market share in total originations:

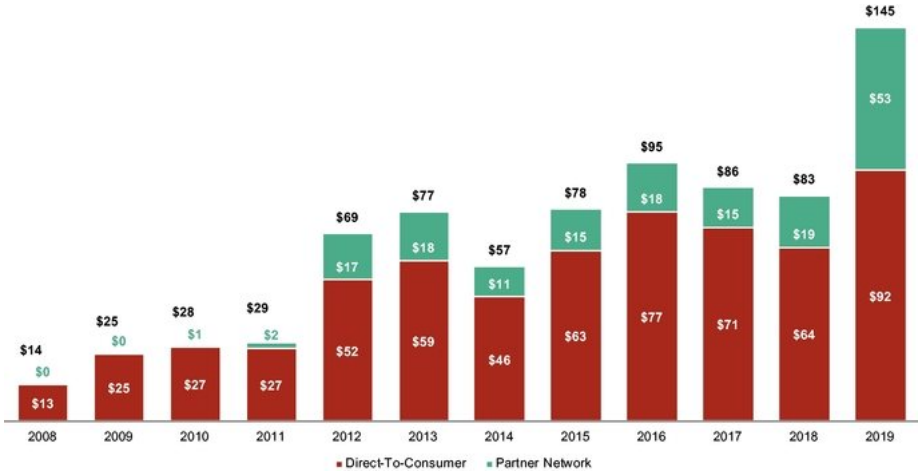
Rocket Mortgage Market Share ($ in billions)



Segments

Our operations are organized by distinct marketing channels which promote client acquisition into our ecosystem and include two segments: Direct to Consumer and Partner Network.

Rocket Mortgage's origination volumes shown above are impacted by fluctuations in the residential mortgage market due to general economic conditions including the mix of purchase versus refinance volumes in the market. However, as demonstrated above, we have a track record of growing market share in different economic environments. For instance, in 2017 and 2018 when refinancing volumes were decreasing due to higher interest rates and lower refinance activity that was not fully offset by purchase activity, we were still able to leverage our platform and continue to grow our market share.

Direct to Consumer and Partner Network Originations Volume ($ in billions)

Direct to Consumer Segment

In the Direct to Consumer segment, we directly interact with clients and potential clients using various performance marketing channels. Servicing activities are viewed as an extension of the client experience with the primary objective being to establish and maintain positive, regular touchpoints with our clients, which positions us to recapture the clients' next refinance or purchase mortgage transaction. Consequently, we view servicing as an integral component of the Direct to Consumer segment.

Revenues in the Direct to Consumer segment are generated primarily from the gain on sale of loans, which includes loan origination fees, revenues from sales of loans into the secondary market, as well as the fair value of originated MSRs and hedging gains and losses. Loan servicing income consists of the contractual fees earned for servicing loans and other ancillary servicing fees, as well as changes in the fair value of MSRs due to changes in valuation assumptions and realization of cash flows.

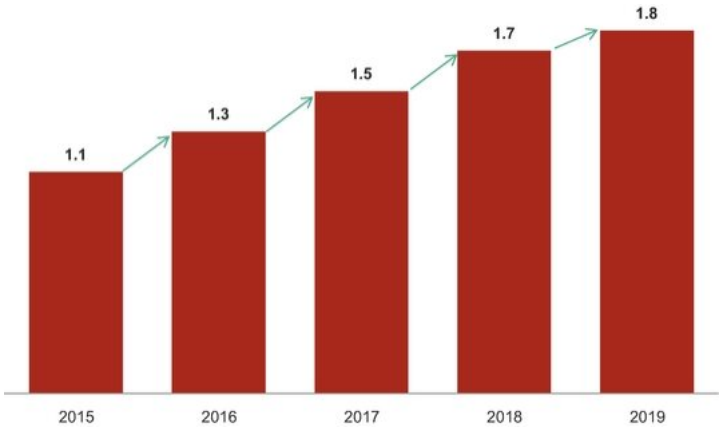
Partner Network

Our reputation for superior client service along with our widely recognized brand have led to growing partnerships with well-known consumer focused organizations and other mortgage professionals who leverage our platform and scale to provide mortgage solutions to their clients.

Our two primary types of partnerships are marketing and influencer partnerships. Our marketing partnerships consist of well-known consumer-focused companies that find value in our award-winning client experience and want to offer their clients mortgage solutions with our trusted, widely recognized brand. These partnerships include , among others. These organizations connect their clients directly to us through marketing channels and a referral process. Our influencer partnerships are typically with companies that employ licensed mortgage professionals that find value in our client experience, technology and efficient mortgage process. In some cases, mortgages are not their primary offering. These partnerships include as well as other individual mortgage professionals.

Our marketing and influencer partnerships both provide us access to clients that we might not otherwise reach in the Direct to Consumer segment. The marketing partnerships generally include a marketing services agreement, which includes a fee paid by us for the fair value of the marketing activity and/or an additional client benefit. The influencer partnerships generally include compensation for the licensed mortgage professionals who collect the loan documents and related mortgage application. The marketing and influencer partnerships have lower client acquisition costs compared to the Direct to Consumer segment and as a result have an attractive contribution margin.

With our ability to seamlessly connect with partner organizations, we provide end-to-end mortgage fulfilment services to our partners.



As clients grow increasingly comfortable with digital mortgage origination, we believe we will be able to continue to grow our market share. Also, as clients come to expect a more seamless mortgage origination process with faster turn times, we believe in our ability to consistently meet evolving client demands. Additionally, with continuous investments in our technology and growth in the number of influencer and marketing partnerships, we expect to continue to grow our partner-related origination volume.

Revenues in the Partner Network segment are generated primarily from the gain on sale of loans, which includes loan origination fees, revenues from sales of loans into the secondary market, as well as the fair value of originated MSRs and hedging gains and losses. Additionally, there are no performance marketing costs associated with this segment.

Servicing

The following chart represents the total number of servicing clients we have had for the periods shown:

Number of Servicing Clients (in millions)

Rocket Mortgage is also an award-winning mortgage servicer. Servicing the loans that we originate provides us with an opportunity to build long-term relationships and continually deliver a seamless experience to our clients. We employ our same client-centric culture and technology cultivated through our origination business towards the servicing of loans. The result is a differentiated servicing experience focused on client service with positive, regular touchpoints and a better understanding of our clients' future needs.

As servicer, we are responsible for the processing of our clients' monthly mortgage payments, managing escrow accounts and reporting loan and pool information to investors. We are in direct contact with our servicing clients on a recurring monthly basis. We utilize these touchpoints and financial data to identify opportunities to provide additional solutions to continue to help our clients meet their financial goals. This helps us generate leads for the other products and services within our ecosystem whereby we can directly market to our clients. We receive an ongoing fee revenue for servicing these loans. For the year ended December 31, 2019, servicing fee revenues were $950 million.

We utilize the same Rocket Mortgage technology to deliver a digital, seamless client experience in servicing, specifically designed around the needs and expectations of our clients. Through Rocket Mortgage, clients can view their loan information and activity, obtain insight into their home value and equity, and obtain personalized videos that simplify complex topics such as escrow changes utilizing the clients' actual loan information and figures. Clients can also make payments via the Rocket Mortgage app. As of March 31, 2020, we have nearly 700 team members focused on servicing including approximately 200 client experience team members who are available six days a week, Monday through Saturday, to answer clients' questions live via phone and chat services.

Our strong data analytics capabilities allow us to monitor our servicing portfolio to identify the needs of our clients and make informed refinancing offers in real time. As a result, the majority of our clients who refinance choose to work with us again, as measured by our retention rate—calculated as the total unpaid principal balance ("UPB") of our clients that originate a new mortgage with us in a given period divided by total UPB of the clients that paid off their existing mortgage and originated a new mortgage. This calculation excludes clients where we are contractually prohibited from or for other business reasons have chosen not to actively market to such clients. In 2019 we achieved overall client retention levels of 63%, and refinancing retention levels of 76%, which is approximately 3.5 times higher than the industry average of 22%.

Since the beginning of 2014, we have retained servicing on 92% of our loan originations and are now a top 10 servicer by UPB, with $343.6 billion as of March 31, 2020. Our origination activities create a continual source of servicing volume, which eliminates pressures of supply-and-demand pricing competition for purchasing servicing portfolios on the open market. For those clients we decide not to keep in our servicing book, we monetize the value of the servicing asset at the same time the loan is sold into the secondary market or at a later date through MSR sales.

As a testament to our underwriting quality, we experience delinquency rates in our servicing portfolio that are much lower than the industry average. The percentage of UPB of mortgages that are 60 or more days delinquent in payments ("60+ delinquency rate") was 0.92% as of March 31, 2020, compared to over 3.3% for the industry according to the Black Knight Mortgage Monitor report. We believe our lower than industry average delinquency rates are driven by both our commitment to high quality originations and our focus on taking care of our clients and helping them find solutions when experiencing financial stress.

Amrock

Amrock is a leading national provider of title insurance services, property valuations and settlement services. This business complements our mortgage origination platform by providing services that enhance our ability to close loans as efficiently as possible. Our technology helps to streamline and clarify the real estate experience across the appraisal, title and closing process which further enables the speed of our platform. In 2019 our average loan closed within approximately 32 days or less after the Company's receipt of client documents. Nexsys Technologies LLC

("Nexsys") provides further efficiency and enhances the client experience with e-close technology. We believe these seamless and personalized services differentiate Amrock from competitors and inspire client loyalty and referrals.

The majority of Rocket Mortgage's loan programs require a property appraisal that is prepared by a licensed and/or certified appraiser. Amrock maintains a nationwide network of independent appraisers as well as internal appraisers and support teams to manage the ordering, fulfillment, logistics and tracking of appraisals. Amrock uses various technologies to aid in the review of appraisal assignments and values to detect fraud and/or errors.

Amrock's gross revenue, before eliminations, was $197.9 million and $97.8 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, and $558.6 million, $407.1 million, and $480.8 million for the years ending 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively.

Core Digital Media

Core Digital Media is an online marketing and lead generation service provider in the mortgage, insurance and education sectors. Core Digital Media is a generator, buyer and seller of leads for third parties and for Rocket Mortgage. Core Digital Media owns and operates several marketing platforms, including "LowerMyBills.com," that connect clients with providers of home loans, auto loans, personal loans, and auto, life and home insurance. Acquired in 2017, Core Digital Media has become an important component of our performance marketing strategy. Core Digital Media enables growth for our broader ecosystem by offering unique insight into the lead generation market and allows us to introduce innovative marketing programs designed to increase the conversion rates for online leads.

Core Digital Media generated over six million client leads for mortgage and other industries in 2019. Core Digital Media's unique ability to consistently generate high quality leads, coupled with Rocket Mortgage's superior client experience, has driven higher conversion rates and has aided our market share growth in Rocket Mortgage. We also leverage Core Digital Media's capabilities in cross-marketing our products and services to clients across our ecosystem.

Core Digital Media's gross revenue, before eliminations, was $60.5 million and $56.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, and $237.2 million, $205.0 million, and $95.3 million for the years ending 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively.

Rocket Homes

Rocket Homes is a digital platform creating a seamless, integrated home buying and selling experience for clients nationwide. Through Rocket Homes, prospective clients can search for homes online, find a real estate agent or seamlessly connect to Rocket Mortgage to seek financing for their homes.

Rocket Homes manages a partner network of more than 15,000 real estate agents and has assisted over 500,000 clients with their home buying and selling needs. All of our partner agents are pre-screened to ensure they can demonstrate exceptional client service, knowledge and experience in their local communities. Real estate agents choose to work with Rocket Homes because they can leverage our brand and client acquisition engine, receiving quality leads for clients looking to purchase or sell a home in their area.

Rocket Mortgage, Rocket Homes and our partner agents have a symbiotic relationship, as referrals are more likely to lead to a mortgage and real estate transaction, increasing profitability for each party. We earn a commission on real estate transactions we refer to our network of real estate agents. Rocket Homes enables our broader ecosystem's growth by improving the quality of experience for our clients and by increasing the conversion rate for Rocket Mortgage.

We unveiled a new Rocket Homes website in 2018, rockethomes.com, which features powerful home search functionality. Along with traditional data like the number of rooms, square footage and price, the Rocket Homes website also provides neighborhood information including market trends, housing supply and the level of demand for housing in the specific areas consumers are looking to buy or sell in. The home search feature is currently available in 17 states and is continuing to be rolled out nationwide.

We also own ForSaleByOwner.com, a leading online marketplace exclusively focused on clients that would like to run the process of selling their homes without enlisting help from a real estate agent. When people sell their homes, they often are looking to buy another home. ForSaleByOwner.com allows us to connect with these sellers earlier in the cycle of their transaction, provide value-added services for the sale of their home and introduce them to financing solutions with Rocket Mortgage should they look to purchase a new home. Additionally, should our clients decide they need the expertise of a real estate agent, we can leverage the Rocket Homes partner network to connect them to a highly qualified professional.

Rocket Homes gross revenue, before eliminations, was $8.8 million and $7.5 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, and $43.1 million, $35.6 million and $33.5 million for the years ending 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively.

Rocket Loans

Rocket Loans is an asset-light, online-based personal loans business that focuses on high quality, prime borrowers. Clients are able to apply for a loan online, be approved in minutes and receive same day funding. This is enabled through a proprietary technology stack which includes underwriting loans in accordance with credit criteria that are agreed upon with third-party investors who are funding and acquiring these loans. Rocket Loans will sometimes act as an investor, usually when launching new products. Outside of these held loans, Rocket Loans does not retain any ongoing credit risk for the originated loans. Rocket Loans also performs loan servicing activities as a sub-servicer for all of the loans originated. The company receives origination fees and transaction fees from the investors for the work the company performs.

Rocket Loans also provides technology as a white label solution to other loan providers, by modifying or creating technology to meet clients' specifications. Rocket Loans receives fees on a fixed and/or variable basis for this work. Rocket Loans gross revenue, before eliminations, was $4.7 million and $4.3 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, and $24.8 million, $17.5 million and $8.8 million for the years ending December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively.

Rock Connections

Rock Connections is a sales and support platform specializing in inbound and outbound contact center services. We offer additional services like appointment setting and scheduling, prequalifying prospective clients, lead generation, lead and efficiency consulting, and providing proactive solution oriented reporting and analytics. We leverage technology and data to strategically target and connect with the prospective clients that are most likely to transact—improving conversion rates and providing a greater return on marketing investments. Additionally, we supplement our superior targeting with sales support from team members who have gone through our industry-leading training processes. Our team members have developed considerable skill in cultivating relationships with our clients and assisting them through the initial buying decisions.

Rock Connections seeks to strengthen brand reputations and drive value for the businesses it represents. Our ability to facilitate product sales through our Rock Connections contact center business has supported our consistent growth in the mortgage business and has fueled our early success in Rocket Auto. Rock Connections team members provide significant support to our bankers in the Rocket Mortgage business by handling clients' initial queries, collecting appropriate information and providing a warm hand-off to bankers at the appropriate stage to ensure best quality service to clients.

Inclusive of Rocket Auto, Rock Connections' gross revenue, before eliminations, was $30.7 million and $33.6 million for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, and $114.1 million, $109.2 million and $74.7 million for the years ending 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively.

Rocket Auto

Rocket Auto provides centralized and remote car sales support to national car rental and online car purchasing platforms with substantial inventories. The business earns fee revenue based on the volume of car sales as well as the sale of additional ancillary products and services such as auto financing. We do not own or maintain an inventory of cars. Rocket Auto capitalizes on the sales expertise we have built with our trained client representatives and sales force in Rock Connections. Using the same training principles and similar workflow technology as other businesses in our ecosystem, we are able to efficiently sell cars on behalf of our clients. While we currently only utilize leads generated by our partners (a car rental provider and an online car purchase platform) to facilitate car sales, we believe we can leverage the data science and client targeting expertise we have built in Rock Connections to generate more effective and efficient leads, accelerating growth and improving the performance of Rocket Auto. Despite starting the business just two years ago, we facilitated nearly 20,000 car sales for the twelve months ended December 31, 2019.

Lendesk and Edison Financial

Lendesk and Edison Financial mark Rocket's first international expansion. Both businesses leverage our core strengths of proprietary technology and obsession with the client experience to bring a better home-buying experience to our new clients in Canada.

Lendesk is a loan origination platform that provides a point of sale system for mortgage professionals and a loan origination system for private lenders. Lendesk launched its proprietary, direct-to-lender, mortgage application network, Spotlight, in October 2018, to transform what was once a complicated process, involving multiple touchpoints and channels of communication, into one streamlined mortgage origination process. By serving as the single point of contact for brokers to submit, and lenders to approve mortgage applications and assuring all paperwork is completed efficiently and accurately, we believe Lendesk is helping close the costly communication and workflow gap that was plaguing the industry.

Edison Financial is a digital mortgage firm that will use Lendesk's Spotlight as its lender submission platform of choice, leveraging the system's modern application programming interfaces and industry-leading technology as its core platform to help in providing service that is unmatched in Canada today.

MARKET OPPORTUNITY

Rocket Mortgage is the leader in the largest consumer lending market in the United States, with approximately $10.7 trillion of residential mortgage debt outstanding as of December 31, 2019 according to the Mortgage Bankers Association. Furthermore, there were approximately 37.9 million homeowners who had a mortgage as of in 2019, with the number of homeowners increasing by approximately 1.4 million on average annually since 2014. In 2019, annual origination volume reached $2.2 trillion, with average volume over the last five years totaling $1.8 trillion. Since 2014, the total number of homeowners with a mortgage has increased by over 7 million and total mortgage origination volume has increased at a compound annual growth ("CAGR") rate of 10.4%. The Mortgage Bankers Association expects the strong trends in origination volume to continue, forecasting approximately $2.7 and $2.1 trillion of residential originations in 2020 and 2021, respectively.

The chart below represents total U.S. mortgage originations for one-to-four family properties and total number of homeowners with a mortgage for the periods indicated:

For a discussion of the risk to our business due to influences beyond our control, including home value, unemployment, macro-economic and U.S. residential real estate market conditions, see "Risk Factors—Risks Related to Our Business—The COVID-19 pandemic poses unique challenges to our business and the effects of the pandemic could adversely impact our ability to originate mortgages, our servicing operations, our liquidity and our employees" and "Risk Factors—Risks Related to Our Business" generally.

The mortgage industry is highly fragmented

Despite its large size, the mortgage industry is highly fragmented. The top five retail mortgage originators accounted for only 17.3% of total retail originations in 2019, a significant decline from the 62.4% market share held by the top five retail mortgage originators in 2009. This decline is largely the result of the combination of changes in bank capital rules after the 2009 financial crisis that have made mortgages a significantly less profitable business line for the largest banks, while negative client experiences during the financial crisis led to a loss of trust in large financial institutions, driving clients to increasingly look towards non-bank originators for their mortgage needs. Today, the low combined market share of the top market participants directly contrasts with trends in many other consumer-facing industries, where market leaders typically command a higher combined market share. For example, the market share of the top five largest credit card companies by total portfolio size was 61% as of December 31, 2019, private student lenders by loans outstanding was 59% as of December 31, 2019, asset managers by total AUM was 88% as of June 1, 2020 and auto lenders by total loans outstanding was 31% as of December 31, 2018.

Market Share of Two Largest Players

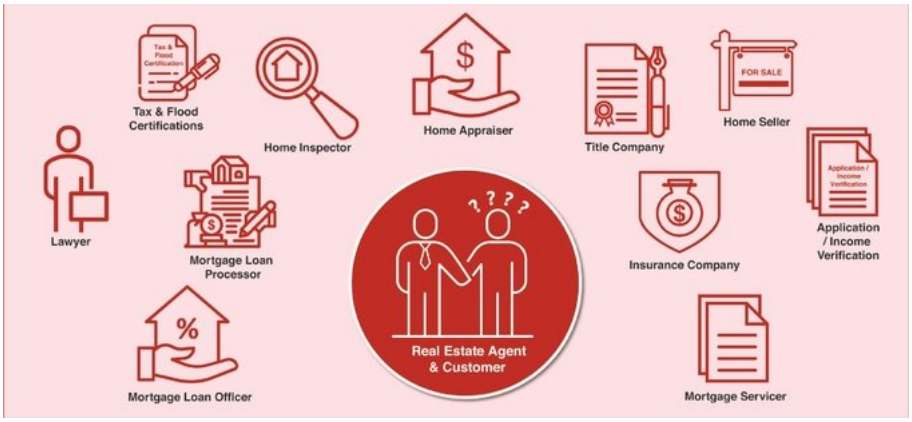
The underlying fragmentation in the mortgage market is driven largely by the prevalence of the traditional brick-and-mortar retail branch model. The traditional retail model is built around the individual loan officer and is heavily reliant on the relationships they have with local real estate agents and other intermediaries. Due to this individualized approach, firms have not invested in improving outdated processes and technologies or creating a scalable platform. The dependence on individual parties in the traditional model de-emphasizes the importance of the platform, which has resulted in a highly labor-intensive loan application process characterized by low operating leverage, making it difficult to grow without hiring additional personnel. The end result has been a densely populated, fragmented market in which lenders lack the centralized platform and operational efficiencies needed to capture market share at scale.

Additionally, strict regulatory and licensing requirements have made it difficult for independent mortgage originators to build national scale and capture additional market share. The uneven nature of state regulation and the considerable number of licenses required create a high barrier to entry.

Consumers increasingly expect a higher level of service and technology-driven user experiences

With continuous digital transformation and ever-increasing use of technology across sectors, consumers have come to expect seamless, intuitive and technology-driven digital experiences in their day-to-day lives for transactions both large and small. Consumers increasingly desire to have access to speed and simplicity at their fingertips, even for their most complex financial transactions. Additionally, Millennials heavily value a digital process and instant gratification, and expect complete transparency over their financial transactions, with the ability to track and understand the process at every step. This provides a significant opportunity for those companies that can improve user experiences while also delivering transparency and certainty.



Our superior client experience is evidenced by our net promoter score (NPS) score of 74, a measure of consumer satisfaction, as compared to the average NPS of 16 for the mortgage origination industry according to J.D. Power.

Net Promoter Score or "NPS" refers to a internal measure used to gauge client satisfaction based on the following question: "On a scale of one to 10, with one representing not at all likely and 10 representing extremely likely, how likely are you to recommend Quicken Loans to a friend or family member in need of a mortgage?" Responses of nine or 10 are considered "promoters," responses of seven or eight are considered neutral or "passives," and responses of six or less are considered "detractors." The score is calculated by subtracting the percentage of detractors from the percentage of promoters. Our score is based on a survey of over 463,000 responses given between January 2017 and February 2020.

The home buying experience is positioned for disruptive change

The traditional home buying experience remains subject to opaque processes that benefit industry insiders more than they benefit consumers. The process currently involves outdated, inefficient, paper-based practices and systems that can be the source of significant frustration for the home buyer. Consumers have expressed dissatisfaction with the complexities of the current process: NerdWallet conducted a "Home Buyer Reality Report" in which 42% of U.S. home buyers surveyed described the overall experience as having been stressful, with 32% and 21% describing the process as having been complicated and intimidating, respectively.

The following depicts some of the key parties and processes involved in the traditional home buying experience:

Furthermore, the traditional mortgage application process requires manual interactions and a complex series of data-intensive transactions. These transactions involve carefully filing and cataloging thousands of pages of documents from over a dozen entities, using incompatible systems and disjointed databases. The lack of communication between the different parties requires home buyers to replicate the submission of data and paperwork to several vendors. Additionally, a lack of access to data and limited transparency throughout the process curbs home buyer choice, emphasizing the home buyers' reliance on the real estate agent during all steps of the process. These factors have resulted in a 43-day industry average time to close in 2019.

The multiple disconnected processes involved in buying a home could be streamlined by advances in technology and processes. These markets require innovation from a market leader who can bring together the primary services of mortgage and real estate brokerages with other ancillary work streams into one seamless workflow.

OUR STRENGTHS

Culture

Our "ISMs"

We define our culture through 19 ISMs. Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, created the ISMs as the guiding principles and philosophy for our team members. The ISMs are more than catchy phrases; they are the operating system that acts as the blueprint for all our decision-making and builds the foundation of our culture.

Each of our approximately 20,000 team members is empowered to apply the ISMs in all aspects of their work and life. The ISMs define our culture and how we conduct business, and this combination of an empowered team with a common, well-defined mission provides us with a significant strategic advantage in the market.

Always Raising Our Level of Awareness

"Our future, growth, innovation and success starts with the thousands of eyeballs of our team members."

Everything starts with awareness. We challenge our team members to be alert and observant, really listening to and understanding the needs of our clients, and to deliver actionable innovations that improve the client experience and process. Our culture asks not only for ideas, but also drives for execution. The result is a group of empowered professionals creating unrivaled experiences for our clients.

We were pioneers in centralizing and digitizing the mortgage experience. We were also one of the first in our industry to recognize the changing client demands and use the internet to deliver fast and simple mortgages, from this initial idea to our modern solutions like Rocket Mortgage and Rocket Professional, our proprietary platform. The awareness and hyper-focus of our team members drives these innovative solutions and our success.

Every Client. Every Time. No Exceptions. No Excuses

"Every client means 100% of our clients all of the time, not most of the time."

We value our clients and serve them with an unmatched sense of urgency and importance. We maintain a policy that every client will receive a callback within 24 hours. Our clients have acknowledged the positive experience they have with us in our closed client surveys, with approximately 94% recommending us. Our superior client experience is evidenced by our net promoter score (NPS) score of 74, a measure of client satisfaction, as compared to the average NPS of 16 for the mortgage origination industry according to J.D. Power. Our award-winning client experience has resulted in other world-class consumer-facing organizations, such as , seeking to partner with us.

Obsessed with Finding a Better Way

"Finding a better way is not something we do on the side or when we get the time. Rather, it's a key priority for every one of our team members."

We empower our team members to create the processes and programs that will continue to drive our growth. Team members know their opinion is not only welcome but expected, from providing input on how to improve our existing business to pitching a completely new company idea.

Our obsession with finding a better way is amplified through our constant improvement "Mousetrap Team," and our platform for new ideas "The Cheese Factory." Mousetrap Team members are tasked with closely examining each step of the borrowing process to make it more efficient. Major successes from this team include the development of proprietary technology that prioritizes each step of the loan process based on a client's propensity to close and the development of a texting platform that allows clients to communicate directly with their mortgage banker, reducing delays due to response times. The Cheese Factory and its internal "Pitch Day" competition, both encourage and reward team members for bringing forward ideas.

Our Product Strategy team continues carrying that momentum, analyzing consumer trends and best practices, and then delivering products under the Rocket umbrella that meet the emerging and future needs of our clients. This team has demonstrated its ability to translate our Company's mission and goals into client-focused solutions and experiences. Recognizing the market opportunity to extend our Rocket Mortgage technology and process to our Partner Network, this team successfully led the development and launch of our partner platform Rocket Professional. Combining business and technical savvy, our strategists revolutionize the way we interact with consumers on our never-ending mission to find a better way for everything we do.

We Are the They

"There is no 'they.' We are the 'they.' One team. United. All in the mission together. No corporate barriers. No boundaries. Just open doors, open minds and an open culture rooted in trust."

Our organization emphasizes cooperation, respect and teamwork and minimizes hierarchy and bureaucracy, all to achieve better client results. Our team members and leaders, across our ecosystem, are all aligned towards the common goal of helping our clients and providing an amazing client experience. We recruit, train and develop our team members to all align to this philosophy. We do so with the contributions of our robustly staffed training team that focuses on the development and growth of team members. The group has been recognized by Training Magazine as part of the "Training Top 125" for excellence in training and development.

Our unity extends beyond the walls of our organization to the communities we call home. Our "for more than profit" approach includes positively impacting our communities through creating jobs and reinvesting dollars and time into our cities. From education and housing stability initiatives to entrepreneurship programs, our team members are at the forefront of growth—both in our business and the communities in which they live, work, and play.

Technology, Data and Automation Innovation

We have built a fully integrated technology platform that we have implemented across our ecosystem to provide a seamless and efficient experience for our team members, clients and partners. We have found that the most powerful approach to improving the client experience is to identify the pain points in the process and create scalable technology-driven solutions for each one.

Our leadership and approximately 2,500 technology team members focus on technology along three axes. First, we leverage advanced algorithms and decision trees along with intuitive front-end design to provide an exceptional client interface and service. Second, we use technology and analytics to automate as many steps of our operations as possible to increase our team members' productivity, minimize process lags and errors, and ultimately drive significant improvement in client outcomes on a massive scale. Third, we develop our technology with a view to offer it to external partners in a seamless manner, enabling further growth of our ecosystem.

We have strategically developed our technology in modules to facilitate agile enhancements. This enables us to effectively scale during market expansion, efficiently onboard partners, and grow into new client segments and channels, with less time and investment than our competitors.

Additionally, our cutting-edge technology systems are powered by a significant amount of data. In 2019, we had interactions with over 20 million prospective clients. We have long-term mortgage servicing relationships with approximately 1.83 million client loans. We maintain 220 million unique consumer records and 150 million unique real estate records. Our technology and data science teams are proficient in leveraging this rich data to streamline the client experience, to improve the efficacy of our marketing campaigns, and to offer products and services suited to each client's specific circumstance. We generated $40 billion in application volume from AI/machine learning from 2018 through June 2020.

Rocket's History of Innovation

We modernized the mortgage origination process through our proprietary data and technology. By breaking the process into discrete steps and leveraging our artificial intelligence and machine learning capabilities, we standardized and automated an otherwise labor-intensive process. This has allowed us to increase efficiency, accuracy and scalability to propel us to continue to gain market share.

With the introduction of our first web-based mortgage solution in 1999, we started our pursuit of the digital transformation of the mortgage business. Today, we have created a robust proprietary end-to-end technology platform. This platform has differentiated us from competitors by offering a purpose-built solution for each step of the life of a mortgage loan and systemizing the consistent improvement to the mortgage process.

We hold U.S. patents and U.S. patent applications on critical intellectual property, which allows our automated systems to digitally integrate with third-parties, such as financial institutions and credit bureaus, to mitigate identity fraud and independently verify client data (e.g., income, assets and employment). This improves loan quality which allows us to maintain low delinquency rates.

Automation

At the core of our platform is an advanced engine that enables the modeling, modification and management of complex loan processes and business rules. We have turned the complicated and regulatory-heavy process into a series of client-friendly questions and requests. We closely monitor the performance of any new initiatives with tangible data and metrics, including days to close, team member efficiency and client satisfaction.

This process partitioning has allowed us to identify many areas that could be automated. These automated processes produce true objectivity and greatly reduce human error. Our system has been designed to integrate across business functions allowing them to collaborate harmoniously within our secure environment. Our system accomplishes this automation by continuously monitoring in-progress loans and leveraging our proprietary, data-driven, decision engine to recommend the most efficient task for each team member.

RocketLogic

The next evolution of our mortgage process is RocketLogic. RocketLogic is an automated underwriting product we are currently developing in-house. This product will overhaul the way we originate loans, from application to closing. RocketLogic leverages data and asks dynamic questions, resulting in client's closing their mortgage faster and with greater accuracy. This will continue to drive efficiency for our team members and bring certainty to our clients.

Data Analytics

We have access to client financial information and needs which allows us to more effectively understand and market to our clients. Both through lead acquisition and servicing, we aggregate this information on current and potential clients. For example, knowing the details of a client's existing mortgage allows us to execute a real-time marketing campaign to targeted clients when mortgage rates drop. We also have the ability to predict based on a number of factors including age and time in home, when a family may be looking to buy a new home and will potentially need a purchase mortgage.

The scale and design of our model allows us to gather insights into and improve the client experience through measuring and recording each step in the process. We track, test and refine every step of the client journey and our users' experience. This allows us to intelligently manage our funnel of potential clients, drive conversion and continuously identify areas of potential improvement. Our scale has enabled us to experiment with various approaches to these tasks and constantly tune our strategies for user satisfaction.

Versatility and Scalability

We have thoughtfully developed our technology infrastructure in modules to enable agile enhancements and ensure flexibility to deploy this technology to a variety of partners. Our infrastructure allows us to act swiftly and stay ahead of regulatory changes and more quickly introduce new products and services, without the need for expensive overhauls or disruptive interventions. With advanced analytics tools, we are often able to foresee potential issues before they arise, further supporting uninterrupted client experience, business growth and operational efficiency.

Our software is designed with scalability in mind to manage a large quantity of loans. On average, we currently process more than 6,200 client applications each day, and over 8,100 applications are started each day via our website, mobile app and mobile web. The versatility and scalability of our technology provide a solid foundation for our continued growth.

New Technology Solutions for Partners

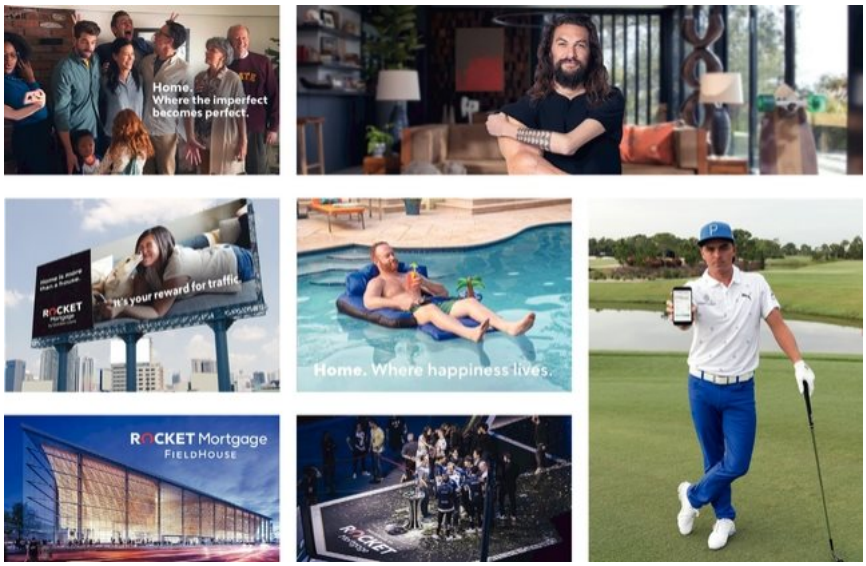
We built Rocket Professional, a business-to-business ("B2B") application, to enable our partners to leverage the existing Rocket Mortgage infrastructure to provide a similar experience to their clients. Rocket Professional allows financial professionals to offer our best mortgage options to their clients and provides visibility into the origination processes from their mobile devices. The simplicity of our technology enables us to quickly and seamlessly onboard additional partners, without significant incremental investment.

Data Security and Safeguards

We employ various in-house and third-party technologies and network administration policies that are designed to protect our computer network and the privacy of our clients' and team members' information from external threats and malicious attacks.

We believe that the technologies and network security plan we have adopted is appropriate to the size, complexity and scope of services we provide, as well as the nature of the information that we handle. We have a team of professionals dedicated to network and information security who monitor security systems, evaluate the effectiveness of technologies against known risks and adjust systems accordingly. In addition, we periodically have network security evaluated by outside firms specializing in network security to identify and remove any potential vulnerabilities.

Our infrastructure components, including our data center, telecommunications equipment, network equipment and servers, are under maintenance agreements and are constantly monitored. Furthermore, we execute regular hardware refresh plans to prevent key systems from becoming an obstacle to growth or a liability. We also have two redundant data centers and a data bunker supporting business operations.



Rocket Technology Team

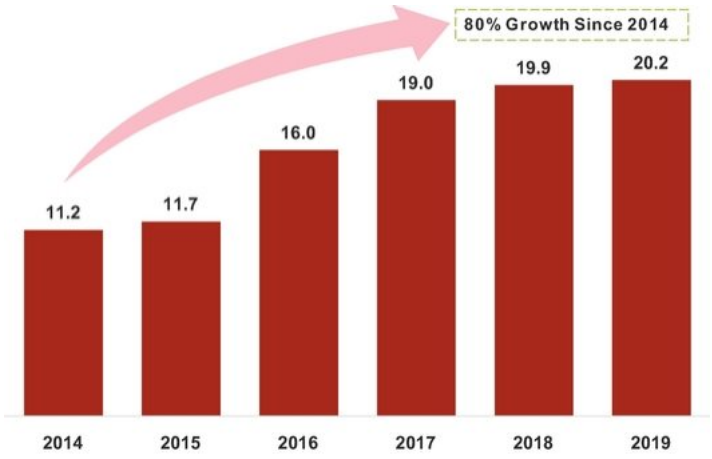
Our innovation is attributable to our approximately 2,500 dedicated technology team members, who we empower to create the processes that will continue to drive our growth into the future. Our technology team members participate in "hack weeks" once per quarter, during which team members can step away from day-to-day work to focus on building new solutions for our products. This culture of innovation has led Computerworld magazine to name us the "Best Place to Work in IT (Large)" for five consecutive years.

Digital First Brand and Marketing

Our investment in the Rocket brand has made it nationally recognized as a simple, fast and easy digital solution for clients and partners. We invest in a range of targeted marketing campaigns that leverage our brand to acquire new clients and position our brand as the technology-driven solution for consumers. As the majority of home and mortgage searches now begin online, brand recognition offers a key competitive advantage when consumers search for a mortgage lender.

We have over 250 experienced marketing team members in our in-house advertising agency focused on every aspect of the client lifecycle. We create and execute innovative marketing strategies to identify and reach target audiences, engage with interested clients and promote the client experience. We also rely on our Core Digital Media business to generate additional leads. Our team manages a large annual marketing and advertising budget. Since our inception, we have invested over $5 billion in marketing, including over $900 million for the year ended December 31, 2019.

Marketing Channels



Our marketing strategy has resulted in a successful 35-year track record of generating business returns in a variety of rate and economic environments. The marketing group spans multifunctional, multimedia, in-house marketing, advertising and media-buy teams. We market our services and loan programs and procure leads through several channels. We constantly test and evaluate marketing efforts, response rates and media techniques to reach prospective clients and optimize the return on marketing investments. This research has allowed us to build a proprietary engine and approach that creates significant value for our franchise.

Currently, the main channels through which we market our services and loan programs are:

- Internet Media: We market through paid and organic web search engines, online web ads and other online directories. Our Core Digital Media business creates innovative online client lead generation programs to increase consumer response and conversion.
- Relationship Marketing: We develop client loyalty and referral programs, tailored e-mail and direct mail marketing campaigns, real estate and relocation company relationships, and data mining practices through information service providers.
- Third-Party Home Loan Referral Networks and Online Lead Aggregators: We work with a wide range of networks and aggregators who connect us with potential clients.
- Broadcast Media Advertising: We utilize direct response radio, television, print and outdoor advertisements.

- New Media Advertising: We participate on several social media and internet applications, including Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, YouTube, Yahoo Answers and mobile phone apps.
- Earned Media: We make unpaid placements in print and broadcast on the housing market and benefit from media coverage of our sponsorships of sports events and leagues and community initiatives.
- Partner Network: We work with our influencer and marketing partners to make targeted offers to relevant portions of their client base.

Client Leads by Year (in millions)

A combination of the efficiencies from our proprietary technologies, our specialized marketing teams, and the growth in our servicing portfolio and our partner network have led to an increase in conversion of client leads to closed loans. This increase in conversion has allowed us to continue to grow our mortgage origination volume without increasing the number of client leads at the same rate.

We utilize proprietary technologies and algorithms to make the most of each contact and lead received from a prospective client. These technologies allow us to route all calls and inquiries, along with any available data we have regarding the prospective client, to a mortgage banker who is available at any one of our locations. We have a marketing team that is specifically dedicated to allocating these leads to the most appropriate banker based on the information received and the workflow of bankers within the system. Once routed, the lead is prioritized and monitored to ensure mortgage bankers respond promptly. These technologies have increased our success in connecting with clients and finding the best solution to fit their needs.

We have marketing teams dedicated to each marketing channel that can promote a lead program or campaign. This allows us to efficiently generate and manage traffic to our website and calls to our web-centers.

The robust data we generate through our servicing business enables us to make informed offers to clients who could benefit from a more cost-effective mortgage via a refinancing or a new home purchase client who in addition to a mortgage can also benefit from a personal loan from Rocket Loans. Our data science team incubates and monitors potential leads until a data trigger determines the optimal time to connect.

Brand Investment

Our national Rocket brand is a competitive advantage that is extremely difficult to replicate. In our industry, we are the only company with significant digital-first brand recognition. Since our inception, we have invested over $5 billion in marketing, including over $900 million for the year ended December 31, 2019. Our in-house marketing agency has a long history of creating bold and visible events and campaigns, including the Quicken Loans Carrier Classic in 2011—a NCAA Men's Basketball game that raised proceeds for military charities and was attended on Veterans Day by President Obama; the Quicken Loans Billion Dollar Bracket for the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament in 2014, in collaboration with Warren Buffett; the annual Rocket Mortgage Classic—the first ever PGA TOUR event in Detroit; and recently a prominent Super Bowl Squares campaign and our latest Super Bowl ad, featuring actor Jason Momoa, was ranked the fifth best Super Bowl ad by USA Today's Ad Meter.

Superior Economic Model

Mortgage Origination Fees and Profitability

Our mortgage origination business primarily generates revenue and cash flow from the gain on sale of loans, net. The gain on sale of loans, net includes all components related to the origination and sale of mortgage loans, including:

(1) net gain on sale of loans, which represents the premium received in excess of the loan principal amount and certain fees charged by investors upon sale of loans into the secondary market;

(2) loan origination fees (credits), points and certain costs;

(3) provision for or benefit from investor reserves;

(4) the change in fair value of IRLCs and loans held for sale;

(5) the gain or loss on forward commitments hedging loans held for sale and IRLCs; and

(6) the fair value of originated MSRs.

Interest income, net is a small component of our revenues ($116 million in 2019) because we take very little credit risk as we hold loans on our balance sheet for a very short period of time before selling them in the capital markets. Interest income, net is the difference between interest received from our clients on the loans we originate before we sell them in the secondary market and the interest we pay on our loan funding facilities.

Relative to some consumer-driven technology industries with loss-leading products, we price to be profitable on the first transaction. Any subsequent product or service that we are able to sell to a client, including a mortgage refinancing in the future, are designed to produce a higher marginal profit.

Gain on sale revenues can vary across products and channels based on the specifics of that channel.

For example, our Direct to Consumer segment provides us with higher gain on sale margins, on average, than our other channels. However, the Direct to Consumer channel requires a higher amount of operating expenses through a significant investment in brand marketing and client acquisition.

In contrast, our Partner Network segment produces lower gain on sale margins. However, client acquisition cost are also lower and incremental overhead costs are minimal. For this reason, we achieve significant operating leverage from our Partner Network and see this segment as a key part of our growth engine.

A mortgage which is originated from our servicing book has lower client acquisition costs compared to a mortgage originated in the Direct to Consumer segment. This is why we see our servicing book and related recapture originations as a key strategy for continued growth and profitability.

Mortgage Servicing Fees

We also generate significant fees from servicing our clients' loans. For every mortgage that we service, we receive a contractual set of recurring cash flows for the life of the loan, primarily those which are part of a securitization by the GSEs or Ginnie Mae. Additionally, we earn ancillary revenue such as late fees and modification incentives on the loans we service. Subservicing revenue is primarily based on contractual per loan fees. Servicing produces a significant amount of fee income, with total servicing fee income of $950 million for the year ended December 31, 2019.

Because cash flows depend on the balances of outstanding mortgages, the value of our MSR fee income fluctuates based on the size of our servicing portfolio and other model inputs. Additionally, if a client repays a mortgage, our servicing portfolio decreases, which reduces our revenues. We believe our two principal sources of revenue, mortgage loan originations and mortgage loan servicing, contribute to a stable business profile by creating a natural hedge against changes in the interest rate environment. As interest rates rise and the likelihood of refinancing decreases, MSRs generally increase in value which helps to offset any decline in origination volumes. As interest rates decline and the likelihood of refinancing increases, origination volumes tend to increase which helps to offset the decline in MSR value caused by the higher probability of loan prepayment. In addition, our sizeable origination platform helps us to grow our servicing portfolio by retaining the MSRs on new loan volume and thus replenish our MSRs during periods of high prepayments.

Other Fee Income

The majority of other Rocket businesses strictly generate revenues from fees we receive for providing services to our clients or partners. Rocket Loans generates fees in a similar fashion to our mortgage business, receiving an origination fee, an investor fee from the end buyer, and an ongoing servicing fee. We also earn fees from real estate agent referrals to Rocket Homes and from facilitating auto sales for Rocket Auto. Core Digital Media receives fees from the generation and sale of client leads in the mortgage and other industries.

Lower Acquisition and Operating Costs

Our platform and technology create a significant financial advantage for client acquisition. Our investments in our brand and performance marketing allow us to have significant leverage. We lower our average client acquisition costs through our sophisticated marketing capabilities which create an ability to convert a higher number of our leads into applications.

Once a loan has moved into application status, our automated operations deliver an advantage in both cost of processing and quality. We have fewer manual touchpoints which reduce the cost to process the loan. As our loans are processed more quickly, the ability for loans to fall out due to competition, rate changes, or other errors is reduced. This provides us higher certainty to close which allows us to better amortize upfront costs.

Operating Leverage

The automation and efficiency we have created results in significant operating leverage. We are able to scale quickly and efficiently which allows us to grow both volume and per unit profitability when the market expands.

Our operating margin and leverage also helps us control profitability when market volumes are lower. We have automated much of the processing of a loan and therefore have lower fixed and marginal costs on a per unit basis. For example, in 2018 when many mortgage companies were producing net losses, we were able to remain profitable.

Cash Flow Generation

We generate significant cash flow from our business both through our cash gain on sale for mortgages and the cash fees which we recognize for servicing as well as in our other fee income producing businesses.

Investing for the Long-Term

As a result of our long-term focus, we continue to invest for the future. From our original decision to start an online direct channel to the continued investment to build scale, we are always focused on investing for the future. Due to the reduced volatility mentioned above, we are able to invest in building operating scale throughout economic cycles. We recognize that increasing capacity through automation and innovation when others are shrinking their business allows us to capture more upside when market volumes increase.

Profitability from Growth

We believe we are well positioned to continue to grow our share in the mortgage origination market. As the nation's largest retail mortgage lender according to Inside Mortgage Finance, we have a current market share of 9.2%. Our technology and centralized platform, along with our tremendous operating leverage, afford us the unique ability to rapidly scale and to continue to take share from the remaining 90.8% of the mortgage market.

Growth in our core mortgage business comes at attractive margins. Each additional unit that we add to our platform lowers the average cost and increases our operating margin. Because of this, we have focused on growing our retail channel through significant investments in brand marketing and lead generation.

Additionally, we view our partnerships as producing this same impact. Every partnership allows us to leverage our industry-leading brand and technology to offer more products and services to our partners' clients. This produces greater scale and, through our operating leverage, higher profits.

Our other businesses benefit from the ecosystem we have built around our mortgage business. We have lower startup costs as client acquisition costs are significantly lower than for new entrants. Additionally we have marketing, call center, origination, servicing and capital markets functions that can all be relied upon to develop a new offering. This decreases the risk of new offerings through lower upfront costs and allows the products to move more quickly to standalone profitability.

Capital-Light Business Model and Limited Credit Exposure

Our business model is capital light. We originate mortgage loans to aggregate in pools that are either sold to the GSEs or to investors in the secondary mortgage market. We hold our loans on our balance sheet for an average of 18 days in 2019 and as few as eight days during 2020. Since our counterparties are primarily the GSEs as well as other diversified sets of investors, we do not need to hold significant capital to grow our origination business. We have minimal exposure to credit risk from loans that may default. These mortgages are 92% conforming, which means they satisfy the underwriting criteria of the GSEs which enforces standards on credit score, loan to value, and ability to repay, among other factors. Our primary credit risk comes from errors in underwriting, which, because of controls introduced by our automated processes, are greatly reduced.

We do not have direct credit exposure to the servicing portfolio since we do not own the underlying loans that are being serviced. We do not have direct credit exposure in our other businesses.

Rocket Loans is similarly capital light. We underwrite loans in accordance with credit criteria that are agreed upon with third-party investors. The loans underwritten by Rocket Loans are originated for third-party investors and we do not retain any ongoing credit risk for the originated loans. Our Rocket Auto business only facilitates sales of used automobiles on behalf of third parties and does not hold any inventory.

The largest ongoing balance sheet asset is our mortgage servicing rights asset, which is the capitalized value of the future fees we are projected to receive from our servicing portfolio. Because of our high retention rate, this asset represents our future origination pipeline. We view holding onto this asset as a strategic priority.

Capital Markets Capabilities

We have an experienced Capital Markets team consisting of over 400 team members who actively manage the pooling and selling of loans into the secondary market, as well as all risk mitigation involved in the securitization process. The Capital Markets team leverages proprietary data collection to maximize pull-through rate visibility and establish an efficient market rate hedging program, which helps protect our balance sheet from adverse rate movements.

Innovation and execution drive the capital markets team. The team actively works to simplify investor guidelines and streamline processes to improve the client experience. For example, the capital markets team introduced an innovative loan program titled the YOURgage, allowing our clients to pick any loan term, from eight to 30 years.

The capital markets team employs various economic hedging strategies to mitigate the interest rate and the anticipated loan refinancing probability or "pull-through risk" inherent in such mortgage assets. These hedge instruments involve elements of interest rate and counterparty risk.

The strength and strategic importance of our capital markets team is demonstrated through sustained performance and results. The capital markets team has been instrumental to our ability to maintain consistent sale margins despite changing market environments.

Diversified Funding Base and Strong Liquidity Profile

We have historically maintained liquidity that is designed to allow us to fund our loan origination business, manage our day-to-day operations and protect us against foreseeable market risks. Our sources of liquidity include loan funding facilities, two MSR facilities, two unsecured lines of credit, an early buy out facility, as well as cash on hand.

As of March 31, 2020, we had $16.25 billion of loan funding capacity with nine different counterparties, of which $11.4 billion was outstanding. Of the loan funding capacity, $10.75 billion is warehouse financing with large, geographically diverse lenders, and the remaining is early funding facilities. Over 47.8% of our facilities have original maturity dates of two years or longer, which reduces the risk of refinancing. We also have access to $2.1 billion of liquidity through five other financing facilities and have established access to the debt capital markets through the issuance of two senior unsecured bonds.

Highly Scalable and Adaptable Platform

As the only truly national Direct to Consumer brand and platform with a digital application, we have the unique ability to target a large client base across all 50 states over the internet and through our centralized loan processing centers. Operating from centralized facilities gives us greater control over the client experience and allows us to take advantage of economies of scale, reducing our processing costs. This centralized structure and scalable platform also allows us to quickly adapt to market changes.

Our size, loan volume and technologies allow us to utilize specialized sub-groups of operations team members who are dedicated solely to certain sub-sets of tasks and areas of concern. Our dedicated teams focus on areas such as underwriting, client communication, acquisition of vendor documents, quality assurance, and closing. Specialization of each of the steps in the loan origination process has allowed us to create experts in each task, allowing them to quickly identify potential issues or rely on their expertise to solve problems.

We have dozens of individual tasks with controlled work prioritization, resulting in shorter training time for new team members. We can quickly ramp up operational capacity with this specialized approach, instead of relying on lengthy training periods for new team members to perform all the duties of a traditional processor. This approach is a true differentiator, allowing us to quickly scale the workforce to match demand and the size of the pipeline.

We believe that our platform provides the capacity to close a substantially higher amount of loans per month based on current resources without significant investment in infrastructure. This centralized structure and scalable platform also allows Rocket Mortgage to quickly adapt to the evolving regulatory environment and market changes. We believe that significant barriers to entry exist in the mortgage industry due to the changing and heightened regulatory environment.

Our scale, together with our high-quality, geographically diverse originations and efficient platform, allows our experienced capital markets team to achieve superior secondary market execution. The capital markets team aggregates pools of loans to obtain the best pricing for sales into the market. At the same time, the capital markets team uses proprietary technologies in addition to outside information services to hedge interest rate positions until loans are sold. Over the last decade we have generated consistently strong margins which we believe are attributable to the high-quality loans generated from our business model and our experienced capital markets team.

Team Member Experience

Our culture creates an environment where team members know their opinions are valued and curiosity is encouraged. This collaborative atmosphere empowers our team members and keeps them engaged, making us stronger, faster, and more innovative as a company. Internal surveys show approximately 95% of our team members believe the work they do contributes to the success of our Company.

Our high-quality workplace culture creates significant opportunities to attract and retain talent. We encourage our team members to build a long-term career within our Company and focus on a common mission. Our commitment to the cities where we live, work, and play, attracts team members who are similarly focused on building a strong community, further benefitting our cultural identity.

In addition to the recognition we received from FORTUNE magazine, our operations in Phoenix, Cleveland and Charlotte have been recognized as top workplaces in 2019 in local business publications. Of our approximately 20,000 team members, approximately 1,500 team members have been with us for over 10 years.

Strong, Collaborative Senior Leadership Team

Our senior leadership team's vision has reshaped the mortgage landscape and fueled our substantial growth while consistently reinforcing our culture. This long-tenured team has been with us for an average of 24 years. Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, has provided us with steady leadership during our entire 35-year history and served as Chief Executive Officer from 1985 until 2002. Jay Farner is our current Chief Executive Officer and has been with us for 24 years. Bob Walters is our President and Chief Operating Officer and has been with us for 23 years. Julie Booth is our Chief Financial Officer and has been with us for 16 years. Angelo Vitale is our General Counsel and Secretary and has been with us for 23 years. This team has led us through a variety of housing and economic cycles, and has found ways to take advantage of broader industry disruption to continue our growth and success.

We are focused on developing and promoting talent from within, which has enabled us to develop both the current team of senior leaders as well as the next generation of leaders. Prior to becoming Chief Executive Officer, Jay Farner served as our President and Chief Marketing Officer and Vice President of Web Mortgage Banking before that. In these roles, Jay personally led the building of Rocket Mortgage and brand strategy as well as online performance marketing and the creation of the centralized banking teams. Prior to becoming President and Chief Operating Officer, Bob Walters served as our Chief Economist and Executive Vice President leading Capital Markets and Servicing. In these roles, Bob oversaw the teams responsible for developing our capital markets capabilities, launching servicing and transforming our client experience and operations teams. Prior to becoming Chief Financial Officer, Julie Booth served as our Vice President, Finance and initiated the creation and development of the Treasury, Procurement, and Internal Audit functions over the years. Angelo Vitale has served as Chief Executive Officer of our subsidiary Rock Central and as our Executive Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary. In these positions, Angelo has been responsible for our legal functions, including regulatory compliance, commercial real estate leasing and enterprise risk management.

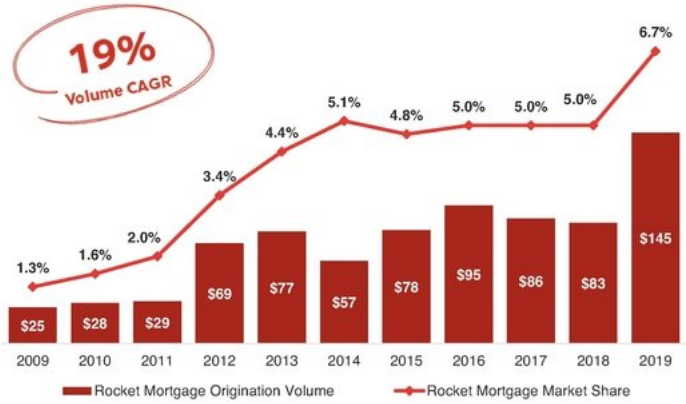
Culture of zero-defects and regulatory compliance

We seek to implement a culture of compliance and we pride ourselves in doing the right thing. We have a strong regulatory compliance function and have the organizational and technological flexibility to swiftly comply with changing regulations. We place strong emphasis on credit quality. Throughout the loan process, we use third-party data that is pulled directly into our system to verify income, assets, employment and other client information. For example, we validate client income against tax information reported to the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. Furthermore, our rules-based loan origination platform is consistent across all offices and is designed to prevent mortgage bankers from approving exceptions to lending criteria, helping to ensure that we remain disciplined with respect to credit.

Our loan process mitigates the risk for underwriting fraud as it is handled by multiple specialists rather than a single underwriter. Each loan goes through multiple specialized teams as part of the operations process, providing quality assurance and multiple reviews from underwriting through closing. This process allows us to protect against fraud and errors without delaying the overall time from application to close. Additionally, unlike the more traditional loan officer compensation model that is based on number of mortgage approvals, the Rocket Mortgage compensation model rewards our team members for the number of loan applications processed. We believe the focus of our compensation model on applications, rather than approvals, better aligns economic incentives with compliance and regulatory requirements.

We experience delinquency rates in our servicing portfolio that are much lower than the industry average, with the percentage of UPB of mortgages that are 60 days or more delinquent in payments of 0.92% as of March 31, 2020. Rocket Mortgage's FHA Compare Ratio of 43% as of March 31, 2020, is the lowest FHA Compare Ratio of the top 20 mortgage originators by FHA closed loan volume during that period. The FHA Compare Ratio is calculated by the FHA and represents the default rate of a single lender compared to the default rate in the FHA's total mortgage portfolio. This robust loan process also reduces potential liability under our representations and warranties to purchasers of our loans in the secondary market.

OUR GROWTH



Track Record of Scaling Our Platform

We have significant experience drawing on our competitive strengths to expand our business. We continuously evaluate various initiatives to enhance the client experience by identifying and offering new products and services that will benefit our clients. We are guided by the long-term potential of our initiatives and we ensure that our platform is able to scale with a high degree of operating leverage. Additionally, our leading national brand and access to millions of current and prospective clients allows us to reduce the time and investment required to identify opportunities to scale our businesses.

We made the decision to shift from a branch-based model to a digital-first, centralized model beginning in the late 1990s. Our objective was to develop a centralized platform that seamlessly scaled with increasing demand without having to linearly increase our team members or increase our processing times. Over the last two decades, we have demonstrated our ability to scale our business while significantly improving client outcomes. The scalability of the Rocket Mortgage platform is evidenced by our record setting $145 billion of closed mortgage loan originations in the year ended December 31, 2019 and our position as the nation's largest retail mortgage originator according to Inside Mortgage Finance for the last nine consecutive quarters.

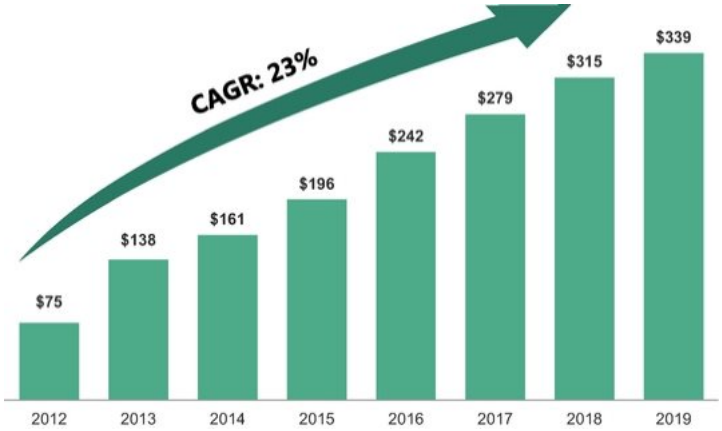
Total Originations Volume ($ in billions)



We also have a track record of successfully adapting to the changing macro-economic and regulatory environments and scaling rapidly to take advantage of new opportunities. As an example, when the Federal Housing Finance Agency expanded the Home Affordable Refinance Program ("HARP") in late 2011 in response to the financial crisis, we were able to leverage our scalable technology platform to expand our capacity swiftly to take advantage of the increased refinancing volume, while still managing workflow and maintaining our standard processing times. We reached a peak origination volume of $77 billion in 2013, representing a 166% increase over the $29 billion of originations we recorded in 2011.

Recognizing a new opportunity in the market, we have recently placed emphasis on expanding our partner network which has enabled us to rapidly build market share. By offering the benefits of our industry leading platform to our external partners, we have formed long-term relationships with influencers and marketing partners that have supported our growth and created additional scale. To date, our partners have provided $189 billion in cumulative originations as of March 31, 2020. We offer our partner network an elevated experience consisting of powerful products, resources and technology. We ensure our partners have access to our advanced Rocket Professional technology. Our strong product lineup and competitive pricing enhances our partners' value proposition by delivering speed and certainty to close to their clients.

Another example of our success in launching and scaling a business is our mortgage servicing offering. In 2010, we made the strategic decision to begin retaining servicing on the majority of our loan originations. We now service loans for approximately 1.83 million client loans and $343.6 billion of UPB. We have built a servicing business that looks to "Love, Protect and Amaze" our clients while maintaining efficient operations. In 2019 we achieved overall client retention levels of 63%, and refinancing retention levels of 76%, which is approximately 3.5 times higher than the industry average of 22%. We have also been recognized with six consecutive J.D. Power awards for excellence in mortgage servicing, winning the award in each year we have been eligible to participate.

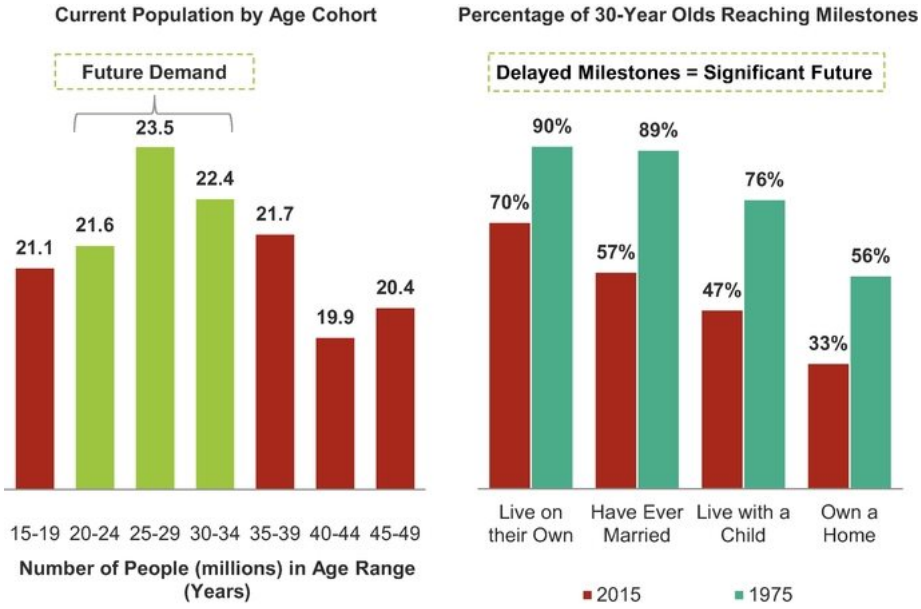
Expand Our Leading Mortgage Market Share

We are well positioned to continue to grow our market share and capture opportunities in the mortgage market. As the nation's largest retail mortgage originator according to Inside Mortgage Finance, we are the scaled leader in the U.S. mortgage industry with market share of 9.2%. With origination volume in the industry expected to total approximately $2.7 and $2.1 trillion in 2020 and 2021, respectively, we believe our centralized platform and technology afford us the unique ability to rapidly and efficiently scale to continue to take market share from our competitors.

We will continue to invest significantly in our brand, technical capabilities and enhancing the client experience, which we expect will support a considerable increase in our market share of the mortgage origination and servicing industry. Our superior client experience is evidenced by our Net Promoter Score of 74, a measure of client satisfaction, as compared to that of the industry, 16, demonstrating our strong client relationships.

As the leading technology-focused mortgage originator, we believe we are uniquely positioned to take advantage of consumers shifting to the use of digital channels. Home buyers have come to expect the convenience of accessing real-time market information and financial services from the internet and their smart devices and have become accustomed to on-demand services as the standard method of interacting with service providers. Consumers are increasingly moving toward a digital-first relationship with their financial services providers and have come to expect a seamless client experience, with flawless execution at much faster speeds than with traditional models. We believe our significant investment in our technology platform and team members over the last two decades has given us the infrastructure required to capitalize on these trends.



We believe that the shift towards the digital channel will lead to a more concentrated industry, with industry leaders taking advantage of their economies of scale and brand. We expect the market over time will more closely resemble other large consumer-focused industries with a handful of major players capturing significant market share. As the number of consumers seeking a mortgage through digital platforms continues to increase, we expect to leverage our scale and brand to win these clients by providing a top-notch client experience and the fastest time to closing.

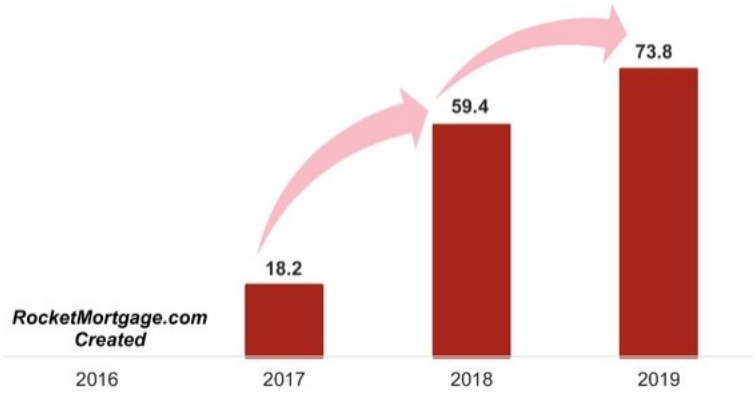
Speed is critical in the mortgage approval process. We have already accelerated the speed to close for many of our clients, which is enabled by our centralized operations and the unique way we have split the mortgage origination workflow into a series of discrete, parallel steps, improving efficiencies and limiting unnecessary bottlenecks.

Market Demographics Will Drive Growth



Millennial homeownership rates, at approximately 32% today, significantly lag the rates of Generation X and the Baby Boomer generation. There are approximately 67.5 million Millennials between the ages of 20 and 34, representing the potential for an increase in demand over the next few years.

Source: U.S. Census Bureau.

While Millennial homeownership is low today, it remains a top priority among approximately 70% of Millennials, indicating the potential for a substantial increase in home purchases is on the horizon as they continue to build wealth and also benefit from the expected intergenerational wealth transfer from the Baby Boomer generation. Additionally, Millennials' demand for tech-savvy services is expected to grow.

RocketMortgage.com Site Visits (in millions)

We monitor RocketMortgage.com site visits as a measure of client interest and have seen an increasing trend in the number of visits. This measure is an indicator of the effectiveness of our marketing strategies, however it does not have a direct correlation to originations or revenues. This measure is calculated by a third party service that monitors website activity.

Our Partner Network Will Generate Significant Growth

We expect our Partner Network segment to support further growth. We have aligned our brand with other high-quality consumer-focused organizations, which will provide us with a differentiated client acquisition channel that our competitors cannot replicate. We have formed relationships with influencers who utilize our platform with their clients, such as , and marketing partners who refer their clients directly to us such as , and . We have a robust pipeline of potential partners that we are working to onboard in 2020 and beyond. Our technology infrastructure is designed to plug-and-play, which allows us to seamlessly onboard partners and begin originations in a short time period.

Leveraging the Rocket Ecosystem

We have significant experience in drawing on our competitive strengths to expand our business. A key differentiator of Rocket is our historical investment and focus on our technology and data platform. This purpose built platform has given us the infrastructure required to capitalize on long-term growth trends and be on the forefront of innovation in consumer finance. Together, our brand and our technology and data platform drive success across all Rocket products. We leverage the ecosystem's infrastructure to innovate and grow products that address consumer needs, while efficiently using platform resources and learnings to drive our return on investment.

Currently, our data and technology platform enables us to offer seamless loan application and management experience, which strengthen our relationship with clients and build brand awareness. In turn, we use our deep client relationships and the strength of our brand to build more convenient mortgage solutions and innovative new products across the consumer finance spectrum. Empowered by our culture, our team is passionate and aligned to bring the best client experience and work environment to the Rocket ecosystem. We are committed to growing our core market in mortgage but also poised to take advantage of new growth vectors enabling our expansion.

Our additional Rocket offerings are summarized as follows:

- Rocket Homes: The real estate agent referral process enables us to collect a portion of the transaction commission and increases our likelihood on converting on the mortgage origination. Our proprietary Rocket Homes search page launched in 2018 and currently operates in 17 states. The site experienced over 180,000 unique monthly visits in 2019 and is poised to disrupt the U.S. real estate point of sale market, which has approximately $100 billion of annual sales. The technology behind Rocket Homes provides users with direct access to Multiple Listing Service (MLS) systems, which were once exclusively available to licensed real estate brokers, and gives users access to our network of 15,000+ real estate agents.

- Rocket Loans: We are positioning our Rocket Loans offering to disrupt the U.S. unsecured lending market, of which personal loans is a growing portion. The personal unsecured lending market in the United States has approximately $162 billion of outstanding balances, which have grown at a 16% CAGR since 2016. Leveraging our advanced data analytics, we now offer personal and contractor loans. The rapid adoption of this product offering is largely due to its ability to approve borrowers quickly and efficiently, using our proprietary algorithms. In the future, we plan to monetize this technology via potential licensing agreements with other vendors who rely on rapid approvals to run their businesses.

- Rocket Auto: Our entrance into the U.S. consumer auto sales market in 2017 has allowed us to reach beyond real estate and personal finance, and tap into a more diversified client base. The consumer auto sales market in the United States had approximately 40.8 million in used auto sales in 2019. The sales capabilities in our Rock Connections business has fueled our early success in auto sales units, with Rocket Auto facilitating approximately 20,000 used auto sales in 2019. Through Rocket Auto, we provide our partners who own large auto inventories with an outlet to sell vehicles by generating leads and facilitating vehicle finance and insurance sales.

- Lendesk and Edison: We have invested in two mortgage business startups in Canada, as we believe our success in the U.S. can be leveraged in the Canadian mortgage market, a market of approximately $761 billion CAD of annual mortgage originations.

Each of these businesses benefits from its relationship with Rocket Mortgage and in many cases Rocket Mortgage also benefits from these relationships. For example, our experience has shown that a relationship with a Rocket Homes' partner agent significantly increases the likelihood that we will close a Rocket Mortgage loan. Similarly, we have found that a significant number of personal loan leads from Rocket Loans have turned into mortgage-refinance transactions once we are able to spend time with the clients to understand their needs better.

Growth Vectors Enabling Expansion

We plan to leverage our current strengths to fuel further expansion. We will continue to drive growth through fully capturing the cross-selling opportunities within our ecosystem, investing in key relationships with strategic partners, driving our domestic brand name recognition internationally and continuing opportunistic acquisitions.

Cross-sell: Through our online servicing portal we engage with our clients on a monthly basis, which helps us drive efficient and cross-channel leads for our other products. As existing Rocket Mortgage clients log on to make monthly payments, check balances and utilize our other services, we are able to market customized Rocket Loans and Rocket Homes offers directly to them. This connectivity, provided by our mortgage platform, is a differentiated way that we guide existing clients toward our other product lines. We believe that our clients' trust in and appreciation for the Rocket brand will continue to drive leads to other innovative products in the Rocket ecosystem.

International expansion: In addition to leveraging our mortgage platform, we also believe there are several opportunities for geographic expansion that would allow us to apply our institutional knowledge and infrastructure to provide a better client experience in geographies outside of the United States. For example, in Canada where loan origination technology is less prevalent than in the United States, our Lendesk business is currently addressing the incumbents' inability to provide similar technology-focused solutions.

Strategic growth through acquisition: We stay opportunistic and rigorously evaluate inorganic growth opportunities with strategic merit. In 2017, we acquired LowerMyBills and OpenHouse. In 2018, we acquired ForSaleByOwner, in 2019, we invested in Lendesk and in 2020, we invested in Edison Financial. Through highly strategic acquisitions, we are able to enter new markets with scale, and onboard technology solutions that can unlock incremental value by integrating with the Rocket ecosystem.

CLIENTS

The majority of the loans we originate are sold to the GSEs and government agencies. In each of the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019 and in each of the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, we sold more than 91% of our loans to GSEs and government agencies. Since our counterparties are primarily the GSEs as well as other diversified sets of investors, we do not need to hold significant capital to grow our origination business. Additionally, we service all loans we sell to the GSEs. We believe that the quality and breadth of our sales of loans to the GSEs is a strong testament to our underwriting process and high quality mortgages.

GOVERNMENT REGULATIONS AFFECTING LOAN ORIGINATIONS AND SERVICING

We operate in a heavily regulated industry that is highly focused on consumer protection. The financial crisis in general, and the related tumult in the residential mortgage market in particular, placed our industry under increased regulatory and public scrutiny and resulted in stricter and more comprehensive regulation of our business. Statutes, regulations and practices that have been in place for many years may be changed, and new laws have been, and may continue to be, introduced in order to address real and perceived problems in our industry. These laws and how they are interpreted continue to evolve.

This extensive regulatory framework we are subject to includes Canadian, U.S. federal, state and local laws, regulations and rules. Governmental authorities and various Canadian, U.S. federal and state agencies have broad oversight and supervisory authority over our business.

We continue to work diligently to assess and understand the implications of the regulatory environment in which we operate and the regulatory changes that we are facing. We devote substantial resources to regulatory compliance, including operational and system costs, while at the same time striving to meet the needs and expectations of our clients.

Licensing, Supervision and Enforcement

Because we are not a depository institution, we must comply with state licensing requirements to conduct our business. Similar licensing laws apply to us in Canada. We incur significant ongoing costs to comply with these licensing requirements.

To conduct our residential mortgage operations in the United States, we are licensed in all 50 states and the District of Columbia. As required by state law, we have additional licenses to enable us to act as a loan servicer, mortgage broker, real estate brokerage, conduct lead generation activities, and operate our personal loan platform that facilitates loans in 47 states and the District of Columbia. Generally speaking, the licensing process includes the submission of an application to the state agency, a character and fitness review of key individuals and an administrative review of our business operations.

Under the Secure and Fair Enforcement for Mortgage Licensing Act of 2008 ("the SAFE Act"), all states have laws that require mortgage loan originators employed by non-depository institutions to be individually licensed to offer mortgage loan products. These licensing requirements require individual loan originators to register in a nationwide mortgage licensing system, submit application and background information to state regulators for a character and fitness review, submit to a criminal background check, complete a minimum of 20 hours of pre-licensing education, complete an annual minimum of eight hours of continuing education and successfully complete an examination. Upon issuance of a license, we become subject to regulatory oversight, supervision and enforcement activity to determine compliance with applicable law.

Under the Dodd-Frank Act, the CFPB was established in 2011 to ensure, among other things, that consumers receive clear and accurate disclosures regarding financial products and to protect consumers from hidden fees and unfair, deceptive or abusive acts or practices. The CFPB's jurisdiction includes those persons originating, brokering or servicing residential mortgage loans and those persons performing loan modification or foreclosure relief services in connection with such loans. It also extends to our other lines of business. The CFPB has broad supervisory and enforcement powers with regard to non-depository institutions, such as us, that engage in the origination and servicing of home loans and personal loans. The CFPB has conducted routine examinations of our business and will conduct future examinations.

As part of its enforcement authority, the CFPB can order, among other things, rescission or reformation of contracts, the refund of moneys or the return of real property, restitution, disgorgement or compensation for unjust enrichment, the payment of damages or other monetary relief, public notifications regarding violations, remediation of practices, external compliance monitoring and civil money penalties. The CFPB has been active in investigations and enforcement actions and has issued large civil money penalties since its inception to parties the CFPB determines violated the laws and regulations it enforces.

We are also supervised by regulatory agencies under Canadian and U.S. state law. From time to time, we receive examination requests that require us to provide records, documents and information relating to our business operations. State attorneys general, state licensing regulators, and state and local consumer protection offices have authority to investigate consumer complaints and to commence investigations and other formal and informal proceedings regarding our operations and activities. In addition, the GSEs and the FHFA, Ginnie Mae, FTC, HUD, various investors, non-agency securitization trustees and others are subject us to periodic reviews and audits. This broad and extensive supervisory and enforcement oversight will continue to occur in the future.

Canadian, U.S. Federal, State and Local Laws and Regulations

As a highly regulated business, the regulatory and legal requirements we face can change and may even become more restrictive. In turn, this could make our compliance responsibilities more complex, expensive or otherwise restrict our ability to conduct our business as it is now conducted or projected to be conducted. We are also subject to judicial and administrative decisions that impose requirements and restrictions on our business.

This extensive regulatory framework to which we are subject affects, among other things:

- our real estate brokerage activities;

- our marketing and advertising activities;
- the loan application process and disclosures;
- the use and handling of our clients' credit information and the reporting of credit information;
- the use and handling of our clients' public and non-public personal information;
- the manner in which home appraisals are obtained;
- our underwriting activities and credit determinations;
- the manner in which we close loans and the related disclosures;
- our clients' rights of rescission;
- the funding of our loans;
- how we service our loans and escrow administration;
- the terms and conditions under which we must offer client loss mitigation programs for our servicing clients;
- our collection, foreclosure, repossession and claims-handling procedures in the event of a default;
- our collection and reporting of loan data regarding our clients;
- the precautions against money-laundering and doing business with suspected terrorists that we have to take;
- the establishment of maximum interest rates, finance charges and other charges or fees that we may charge or pay; and
- secured transactions.

Numerous U.S. federal regulatory consumer protection laws impact our business, including but not limited to:

- RESPA and Regulation X, which (1) require certain disclosures to be made to the borrower at application, as to the lender's good faith estimate of loan origination costs, and at closing with respect to the real estate settlement statement, (2) apply to certain loan servicing practices including escrow accounts, client complaints, servicing transfers, lender-placed insurance, error resolution and loss mitigation, and (3) prohibit giving or accepting any fee, kickback or a thing of a thing of value for the referral of real estate settlement services;
- TILA, including HOEPA, and Regulation Z, which regulate mortgage loan origination activities, require certain disclosures be made to borrowers throughout the loan process regarding terms of mortgage financing, provide for a three-day right to rescind some transactions, regulate certain higher-priced and high-cost mortgages, require lenders to make a reasonable and good faith determination that consumers have the ability to repay the loan, mandate home ownership counseling for mortgage applicants, impose restrictions on loan originator compensation, and apply to certain loan servicing practices, TILA and Regulation Z also apply to our personal loan product requiring certain disclosures to borrowers regarding the terms and conditions of their loan. For most mortgage loans the time of application and time of loan closing disclosure requirements for RESPA and TILA have been combined into integrated disclosures under the TRID rule;
- Regulation N, which prohibits certain unfair and deceptive acts and practices related to mortgage advertising;
- certain provisions of the Dodd-Frank Act, including the Consumer Financial Protection Act, which, among other things prohibit unfair, deceptive or abusive acts or practices;

- the Fair Credit Reporting Act, as amended by the Fair and Accurate Credit Transactions Act, and Regulation V, which regulate the use and reporting of information related to the credit history of consumers, require disclosures to consumers regarding the use of credit report information in certain credit decisions and require lenders to undertake remedial actions if there is a breach in the lender's data security;
- the Equal Credit Opportunity Act and Regulation B, which prohibit discrimination on the basis of age, race and certain other characteristics in the extension of credit and require certain disclosures to applicants for credit;
- the Homeowners Protection Act, which requires certain disclosures and the cancellation or termination of mortgage insurance once certain equity levels are reached;
- the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act and Regulation C, which require reporting of loan origination data, including the number of loan applications taken, approved, denied and withdrawn;
- the Fair Housing Act, which prohibits discrimination in housing on the basis of race, sex, national origin, and certain other characteristics;
- the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act, which regulates the timing and content of third-party debt collection communications;
- the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act, which requires initial and periodic communication with consumers on privacy matters and the maintenance of privacy regarding certain consumer data in our possession;
- the Bank Secrecy Act and related regulations from the Office of Foreign Assets Control and the Uniting and Strengthening America by Providing Appropriate Tools Required to Intercept and Obstruct Terrorism Act ("USA PATRIOT Act"), which impose certain due diligence and recordkeeping requirements on lenders to detect and block money-laundering that could support terrorist or other illegal activities;
- the SAFE Act, which imposes state licensing requirements on mortgage loan originators;
- the Military Lending Act ("MLA"), which restricts, among other things, the interest rate and other terms that can be offered to active military personnel and their dependents on most types of consumer credit, requires certain disclosures and prohibits certain terms, such as mandatory arbitration if a dispute arises concerning the consumer credit product;
- the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act, which provides financial protections for eligible service members;
- the Federal Trade Commission Act, the FTC Credit Practices Rules and the FTC Telemarketing Sales Rule, which prohibit unfair or deceptive acts or practices and certain related practices;
- the Telephone Consumer Protection Act, which restricts telephone and text solicitations and communications and the use of automatic telephone equipment;
- the Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act ("ESIGN") and similar state laws, particularly the Uniform Electronic Transactions Act ("UETA"), which require businesses that use electronic records or signatures in consumer transactions and provide required disclosures to consumers electronically, to obtain the consumer's consent to receive information electronically;
- the Electronic Fund Transfer Act of 1978 ("EFTA") and Regulation E, which protect consumers engaging in electronic fund transfers;

- the Controlling the Assault of Non-Solicited Pornography and Marketing Act of 2003 and the FTC's rules promulgated pursuant to such Act (together, "CAN-SPAM Act"), which establish requirements for certain "commercial messages" and "transactional or relationship messages" transmitted via email; and

- the Bankruptcy Code and bankruptcy injunctions and stays, which can restrict collection of debts.

We are also subject to a variety of regulatory and contractual obligations imposed by credit owners, insurers and guarantors of the loans we originate or facilitate and/or service. This includes, but is not limited to, Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, Ginnie Mae, FHFA and the FHA, and are also subject to the requirements of the HARP program in which we participate.

The CFPB and Dodd-Frank Act

The CFPB directly and significantly influences the regulation of residential mortgage loan originations and servicing. The CFPB has rulemaking authority with respect to many of the federal consumer protection laws applicable to mortgage lenders and servicers, including TILA, RESPA and the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act. The CFPB has been active and continues to amend rules and regulations within its purview. In August 2017, the CFPB adopted rules regarding mortgage servicing practices that require modifications and enhancements to our mortgage-servicing processes and systems. In October 2015, the CFPB issued a rule, effective in January 2018, amending Regulation C of the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act ("HMDA"), which will greatly expanded the scope of data required to be collected and reported for every loan application, and in August 2017, the CFPB amended the rule to add several new reporting requirements and clarify other existing requirements. These new requirements for gathering and submitting large amounts of data regarding loan applications to regulators and the public is complex. Thus, any inadvertent errors in our gathering or reporting the data could result in fines or penalties being levied by the CFPB or other regulators against us. We anticipate future rulemaking from the CFPB. The CFPB has indicated that it plans to propose changes to the October 2015 rule that amended Regulation C, and that it plans to address the new reporting requirements that the CFPB added using its discretionary authority under HMDA. The CFPB has indicated that it plans to issue a proposal in July 2020. We cannot predict what final actions the CFPB will take regarding Regulation C.

In addition to the more recent actions described above, the CFPB's rulemaking and enforcement activities have included:

- Issuance of guidelines on sending examiners to banks and other institutions that service and/or originate mortgages to assess whether consumers' interests are protected. The CFPB has conducted examinations of our business pursuant to these guidelines and will continue to conduct examinations;

- Adoption of regulations regarding ability to repay and qualified mortgage standards that require a creditor to make a reasonable and good faith determination before originating a mortgage loan that the prospective borrower has the reasonable ability to repay the loan according to its terms. The standards also establish several types of qualified mortgages that provide the creditor with a safe harbor or a presumption of compliance with the ability to repay / qualified mortgage standards. The standard qualified mortgage requires borrowers to have a debt-to-income ratio that does not exceed 43%. For purposes of the ability to repay and qualified mortgage standards, HUD, the VA and the USDA have issued rules defining which loans insured or guaranteed under each agency's programs are qualified mortgages. The CFPB included in the ability to repay and qualified mortgage standards a temporary qualified mortgage for loans that are eligible for sale to Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac, commonly referred to as the QM Patch. Many mortgage loans, including mortgage loans originated by our Company, are made pursuant to the QM Patch. The QM Patch is scheduled to expire on January 10, 2021, or sooner if Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac exit the conservatorship of the FHFA. In June 2020, the CFPB issued proposed rules to revise its ability to repay requirements and to extend the QM Patch until those revisions are effective. The revised requirements would replace the CFPB's current debt-to-income-limit approach to ability to repay with a price-based approach. We cannot predict what final actions the CFPB will take regarding these matters. Not knowing the final actions that the CFPB will take creates uncertainty and the final actions may affect our business;

- Adoption of certain amendments to Regulation Z's HOEPA provisions that expanded the scope of HOEPA to include open-end credit, redefined "points and fees" for the purposes of determining whether a loan is a high-cost mortgage subject to the substantive and disclosure requirements of HOEPA, and the addition a new prong to the definition of a high-cost mortgage relating to prepayment penalties that may be charged in connection with a residential mortgage loan;

- An amendment to Regulation B to implement additional requirements under the Equal Credit Opportunity Act with respect to the provision of valuations, including appraisals and automated valuation models, to consumers in connection with applications for residential mortgage loans;

- Implementation of new loan disclosure requirements under the TRID rule to combine and amend certain disclosures required under TILA and RESPA, which significantly changed consumer facing disclosure rules and added certain waiting periods to allow consumers time to shop for and consider the loan terms after receiving the required disclosures; and

- Amendments to Regulation Z and Regulation X to adopt certain mortgage servicing standards set forth by the Dodd-Frank Act and other issues identified by the CFPB, including amendments to rules governing the scope, timing, content and format of disclosures to consumers regarding the interest rate adjustments of their variable-rate transactions and the establishment of certain requirements relating to billing statements, payment crediting and the provision of payoff statements.

The Company expects that its business will remain subject to extensive regulation and supervision. Future regulatory changes may result in an increase in our regulatory compliance burden and associated costs and place restrictions on our origination and servicing operations.

Our reverse mortgage business is also subject to a number of federal and state laws and regulations, and there have been substantial amendments to applicable federal laws, regulations and administrative guidance. The FHA has amended or clarified requirements related to HECMs through a series of issuances, including several Mortgagee Letters in 2014 and 2015. These requirements relate to advertising, restrictions on loan provisions, limitations on payment methods, new underwriting requirements, revised principal limits, revised financial assessment and property charge requirements, and the treatment of non-borrowing spouses. The FHA's guidance includes changes to both origination and servicing requirements.

Since 2013, HUD has required that all HECM lenders must perform a new financial assessment on all prospective HECM borrowers to ensure they have the capacity and willingness to meet their financial obligations and the terms of the reverse mortgage. In addition, these rules require borrowers to set aside a portion of the loan proceeds they receive at closing (or withhold a portion of monthly loan disbursements) for the payment of property taxes and homeowners insurance based on the results of the financial assessment. Key components of the financial assessment include a credit history and property charge payment history analysis, a cash flow/residual income analysis, and an analysis of compensating factors and extenuating circumstances to determine if the applicant is eligible for a HECM loan. Our reverse mortgage business is also subject to state statutory and regulatory requirements including, but not limited to, licensing requirements, required disclosures and permissible fees. The FHA has continued to issue additional guidance aimed at strengthening the HECM program. Most recently, the FHA issued a Mortgagee Letter changing initial and annual mortgage insurance premium rates and the principal limit factors for all HECMs.

Telephone Consumer Protection Act and the Telemarketing Sales Rule

The Telephone Consumer Protection Act (the "TCPA"), Telemarketing Sales Rules and related laws and regulations govern, among other things, communications via telephone and text and the use of automatic telephone dialing systems ("ATDS") and artificial and prerecorded voices. The FCC and the FTC have responsibility for regulating various aspects of these laws. The TCPA requires us to adhere to "do-not-call" registry requirements which, in part, mandate we maintain and regularly update lists of consumers who have chosen not to be called and restrict calls to consumers who are on a state or national do-not-call list. Many states have similar consumer protection laws regulating telemarketing. These laws limit our ability to communicate with consumers and reduce the effectiveness of our marketing programs. The TCPA does not distinguish between voice and data, and as such, SMS/MMS messages are also "calls" for the purpose of TCPA obligations and restrictions.

The TCPA provides that it is "unlawful for any person within the United States, or any person outside the United States if the recipient is within the United States ... to make any call (other than a call made for emergency purposes or made with the prior express consent of the called party) using any ATDS or an artificial or prerecorded voice ... to any telephone number assigned to a ... cellular telephone service... or any service for which the called party is charged for the call." In 2013, the FCC adopted new rules stating that the party making the call must obtain "prior express written consent" from the called party with respect to any communication covered by the TCPA that was made after October 16, 2013, which introduces an advertisement or that constitutes telemarketing. These requirements are significantly more rigorous and detailed than the requirements for prior express consent in other contexts. The TCPA provides a private right of action under which a plaintiff, including a plaintiff in a class action, may recover actual monetary loss or $500 for each call or text made in violation of the prohibitions on calls made using an "artificial or pre-recorded voice" or ATDS. A court may treble the amount of damages upon a finding of a "willful or knowing" violation. There is no statutory cap on maximum aggregate exposure (although some courts have applied in TCPA class actions constitutional limits on excessive penalties). An action may be brought by the FCC, a state attorney general, an individual, or a class of individuals. Like other companies that rely on telephone and text communications, we are regularly subject to putative, class action suits alleging violations of the TCPA. To date, no such class has been certified. If in the future we are found to have violated the TCPA, the amount of damages and potential liability could be extensive and adversely impact our business. Accordingly, were such a class certified or if we are unable to successfully defend such a suit, as we have in the past, then TCPA damages could have a material adverse effect on our results of operations and financial condition. For a discussion of current putative class actions under the TCPA, see "Business—Legal and Regulatory Proceedings."

State Laws

In addition to applicable federal laws and regulations governing our operations, our ability to originate and service loans in any particular state is subject to that state's laws, regulations and licensing requirements, which may differ from the laws, regulations and licensing requirements of other states. State laws often include fee limitations and disclosure and other requirements. Many states have adopted regulations that prohibit various forms of "predatory" lending and place obligations on lenders to substantiate that a client will derive a tangible benefit from the proposed home financing transaction and/or have the ability to repay the loan. These laws have required most lenders to devote considerable resources to building and maintaining automated systems to perform loan-by-loan analysis of points, fees and other factors set forth in the laws, which often vary depending on the location of the mortgaged property. Many of these laws are vague and subject to differing interpretation, which exposes the Company to some risks.

The number and complexity of these laws, and vagaries in their interpretations, present compliance and litigation risks from inadvertent error and omissions which we may not be able to eliminate from the Company's operation or activities. The laws, regulations and rules described above are subject to legislative, administrative and judicial interpretation, and some of these laws and regulations have been infrequently interpreted or only recently enacted. Infrequent interpretations of these laws and regulations or an insignificant number of interpretations of recently-enacted laws and regulations can result in ambiguity with respect to permitted conduct under these laws and regulations. Any ambiguity under the laws and regulations to which we are subject may lead to regulatory investigations or enforcement actions and private causes of action, such as class-action lawsuits, with respect to our compliance with applicable laws and regulations.

On January 1, 2020, the California Consumer Privacy Act ("CCPA") took effect, directly impacting our California business operations and indirectly impacting our operations nationwide. Generally speaking, the CCPA provides consumers with new privacy rights such as the right to request deletion of their data, the right to receive data on record for them, and the right to know what categories of data (generally) are maintained about them. It also mandates new disclosures prior to, and at, the point of data collection and increases the privacy and security obligations of entities handling certain personal information of such consumers. The CCPA allows consumers to submit verifiable consumer requests regarding their personal information and requires our business to implement procedures to comply with such requests. The California Attorney General issued, and subsequently updated, proposed regulations to further define and clarify the CCPA. The impact of this law and its corresponding regulations, future enforcement activity and potential liability is unknown. Several two additional states have enacted similar laws to the CCPA and we expect more states to follow.

Our centralized real estate brokerage and referral model is subject to numerous state laws that are continuously changing, including laws related to real estate brokerage; mobile- and internet-based businesses; data privacy, advertising, and consumer protection laws. These laws are continuing to evolve, can be costly to comply with, require significant management attention, and could subject us to civil claims, enforcement actions, fines, or other remedies, including revocation of licenses and suspension of business operations. It is often unclear as to how such laws and regulations affect us based the fact that those laws and regulations were created for traditional real estate brokerages and our business model is unlike traditional brokerages. We are also subject to contractual obligations and restrictions on the use and display of the real estate related data we receive from the MLS. Without this data our real estate search portal would not be able to operate.

Our Rocket Loans business relies on a business relationship with Cross River Bank, a New Jersey state chartered bank. The personal loans we make available are originated by Cross River Bank. Because Cross River Bank is an FDIC-insured bank, the interest rates on these loans are governed nationwide by Section 27 of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act, without regard to more restrictive state usury laws. Section 27 authorizes a state bank to charge interest at the rate allowed by the law of the state where it is located, which in New Jersey is 30% per annum on loans to individuals. This relationship subjects our business operations to extensive oversight by Cross River Bank and the FDIC.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

We use a combination of proprietary and third-party intellectual property, all of which we believe maintain and enhance our competitive position and protect our products. Such intellectual property includes owned or licensed patents, patent applications, trademarks, and trademark applications.

Quicken Loans has an exclusive, royalty-bearing, perpetual trademark license agreement with Intuit that allows Quicken Loans to use the "Quicken Loans" name and trademark in the United States. This agreement requires annual royalty payments based upon the income from the sale of loans generated under the Quicken Loans brand through the QuickenLoans.com website or Quicken Loans' web or call centers. Total licensing fees were $7.5 million for each of the twelve months ended December 31, 2017, 2018 and 2019, which is the maximum annual amount payable under the agreement. The license agreement is terminable by Intuit in various circumstances, including if Quicken Loans commits a material breach of the agreement (e.g., for failure to materially use the "Quicken Loans" name and trademark), undergoes certain changes of control, or in certain circumstances where wrongdoing or alleged wrongdoing by Quicken Loans or any controlling person could have a material adverse effect on Intuit. We have entered into an agreement with Intuit that, among other things, gives Quicken Loans full ownership of the "Quicken Loans" brand in 2022 in exchange for certain agreements, subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions.

We enter into confidentiality, intellectual property invention assignment and/or non-competition and non-solicitation agreements or restrictions with our employees, independent contractors and business partners, and we strictly control access to and distribution of our intellectual property.

CYCLICALITY AND SEASONALITY

The demand for loan originations is affected by consumer demand for home loans and the market for buying, selling, financing and/or re-financing residential and commercial real estate, which in turn, is affected by the national economy, regional trends, property valuations, interest rates, and socio-economic trends and by state and federal regulations and programs which may encourage/accelerate or discourage/slow-down certain real estate trends. Our business is generally subject to seasonal trends with activity generally decreasing during the winter months, especially home purchase loans and related services. Our lowest revenue and net income levels during the year have historically been in the first quarter, but this is not indicative of future results.

EMPLOYEES

We currently have approximately 20,000 team members all of whom are based in the United States. None of our employees are members of any labor union or subject to any collective bargaining agreement and we have never experienced any business interruption as a result of any labor dispute.

PROPERTIES

We currently operate through a network of over seven corporate offices, three client support locations and five call centers, located throughout the United States, the majority of which are leased.

Our headquarters and principal executive offices are located at 1050 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226. At this location, we lease office space totaling approximately 454,755 square feet from an affiliate of RHI. See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Transactions with RHI and other Affiliates—Real Estate Transactions." The lease for our offices at 1050 Woodward Avenue expires on December 31, 2028 unless terminated earlier under certain circumstances specified in our leases.

We believe that our facilities are in good operating condition and adequately meet our current needs, and that additional or alternative space to support future use and expansion will be available on reasonable commercial terms.

LEGAL AND REGULATORY PROCEEDINGS

As a group of organizations that provide, among other things, consumer residential mortgage lending and servicing, consumer unsecured installment loans and loan servicing, residential real estate brokerage services, and online marketing and consumer acquisition services, we operate within highly regulated industries on a federal, state and local level. The Company is routinely subject to various examinations and legal and administrative proceedings in the normal and ordinary course of business. This can include, on occasion, investigations, subpoenas, enforcement actions involving the CFPB or FTC, state regulatory agencies and attorney generals and putative or certified class actions involving private litigants. These proceedings are generally based on allegations that we did not comply with obligations under various state or federal laws, rules and/or regulations with respect to: the marketing, origination, servicing and collection of residential mortgage loans; the marketing, origination and servicing and collection of unsecured consumer installment loans; consumer protection laws; employment laws; securities laws; various contracts; and other laws. Periodically, we assess our potential liabilities and contingencies in connection with outstanding and threatened legal and administrative proceedings, utilizing the latest information available. Lawsuits and proceedings against us may include putative class claims for statutory damages as well as claims for actual damages, punitive damages and equitable remedies.

West Virginia Class Action Lawsuit

Two of our subsidiaries, Quicken Loans and Amrock, are defending against a certified class action lawsuit originally filed in the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of West Virginia (Alig et al. v. Quicken Loans et al., Case Nos. 12-cv-114 and 12-cv-115) and which is currently on appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit (appeal No. 19-1059). The Aligs' lawsuit alleged that Quicken Loans and Amrock violated West Virginia state law by unconscionably inducing them (and a class of other West Virginians who received loans through Quicken Loans and appraisals through Amrock) into loans by including the borrowers' own estimated home values on appraisal order forms. The judge has ruled in favor of the plaintiffs on liability and the case is currently on appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. Quicken Loans and Amrock believe an unfavorable outcome to be reasonably possible but not probable based on rulings by the court, advice of counsel, their respective defenses, and other developments, with an aggregate possible range of loss to be between zero and $15 million.

TCPA Class Action Lawsuits

Quicken Loans is also defending itself against five TCPA putative class action lawsuits—(1) Mattson et al. v. Quicken Loans Inc., U.S. District Court for the District of Oregon, Case No. 18- cv-00989; (2) Hill and Hyde et al. v. Quicken Loans Inc., U.S. District Court for the Central District of California, Case No. 19-cv-00163; (3) Lopez et al. v. Quicken Loans Inc., U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, Case No. 19-cv-13340; (4) Winters et al. v. Quicken Loans Inc., U.S. District Court for the District of Arizona, Case No. 20-cv-00112; and (5) Woods et al. v. Quicken Loans Inc., U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Alabama, Case No. 20-cv-00640. The plaintiffs in these matters allege, among other things, that Quicken Loans contacted them without the requisite consent. Quicken Loans denies the allegations in these cases and intends to vigorously defend itself. In Mattson et al. v. Quicken Loans Inc., the Magistrate Judge issued a Report and Recommendation granting Quicken Loans's motion for summary judgment, absolving Quicken Loans of liability on all claims. The Report and Recommendation issued by the Magistrate Judge is still pending a decision by the District Judge. In each of the other TCPA matters referenced above, Quicken Loans either has filed a dispositive motion or intends to do so in the future which, if granted, would result in a complete dismissal of the lawsuit.

HouseCanary Texas Lawsuit

Amrock Inc. ('Amrock'), formerly known as Title Source, Inc. is currently involved in civil litigation related to a business dispute between Amrock and HouseCanary, Inc. ('HouseCanary'). The lawsuit was filed on April 12, 2016, by Amrock—Title Source, Inc. v. HouseCanary, Inc., No. 2016-CI-06300 (37th Civil District Court, San Antonio, Texas)—and included claims against HouseCanary for breach of contract and fraudulent inducement stemming from a contract between Amrock and HouseCanary whereby HouseCanary was obligated to provide Amrock with appraisal and valuation software and services. HouseCanary filed counterclaims against Amrock for, among other things, breach of contract, fraud, and misappropriation of trade secrets. On March 14, 2018, following trial of the claims in the lawsuit, a Bexar County, Texas, jury awarded $706.2 million in favor of HouseCanary and rejected Amrocks' claims against HouseCanary. The district court entered judgment in favor of HouseCanary and against Amrock for an aggregate of $739.6 million (consisting of $235.4 million in actual damages; $470.8 million in punitive damages; $28.9 million in prejudgment interest; and $4.5 million in attorney fees). On appeal (No. 04-19-00044-CV, Fourth Court of Appeals, San Antonio, Texas), the court of appeals affirmed judgment of no-cause on Amrock's claim for breach of contract, but reversed judgment on HouseCanary's claims for misappropriation of trade secrets and fraud and remanded the case for a new trial on HouseCanary's misappropriation of trade secrets and fraud claims. It is possible that one (or both) of the parties could seek additional appellate review of the court of appeals' decision. The outcome of this matter remains uncertain, and the ultimate resolution of the litigation may be several years in the future. If the case is tried again, Amrock intends to present new evidence, including evidence revealed by whistleblowers who came forward with evidence that undermined HouseCanary's claims after the conclusion of the original trial, and to vigorously defend against this case and any subsequent actions.

HouseCanary Federal Lawsuit

Quicken Loans, One Reverse Mortgage, LLC, and Rocket Homes Real Estate LLC (f/k/a In House Realty LLC) are defending themselves in an action captioned HouseCanary, Inc. v. Quicken Loans Inc., One Reverse Mortgage, LLC and In-House Realty LLC, U.S. District Court for the Western District of Texas, Case No. 5:18-cv-00519. The plaintiff in this action alleges misappropriation of trade secrets and breach of a contract to which none of the defendants was a signatory. The case is stayed pending resolution of defendants' motion to dismiss.

There are no recorded reserves related to potential damages in connection with any of the above legal proceedings, as any potential loss is not currently probable and reasonably estimable under U.S. GAAP. The ultimate outcome of these or other actions or proceedings, including any monetary awards against one or more of the Rocket Companies, is uncertain and there can be no assurance as to the amount of any such potential awards. The Rocket Companies will incur defense costs and other expenses in connection with the lawsuits. Additionally, lawsuits of this type may divert management's efforts and attention may be diverted from ordinary business operations. Plus, if a judgment for money that exceeds specified thresholds is rendered against a Rocket Company or Rocket Companies and it or they fail to timely pay, discharge, bond or obtain a stay of execution of such judgment, it is possible that one or more of the Rocket Companies could be deemed in default of their loan funding facilities and other agreements governing indebtedness. If the final resolution of any such litigation is unfavorable in one or more of these actions, it could have a material adverse effect on a Rocket Company's or the Rocket Companies' business, liquidity, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

MANAGEMENT

The following table sets forth the name, age and position of each of our executive officers and directors as of the date of this prospectus.

Name	Age	Position
Daniel Gilbert	58	Chairman of the Board of Directors
Jay Farner	47	Chief Executive Officer and Director
Robert Walters	55	President and Chief Operating Officer
Julie Booth	51	Chief Financial Officer and Treasurer
Angelo Vitale	61	General Counsel and Secretary
Jennifer Gilbert	51	Director
Matthew Rizik	65	Director
Suzanne Shank	58	Director
Nancy Tellem	67	Director

The following are brief biographies describing the backgrounds of the executive officers and directors of the Company.

Daniel Gilbert

Dan Gilbert is the Chairman of the board of directors of the Issuer, a position he has held since March 2020. Dan is the founder of Quicken Loans, where he has been the Chairman of the board of directors since 1985. He also served as the Chief Executive Officer of Quicken Loans from 1985 to 2002. Dan is the majority owner of RHI, and the Chairman of its board of directors, a position he has held since 2002. Dan is also the majority owner of the NBA Cleveland Cavaliers basketball team and the operator of the Rocket Mortgage Fieldhouse in Cleveland, Ohio. Furthermore, he is the Chairman of Rock Ventures, which, through affiliates controlled by Dan, has invested and committed billions to acquiring and developing more than 100 properties, including new construction of ground up developments in downtown Detroit and Cleveland, totaling more than 18 million square feet in Detroit's downtown urban core. In February 2016, Dan co-founded Detroit-based StockX, the world's first "stock market of things," combining the visible, liquid, anonymous, and transparent benefits of a stock market with the online consumer secondary market. Dan serves on the boards of the Cleveland Clinic and the Children's Tumor Foundation. In 2015, Dan and Jennifer Gilbert established the Gilbert Family Foundation and in 2017, formed NF Forward to fund cutting-edge research dedicated to finding a cure for neurofibromatosis (NF). Dan earned his bachelor's degree from Michigan State University and his law degree from Wayne State University. We believe Dan is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors due to his significant business leadership, investment and financial experience, as well as his role as a founder of the Company.

Jay Farner

Jay Farner is the Chief Executive Officer and a Director of the Issuer. Jay has held these positions since March 2020. Prior to that, Jay has been with Quicken Loans since 1996, and as a senior leader since 1999. Immediately prior to his promotion to CEO of Quicken Loans in 2017, Jay served as President and Chief Marketing Officer of Quicken Loans. Jay also serves as Chief Executive Officer and Director of RHI and certain of its affiliates, see "Risk Factors—Risks Related to Our Organization and Structure—We will share our Chief Executive Officer and certain directors with RHI, our Chief Executive Officer will not devote his full time and attention to our affairs, and the overlap may give rise to conflicts." Jay serves as a board member of Detroit Labs, LLC, Community Solutions, StockX, Bedrock Manufacturing, the Metropolitan Detroit YMCA, Bizdom Fund and Rocket Giving Fund. Jay earned a bachelor's degree in finance from Michigan State University. We believe Jay is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors due to his significant leadership experience within the Company over the past 20 years.

Robert Walters

Bob Walters is the President and Chief Operating Officer of the Issuer. Bob has held these positions since March 2020. In these positions, Bob oversees the day-to-day operations of the business, focusing on strategic planning and leveraging synergies among various operational teams at the Company. Most recently, Bob has served as President and Chief Operating Officer of Quicken Loans since 2017. Previously, Bob served as Chief Economist and Executive Vice President of Quicken Loans overseeing the Capital Markets and Servicing operations. Bob has been instrumental in leading the teams that manage interest rate risk management, trading and product development. Bob joined Rock Financial in 1997 after holding positions at both the National Bank of Detroit and DMR Financial Services. Bob earned his master's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan and his undergraduate degree in finance from Oakland University.

Julie Booth

Julie Booth is the Chief Financial Officer and Treasurer of the Issuer. Julie has held these positions since March 2020. Julie has been with Quicken Loans since 2003, leading its accounting and finance teams as Chief Financial Officer since 2005. She is responsible for the accounting, finance, treasury, tax, procurement, and internal audit functions. Prior to joining Quicken Loans, she was a senior manager with Ernst & Young LLP in Detroit, where she had 13 years of experience serving banking and mortgage banking clients in the assurance practice. She currently serves as a board member for Make-A-Wish Michigan and previously served as Chair for the Mortgage Bankers Association financial management committee. Julie earned a bachelor's degree in accounting from the University of Michigan and is a Certified Public Accountant.

Angelo Vitale

Angelo Vitale is the General Counsel and Secretary of the Issuer. Angelo has held this position since March 2020. Since early 2020, Angelo has been the Chief Executive Officer of our subsidiary Rock Central. Angelo was with Quicken Loans from 1997 through early 2020, leading its legal, audit and risk teams as Executive Vice President, General Counsel and Corporate Secretary since 2014. In that role, he was responsible for all legal functions, including regulatory compliance, commercial real estate leasing and enterprise risk management. Prior to joining Quicken Loans, Angelo was Senior Counsel for 12 years with another national mortgage servicing company. He began his legal career as an associate with a mid-size Detroit law firm specializing in the defense of personal injury litigation. Angelo earned a bachelor's degree (summa cum laude) from the University of Detroit Mercy and a J.D. degree from Wayne State University School of Law. He serves on the board of trustees of University of Detroit Mercy.

Jennifer Gilbert

Jennifer Gilbert is a Director of the Issuer, a position she has held since March 2020. Jennifer is the wife of Dan Gilbert. Jennifer has been a director of RHI since 2019, see "Risk Factors—Risks Related to Our Organization and Structure—We will share our Chief Executive Officer and certain directors with RHI, our Chief Executive Officer will not devote his full time and attention to our affairs, and the overlap may give rise to conflicts." Jennifer founded Amber Engine in 2015, a Detroit-based home furnishings services and solutions technology company. Amber Engine's mission is to provide the most accurate, complete and timely record of product data for the $275 billion home furnishings industry through its easy-to-use, flexible and affordable cloud-based SaaS solutions. Prior to Amber Engine, Jennifer founded Doodle Home, a digital platform for residential interior designers. Doodle Home was sold to Dering Hall in 2015. In 2013, Jennifer co-founded dPOP, a full-service commercial interior design studio located in the heart of Detroit, dedicated to creating inspiring workplaces for culture-driven organizations. Jennifer is active with a number of nonprofits focused on the arts and finding a cure for neurofibromatosis. She is President of NF Forward and serves as Chair of the Board of Governors of the Cranbrook Academy of Art and Art Museum, and as a board member for the Detroit Institute of Art. Jennifer also founded the Detroit Art Collection to beautify and inspire public spaces and structures in downtown Detroit with sculptural and mixed media works from local artists, galleries and dealers. Jennifer earned her bachelor's degree in interior design from Michigan State University. We believe Jennifer is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors due to her significant business and leadership experience.

Matthew Rizik

Matthew Rizik is a Director of the Issuer, a position he has held since March 2020. Matthew is also a Director of RHI, see "Risk Factors—Risks Related to Our Organization and Structure—We will share our Chief Executive Officer and certain directors with RHI, our Chief Executive Officer will not devote his full time and attention to our affairs, and the overlap may give rise to conflicts." Matthew joined RHI in 2012 as the Chief Tax Officer. Prior to joining RHI, Matthew was a tax partner with PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP in Detroit, where he had over 31 years of experience serving banking and mortgage banking clients. Matthew currently serves as a board member of the Motown Museum Legacy Council, City Year, Gilbert Family Foundation and NF Forward. Matthew earned a bachelor's degree in accounting and a master's degree in business administration from Michigan State University. We believe Matthew is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors due to his significant accounting and tax experience in the mortgage industry.

Suzanne Shank

Suzanne Shank will be a Director of the Issuer prior to the consummation of this offering. Suzanne is the President, CEO and co-founder of Siebert Williams Shank & Co., LLC, a full-service investment banking firm offering debt and equity origination services to a wide range of Fortune 500 companies and debt underwriting for municipal clients nationally. She has held this role since 2019. Previously, Ms. Shank was Chairperson and CEO of Siebert Cisneros Shank & Co., L.L.C., a firm which she co-founded in 1996. Suzanne currently serves as a Director of American Virtual Cloud Technologies, CMS Energy and Consumers Energy's Boards and is on the boards of the Skillman Foundation, the Detroit Institute of Arts, Detroit Regional Chamber (Executive Committee), the Bipartisan Policy Center Executive Council on Infrastructure, the Wharton Graduate Board of Trustees, and the Spelman College Board of Trustees, as well as on the SEC's Fixed Income Market Structure Advisory Committee. Suzanne earned a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from the Georgia Institute of Technology and a master's degree in business administration from the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania. We believe Suzanne is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors due to her extensive experience in financial services.

Nancy Tellem

Nancy Tellem will be a Director of the Issuer prior to the consummation of this offering. Nancy is the Executive Chairperson of Eko, a media network that reimagines storytelling by using proprietary technology to create interactive stories that respond and leverage the interactive nature of today's media devices. Nancy has held this role since 2014. Nancy holds board and advisory positions at numerous digital and media-related companies, including Eko, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Nielsen, League Apps, KODE labs and is a board member of Cranbrook Art Academy and Museum and Seeds of Peace. Nancy has previously held executive positions at several leading entertainment companies, including Xbox Entertainment Studios, CBS, and Warner Brothers. Nancy earned a bachelor's degree from University of California, Berkeley, and a J.D. degree from UC Hastings College of the Law. We believe Nancy is qualified to serve as a member of our board of directors due to her significant business and leadership experience.

Controlled Company

We intend to apply to list the shares of our Class A common stock offered in this offering on the Exchange. As RHI will continue to control more than 50% of our combined voting power upon the completion of this offering, we will be considered a "controlled company" for the purposes of the Exchange's rules and corporate governance standards. As a "controlled company," we will be permitted to, and we intend to, elect not to comply with certain corporate governance requirements, including (1) those that would otherwise require our board of directors to have a majority of independent directors, (2) those that would require that we establish a compensation committee composed entirely of independent directors and (3) those that would require we have a nominating and corporate governance committee comprised entirely of independent directors, or otherwise ensure that the nominees for directors are determined or recommended to our board of directors by the independent members of our board of directors.

Director Independence

The board of directors has determined that each of Nancy Tellem and Suzanne Shank are "independent directors" as such term is defined by the applicable rules and regulations of the Exchange. As allowed under the applicable rules and regulations of the SEC and the Exchange, we intend to appoint a third independent director within a year after the closing of this offering.

Board Composition

Upon the consummation of the offering, our board of directors will consist of six directors. In accordance with our certificate of incorporation and bylaws, the number of directors on our board of directors will be determined from time to time by the board of directors.

Each director is to hold office until his or her successor is duly elected and qualified or until his or her earlier death, resignation or removal. Vacancies and newly created directorships on the board of directors may be filled at any time by the remaining directors or our stockholders, provided that, when the RHI Parties beneficially owns less than a majority of the combined voting power of our common stock, vacancies on our board of directors, whether resulting from an increase in the number of directors or the death, removal or resignation of a director, will be filled only by our board of directors and not by stockholders.

Until the RHI Parties beneficially own less than a majority of the combined voting power of common stock, our certificate of incorporation will provide that any director may be removed with or without cause by the affirmative vote of a majority of our outstanding shares of common stock. After the RHI Parties beneficially own less than a majority of the combined voting power of the common stock, our certificate of incorporation will provide that any director may only be removed with cause by the affirmative vote of holders of 75% of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock eligible to vote in the election of directors, voting together as a single class. At any meeting of the board of directors, except as otherwise required by law, a majority of the total number of directors then in office will constitute a quorum for all purposes.

Our certificate of incorporation will provide that the board of directors will be divided into three classes of directors, with staggered three-year terms, with the classes to be as nearly equal in number as possible. As a result, approximately one-third of the board of directors will be elected each year. The classification of directors has the effect of making it more difficult for stockholders to change the composition of the board of directors. In connection with this offering, and will be designated as Class I directors, and will be designated as Class II directors, and and will be designated as Class III directors.

Board Committees

Following the completion of this offering, the board committees will include an audit committee, a compensation committee and a nominating and corporate governance committee. In addition, we intend to avail ourselves of the "controlled company" exception under the rules of the Exchange which exempts us from certain requirements, including the requirements that we have a majority of independent directors on our board of directors and that we have compensation and nominating and corporate governance committees composed entirely of independent directors. We will, however, remain subject to the requirement that we have an audit committee composed entirely of independent members by the end of the transition period for companies listing in connection with an initial public offering.

If at any time we cease to be a "controlled company" under the rules of the Exchange, the board of directors will take all action necessary to comply with the applicable rules of the Exchange, including appointing a majority of independent directors to the board of directors and establishing certain committees composed entirely of independent directors, subject to a permitted "phase-in" period.

Audit Committee

Our audit committee assists the board in monitoring the audit of our financial statements, our independent auditors' qualifications and independence, the performance of our audit function and independent auditors and our compliance with legal and regulatory requirements. The audit committee has direct responsibility for the appointment, compensation, retention (including termination) and oversight of our independent auditors, and our independent auditors report directly to the audit committee. The audit committee will also review and approve related party transactions as required by the rules of the Exchange.

Upon the completion of this offering, Nancy Tellem, Suzanne Shank and Matthew Rizik are expected to be the members of our audit committee. The board of directors has determined that each of Nancy Tellem and Suzanne Shank qualifies as an "audit committee financial expert" as such term is defined under the rules of the SEC implementing Section 407 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 ("Sarbanes-Oxley") and that Nancy Tellem is "independent" for purposes of Rule 10A-3 of the Exchange Act and under the listing standards of the Exchange. Accordingly, we are relying on the phase-in provisions of Rule 10A-3 of the Exchange Act and the Exchange transition rules applicable to companies completing an initial public offering, and we plan to have an audit committee comprised solely of independent directors that are independent for purposes of serving on an audit committee within one year of our listing. We believe that the functioning of our audit committee complies with the applicable requirements of the SEC and the Exchange.

Compensation Committee

Our compensation committee reviews and recommends policies relating to compensation and benefits of our directors and employees and is responsible for approving the compensation of our Chief Executive Officer. Our compensation committee will also administer the issuance of awards under our 2020 Management Incentive Plan.

Upon the completion of this offering, , and are expected to be the members of our compensation committee. Because we will be a "controlled company" under the rules of the Exchange, our compensation committee is not required to be fully independent, although if such rules change in the future or we no longer meet the definition of a controlled company under the current rules, we will adjust the composition of the compensation committee accordingly in order to comply with such rules.

Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee

Our nominating and corporate governance committee recommends that the board of directors select candidates for election to our board of directors, develops and recommends to the board of directors corporate governance guidelines that are applicable to us and oversees board of director and management evaluations.

Upon the completion of this offering, , and are expected to be the members of our nominating and corporate governance committee. Because we will be a "controlled company" under the rules of the Exchange, our nominating and corporate governance committee is not required to be fully independent, although if such rules change in the future or we no longer meet the definition of a controlled company under the current rules, we will adjust the composition of the nominating and corporate governance committee accordingly in order to comply with such rules.

Code of Business Conduct and Ethics

Upon consummation of this offering, our board of directors will adopt a code of business conduct and ethics that will apply to all of our directors, officers and employees and is intended to comply with the relevant listing requirements for a code of conduct as well as qualify as a "code of ethics" as defined by the rules of the SEC. The code of business conduct and ethics will contain general guidelines for conducting our business consistent with the highest standards of business ethics. We intend to disclose future amendments to certain provisions of our code of business conduct and ethics, or waivers of such provisions applicable to any principal executive officer, principal financial officer, principal accounting officer and controller, or persons performing similar functions, and our directors, on our website at ir.rocketcompanies.com. Following the consummation of this offering, the code of business conduct and ethics will be available on our website.

Board Leadership Structure and Board's Role in Risk Oversight

The board of directors has an oversight role, as a whole and also at the committee level, in overseeing management of the Company's risks. The board of directors regularly reviews information regarding our credit, liquidity and operations, as well as the risks associated with each. Following the completion of this offering, the compensation committee will be responsible for overseeing the management of risks relating to employee compensation plans and arrangements and the audit committee will oversee the management of financial risks. While each committee will be responsible for evaluating certain risks and overseeing the management of such risks, the entire board of directors will be regularly informed through committee reports about such risks.

EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

Compensation Discussion and Analysis

Introduction

This Compensation Discussion and Analysis ("CD&A") provides information regarding the executive compensation programs for the individuals we currently expect to serve as our Chief Executive Officer, Chief Financial Officer and the other executive officers who we expect to designate upon completion of this offering (the "named executive officers"):

Name	Title
Jay Farner	Chief Executive Officer
Julie Booth	Chief Financial Officer and Treasurer
Robert Walters	President and Chief Operating Officer
Angelo Vitale	General Counsel and Secretary

As a newly formed company immediately prior to this offering, we did not have executive officers for fiscal year 2019. Rather, our named executive officers for fiscal year 2019 were officers of our parent, Rock Holdings Inc. ("RHI") and/or Quicken Loans Inc. ("Quicken Loans"), one of our key operating subsidiaries. Our business operated as part of RHI prior to this offering, and the compensation elements, decisions and objectives for fiscal year 2019 were determined by RHI, which are described below. During 2019, our named executive officers performed roles for both our business and other RHI entities and affiliates. Accordingly, the compensation described in this CD&A and reported in the accompanying tables represents the 2019 compensation for services by our named executive officers to our business, as reflected in our audited financial statements.

Following this offering, Julie Booth, Bob Walters and Angelo Vitale will devote their full time business efforts to our business and Julie, Bob and Angelo will no longer be officers of RHI. Although Jay Farner will continue to be an executive officer and have duties to RHI following the offering, he will devote a majority of his time to our business.

In compliance with SEC rules, the information described herein is largely historical but we expect to adopt a public company compensation structure for our executive officers following the completion of this offering. We expect that a newly formed Compensation Committee will work with management to develop and maintain a compensation framework following this offering that is appropriate and competitive for a public company, and will establish executive compensation objectives and programs that are appropriate for executive officers of a public company.

Compensation Objectives and Philosophy

The objective of the executive compensation and benefits program is to establish and maintain a competitive total compensation program that will attract, motivate, and retain the qualified and skilled talent necessary for our continued success. The RHI compensation structure is designed to give executives equity stakes, motivate our named executive officers to achieve or exceed discretionary objectives and reward them for their achievements when those objectives are met.

The overall level of total compensation for our named executive officers as described herein is intended to be reasonable and competitive, taking into account factors such as the individual's experience, performance, duties and scope of responsibilities, prior contributions and future potential contributions to our business. RHI's compensation plans are designed to align with business strategies, taking into account external market conditions and internal equity issues. With these principles in mind, RHI structured its compensation program to offer competitive total pay packages that it believes enables it to retain and motivate executives with the requisite skill and knowledge and to ensure the stability of its management team, which is vital to the success of its and our business.

Setting Executive Compensation in 2019

Prior to this offering, compensation for Jay Farner was determined by Dan Gilbert, Chairman of the Board of Directors of RHI, and compensation for our other named executive officers was determined by Jay following consultation with Dan. In setting an individual named executive officer's compensation package, Dan considered the nature of the position, the scope of associated responsibilities, the individual's knowledge, experience and skills as well as overall contributions. RHI did not engage in any benchmarking and did not engage any external consultants in setting pay for the named executive officers in fiscal year 2019.

Historically, compensation for the named executive officers emphasized equity compensation over other elements of cash compensation because RHI believes that its compensation objectives are better achieved through a straightforward compensation program focused on achievement of long-term value creation and growth.

In connection with this offering, we have engaged Korn Ferry to advise on compensation, equity ownership and compensation structures for fiscal year 2020 and after.

Key Elements of Executive Compensation Program

The elements of the executive compensation program that applied to our named executive officers prior to this offering were base salary, discretionary cash bonuses, equity-based compensation in the form of restricted stock units of RHI, as well as, certain employee benefits. Brief descriptions of each principal element of the executive compensation program are summarized in the following table and described in more detail below.

Overview

Compensation Element	Brief Description	Objectives
Base Salary	Fixed compensation that reflects the talent, skills and competencies of the individual	Provide a competitive, fixed level of cash compensation to attract and retain talented and skilled executives
Discretionary Cash Bonus	Discretionary variable cash compensation earned based on an assessment of individual performance	Retain and motivate executives by supporting a culture where employees are rewarded for superior individual performance
Restricted Stock Units	Equity-linked compensation with respect to RHI common stock, which vests based on continued service	Awards assist in retaining executives and are designed to drive our long-term strategic business objectives and increase investor value over the long-term
Employee Benefits and Perquisites	Participation in all broad-based employee health and welfare programs and retirement plans	Aid in retention of key executives in a highly competitive market for talent by providing an overall competitive benefits package

Base Salary

Base salaries are established at levels that are intended to provide a stable level of minimum compensation to each named executive officer that are commensurate with each named executive officer's role, experience and duties.

The fiscal year 2019 base salaries of our named executive officers for services to our business as reflected in our audited financial statements are set forth in the table below.

Name	Fiscal Year 2019 Base Salary
Jay Farner	$ 650,000
Julie Booth	$ 350,000
Robert Walters	$ 255,000
Angelo Vitale	$ 300,000

Cash Bonuses

There are no target bonus awards with pre-set performance goals that were required to be met for fiscal year 2019. Rather, Jay Farner determines bonuses for the named executive officers other than himself, and Jay's bonus, to the extent applicable, is determined by Dan Gilbert, in each case, after taking into account a qualitative assessment of individual performance. To the extent applicable, the discretionary cash bonuses reward financial performance and individual performance in the context of RHI's growing and dynamic business. In fiscal year 2019, only Julie Booth and Angelo Vitale received a discretionary cash bonus for services in 2019. Jay received a bonus in fiscal year 2019 that was applied to satisfy withholding taxes payable upon the vesting and settlement of his restricted stock units. In addition, all team members, including the named executive officers, received a $600 company-wide bonus in recognition of outstanding company performance in fiscal year 2019. Because we had no definite annual bonus targets, the cash bonuses paid to Jay, Julie, Bob and Angelo appear in the "Bonus" column of the "Summary Compensation Table." Following this offering, our Compensation Committee will review and approve the amount of any bonuses annually in order to make sure they continue to be effective at rewarding performance and retaining our executives.

RHI Equity Plan

Our named executive officers did not receive any equity grants in 2019, but had received equity grants in prior years.

RHI established the Rock Holdings Inc. 2015 Equity Compensation Plan (the "Equity Plan") as a platform to grant equity awards to its key employees, including our named executive officers. Our named executive officers and other senior leadership team members, have historically been granted awards of restricted stock units under the Equity Plan which are settled in shares of RHI common stock following each vesting date.

On December 22, 2017, each of the named executive officers received a restricted stock unit award under the Equity Plan, which generally vests over a four year period subject to the executive officers' continued employment through each applicable vesting date, provided that, in the case of Jay Farner, continued employment is not required if his employment was terminated other than due to his resignation or death.

The Equity Plan also provides for a limited, one-time put right if the participant is terminated due to death or disability, without cause from a Rock Entity (defined below) or his or her voluntary resignation at a time when the participant's age and years of service are at least 75 (a "qualifying termination"). Subject to certain limitations, a participant may request within ninety days of a qualifying termination (or, in the case of death, one year), that RHI repurchase all or some of the participant's vested RHI common stock acquired under the Equity Plan. Any proceeds from the exercise of the put right is paid over four years, with 20% of the proceeds paid on the closing date of the repurchase and the remaining 80% paid in equal installments on each of the first four anniversaries of the closing date. Under the Equity Plan, a "Rock Entity" means, RHI and any other corporation or other entity which is both (A) directly or indirectly wholly-owned by RHI and (B) treated as a disregarded entity for federal income tax purposes.

Upon the consummation of a change in control of RHI, any then unvested RHI restricted stock unit awards will become 100% vested, subject to the named executive officer's continued employment through such date, provided that, in the case of Jay Farner, continued employment is not required if his employment is terminated other than due to his resignation or death. For purposes of the RHI restricted stock unit awards, a "change in control" generally means (i) the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Rock Entities, determined on a consolidated basis, (2) the sale of more than 50% of the common shares of RHI or (iii) a merger, reorganization or similar transaction involving RHI where less than 50% of the equity interest in the resulting entity is held by the beneficial owners of RHI prior to the transaction. As of December 31, 2019, the dollar value of the acceleration of RHI restricted stock unit awards held by our named executive officers are the values set forth below in the "Outstanding RHI Equity Awards at Fiscal Year End" table, and in the case of Jay, an additional amount to satisfy the withholding taxes owed in connection with such vesting as discussed in the footnotes to the "Summary Compensation Table."

In determining the size of the restricted stock unit awards granted to our named executive officers in 2017, Jay Farner and Dan Gilbert took into account the named executive officer's level of responsibility within RHI and potential to improve the long-term, overall value of the business.

In the future, we plan to continue to use long-term incentives as a component of our named executive officer's compensation by granting shares of our Class A common stock, restricted stock units and/or options to purchase shares of our Class A common stock.

Employee Benefits and Perquisites

We provide a number of benefit plans to all eligible team members, including our named executive officers. These benefits include programs such as medical, dental, life insurance, business travel accident insurance, short- and long-term disability coverage and a 401(k) defined contribution plan.

While perquisites help to provide our named executive officers a benefit with a high perceived value at a relatively low cost, we do not generally view perquisites as a material component of our executive compensation program. Among the perquisites we provide, certain of our named executive officers receive coordination support related to tax preparation services, bring guests when traveling on business-related trips, bring guests to a variety of business and social events and may participate in an executive physician program. For fiscal year 2019, the aggregate value of all perquisites provided to each of the named executives officers was less than $10,000. In the future, we may provide additional or different perquisites or other personal benefits in limited circumstances, such as where we believe doing so is appropriate to assist an executive in the performance of his or her duties, to make our named executive officers more efficient and effective and for recruitment, motivation and/or retention purposes.

Looking Ahead: Post-IPO Compensation Program Features

IPO Equity Grants

In connection with this offering, we intend to grant approximately restricted stock units and stock options under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan (a description of which is provided below) to certain directors, employees and other service providers, including the named executive officers. In particular, it is anticipated that our named executive officers will, in the aggregate, receive new equity awards of Class A common stock, with Jay, Julie, Bob and Angelo receiving restricted stock units, respectively, and stock options, respectively. The foregoing amounts are based on the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus. The restricted stock units granted to the named executive officers will vest in three equal installments of 33.33% on each of the first three anniversaries of the date of grant, and the stock options granted to the named executive officers will vest as to 33.33% on the first anniversary of the date of grant and monthly thereafter over the next 24 months, subject in all cases to continued employment on the applicable vesting date.

Tax Considerations

For income tax purposes, public companies may not deduct any portion of compensation that is in excess of $1 million paid in a taxable year to certain "covered employees," including our named executive officers, under Section 162(m) of the Code. Even if Section 162(m) of the Code were to apply to compensation paid to our named executive officers, our board of directors believes that it should not be constrained by the requirements of Section 162(m) of the Code if those requirements would impair flexibility in compensating our named executive officers in a manner that can best promote our corporate objectives. We intend to continue to compensate our executive officers in a manner consistent with the best interests of our stockholders and reserve the right to award compensation that may not be deductible under Section 162(m) where the Company believes it is appropriate to do so.

Section 409A of the Code requires that "nonqualified deferred compensation" be deferred and paid under plans or arrangements that satisfy the requirements of the statute with respect to the timing of deferral elections, timing of payments and certain other matters. Failure to satisfy these requirements can expose employees and other service providers to accelerated income tax liabilities, penalty taxes and interest on their vested compensation under such plans. Accordingly, as a general matter, it is our intention to design and administer our compensation and benefits plans and arrangements for all of our employees and other service providers, including our named executive officers, so that they are either exempt from, or satisfy the requirements of, Section 409A.

Risk Analysis

Prior to the offering we will have reviewed our employee compensation policies, plans and practices to determine if they create incentives or encourage behavior that is reasonably likely to have a material adverse effect on the Company and we believe that there are no unmitigated risks created by our compensation policies, plans and practices that create incentives or encourage behavior that is reasonably likely to have a material adverse effect on us.

Summary Compensation Table

The following table shows the compensation earned by our named executive officers for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2019 for services to our business, as reflected in our audited financial statements.

Name and Principal Position	Year	Salary($)	Bonus($)	All Other Compensation ($)(2)	Total ($)
Jay Farner Chief Executive Officer	2019	650,000	11,075,567(1)	2,500	11,728,067
Julie Booth Chief Financial Officer & Treasurer	2019	350,000	100,600(1)	2,500	453,100
Robert Walters President & Chief Operating Officer	2019	255,000	600(1)	2,500	258,100
Angelo Vitale General Counsel & Secretary	2019	300,000	100,600(1)	2,500	403,100

(1) The amounts set forth in this column represent (i) for Jay Farner, $11,074,967 paid in the form of a cash payment he used to satisfy the withholding taxes owed in connection with the vesting and settlement of a restricted stock unit award, and a company-wide performance bonus of $600, (ii) for each of Julie Booth and Angelo Vitale, a discretionary bonus of $100,000 and a company-wide performance bonus of $600, and (iii) for Bob Walters a company-wide performance bonus of $600.

(2) The amount reported in this column represents matching contributions to their 401(k) plan accounts.

Grants of Plan-Based Awards for Fiscal Year 2019

No grants of plan-based awards were made to our named executive officers in fiscal year 2019.

Narrative Disclosure to Summary Compensation Table

Jay Farner Compensation

As discussed above in the CD&A, Jay Farner's salary and bonus in proportion to his total compensation reflects RHI's emphasis on variable compensation, rather than base salary, in its compensation program.

Employment Agreements

In connection with this offering, each of the Company's named executive officers will enter into employment agreements with the Company effective as of the date prior to the effective date of this offering. Pursuant to each employment agreement, each of the named executive officers will be paid an annual base salary and will be eligible to receive an annual bonus based on the satisfaction of certain business objectives and/or criteria as determined in the sole discretion of the compensation committee of the board of directors. Each named executive officer's employment agreement also provides for post-termination restrictive covenant provisions, including non-disclosure of confidential information, non-competition, non-solicitation of employees, customers, clients and vendors and non-disparagement covenants.

Outstanding RHI Equity Awards at 2019 Fiscal Year End

The following table provides information about the outstanding RHI equity awards held by our named executive officers as of December 31, 2019 attributable to services to our business, as reflected in our audited financial statements.

Name	Grant Date	Number of Shares That Have Not Vested (#)(1)	Market Value of Shares That Have Not Vested ($)(2)
Jay Farner
RHI Restricted Stock Units	12/22/2017	155,000	35,650,000
Julie Booth
RHI Restricted Stock Units	12/22/2017	10,000	2,300,000
Robert Walters
RHI Restricted Stock Units	12/22/2017	76,040	17,489,200
Angelo Vitale
RHI Restricted Stock Units	12/22/2017	3,000	690,000

(1) As of December 31, 2019, the RHI restricted stock units reported in this column were scheduled to vest in equal installments on each of October 31, 2020 and October 31, 2021, subject to continued employment through each such date, provided that, in Jay Farner's case, continued employment is not required if his employment was terminated other than due to his resignation or death. In February of 2020, the 77,500, 5,000, 38,020 and 1,500 RHI restricted stock units scheduled to vest on October 31, 2020 for Jay, Julie, Bob and Angelo, respectively, became immediately vested, and in May of 2020, the 77,500, 5,000, 38,020 and 1,500 RHI restricted stock units scheduled to vest on October 31, 2021 for Jay, Julie, Bob and Angelo, respectively, became immediately vested.

(2) As of December 31, 2019, there was no public market for the equity awards, and thus the market values reflected in the table above are based on a valuation performed by a third-party firm to estimate the fair market value of RHI utilizing a discounted cash flow methodology with adjustments for certain assets and liabilities and other relevant discounts.

Stock Vested During Fiscal Year 2019

The following table sets forth information regarding the restricted stock units of RHI attributable to services to our business, as reflected in our audited financial statements, that vested during fiscal year 2019 for each of the named executive officers.

Name	Number of Shares Acquired on Vesting (#)	Value Realized on Vesting ($)(1)
Jay Farner	77,500	13,640,000
Julie Booth	5,000	880,000
Robert Walters	38,020	6,691,520
Angelo Vitale	1,500	264,000

(1) On October 31, 2019 (i.e., the vesting date for the awards set forth above) there was no public market for the equity awards, and thus the market values reflected in the table above are based on a valuation performed by a third-party firm to estimate the fair market value of RHI utilizing a discounted cash flow methodology with adjustments for certain assets and liabilities and other relevant discounts.

Retirement Benefits

RHI sponsors a 401(k) plan, which is a U.S. tax-qualified retirement plan offered to all eligible employees, including our named executive officers, that permits eligible employees to elect to defer a portion of their compensation on a pre-tax basis. We do not maintain any defined benefit pension plans or any nonqualified deferred compensation plans.

Potential Payments upon Termination of Employment or Change in Control of the Company

None of our named executive officers are entitled to any payments upon a termination of employment or upon a change in control of the Company.

Compensation of our Directors

Prior to the formation of the Company we did not have a board of directors. In connection with the consummation of this offering, we will implement a policy pursuant to which each director who is not affiliated with the Company or RHI ("Non-Affiliated Director") will receive an annual retainer fee of $ as well as an annual restricted stock unit award with a grant date value of $ which will vest in full on the date of our annual shareholder meeting immediately following the date of grant, in each case, subject to the Non-Affiliated Director continuing in service through such meeting date. In addition, each Non-Affiliated director will be reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses in connection with their services. At the effective time of this offering, each Non-Affiliated Director will receive the full amount of his or her annual restricted stock unit grant, and at our first annual meeting, each Non-Affiliated Director will receive a prorated amount to reflect the period of time between the effective date of this offering and our first annual meeting. Affiliated directors, or directors who are employees or executives of the Company, or who provide services to RHI or any of its subsidiaries, will not be receiving compensation for their services as directors.

2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan

Our board of directors and stockholders plan to adopt the Rocket Companies, Inc. 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan (the "2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan") to become effective upon the consummation of this offering. The following is a summary of certain terms and conditions of the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan. This summary is qualified in its entirety by reference to the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan attached as an exhibit to the registration statement of which this prospectus forms a part. You are encouraged to read the full 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan.

Administration. Our board of directors (or subcommittee thereof) will administer the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan. The board of directors will have the authority to determine the terms and conditions of any agreements evidencing any awards granted under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan and to adopt, alter and repeal rules, guidelines and practices relating to the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan. The board of directors will have full discretion to administer and interpret the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan and to adopt such rules, regulations and procedures as it deems necessary or advisable and to determine, among other things, the time or times at which the awards may be exercised and whether and under what circumstances an award may be exercised.

Eligibility. Any current or prospective employees, directors, officers, consultants or advisors of the Company or its affiliates who are selected by the board of directors will be eligible for awards under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan. Except as otherwise required by applicable law or regulation or stock exchange rules, the board of directors will have the sole and complete authority to determine who will be granted an award under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan.

Number of Shares Authorized. The 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan provides for an aggregate of shares of our Class A common stock. In addition, the number of shares of our Class A common stock reserved for issuance under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan will automatically increase on , commencing on , 2021 and ending on (and including) , 2026, in an amount equal to % of the total number of shares of our Class A common stock outstanding as of before the date of each automatic increase, or a lesser number of shares determined by our board of directors. No more than shares of our Class A common stock may be issued with respect to incentive stock options under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan. The maximum grant date fair value of cash and equity awards that may be awarded to a non-employee director under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan during any one fiscal year, taken together with any cash fees paid to such non-employee director during such fiscal year, will be $. Shares of our Class A common stock subject to awards are generally unavailable for future grant. If any award granted under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan expires, terminates, is canceled or forfeited without being settled or exercised, or if a stock appreciation right is settled in cash or otherwise without the issuance of shares, shares of our Class A common stock subject to such award will again be made available for future grants. In addition, if any shares are surrendered or tendered to pay the exercise price of an award or to satisfy withholding taxes owed, such shares will again be available for grants under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan.

Change in Capitalization. If there is a change in our capitalization in the event of a stock or extraordinary cash dividend, recapitalization, stock split, reverse stock split, reorganization, merger, consolidation, split-up, split-off, spin-off, combination, repurchase or exchange of shares of our Class A common stock or other relevant change in capitalization or applicable law or circumstances, such that the board of directors determines that an adjustment to the terms of the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan (or awards thereunder) is necessary or appropriate, then the board of directors may make adjustments in a manner that it deems equitable. Such adjustments may be to the number of shares reserved for issuance under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan, the number of shares covered by awards then outstanding under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan, the limitations on awards under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan, the exercise price of outstanding options and such other equitable substitution or adjustments as it may determine appropriate.

Awards Available for Grant. The board of directors may grant awards of non-qualified stock options, incentive (qualified) stock options, stock appreciation rights ("SARs"), restricted stock awards, restricted stock units, other stock-based awards, performance compensation awards (including cash bonus awards), other cash-based awards or any combination of the foregoing. Awards may be granted under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan in assumption of, or in substitution for, outstanding awards previously granted by an entity acquired by the Company or with which the Company combines (which are referred to herein as "Substitute Awards").

Stock Options. The board of directors will be authorized to grant options to purchase shares of our Class A common stock that are either "qualified," meaning they are intended to satisfy the requirements of Section 422 of the Code for incentive stock options, or "non-qualified," meaning they are not intended to satisfy the requirements of Section 422 of the Code. All options granted under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan shall be non-qualified unless the applicable award agreement expressly states that the option is intended to be an "incentive stock option." Options granted under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan will be subject to the terms and conditions established by the board of directors. Under the terms of the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan, the exercise price of the options will not be less than the fair market value of our Class A common stock at the time of grant (except with respect to Substitute Awards). Options granted under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan will be subject to such terms, including the exercise price and the conditions and timing of exercise, as may be determined by the board of directors and specified in the applicable award agreement. The maximum term of an option granted under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan will be ten years from the date of grant (or five years in the case of a qualified option granted to a 10% stockholder), provided that, if the term of a non-qualified option would expire at a time when trading in the shares of our Class A common stock is prohibited by the Company's insider trading policy, the option's term shall be automatically extended until the 30th day following the expiration of such prohibition (as long as such extension shall not violate Section 409A of the Code). Payment in respect of the exercise of an option may be made in cash, by check, by cash equivalent and/or shares of our Class A common stock valued at the fair market value at the time the option is exercised (provided that such shares are not subject to any pledge or other security interest), or by such other method as the board of directors may permit in its sole discretion, including: (i) in other property having a fair market value equal to the exercise price and all applicable required withholding taxes, (ii) if there is a public market for the shares of our Class A common stock at such time, by means of a broker-assisted cashless exercise mechanism or (iii) by means of a "net exercise" procedure effected by withholding the minimum number of shares otherwise deliverable in respect of an option that are needed to pay the exercise price and all applicable required withholding taxes. Any fractional shares of Class A common stock will be settled in cash.

Stock Appreciation Rights. The board of directors will be authorized to award SARs under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan. SARs will be subject to the terms and conditions established by the board of directors. A SAR is a contractual right that allows a participant to receive, either in the form of cash, shares or any combination of cash and shares, the appreciation, if any, in the value of a share over a certain period of time. An option granted under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan may include SARs, and SARs may also be awarded to a participant independent of the grant of an option. SARs granted in connection with an option shall be subject to terms similar to the option corresponding to such SARs, including with respect to vesting and expiration. Except as otherwise provided by the board of directors (in the case of Substitute Awards or SARs granted in tandem with previously granted options), the strike price per share of our Class A common stock for each SAR shall not be less than 100% of the fair market value of such share, determined as of the date of grant. The remaining terms of the SARs shall be established by the board of directors and reflected in the award agreement.

Restricted Stock. The board of directors will be authorized to grant restricted stock under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan, which will be subject to the terms and conditions established by the board of directors. Restricted stock is Class A common stock that generally is non-transferable and is subject to other restrictions determined by the board of directors for a specified period. Any accumulated dividends will be payable at the same time as the underlying restricted stock vests.

Restricted Stock Unit Awards. The board of directors will be authorized to award restricted stock unit awards, which will be subject to the terms and conditions established by the board of directors. A restricted stock unit award, once vested, may be settled in common shares equal to the number of units earned, or in cash equal to the fair market value of the number of vested shares, at the election of the board of directors. Restricted stock units may be settled at the expiration of the period over which the units are to be earned or at a later date selected by the board of directors. To the extent provided in an award agreement, the holder of outstanding restricted stock units shall be entitled to be credited with dividend equivalent payments upon the payment by us of dividends on shares of our Class A common stock, either in cash or (at the sole discretion of the board of directors), in shares of our Class A common stock having a fair market value equal to the amount of such dividends, and interest may, at the sole discretion of the board of directors, be credited on the amount of cash dividend equivalents at a rate and subject to such terms as determined by the board of directors, which accumulated dividend equivalents (and interest thereon, if applicable) shall be payable at the same time as the underlying restricted stock units are settled.

Other Stock-Based Awards. The board of directors will be authorized to grant awards of unrestricted shares of our Class A common stock, rights to receive grants of awards at a future date or other awards denominated in shares of our Class A common stock under such terms and conditions as the board of directors may determine and as set forth in the applicable award agreement.

Nontransferability. Each award may be exercised during the participant's lifetime by the participant or, if permissible under applicable law, by the participant's guardian or legal representative. No award may be assigned, alienated, pledged, attached, sold or otherwise transferred or encumbered by a participant other than by will or by the laws of descent and distribution unless the board of directors permits the award to be transferred to a permitted transferee (as defined in the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan).

Amendment. The 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan will have a term of ten years. Our board of directors may amend, suspend or terminate the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan at any time, subject to stockholder approval if necessary to comply with any tax, or other applicable regulatory requirement. No amendment, suspension or termination will materially and adversely affect the rights of any participant or recipient of any award without the consent of the participant or recipient.

The board of directors may, to the extent consistent with the terms of any applicable award agreement, waive any conditions or rights under, amend any terms of, or alter, suspend, discontinue, cancel or terminate, any award theretofore granted or the associated award agreement, prospectively or retroactively; provided that any such waiver, amendment, alteration, suspension, discontinuance, cancellation or termination that would materially and adversely affect the rights of any participant or any holder or beneficiary of any option theretofore granted will not to that extent be effective without the consent of the affected participant, holder or beneficiary. The board of directors may, absent shareholder approval, (i) effectuate an amendment or modification that reduces the option price of any option or the strike price of any SAR, (ii) cancel any outstanding option and replace with a new option (with a lower exercise price) or cancel any SAR and replace it with a new SAR (with a lower strike price) or other award or cash in a manner that would be treated as a repricing (for compensation disclosure or accounting purposes) and (iii) take any other action considered a repricing for purposes of the stockholder approval rules of the applicable securities exchange on which our common shares are listed.

Clawback/Forfeiture. Awards may be subject to clawback or forfeiture to the extent required by applicable law (including, without limitation, Section 304 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and Section 954 of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act) and/or the rules and regulations of the New York Stock Exchange or other applicable securities exchange, or if so required pursuant to a written policy adopted by the Company or the provisions of an award agreement.

U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences

The following is a general summary of the material U.S. federal income tax consequences of the grant and exercise and vesting of awards under the 2020 Omnibus Incentive Plan and the disposition of shares acquired pursuant to the exercise or settlement of such awards and is intended to reflect the current provisions of the Code and the regulations thereunder. This summary is not intended to be a complete statement of applicable law, nor does it address foreign, state, local and payroll tax considerations. This summary assumes that all awards described in the summary are exempt from, or comply with, the requirement of Section 409A of the Code. Moreover, the U.S. federal income tax consequences to any particular participant may differ from those described herein by reason of, among other things, the particular circumstances of such participant.

Stock Options. The Code requires that, for treatment of an option as an incentive stock option, shares of our Class A common stock acquired through the exercise of an incentive stock option cannot be disposed of before the later of (i) two years from the date of grant of the option, or (ii) one year from the date of exercise. Holders of incentive stock options will generally incur no federal income tax liability at the time of grant or upon exercise of those options. However, the spread at exercise will be an "item of tax preference," which may give rise to "alternative minimum tax" liability for the taxable year in which the exercise occurs. If the holder does not dispose of the shares before two years following the date of grant and one year following the date of exercise, the difference between the exercise price and the amount realized upon disposition of the shares will constitute long-term capital gain or loss, as the case may be. Assuming both holding periods are satisfied, no deduction will be allowed to us for federal income tax purposes in connection with the grant or exercise of the incentive stock option. If, within two years following the date of grant or within one year following the date of exercise, the holder of shares acquired through the exercise of an incentive stock option disposes of those shares, the participant will generally realize taxable compensation at the time of such disposition equal to the difference between the exercise price and the lesser of the fair market value of the share on the date of exercise or the amount realized on the subsequent disposition of the shares, and that amount will generally be deductible by us for federal income tax purposes, subject to the possible limitations on deductibility under Sections 280G and 162(m) of the Code for compensation paid to executives designated in those Sections. Finally, if an incentive stock option becomes first exercisable in any one year for shares having an aggregate value in excess of $100,000 (based on the grant date value), the portion of the incentive stock option in respect of those excess shares will be treated as a non-qualified stock option for federal income tax purposes. No income will be realized by a participant upon grant of an option that does not qualify as an incentive stock option (a "non-qualified stock option"). Upon the exercise of a non-qualified stock option, the participant will recognize ordinary compensation income in an amount equal to the excess, if any, of the fair market value of the underlying exercised shares over the option exercise price paid at the time of exercise and the participant's tax basis will equal the sum of the compensation income recognized and the exercise price. We will be able to deduct this same amount for U.S. federal income tax purposes, but such deduction may be limited under Sections 280G and 162(m) of the Code for compensation paid to certain executives designated in those Sections. In the event of a sale of shares received upon the exercise of a non-qualified stock option, any appreciation or depreciation after the exercise date generally will be taxed as capital gain or loss and will be long-term gain or loss if the holding period for such shares is more than one year.

SARs. No income will be realized by a participant upon grant of a SAR. Upon the exercise of a SAR, the participant will recognize ordinary compensation income in an amount equal to the fair market value of the payment received in respect of the SAR. We will be able to deduct this same amount for U.S. federal income tax purposes, but such deduction may be limited under Sections 280G and 162(m) of the Code for compensation paid to certain executives designated in those Sections.

Restricted Stock. A participant will not be subject to tax upon the grant of an award of restricted stock unless the participant otherwise elects to be taxed at the time of grant pursuant to Section 83(b) of the Code. On the date an award of restricted stock becomes transferable or is no longer subject to a substantial risk of forfeiture, the participant will have taxable compensation equal to the difference between the fair market value of the shares on that date over the amount the participant paid for such shares, if any, unless the participant made an election under Section 83(b) of the Code to be taxed at the time of grant. If the participant made an election under Section 83(b), the participant will have taxable compensation at the time of grant equal to the difference between the fair market value of the shares on the date of grant over the amount the participant paid for such shares, if any. If the election is made, the participant will not be allowed a deduction for amounts subsequently required to be returned to us. (Special rules apply to the receipt and disposition of restricted shares received by officers and directors who are subject to Section 16(b) of the Exchange Act.) We will be able to deduct, at the same time as it is recognized by the participant, the amount of taxable compensation to the participant for U.S. federal income tax purposes, but such deduction may be limited under Sections 280G and 162(m) of the Code for compensation paid to certain executives designated in those Sections.

Restricted Stock Units. A participant will not be subject to tax upon the grant of a restricted stock unit award. Rather, upon the delivery of shares or cash pursuant to a restricted stock unit award, the participant will have taxable compensation equal to the fair market value of the number of shares (or the amount of cash) the participant actually receives with respect to the award. We will be able to deduct the amount of taxable compensation to the participant for U.S. federal income tax purposes, but the deduction may be limited under Sections 280G and 162(m) of the Code for compensation paid to certain executives designated in those Sections.

Employee Stock Purchase Plan

In connection with this offering, we expect to adopt an employee stock purchase plan, or ESPP, which permits our employees to contribute up to a specified percentage of base salary and commissions to purchase our shares at a discount.

Stock Ownership Guidelines

In connection with this offering, we intend to adopt stock ownership guidelines in order to further align the long-term interests of our executive officers and non-employee directors with those of our shareholders. Our stock ownership guidelines will generally require that our executive officers and non-employee directors own shares of our common stock having an aggregate value equal to a multiple of the executive officer's annual base salary or the non-employee director's annual cash retainer.

Shares that count for purposes of ownership under the stock ownership guidelines include vested shares or units (including shares held through our 401(k) plan or shares purchased under the ESPP). Generally, each executive officer or non-employee director will have five years from the date he or she becomes subject to these guidelines to achieve compliance.

PRINCIPAL STOCKHOLDERS

The following table sets forth the beneficial ownership of our Class A common stock and Class B common stock by:

- each person, or group of affiliated persons, who we know to beneficially own more than 5% of any class or series of our capital stock;
- each of our named executive officers;
- each of our directors; and
- all of our executive officers and directors as a group.

The numbers of shares of Class A common stock and Class B common stock beneficially owned, percentages of beneficial ownership and percentages of combined voting power before and after this offering that are set forth below are based on the number of shares and Holdings Units to be issued and outstanding prior to and after this offering, in each case, after giving effect to the reorganization transactions. See "Organizational Structure." In addition, the percentage ownership assumes no purchase of our Class A common stock through the directed share program.

The amounts and percentages of Class A common stock and Class B common stock beneficially owned are reported on the basis of the regulations of the SEC governing the determination of beneficial ownership of securities. Under these rules, a person is deemed to be a beneficial owner of a security if that person has or shares voting power, which includes the power to vote or to direct the voting of such security, or investment power, which includes the power to dispose of or to direct the disposition of such security. A person is also deemed to be a beneficial owner of any securities of which that person has a right to acquire beneficial ownership within 60 days. Under these rules, more than one person may be deemed to be a beneficial owner of the same securities.

Unless otherwise indicated, the address for each beneficial owner listed below is: 1050 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, MI 48226.

(1) Each holder of Class B common stock and Class D common stock is entitled to 10 votes per share and each holder of Class A common stock and Class C common stock is entitled to one vote per share on all matters submitted to our stockholders for a vote. Our Class C common stock and Class D common stock do not have any of the economic rights (including rights to dividends and distributions upon liquidation) associated with our Class A common stock and Class B common stock. Each share of our Class B common stock and Class D common stock, as applicable, will automatically convert into one share of Class A common stock or Class C common stock, as applicable, (a) immediately prior to any sale or other transfer of such share by a holder of such share, subject to certain limited exceptions, such as transfers to permitted transferees, or (b) if the RHI Parties own less than 5% of our issued and outstanding common stock. See "Description of Capital Stock."

(2) The numbers of shares of Class A common stock beneficially owned and percentages of beneficial ownership set forth in the table assume that (a) all Holdings Units (together with the corresponding shares of Class D common stock) have been exchanged for shares of Class B common stock and (b) all shares of Class B common stock have been converted into shares of Class A common stock.

(3) The numbers of shares of Class B common stock beneficially owned and percentages of beneficial ownership set forth in the table assume that all Holdings Units (together with the corresponding shares of Class D common stock) have been exchanged for shares of Class B common stock on a one-for-one basis.

(4) Percentage of voting power represents voting power with respect to all shares of our Class A common stock, Class B common stock, Class C common stock and Class D common stock voting together as a single class. See "Description of Capital Stock."

(5) RHI holds Holdings Units and an equal number of shares of Class D common stock. RHI has the right at any time to (a) exchange any Holdings Units (together with a corresponding number of shares of Class D common stock) for, at our option (as the sole managing member of Holdings), (i) shares of our Class B common stock on a one-for-one basis or (ii) cash (based on the market price of our Class A common stock) and (b) convert shares of Class D common stock into a shares of Class B common stock on a one-for-one basis. See "Description of Capital Stock."

(6) Dan Gilbert holds Holdings Units and an equal number of shares of Class D common stock. Dan Gilbert has the right at any time to (a) exchange any Holdings Units (together with a corresponding number of shares of Class D common stock) for, at our option (as the sole managing member of Holdings), (i) shares of our Class B common stock on a one-for-one basis or (ii) cash (based on the market price of our Class A common stock) and (b) convert shares of Class D common stock into a shares of Class B common stock on a one-for-one basis. See "Description of Capital Stock." Additionally, Dan Gilbert is the majority shareholder of RHI and has voting and dispositive control, and beneficial ownership, with respect to the shares of our common stock held of record by RHI.

CERTAIN RELATIONSHIPS AND RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Rock Holdings Inc.

RHI, our principal stockholder, is the controlling majority stockholder of several other businesses, including a technology services provider (Detroit Labs) and the preeminent online dictionary (Dictionary.com). Our executive officers and directors who are affiliated with RHI own common equity interests in RHI. Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, is the majority stockholder of RHI and serves as the chairman of RHI's board of directors.

Prior to the consummation of this offering, certain of our directors and executive officers also served as directors and/or officers of RHI and its subsidiaries. Among our executive officers, prior to the consummation of this offering, Jay Farner, Bob Walters, Julie Booth and Angelo Vitale served as Chief Executive Officer, President, Chief Financial Officer, and General Counsel, respectively, of RHI, and also held positions at certain of its subsidiaries. Prior to the consummation of this offering, Bob, Julie and Angelo ceased being officers of RHI and its subsidiaries (other than our Company and its subsidiaries).

Following the consummation of this offering, Jay Farner, our Chief Executive Officer and one of our directors, will continue to serve as the Chief Executive Officer and director of RHI. Among our other directors, Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, Jennifer Gilbert and Matthew Rizik will continue to serve as directors of RHI and certain of our other affiliates. Additionally, Matthew will continue to serve as an officer of RHI and certain of its subsidiaries.

In addition to RHI, Dan is the majority or controlling shareholder of a number of other entities with which we have historically entered into transactions and agreements, including the NBA's Cleveland Cavaliers, the real estate investment firm Bedrock and the unicorn online startup StockX. For more information on Dan, see "Management."

Reorganization Agreement

In connection with the reorganization transactions, we will enter into a reorganization agreement and related agreements with RHI and Dan Gilbert, which will effect the reorganization transactions. See "Organizational Structure" for more information. As part of the reorganization transactions, Holdings will issue Holdings Units to RHI and Holdings Units to Dan Gilbert.

Purchases from Equityholders

Immediately following this offering, we will use the entire aggregate $ million of the net proceeds from this offering to repurchase Holdings Units and the corresponding shares of Class D common stock from RHI. We do not intend to use any proceeds from this offering to acquire any Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock from Dan Gilbert.

Operating Agreement of RKT Holdings, LLC

In connection with the reorganization transactions, the Issuer, Holdings, RHI and Dan Gilbert will enter into the Amended and Restated RKT Holdings Operating Agreement (the "Holdings Operating Agreement"). Following the reorganization transactions, and in accordance with the terms of the Holdings Operating Agreement, we will operate our business through Holdings and its subsidiaries. Pursuant to the terms of the Holdings Operating Agreement, so long as affiliates of RHI and its related parties continue to own any Holdings Units, shares of our Class A common stock or securities exchangeable or convertible into shares of our Class A common stock, we will not, without the prior written consent of such holders, engage in any business activity other than the management and ownership of Holdings and its subsidiaries or own any assets other than securities of Holdings and its subsidiaries and/or any cash or other property or assets distributed by or otherwise received from Holdings and its subsidiaries, unless we determine in good faith that such actions or ownership are in the best interest of Holdings. As the sole managing member of Holdings, we will have control over all of the affairs and decision making of Holdings. As such, through our officers and directors, we will be responsible for all operational and administrative decisions of Holdings and the day-to-day management of Holdings' business. We will fund any dividends to our stockholders by causing Holdings to make distributions to its equityholders, RHI, Dan Gilbert and us, subject to the limitations imposed by our debt documents. See "Dividend Policy."

The holders of Holdings Units will generally incur U.S. federal, state and local income taxes on their proportionate share of any net taxable income of Holdings. Net profits and net losses of Holdings will generally be allocated to its members pro rata in accordance with the percentages of their respective ownership of Holdings Units, though certain non-pro rata adjustments will be made to reflect tax depreciation, amortization and other allocations. The Holdings Operating Agreement will provide for cash distributions to the holders of Holdings Units for purposes of funding their tax obligations in respect of the taxable income of Holdings that is allocated to them. Generally, these tax distributions will be computed based on Holdings' estimate of the net taxable income of Holdings allocable per Holdings Units multiplied by an assumed tax rate equal to the highest effective marginal combined U.S. federal, state and local income tax rate prescribed for an individual or corporate resident in New York, New York (taking into account the non-deductibility of certain expenses and the character of our income).

The Holdings Operating Agreement will provide that, except as otherwise determined by us, if at any time we issue a share of our Class A common stock or Class B common stock, other than pursuant to an issuance and distribution to holders of shares of our common stock of rights to purchase our equity securities under a "poison pill" or similar stockholders rights plan or pursuant to an employee benefit plan, the net proceeds received by us with respect to such share, if any, shall be concurrently invested in Holdings (unless such shares were issued by us solely to fund (i) our ongoing operations or pay our expenses or other obligations or (ii) the purchase Holdings Units from a member of Holdings (in which cash such net proceeds shall instead be transferred to the selling member as consideration for such purchase)) and Holdings shall issue to us Holdings Units. Similarly, except as otherwise determined by us, Holdings will not issue any additional Holdings Units to us unless we issue or sell an equal number of shares of our Class A common stock or Class B common stock. Conversely, if at any time any shares of our Class A common stock or Class B common stock are redeemed, repurchased or otherwise acquired, Holdings will redeem, repurchase or otherwise acquire an equal number of Holdings Units held by us, upon the same terms and for the same price per security, as the shares of our Class A common stock or Class B common stock are redeemed, repurchased or otherwise acquired. In addition, Holdings will not effect any subdivision (by any unit split, unit distribution, reclassification, reorganization, recapitalization or otherwise) or combination (by reverse unit split, reclassification, reorganization, recapitalization or otherwise) of the Holdings Units unless it is accompanied by substantively identical subdivision or combination, as applicable, of each class of our common stock, and we will not effect any subdivision or combination of any class of our common stock unless it is accompanied by a substantively identical subdivision or combination, as applicable, of the Holdings Units.

Subject to certain exceptions, Holdings will indemnify all of its members, and their officers and other related parties, against all losses or expenses arising from claims or other legal proceedings in which such person (in its capacity as such) may be involved or become subject to in connection with Holdings' business or affairs or the Holdings Operating Agreement or any related document.

Holdings may be dissolved only upon the first to occur of (i) the sale of substantially all of its assets or (ii) as determined by us. Upon dissolution, Holdings will be liquidated and the proceeds from any liquidation will be applied and distributed in the following manner: (a) first, to creditors (including creditors who are members or affiliates of members) in satisfaction of all of Holdings' liabilities (whether by payment or by making reasonable provision for payment of such liabilities, including the setting up of any reasonably necessary reserves) and (b) second, to its members in proportion to their Holdings Units (after giving effect to any obligations of Holdings to make tax distributions).

Exchange Agreement

At the closing of this offering, we will enter into an Exchange Agreement (the "Exchange Agreement") with RHI and Dan Gilbert, pursuant to which each of RHI and Dan Gilbert (or certain transferees thereof) will have the right to exchange its Holdings Units (along with corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock), for, at our option (as the sole managing member of Holdings), (i) shares of our Class B common stock or Class A common stock, as applicable, on a one-for-one basis or (ii) cash (based on the market price of our Class A common stock or, if applicable, the price of our Class A common stock sold to the public in an underwritten offering), subject to customary conversion rate adjustments for stock splits, stock dividends and reclassifications.

The Exchange Agreement provides that, in the event that a tender offer, share exchange offer, issuer bid, take-over bid, recapitalization or similar transaction with respect to our Class A common stock is proposed by us or our stockholders and approved by our board of directors or is otherwise consented to or approved by our board of directors, RHI and Dan Gilbert will be permitted to participate in such offer by delivery of a notice of exchange that is effective immediately prior to the consummation of such offer. In the case of any such offer proposed by us, we are obligated to use our reasonable best efforts to enable and permit RHI and Dan Gilbert to participate in such offer to the same extent or on an economically equivalent basis as the holders of shares of our Class A common stock without discrimination. In addition, we are obligated to use our reasonable best efforts to ensure that RHI and Dan Gilbert may participate in each such offer without being required to exchange Holdings Units and corresponding shares of our Class D common stock. The Exchange Agreement further provides that RHI and Dan Gilbert are not required to participate in any such offer that would be tax-free to holders of shares of our Class A common stock without their prior consent.

The Exchange Agreement also sets forth certain information rights granted to RHI and specifies that we will not amend the provisions of our certificate of incorporation renouncing corporate opportunities without the consent of RHI for so long as RHI holds any Holdings Units. See "Risk Factors—Risk Related to Our Organization and Structure—Our certificate of incorporation will contain a provision renouncing our interest and expectancy in certain corporate opportunities" and "Description of Capital Stock—Corporate Opportunity."

Registration Rights Agreement

Prior to the consummation of this offering, we intend to enter into a registration rights agreement with RHI and Dan Gilbert (the "Registration Rights Agreement"), pursuant to which each of RHI and Dan Gilbert will be entitled to demand the registration of the sale of certain or all of our Class A common stock that it beneficially owns. Among other things, under the terms of the Registration Rights Agreement:

- if we propose to file certain types of registration statements under the Securities Act with respect to an offering of equity securities, we will be required to use our reasonable best efforts to offer RHI and Dan Gilbert, if any, the opportunity to register the sale of all or part of its shares on the terms and conditions set forth in the Registration Rights Agreement (customarily known as "piggyback rights"); and

- Each of RHI and Dan Gilbert has the right, subject to certain conditions and exceptions, to request that we file (i) registration statements with the SEC for one or more underwritten offerings of all or part of our shares of Class A common stock that it beneficially owns and/or (ii) a shelf registration statement that includes all or part of our shares of Class A common stock that it beneficially owns as soon as we become eligible to register the sale of our securities on Form S-3 under the Securities Act, and we are required to cause any such registration statements to be filed with the SEC, and to become effective, as promptly as reasonably practicable.

All expenses of registration under the Registration Rights Agreement, including the legal fees of one counsel retained by or on behalf of RHI and Dan Gilbert, will be paid by us.

The registration rights granted in the Registration Rights Agreement are subject to customary restrictions such as minimums, blackout periods and, if a registration is underwritten, any limitations on the number of shares to be included in the underwritten offering as reasonably advised by the managing underwriter. The Registration Rights Agreement also contains customary indemnification and contribution provisions. The Registration Rights Agreement is governed by New York law.

Tax Receivable Agreement

The purchase of Holdings Units (along with corresponding shares of our Class D common stock) from RHI using the net proceeds from this offering, future exchanges by RHI or Dan Gilbert (or its transferees or other assignees) of Holdings Units and corresponding shares of Class D common stock or Class C common stock for shares of our Class B common stock or Class A common stock, and future purchases of Holdings Units (along with the corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock) from RHI or Dan Gilbert (or its transferees or other assignees) are expected to produce favorable tax attributes for us. These tax attributes would not be available to us in the absence of those transactions. Both the existing and anticipated tax basis adjustments are expected to reduce the amount of tax that we would otherwise be required to pay in the future.

We intend to enter into a tax receivable agreement with RHI and Dan Gilbert that will provide for the payment by us to RHI and Dan Gilbert (or their transferees of Holdings Units or other assignees) of 90% of the amount of cash savings, if any, in U.S. federal, state and local income tax or franchise tax that we actually realize (computed using simplifying assumptions to address the impact of state and local taxes) as a result of (i) certain increases in our allocable share of the tax basis in Holdings' assets resulting from (a) the purchases of Holdings Units (along with the corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock) from RHI and Dan Gilbert (or their transferees or other assignees) using the net proceeds from this offering or in any future offering, (b) exchanges by RHI and Dan Gilbert (or their transferees or other assignees) of Holdings Units (along with the corresponding shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock) for cash or shares of our Class B common stock or Class A common stock, as applicable, or (c) payments under the tax receivable agreements; (ii) tax benefits related to imputed interest deemed arising as a result of payments made under the tax receivable agreement and (iii) disproportionate allocations (if any) of tax benefits to Holdings as a result of section 704(c) of the Code that relate to the reorganization transactions. The tax receivable agreement will make certain simplifying assumptions regarding the determination of the cash savings that we realize or are deemed to realize from the covered tax attributes, which may result in payments pursuant to the tax receivable agreement in excess of those that would result if such assumptions were not made.

The actual tax benefit, as well as the amount and timing of any payments under the tax receivable agreement, will vary depending upon a number of factors, including, among others, the timing of exchanges by or purchases from RHI and Dan Gilbert, the price of our Class A common stock at the time of the exchanges or purchases, the extent to which such exchanges are taxable, the amount and timing of the taxable income we generate in the future and the tax rate then applicable and the portion of our payments under the tax receivable agreement constituting imputed interest.

There is a possibility that under certain circumstances not all of the 90% of the applicable cash savings will be paid to the selling or exchanging holder of Holdings Units at the time described above. If we determine that such circumstances apply and all or a portion of such applicable tax savings is in doubt, we will pay to the holders of such Holdings Units the amount attributable to the portion of the applicable tax savings that we determine is not in doubt and pay the remainder at such time as we reasonably determine the actual tax savings or that the amount is no longer in doubt.

Future payments under the tax receivable agreement could be substantial. Assuming that all Holdings Units are exchanged for cash or Class B common stock at the time of the offering and that we will have sufficient taxable income to utilize all of the tax attributes covered by the tax receivable agreement when they are first available to be utilized under applicable law, we estimate that payments to RHI and Dan Gilbert under the tax receivable agreement would aggregate to approximately $ million over the next 20 years and for yearly payments over that time to range between approximately $ million to $ million per year, based on an assumed public offering price of $ (the highpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus). The payments under the tax receivable agreement are not conditioned upon RHI's or Dan Gilbert's continued ownership of us.

In addition, RHI and Dan Gilbert (or its transferees or other assignees) will not reimburse us for any payments previously made if any covered tax benefits are subsequently disallowed, except that any excess payments made to RHI and Dan Gilbert (or such holder's transferees or assignees) will be netted against future payments that would otherwise be made under the tax receivable agreement with RHI and Dan Gilbert, if any, after our determination of such excess. We could make payments to RHI and Dan Gilbert under the tax receivable agreement that are greater than our actual cash tax savings and may not be able to recoup those payments, which could negatively impact our liquidity.

In addition, the tax receivable agreement will provide that in the case of a change in control of the Company or a material breach of our obligations under the tax receivable agreement, we will be required to make a payment to RHI and Dan Gilbert in an amount equal to the present value of future payments (calculated using a discount rate equal to the lesser of 6.50% or LIBOR plus 100 basis points, which may differ from our, or a potential acquirer's, then-current cost of capital) under the tax receivable agreement, which payment would be based on certain assumptions, including those relating to our future taxable income. For additional discussion of LIBOR, see "—Risks Related to Our Business—We are exposed to volatility in LIBOR, which can result in higher than market interest rates and may have a detrimental effect on our business." In these situations, our obligations under the tax receivable agreement could have a substantial negative impact on our, or a potential acquirer's, liquidity and could have the effect of delaying, deferring, modifying or preventing certain mergers, asset sales, other forms of business combinations or other changes of control. These provisions of the tax receivable agreement may result in situations where RHI and Dan Gilbert have interests that differ from or are in addition to those of our other stockholders. In addition, we could be required to make payments under the tax receivable agreement that are substantial, significantly in advance of any potential actual realization of such further tax benefits, and in excess of our, or a potential acquirer's, actual cash savings in income tax.

Decisions we make in the course of running our business, such as with respect to mergers, asset sales, other forms of business combinations or other changes in control, may influence the timing and amount of payments made under the tax receivable agreement. For example, the earlier disposition of assets following an exchange or purchase of Holdings Units and the corresponding Class D common stock or Class C common stock may accelerate payments under the tax receivable agreement and increase the present value of such payments, and the disposition of assets before such an exchange or purchase may increase the tax liability of RHI and Dan Gilbert without giving rise to any rights to receive payments under the tax receivable agreement. Such effects may result in differences or conflicts of interest between the interests of RHI and Dan Gilbert and the interests of other stockholders.

Finally, because we are a holding company with no operations of our own, our ability to make payments under the tax receivable agreement is dependent on the ability of our subsidiaries to make distributions to us. Our debt agreements restrict the ability of our subsidiaries to make distributions to us, which could affect our ability to make payments under the tax receivable agreement. To the extent that we are unable to make payments under the tax receivable agreement as a result of restrictions in our debt agreements, such payments will be deferred and will accrue interest until paid, which could negatively impact our results of operations and could also affect our liquidity in periods in which such payments are made.

Indemnification Agreements

We expect to enter into an indemnification agreement with each of our executive officers and directors that provides, in general, that we will indemnify them to the fullest extent permitted by law in connection with their service to us or on our behalf.

Transactions with RHI and other Related Parties

Prior to this offering, our business was wholly-owned by RHI. From time to time, we have entered into various transactions and agreements with RHI, its subsidiaries, certain other affiliates of Dan Gilbert, our founder and Chairman, and certain other affiliates of our director Jennifer Gilbert. In doing so, we have enhanced our operations by looking at, and taking advantage of, opportunities not only with third parties but also with our affiliated entities. We intend to continue taking advantage of such opportunities with RHI and other affiliates of Dan Gilbert and Jennifer Gilbert after the consummation of this offering in accordance with our Related Person Transaction Policy (see "—Policies and Procedures for Related Party Transactions").

Services Provided by our Company to Affiliates

We have entered into transactions and agreements to provide certain support services to RHI, its subsidiaries and certain other affiliates of Dan Gilbert and Jennifer Gilbert, including Bedrock Management Services LLC ("Bedrock"), StockX LLC and Cavaliers Operating Company LLC at fees that reflect the cost of services provided by us plus, in certain circumstances, a reasonable margin. These services primarily include technology services (e.g., infrastructure, platform interface, data and server support), information security services and support, human resources services (e.g., providing skilled recruiters and recruiting support, payroll and benefits administration and support), legal services (e.g., support and advice on transactional matters, employment law, and litigation), data governance and analytics, advisory services (e.g., strategic consulting, tax services and advice, and security services), the procurement of goods, services and materials, including vendor engagement and risk management (e.g., technology development and data acquisition services), accounting and finance services (e.g., providing accounting and financial reporting services), marketing services, and telemarketing services (collectively, the "Provided Services"). We intend to continue providing the Provided Services after the completion of this offering. Fees for the Provided Services amounted to $3.2 million, $13.4 million, $7.1 million and $4.6 million in the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively.

We also charge the recipient of the Provided Services for all documented out-of-pocket third-party costs and expenses we incur for such services. In the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, we charged $13.9 million, $35.5 million, $37.9 million and $51.7 million respectively, for such costs and expenses. Out of these pass-through costs, a substantial majority relates to payroll and benefits payments we administered on behalf of our affiliates. In the middle of 2018, we updated the process of administering payroll and benefits, resulting in a decrease of such pass-through costs in subsequent periods. In connection with certain Provided Services, we sold a receivable due to us from one of our affiliates to RHI on December 31, 2019 for $3.7 million.

Services Acquired by our Company from Affiliates

We have entered into transactions and agreements to receive certain services from certain subsidiaries of RHI and affiliates of Dan Gilbert and Jennifer Gilbert, including Rock Ventures LLC, Detroit Labs LLC, Sift LLC, Rock Security LLC, dPOP LLC, and Bedrock at fees that reflect the cost of services acquired by us plus, in certain circumstances, a reasonable margin. These services primarily include consultant services, data protection services, data source support and technical support services, physical security services, professional services to assist customers in customizing software, discovery analytics and data strategy services, optical wave services, business consulting, design and process improvement consulting services, underwriting services, and catering and event services (the "Received Services"). We intend to continue receiving the Received Services after the completion of this offering. In connection with the Received Services, we paid fees and out-of-pocket costs and expenses incurred by the service providers for such services in an amount of $14.2 million, $46.1 million, $45.1 million and $37.8 million in the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively.

Services Acquired from Amrock Title Insurance Company and Acquisition Agreement

Our subsidiary Amrock is party to an agreement to receive certain title insurance services from Amrock Title Insurance Company, including insurance underwriting services.

Prior to the completion of this offering, we will enter into an acquisition agreement with RHI and its direct subsidiary Amrock Holdings Inc. pursuant to which we will acquire Amrock Title Insurance Company, an entity through which RHI conducts its title insurance underwriting business, for total aggregate consideration of $14.4 million that will consist of Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock of RHI (assuming an initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus)). The consummation of this acquisition is subject to customary closing conditions, including the receipt of regulatory approvals. We expect this acquisition will close in the fourth quarter of 2020.

Real Estate Transactions

Certain of our subsidiaries, including Quicken Loans and RockLoans Marketplace LLC, are parties to lease agreements for certain of our offices, including our headquarters in Detroit, with various affiliates of Bedrock and other affiliates of Dan Gilbert. The lease agreements have terms ranging between three and 15 years. Under each agreement, our subsidiaries are required to pay specified rent, as well as common area maintenance fees, costs for office services (e.g. for consumed electricity) and property maintenance costs. Additionally, we paid for the renovation and expansion of certain of the properties subject to these agreements. During the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, we made cash payments totaling $21.8 million, $74.7 million, $79.1 million and $84.7 million, respectively, for these properties.

Upon renewal, any lease will be approved by our audit committee (see "—Policies and Procedures for Related Party Transactions").

In addition to the parking spaces we obtain under our lease agreements, we also acquire additional parking rights from Bedrock or through an agent of Bedrock at properties owned by Bedrock. During the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, we made cash payments totaling $5.0 million, $19.1 million, $21.9 million and $20.0 million, respectively, for these additional parking rights. We recoup certain of these amounts from of our affiliates whose employees use the parking spaces.

We also sublease office space and data center operations to certain of our affiliates, including Rock Ventures LLC and StockX LLC. The agreements have terms ranging from three to 11 years. Under each agreement, the relevant counterparty is required to pay us a specified amount of rent. During the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, we charged the certain affiliates $609,850, $1.8 million, $1.2 million and $1.0 million, respectively, under these agreements, which reflect the cost of the underlying leases.

Naming Rights Agreement for Rocket Mortgage Field House

On July 1, 2017, we entered into an agreement with Cleveland Cavaliers Holdings, LLC and certain of its affiliates (collectively, the "Cavaliers"), to obtain the naming rights for a professional sports arena. The agreement terminates in 2034. Dan Gilbert is the majority owner of the Cavaliers. The agreement obligates the Cavaliers to place signage on and in the arena in agreed-upon locations and provides for advertising spots on radio and television broadcasts as well as certain other advertising benefits. We paid the Cavaliers $2.1 million, $8.3 million, $14.1 million and nil in the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017 under this agreement.

Guarantees

Quicken Loans has provided a guaranty for three rental agreements entered into by affiliates of Dan Gilbert which relate to the cafeteria, gym and daycare facilities at 1000 Woodward Avenue in Detroit. Quicken Loans is obligated to pay for up to 50% of the basic rental and operating expenses under each of these agreements if the tenant does not make such payments. If these guarantees were required to be paid, Quicken Loans may be required to fund up to $5.0 million per guarantee. We have not, however, recorded a liability for these guarantees because we believe that it is not probable that we would be required to make any payments thereunder.

Quicken Loans has entered into a Master Commercial Card Agreement with JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A. ("JPM") pursuant to which Quicken Loans and its affiliates may use cards issued by JPM. Quicken Loans is responsible as a primary obligor for all obligations of these affiliates under this agreement. At March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the amounts due by those affiliates under this agreement was $176,266, $93,256, $216,470 and $338,335, respectively.

Charitable Donations

In the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, we paid nil, $5.3 million, $7.5 million and $27.8 million, respectively, to Quicken Loans Community Fund LLC, an affiliate of Dan Gilbert, which used these amounts to fund its operations, make donations to charitable entities and make other investments in the communities in which we operate. In the year ended December 31, 2018, RHI reimbursed Quicken Loans $13.8 million for funds previously paid by Quicken Loans to Quicken Loans Community Fund LLC in 2017 and 2018.

Loans to Affiliates

In the past, we have made loans to certain affiliates. As of December 31, 2019, the principal amount owed was $58.4 million. These loans are described in more detail in the paragraphs below. The promissory note to The Daniel B. Gilbert Trust u/a/d 12/23/96 described below was settled for $885,428 in June 2020. In December 2019 and March 2020, we sold the remaining loans to affiliates described below to RHI and RHI Opportunities ("RHI Opportunities"), as applicable, for an aggregate amount equal to $64.3 million.

In January 2017, Dan Gilbert issued a promissory note to Quicken Loans for a principal amount of $56.0 million, representing advances and accrued interest. This promissory note, as amended, matures on December 31, 2020. At December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the principal amounts due under this promissory note were $57.5 million, $56.0 million and $56.0 million. Interest accrues on the principal amount of this promissory note at an annual interest rate of 2.5% (2.38% in 2019 and 2018, and 1.76% in 2017) and is due and payable on the maturity date of the note. In the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the total amount of interest earned was approximately $1.4 million $1.2 million and $1.0 million, respectively. There were no advances or repayments under this promissory note. In March 2020, Quicken Loans sold this promissory note to RHI Opportunities LLC, a subsidiary of RHI, for an amount of $59.7 million.

In December 2012, The Daniel B. Gilbert Trust u/a/d 12/23/96, an affiliate of Dan Gilbert, issued a promissory note to Amrock for a principal amount of $824,293. This promissory note matures on December 28, 2042. As of March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the principal amount due under this promissory note was $824,293. Interest accrues on the principal amount of this promissory note at an annual interest rate of 1.0% and is due and payable on the maturity date of the note. During the three months ended March 31, 2020 and years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the total amount of interest earned was $2,061, $8,243, $8,243, and $8,243, respectively. There were no advances or repayments under this promissory note. This promissory note was settled for $885,428 in June 2020.

In September and October 2015, Pickles Investments LLC, an affiliate of Dan Gilbert, issued three promissory notes to Quicken Loans for an aggregate principal amount of $127,793. The notes mature in March and April 2020. At December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the aggregate principal amount due under these promissory notes was $131,618, $127,793, and $127,793, respectively. Interest accrues on the principal amount of these promissory notes at an annual interest rate of 2.00%, and is due and payable on the maturity date of the notes. In the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the total amount of interest earned was $2,751, $2,549, and $2,598, respectively. There were no advances or repayments under these promissory notes. In March 2020, Quicken Loans sold these promissory notes to RHI Opportunities for an aggregate amount of $139,343.

In September 2014 and April 2015, Fathead LLC, an affiliate of Dan Gilbert, issued two promissory notes to Quicken Loans for a principal amount of approximately $1.9 million and $2.0 million, respectively. At December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the principal amounts due under these promissory notes were nil, $3.9 million and $3.9 million, respectively. Interest accrues on the principal amount of these promissory notes at an annual interest rate of 2.69% and 4.00%, respectively, and is due and payable on the maturity date of the note. In the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the total amount of interest earned was $21,105, $126,468 and $144,527, respectively. There were no advances or repayments under these promissory notes. In December 2019, Quicken Loans sold these two promissory notes to RHI for an aggregate amount of $4.4 million.

Loans from Affiliates

Nexsys Promissory Note

On December 31, 2019, one of our subsidiaries, Nexsys Technologies LLC ("Nexsys"), issued a promissory note to Quicken Loans for a principal amount of approximately $1.5 million. In March 2020, Quicken Loans sold this promissory note to RHI Opportunities, an affiliate of Dan Gilbert, for an aggregate amount of $1.5 million. This promissory note matures on June 30, 2021. At March 31, 2020, the principal amount due under this promissory note was $1.5 million. Interest accrues on the principal amount of this promissory note at an annual interest rate of 5.0% and is due and payable on the maturity date of the note.

RHI/QL Line of Credit

RHI and Quicken Loans are parties to an agreement for an uncommitted unsecured line of credit, dated June 9, 2017, as amended on December 24, 2019 (as amended, the "RHI/QL Line of Credit"), which provides for financing from RHI to Quicken Loans of up to $1.0 billion. The RHI/QL Line of Credit matures on November 1, 2024. Historically, Quicken Loans has periodically borrowed funds under the RHI/QL Line of Credit to repay other indebtedness that accrued interest at a higher rate. In its discretion, RHI may determine not to advance funds for any reason.

Borrowings under the RHI/QL Line of Credit bear interest at a rate per annum of one-month LIBOR (as quoted in the Wall Street Journal) plus 1.25%. One-month LIBOR ranged from 0.61% to 2.52% during the quarter ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017. Prior to the consummation of this offering, we intend to amend the RHI/QL Line of Credit to provide for a successor interest rate benchmark to LIBOR. The negative covenants of the RHI/QL Line of Credit restrict the ability of Quicken Loans to incur debt and create liens on certain assets. Additionally, if as of the last day of any fiscal quarter either Quicken Loans' adjusted tangible net worth is less than $500.0 million or its cash and cash equivalents are less than $100.0 million, then its consolidated net income before taxes must be at least $1 for that quarter. The RHI/QL Line of Credit also contains customary events of default.

At March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the amounts due to RHI pursuant to the RHI/QL Line of Credit were $600 million, nil, nil and nil, respectively. In the quarter ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the total amount of interest under the RHI/QL Line of Credit was $511,651, $3.6 million, nil and nil, respectively. In the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the largest amount outstanding under the RHI/QL Line of Credit was $600.0 million, $250.0 million, nil and nil, respectively. In the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, Quicken Loans repaid an aggregate of nil, $503.6 million, nil and nil, respectively under the RHI/QL Line of Credit.

RHIO/RLO Line of Credit

RHI Opportunities and RockLoans Opportunities LLC, one of our subsidiaries ("RockLoans Opportunities"), are parties to an agreement for a perpetual uncommitted unsecured line of credit, dated January 10, 2019 (the "RHIO/RLO Line of Credit"), which provides for financing from RHI Opportunities to RockLoans Opportunities of up to $10.0 million. The RHIO/RLO Line of Credit is perpetual. In its discretion, RHI Opportunities may determine not to advance funds for any reason.

Borrowings under the RHIO/RLO Line of Credit bear interest at a rate per annum of 5%. The principal amount of all borrowings is payable in full on demand by RHI Opportunities. The negative covenants of the RHIO/RLO Line of Credit restrict the ability of RockLoans Opportunities to incur debt in excess of $500,000 and to create liens on certain assets other than liens securing permitted debt.

At March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, the amount due to RHI Opportunities pursuant to the RHIO/RLO Line of Credit was $9.5 million and $10.0 million, respectively. In the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the year ended December 31, 2019, the total amount of interest under the RHIO/RLO Line of Credit was $124,603 and $258,055, respectively. In the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the year ended December 31, 2019, the largest amount outstanding under the RHIO/RLO Line of Credit was $10 million and $10 million. In the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the year ended December 31, 2019, RockLoans Opportunities repaid an aggregate of $124,167 and $217,222 under the RHIO/RLO Line of Credit, respectively.

RHIO/RC Line of Credit

RHI Opportunities and Rock Central LLC, one of our subsidiaries ("Rock Central"), are parties to an agreement for an uncommitted, unsecured revolving line of credit, dated as of June 23, 2020 (as amended, the "RHIO/RC Line of Credit"), which provides for financing from RHI Opportunities to Rock Central of up to $50 million. The RHIO/RC Line of Credit matures on June 23, 2025. Rock Central intends to use the RHIO/RC Line of Credit for general working capital needs. In its discretion, RHIO may determine not to advance funds for any reason.

Borrowings under the RHIO/RC Line of Credit bear interest at a rate per annum of one month LIBOR (as quoted in the Wall Street Journal) plus 1.25%. The negative covenants of the RHIO/RC Line of Credit restrict the ability of Rock Central to incur debt and create liens on certain assets. The RHI/QL Line of Credit also contains customary events of default.

Other Transactions

We have historically entered into secondment agreements with Bedrock pursuant to which we have provided Bedrock with personnel necessary to perform its operations. In the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018, 2017 and during the first quarter of 2020, we charged $651,434, $200,364 and nil for the use of our employees under these secondment agreements, which amounts reflect the cost of our employees. As of the second quarter of 2020, we have also entered into secondment agreements with certain of our affiliates pursuant to which such affiliates will provide us with personnel necessary to perform our operations.

Affiliates of Dan Gilbert own or owned the Shinola Hotel in Detroit, the Ritz-Carlton in Cleveland, Greektown Casino Hotel in Detroit, the Madison Theatre Building in Detroit and the watch manufacturer Shinola Detroit. From time to time, we buy products and services from these companies in the ordinary course of our business. The amounts involved in such transactions for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017 were $727,013, $9.2 million, $2.5 million and $2.5 million, respectively.

We are a party to a sponsorship and promotional partner agreement with 100 Thieves, LLC, a League of Legends team that is an affiliate of Dan Gilbert. Pursuant to this agreement, the team granted us a license to use certain of their marks on our promotional materials. In the three months ended March 31, 2020 and the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, we paid $24,000, $1.5 million, $1.1 million and nil, respectively, under this agreement.

Two immediate family members of our directors are regular, full-time employees of the Company and have average annual compensation, including base salary, bonus and company-paid benefits, of approximately $330,921.

In July 2019, we acquired the Rocket HQ App/Website and Rocket Account adapter from Rocket HQ LLC, an affiliate of Dan Gilbert, for approximately $3.6 million.

In 2018, we paid $1.0 million to RHI in satisfaction of amounts payable in connection with the acquisition of LMB Mortgage Services, Inc., LMB Insurance Services, Inc. and CPL Assets, LLC.

In 2017, we sold our interest in Detroit Labs LLC, an affiliate of Dan Gilbert, to RHI for $9.5 million.

In 2017, we wrote off a $429,410 receivable, which related to a startup investment we made in an affiliate of Dan Gilbert that did not subsequently proceed beyond the startup phase.

Siebert Williams

Ms. Suzanne Shank, the chief executive officer of Siebert Williams Shank & Co., LLC, will serve as a member of our board of directors upon the consummation of this offering. Siebert Williams Shank & Co., LLC is an underwriter of this offering and will receive underwriting discounts and commissions by the Company as set forth under the section "Underwriting."

Policies and Procedures for Related Party Transactions

Upon the consummation of this offering, we will adopt a written Related Person Transaction Policy (the "policy"), which will set forth our policy with respect to the review, approval, ratification and disclosure of all related person transactions by our audit committee. In accordance with the policy, our audit committee will have overall responsibility for the implementation of, and compliance with, the policy.

For purposes of the policy, a "related person transaction" is a transaction, arrangement or relationship (or any series of similar transactions, arrangements or relationships) in which we were, are or will be a participant and the amount involved exceeded, exceeds or will exceed $120,000 and in which any related person (as defined in the policy) had, has or will have a direct or indirect material interest. A "related person transaction" does not include any employment relationship or transaction involving an executive officer and any related compensation resulting solely from that employment relationship that has been reviewed and approved by our board of directors or our compensation committee.

The policy will require that notice of a proposed related person transaction be provided to our legal department prior to entry into such transaction. If our legal department determines that such transaction is a related person transaction, the proposed transaction will be submitted for consideration (a) to our audit committee at its next meeting, (b) if not practicable or desirable to wait until the next audit committee meeting, to the chair of the audit committee, or (c) to a different group of independent directors as determined by the board of directors of the Company.

Under the policy, our audit committee may approve only those related person transactions that are in, or not inconsistent with, our best interests and the best interests of our stockholders. In the event that we become aware of a related person transaction that has not been previously reviewed, approved or ratified under the policy and that is ongoing or is completed (including any transaction that was not considered a related person transaction at the time it was entered into, but subsequently is), the transaction will be submitted to the audit committee so that it may determine whether to ratify, rescind or terminate the related person transaction.

The policy will also provide that the audit committee review certain previously approved or ratified related person transactions that are ongoing, and have (i) a remaining term of more than six months or (ii) remaining amounts involved in excess of $120,000, to determine whether the related person transaction remains in our best interests and the best interests of our stockholders. Additionally, we will make periodic inquiries of directors and executive officers with respect to any potential related person transaction of which they may be a party or of which they may be aware.

DESCRIPTION OF CAPITAL STOCK

Capital Stock

In connection with the reorganization transactions, we expect to amend and restate our certificate of incorporation so that our authorized capital stock will consist of shares of Class A common stock, par value $0.0001 per share, shares of Class B common stock, par value $0.0001 per share, shares of Class C common stock, par value $0.0001 per share, shares of Class D common stock, par value $0.0001 per share, and shares of preferred stock, par value $0.0001 per share.

Immediately following the reorganization transactions, we will have no holders of record of our Class A common stock, no holders of record of our Class B common stock, no holders of record of our Class C common stock, one holder of record of our Class D common stock and no holders of record of our preferred stock. Immediately following the reorganization transactions, of the authorized shares of our capital stock, no shares of our Class A common stock will be issued and outstanding, no shares of our Class B common stock will be issued and outstanding, no shares of our Class C common stock will be issued and outstanding, shares of our Class D common stock will be issued and outstanding and no shares of our preferred stock will be issued and outstanding. In addition, we expect to issue equity awards under the 2020 Management Incentive Plan in connection with this offering with respect to an aggregate amount of shares of Class A common stock. See "Executive Compensation—Looking Ahead: Post-IPO Compensation Program Features."

After the consummation of this offering and the application of the net proceeds from this offering, we expect to have shares of our Class A common stock issued and outstanding (or shares if the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares is exercised in full), no shares of our Class B common stock issued and outstanding, no shares of our Class C common stock issued and outstanding, shares of our Class D common stock issued and outstanding (or shares if the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares is exercised in full and giving effect to the use of the net proceeds therefrom) and no shares of our preferred stock issued and outstanding.

Common Stock

Voting

The holders of our Class A common stock, Class B common stock, Class C common stock and Class D common stock will vote together as a single class on all matters submitted to stockholders for their vote or approval, except (i) as required by applicable law or (ii) any amendment (including by merger, consolidation, reorganization or similar event) to our certificate of incorporation that would affect the rights of the Class A common stock and the Class C common stock in a manner that is disproportionately adverse as compared to the Class B common stock or Class D common stock, or vice versa, in which case the holders of Class A common stock and Class C common stock or the holders of Class B common stock and Class D common stock, as applicable, shall vote together as a class.

Subject to the next sentence, holders of our Class A common stock and Class C common stock are entitled to one vote on all matters submitted to stockholders for their vote or approval. Holders of our Class B common stock and Class D common stock are entitled to 10 votes on all matters submitted to stockholders for their vote or approval. At any time when the aggregate voting power of the outstanding common stock or preferred stock beneficially owned by RHI or any entity disregarded as separate from RHI for U.S. federal income tax purposes (the "RHI Securities") would be equal to or greater than 79% of the total voting power of our outstanding stock, the number of votes per share of each RHI Security shall be reduced such that the aggregate voting power of all of the RHI Securities is equal to 79%.

Upon the completion of this offering, RHI will control 79% of the combined voting power of our common stock as a result of its ownership of shares of our Class D common stock. Accordingly, RHI will control our business policies and affairs and can control any action requiring the general approval of our stockholders, including the election of our board or directors, the adoption of amendments to our certificate of incorporation and bylaws and the approval of any merger or sale of substantially all of our assets. RHI will continue to have such control as long as it owns at least 10% of our issued and outstanding common stock. This concentration of ownership and voting power may also delay, defer or even prevent an acquisition by a third party or other change of control of the Company and may make some transactions more difficult or impossible without the support of RHI, even if such events are in the best interests of minority stockholders.

Dividends

The holders of Class A common stock and Class B common stock are entitled to receive dividends when, as and if declared by our board of directors out of legally available funds. Under our certificate of incorporation, dividends may not be declared or paid in respect of Class B common stock unless they are declared or paid in the same amount and same type of cash or property (or combination thereof) in respect of Class A common stock, and vice versa. With respect to stock dividends, holders of Class B common stock must receive Class B common stock while holders of Class A common stock must receive Class A common stock.

The holders of our Class C common stock and Class D common stock will not have any right to receive dividends other than dividends consisting of shares of our (i) Class C common stock, paid proportionally with respect to each outstanding share of our Class C common stock, and (ii) Class D common stock, paid proportionally with respect to each outstanding share of our Class D common stock, in each case in connection with stock dividends.

Merger, Consolidation, Tender or Exchange Offer

The holders of Class B common stock and Class D common stock will not be entitled to receive economic consideration for their shares in excess of that payable to the holders of Class A common stock and Class C common stock, respectively, in the event of a merger, consolidation or other business combination requiring the approval of our stockholders or a tender or exchange offer to acquire any shares of our common stock. However, in any such event involving consideration in the form of securities, the holders of Class B common stock and Class D common stock will be entitled to receive securities that have no more than 10 times the voting power of any securities distributed to the holders of Class A common stock and Class C common stock.

Liquidation or Dissolution

Upon our liquidation or dissolution, the holders of our Class A common stock and Class B common stock will be entitled to share ratably in those of our assets that are legally available for distribution to stockholders after payment of liabilities and subject to the prior rights of any holders of preferred stock then outstanding. Other than their par value, the holders of our Class C common stock and Class D common stock will not have any right to receive a distribution upon a liquidation or dissolution of the Company.

Conversion, Transferability and Exchange

Our certificate of incorporation will provide that each share of our Class B common stock is convertible at any time, at the option of the holder, into one share of Class A common stock, and each share of our Class D common stock is convertible at any time, at the option of the holder, into one share of Class C common stock. Our certificate of incorporation will further provide that each share of our Class B common stock will automatically convert into one share of Class A common stock, and each share of our Class D common stock will automatically convert into one share of our Class C common stock, immediately prior to any transfer of such share except for certain transfers described in our certificate of incorporation, including (i) transfers to or among the direct or indirect equityholders of RHI (the "Rock Equityholders"), (ii) transfers following which the Class B common stock or Class D common stock continues to be held by RHI or a permitted transferee and, in each case, the Rock Equityholders or the direct or indirect equityholders of such permitted transferee immediately prior to such transfer or transfers continue to hold a majority of the beneficial interests of RHI or such permitted transferee, as applicable, following such transfer or transfers, (iii) transfers to family members, trusts solely for the benefit of RHI, any Rock Equityholder or permitted transferee or their respective family members and other tax and estate planning vehicles, (iv) transfers to partnerships, corporations, and other entities controlled by, or a majority of which is beneficially owned by, RHI, any Rock Equityholder or permitted transferee, their respective family members or other permitted entities, (v) certain transfers to charitable trusts or organizations that are exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, (vi) transfers to an individual mandated under a qualified domestic relations order or (vii) transfers to a legal or personal representative in the event of the death or disability. In addition, each share of our Class B common stock will automatically convert into one share of Class A common stock, and each share of our Class D common stock will automatically convert into one share of our Class C common stock if RHI, the Rock Equityholders and their permitted transferees own less than 10% of the aggregate number of shares of our issued and outstanding common stock. Shares of our Class A common stock and Class C common stock are not subject to any conversion right. Additionally, except as set forth above, the Class B common stock and the Class D common stock will not be automatically converted into Class A common stock or Class C common stock, respectively, at a certain specified time.

Among other exceptions described in our certificate of incorporation, the RHI Parties will be permitted to pledge shares of Class D common stock and/or Class B common stock that they hold from time to time without causing an automatic conversion to Class C common stock or Class A common stock, as applicable, provided that any pledged shares are not transferred to or registered in the name of the pledgee.

Subject to the terms of the Exchange Agreement, RHI may exchange its Holdings Units, together with a corresponding number of shares of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock for, at our option (as the sole managing member of Holdings), (i) shares of our Class B or Class A common stock, as applicable, on a one-for-one basis or (ii) cash (based on the market price of our Class A common stock). Upon exchange, each share of our Class D common stock or Class C common stock so exchanged will be cancelled.

Other Provisions

None of the Class A common stock, Class B common stock, Class C common stock or Class D common stock has any pre-emptive or other subscription rights. There will be no redemption or sinking fund provisions applicable to the Class A common stock, Class B common stock, Class C common stock or Class D common stock.

At such time as no Holdings Units remain exchangeable for shares of our Class B common stock, our Class D common stock will be cancelled.

Preferred Stock

After the consummation of this offering, we will be authorized to issue up to shares of preferred stock. Our board of directors will be authorized, subject to limitations prescribed by Delaware law and our certificate of incorporation, to determine the terms and conditions of the preferred stock, including whether the shares of preferred stock will be issued in one or more series, the number of shares to be included in each series and the powers, designations, preferences and rights of the shares. Our board of directors also will be authorized to designate any qualifications, limitations or restrictions on the shares without any further vote or action by the stockholders. The issuance of preferred stock may have the effect of delaying, deferring or preventing a change in control of the Company and may adversely affect the voting and other rights of the holders of our Class A common stock, Class B common stock, Class C common stock and Class D common stock, which could have a negative impact on the market price of our Class A common stock. We have no current plan to issue any shares of preferred stock following the consummation of this offering.

Corporate Opportunity

Our certificate of incorporation will provide that none of the RHI Affiliated Entities nor any officer, director, member, partner or employee of any RHI Affiliated Entity (each, an "RHI Party") will have any duty to refrain from engaging in the same or similar business activities or lines of business, doing business with any of our clients or suppliers or employing or otherwise engaging or soliciting for employment any of our directors, officers or employees, and none of our directors or officers shall be liable to us or to any of our subsidiaries or stockholders for breach of any fiduciary or other duty under statutory or common law, as a director or officer or controlling stockholder or otherwise, by reason of any such activities, or for the presentation or direction to, or participation in, any such activities by any RHI Party.

In our certificate of incorporation, to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, we renounce any interest or expectancy that we have in any business opportunity, transaction, or other matter in which any RHI Party participates or desires or seeks to participate in, even if the opportunity is one that we might reasonably be deemed to have pursued or had the ability or desire to pursue if granted the opportunity to do so. To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, each such RHI Party has no duty to communicate or offer such business opportunity to us and is not liable to us or any of our stockholders for breach of any fiduciary or other duty under statutory or common law, as a director or officer or controlling stockholder, or otherwise, by reason of the fact that such RHI Party pursues or acquires such business opportunity, directs such business opportunity to another person, or fails to present such business opportunity, or information regarding such business opportunity, to us.

The Exchange Agreement specifies that we will not amend the provisions of our certificate of incorporation renouncing corporate opportunities without the consent of RHI for so long as RHI holds any Holdings Units. See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Exchange Agreement."

Notwithstanding the foregoing, our certificate of incorporation does not renounce any interest or expectancy we may have in any business opportunity, transaction or other matter that is offered to an RHI Party who is one of our directors or officers and who is offered such opportunity solely in his or her capacity as one of our directors or officers, as reasonably determined by such RHI Party.

See "Risk Factors—Risk Related to Our Organization and Structure—Our certificate of incorporation will contain a provision renouncing our interest and expectancy in certain corporate opportunities."

Certain Certificate of Incorporation, Bylaw and Statutory Provisions

The provisions of our certificate of incorporation and bylaws and of the DGCL summarized below may have an anti-takeover effect and may delay, defer or prevent a tender offer or takeover attempt that you might consider in your best interest, including an attempt that might result in your receipt of a premium over the market price for your shares of Class A common stock.

Anti-Takeover Effects of Our Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws

Our certificate of incorporation and bylaws will contain certain provisions that are intended to enhance the likelihood of continuity and stability in the composition of our board of directors and that may have the effect of delaying, deferring or preventing a future takeover or change in control of the Company unless such takeover or change in control is approved by our board of directors.

These provisions include:

Dual Class Capital Structure. Our certificate of incorporation will provide for a dual class common stock structure, which will provide RHI with the ability to control the outcome of matters requiring stockholder approval, even if it beneficially owns significantly less than a majority of the shares of our outstanding common stock, including the election of directors and significant corporate transactions, such as a merger or sale of substantially all of our assets.

Classified Board. Our certificate of incorporation will provide that our board of directors will be divided into three classes of directors, with the classes as nearly equal in number as possible. As a result, approximately one-third of our board of directors will be elected each year. The classification of directors will have the effect of making it more difficult for stockholders to change the composition of our board. Our certificate of incorporation will also provide that, subject to any rights of holders of preferred stock to elect additional directors under specified circumstances, the number of directors will be fixed exclusively pursuant to a resolution adopted by our board of directors. Our board of directors will initially have six members. At any meeting of the board of directors, except as otherwise required by law, a majority of the total number of directors then in office will constitute a quorum for all purposes.

Removal of directors. Our certificate of incorporation will provide that until the RHI Parties beneficially own less than a majority of the combined voting power of our common stock, any director may be removed with or without cause by the affirmative vote of a majority of our outstanding shares of common stock. After the RHI Parties cease to beneficially own a majority of the combined voting power of the common stock, our certificate of incorporation will provide that any director may only be removed with cause by the affirmative vote of holders of 75% of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock eligible to vote in the election of directors, voting together as a single class.

Vacancies. Each director is to hold office until his or her successor is duly elected and qualified or until his or her earlier death, resignation or removal. Vacancies and newly created directorships on the board of directors may be filled at any time by the remaining directors or our stockholders, provided that, after the RHI Parties cease to beneficially own a majority of the combined voting power of our common stock, vacancies on our board of directors, whether resulting from an increase in the number of directors or the death, removal or resignation of a director, will be filled only by our board of directors and not by stockholders.

Amendments to Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws. The DGCL generally provides that the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the total voting power of the shares entitled to vote on any matter is required to amend a corporation's certificate of incorporation or bylaws, unless either a corporation's certificate of incorporation or bylaws require a greater percentage. Our certificate of incorporation and bylaws will provide that, after the RHI Parties cease to beneficially own a majority of the combined voting power of our common stock, the affirmative vote of holders of 75% of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock eligible to vote in the election of directors, voting together as a single class, will be required to amend, alter, change or repeal our bylaws or specified provisions of our certificate of incorporation, including those relating to the classified board, actions by written consent of stockholders, calling of special meetings of stockholders, business combinations and these vote requirements to amend our certificate of incorporation and bylaws. This requirement of a super-majority vote to approve certain amendments to our certificate of incorporation and bylaws could enable a minority of our stockholders to exercise veto power over any such amendments.

Special Meetings of Stockholders. Our certificate of incorporation and bylaws will also provide that, subject to any special rights of the holders of any series of preferred stock, special meetings of the stockholders can only be called by the chairman of the board or the chief executive officer, or by the board of directors. Except as described above, stockholders are not permitted to call a special meeting or to require the board of directors to call a special meeting.

Action by Written Consent. Our certificate of incorporation will provide that stockholder action can be taken by written consent in lieu of a meeting; provided that after the RHI Parties cease to beneficially own a majority of the combined voting power of our common stock, stockholder action can be taken only at an annual or special meeting of stockholders and cannot be taken by written consent in lieu of a meeting.

Advance Notice Procedures. Our bylaws will establish an advance notice procedure for stockholder proposals to be brought before an annual meeting of our stockholders, including proposed nominations of persons for election to the board of directors. Stockholders at an annual meeting will only be able to consider proposals or nominations specified in the notice of meeting or brought before the meeting by or at the direction of the board of directors or by a stockholder who was a stockholder of record on the record date for the meeting, who is entitled to vote at the meeting and who has given us timely written notice, in proper form, of the stockholder's intention to bring that business before the meeting. Although the bylaws will not give our board of directors the power to approve or disapprove stockholder nominations of candidates or proposals regarding other business to be conducted at a special or annual meeting, the bylaws may have the effect of precluding the conduct of certain business at a meeting if the proper procedures are not followed or may discourage or deter a potential acquirer from conducting a solicitation of proxies to elect its own slate of directors or otherwise attempting to obtain control of the Company.

Authorized but Unissued Shares. Our authorized but unissued shares of common stock and preferred stock will be available for future issuance without stockholder approval, subject to applicable Exchange rules. These additional shares may be utilized for a variety of corporate purposes, including future public offerings to raise additional capital, corporate acquisitions and employee benefit plans. The existence of authorized but unissued shares of common stock and preferred stock could render more difficult or discourage an attempt to obtain control of a majority of our common stock by means of a proxy contest, tender offer, merger or otherwise.

Business Combinations with Interested Stockholders. Our certificate of incorporation will provide that we will not be subject to Section 203 of the DGCL, an antitakeover law. In general, Section 203 prohibits a publicly held Delaware corporation from engaging in a business combination with an interested stockholder, unless the business combination is approved in a prescribed manner. An interested stockholder includes a person, individually or together with any other interested stockholder, who within the last three years has owned 15% or more of our voting stock. Accordingly, we will not be subject to any anti-takeover effects of Section 203. Nevertheless, our certificate of incorporation will include a provision that restricts us from engaging in any business combination with an interested stockholder for three years following the date that person becomes an interested stockholder. Such restrictions, however, shall not apply to any business combination between RHI, any direct or indirect equityholder of RHI or any person that acquires (other than in connection with a registered public offering) our voting stock from RHI or any of its affiliates or successors or any "group," or any member of any such group, to which such persons are a party under Rule 13d-5 of the Exchange Act and who is designated in writing by RHI as an "RHI Transferee," on the one hand, and us, on the other.

Headquarters in Detroit. Our certificate of incorporation will provide that we shall not transfer our corporate headquarters outside of Detroit, Michigan unless we have received the affirmative vote of holders of 75% of the combined voting power of our outstanding common stock.

Directors' Liability; Indemnification of Directors and Officers

Our bylaws will limit the liability of our directors to the fullest extent permitted by the DGCL and will provide that we will provide them with customary indemnification and advancement rights. We expect to enter into customary indemnification agreements with each of our executive officers and directors that provide them, in general, with customary indemnification and advancement rights in connection with their service to us or on our behalf.

Choice of Forum

Our certificate of incorporation will require, to the fullest extent permitted by law, that (i) any derivative action or proceeding brought on our behalf, (ii) any action asserting a claim of breach of a fiduciary duty owed by any of our directors, officers or stockholders to us or our stockholders, (iii) any action asserting a claim against us arising pursuant to any provision of the DGCL or our certificate of incorporation or our bylaws or (iv) any action asserting a claim against us governed by the internal affairs doctrine will have to be brought only in the Third Judicial Circuit, Wayne County, Michigan (or, if the Third Judicial Circuit, Wayne County, Michigan lacks jurisdiction over such action or proceeding, then another state court of the State of Michigan or, if no state court of the State of Michigan has jurisdiction, then the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan) or the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware (or if the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware lacks jurisdiction, any other state court of the State of Delaware, or if no state of the State of Delaware has jurisdiction, the federal district court for the District of Delaware), unless we consent in writing to the selection of an alternative forum. Additionally, our certificate of incorporation will state that the foregoing provision will not apply to claims arising under the Securities Act, the Exchange Act or other federal securities laws for which there is exclusive federal or concurrent federal and state jurisdiction. Unless we consent in writing to the selection of an alternative forum, the federal district courts of the United States of America shall be the exclusive forum for the resolution of any complaint asserting a cause of action arising under the Securities Act. The exclusive forum provisions may limit a stockholder's ability to bring a claim in a judicial forum that it finds favorable for disputes with us or any of our directors, officers or stockholders, which may discourage lawsuits with respect to such claims. Our stockholders will not be deemed to have waived our compliance with the federal securities laws and the rules and regulations thereunder as a result of our exclusive forum provisions. See "Risk Factors—Risks Related to this Offering and our Class A Common Stock—The provision of our certificate of incorporation requiring exclusive forum in certain courts in the State of Michigan or the State of Delaware or the federal district courts of the United States for certain types of lawsuits may have the effect of discouraging lawsuits against our directors and officers."

Transfer Agent and Registrar

The transfer agent and registrar for our Class A common stock is Computershare Trust Company N.A.

Securities Exchange

We intend to list our Class A common stock on the Exchange under the symbol "RKT".

SHARES ELIGIBLE FOR FUTURE SALE

Prior to this offering, there has been no public market for our Class A common stock. Future sales of our Class A common stock in the public market, or the availability of such shares for sale in the public market, could adversely affect the market price of our Class A common stock prevailing from time to time. As described below, only a limited number of shares will be available for sale shortly after this offering due to contractual and legal restrictions on resale. Nevertheless, sales of a substantial number of shares of our Class A common stock in the public market after such restrictions lapse, or the perception that those sales may occur, could adversely affect the prevailing market price of our Class A common stock at such time and our ability to raise equity-related capital at a time and price we deem appropriate. See "Risk Factors—Risks Related to this Offering and our Class A Common Stock—Future sales of our common stock, or the perception in the public markets that these sales may occur, may depress the price of our Class A common stock."

Sale of Restricted Shares

Upon the consummation of this offering, we will have shares of Class A common stock (or shares if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full) outstanding, excluding shares of Class A common stock underlying outstanding . All of these shares will be freely tradable without further restriction under the Securities Act, except any shares held by our affiliates. As defined in Rule 144, an affiliate of an issuer is a person that directly, or indirectly through one or more intermediaries, controls, is controlled by or is under common control with the issuer. Upon the completion of this offering, approximately of our outstanding shares of Class A common stock (or shares if the underwriters' exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full) will be deemed "restricted securities," as that term is defined under Rule 144, and would also be subject to the "lock-up" period noted below.

In addition, upon the consummation of the offering, RHI and Dan Gilbert will own an aggregate of Holdings Units and shares of our Class D common stock (or Holdings Units and shares of Class D common stock if the underwriters' exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full and giving effect to the use of the net proceeds therefrom). Pursuant to the terms of the Exchange Agreement, each of RHI and Dan Gilbert could from time to time exchange its Holdings Units and corresponding shares of Class D common stock for, at our option (as the sole managing member of Holdings), (i) shares of our Class B common stock, on a one-for-one basis or (ii) cash (based on the market price of our Class A common stock). Shares of our Class A common stock issuable to RHI and Dan Gilbert upon conversion of shares of Class B common stock would be considered "restricted securities," as that term is defined under Rule 144 and would also be subject to the "lock-up" period noted below.

Restricted securities may be sold in the public market only if they qualify for an exemption from registration under Rule 144 under the Securities Act, which is summarized below, or any other applicable exemption under the Securities Act, or pursuant to a registration statement that is effective under the Securities Act. Immediately following the consummation of this offering, the holders of approximately shares of our Class A common stock (or shares if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full and giving effect to the use of the net proceeds therefrom) (on an assumed as-exchanged basis) will be entitled to dispose of their shares following the expiration of an initial 180-day underwriter "lock-up" period pursuant to the holding period, volume and other restrictions of Rule 144. The representatives of the underwriters are entitled to waive these lock-up provisions at their discretion prior to the expiration dates of such lock-up agreements.

Lock-up Agreements

We, RHI and all of our directors and executive officers have agreed not to sell any Class A common stock or securities convertible into or exercisable or exchangeable for shares of Class A common stock (including Holdings Units) for a period of 180 days from the date of this prospectus, subject to certain exceptions. Please see "Underwriting" for a description of these lock-up provisions. During the lock-up period, we may grant options to purchase shares of Class A common stock and issue shares of Class A common stock upon the exercise of outstanding options under our 2020 Management Incentive Plan, and we may issue or sell Class A common stock in connection with an acquisition or business combination (subject to a specified maximum amount) as long as the acquirer of such Class A common stock agrees in writing to be bound by the obligations and restrictions of our lock-up agreement. The representatives of the underwriters, in their sole discretion, may at any time release all or any portion of the shares from the restrictions in such agreements.

Immediately following the consummation of this offering, stockholders subject to lock-up agreements will hold shares of our Class A common stock (assuming all Holdings Units and corresponding shares of our Class C common stock or Class D common stock are exchanged for shares of our Class A common stock or Class B common stock, as applicable, and the conversion of all Class B common stock into Class A common stock), representing approximately % of our then-outstanding shares of Class A common stock (or shares of Class A common stock, representing approximately % of our then-outstanding shares of Class A common stock, if the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares in full and giving effect to the use of the net proceeds therefrom).

In general, under Rule 144 under the Securities Act as currently in effect, a person (or persons whose shares are aggregated) who is not deemed to have been an affiliate of ours at any time during the six months preceding a sale, and who has beneficially owned restricted securities within the meaning of Rule 144 for at least six months (including any period of consecutive ownership of preceding non-affiliated holders) would be entitled to sell those shares, subject only to the availability of current public information about us. A non-affiliated person who has beneficially owned restricted securities within the meaning of Rule 144 for at least one year would be entitled to sell those shares without regard to the provisions of Rule 144.

A person (or persons whose shares are aggregated) who is deemed to be an affiliate of ours and who has beneficially owned restricted securities within the meaning of Rule 144 for at least six months would be entitled to sell within any three-month period a number of shares that does not exceed the greater of one percent of the then outstanding shares of our Class A common stock or the average weekly trading volume of our Class A common stock reported by the Exchange during the four calendar weeks preceding the filing of notice of the sale. Such sales are also subject to certain manner of sale provisions, notice requirements and the availability of current public information about us (which requires that we are current in our periodic reports under the Exchange Act).

In general, under Rule 701 under the Securities Act, any of our employees, directors, officers, consultants or advisors who purchases shares from us in connection with a compensatory stock or option plan or other written agreement before the effective date of this offering is entitled to sell such shares 90 days after the effective date of this offering in reliance on Rule 144, without having to comply with the holding period requirement of Rule 144 and, in the case of non-affiliates, without having to comply with the public information, volume limitation or notice filing provisions of Rule 144. The SEC has indicated that Rule 701 will apply to typical stock options granted by an issuer before it becomes subject to the reporting requirements of the Exchange Act, along with the shares acquired upon exercise of such options, including exercises after the date of this prospectus.

Stock Issued Under Employee Plans

We intend to file a registration statement on Form S-8 under the Securities Act to register stock issuable under the 2020 Management Incentive Plan. This registration statement on Form S-8 is expected to be filed following the effective date of the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part and will be effective upon filing. Accordingly, shares registered under such registration statement will be available for sale in the open market following the effective date, unless such shares are subject to vesting restrictions with us, Rule 144 restrictions applicable to our affiliates or the lock-up restrictions described above.

Registration Rights

After this offering, and subject to the lock-up agreements, each of RHI and Dan Gilbert will be entitled to certain rights with respect to the registration of its shares of our Class A common stock under the Securities Act. For more information, see "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions—Registration Rights Agreement." After such registration, these shares of our Class A common stock will become freely tradable without restriction under the Securities Act.

MATERIAL U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS

The following is a discussion of certain material U.S. federal income tax considerations relating to the acquisition, ownership and disposition of our common stock by Non-U.S. Holders (as defined below) that purchase our common stock pursuant to this offering and hold such common stock as a capital asset (generally, for investment). For purposes of this discussion, a Non-U.S. Holder is a beneficial owner of our common stock that is treated as:

- a non-resident individual, as determined for U.S. federal income tax purposes;
- a corporation (or other entity treated as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes) created or organized under the laws of a jurisdiction other than the United States or any state or political subdivision thereof;
- an estate, other than an estate the income of which is subject to U.S. federal income taxation regardless of its source; or
- a trust, other than a trust that (i) is subject to the primary supervision of a court within the United States and that has one or more U.S. fiduciaries who have the authority to control all substantial decisions of the trust or (ii) has a valid election in effect under applicable U.S. Treasury regulations to be treated as a U.S. person.

For purposes of this discussion, a Non-U.S. Holder does not include a partnership or other pass-through entity (including for this purpose any entity that is treated as a partnership or other pass-through entity for U.S. federal income tax purposes). If a partnership or other pass-through entity is a beneficial owner of our common stock, the tax treatment of a partner (or other owner) will generally depend upon the status of the partner (or other owner) and the activities of the entity. If you are a partner (or other owner) of a partnership or other pass-through entity that acquires our common stock, you are urged to consult your tax advisor regarding the tax consequences of acquiring, owning and disposing of our common stock.

This discussion is not a complete analysis or listing of all of the possible tax consequences of acquiring, owning and disposing of our common stock and does not address all tax considerations that might be relevant to a Non-U.S. Holder in light of its particular circumstances or to Non-U.S. Holders that may be subject to special treatment under U.S. federal tax laws (including, without limitation, banks, insurance companies, dealers in securities, foreign governments, certain former citizens or residents of the United States, passive foreign investment companies, controlled foreign companies, tax-exempt organizations, holders required to conform the timing of income accruals to financial statements pursuant to section 451 of the Code, holders that elect to mark their securities to market or holders who hold our common stock as part of a straddle, hedge or other integrated transaction). Furthermore, this summary does not address gift or estate tax consequences, the net investment income tax, the alternative minimum tax, any other U.S. federal tax laws other than U.S. federal income tax laws, or tax consequences under any state, local or foreign laws.

The following discussion is based upon the Code, existing and proposed U.S. Treasury regulations promulgated thereunder, U.S. judicial decisions and administrative pronouncements, all as in effect as of the date hereof. All of the preceding authorities are subject to change, possibly with retroactive effect, so as to result in U.S. federal income tax consequences different from those discussed below. We have not requested, and will not request, a ruling from the IRS with respect to any of the U.S. federal income tax consequences described below.

Prospective purchasers are urged to consult their tax advisors as to the particular consequences to them under U.S. federal, state and local and applicable non-U.S. tax laws of the acquisition, ownership and disposition of our common stock.

Distributions

As discussed above under "Dividend Policy," we do not currently anticipate paying any dividends or other distributions on our common stock in the foreseeable future. If we make distributions of cash or property in respect of our common stock, such distributions will constitute dividends for U.S. federal income tax purposes to the extent paid from our current or accumulated earnings and profits (as determined under U.S. federal income tax principles). Except as described below under "—U.S. Trade or Business Income," a Non-U.S. Holder generally will be subject to U.S. federal withholding tax at a 30% rate, or at a reduced rate prescribed by an applicable income tax treaty, on any dividends received in respect of our common stock. If the amount of the distribution exceeds our current and accumulated earnings and profits, such excess first will be treated as a return of capital to the extent of the Non-U.S. Holder's tax basis in shares of our common stock, and thereafter will be treated as capital gain (which will be treated in the manner described below under "—Sale, Exchange or Other Taxable Disposition of our Common Stock"). However, except to the extent that we elect (or the paying agent or other intermediary through which a Non-U.S. Holder holds our common stock elects) otherwise, we (or the intermediary) must generally withhold on the entire distribution, in which case the Non-U.S. Holder would be entitled to a refund from the IRS for the withholding tax on the portion of the distribution that exceeded our current and accumulated earnings and profits.

In order to obtain a reduced rate of U.S. federal withholding tax under an applicable income tax treaty, a Non-U.S. Holder will be required to provide a properly executed IRS Form W-8BEN, IRS Form W-8BEN-E or other applicable form (or, in each case, an appropriate successor form) certifying such Non-U.S. Holder's entitlement to benefits under the treaty. If a Non-U.S. Holder is eligible for a reduced rate of U.S. federal withholding tax under an income tax treaty, the Non-U.S. Holder may obtain a refund or credit of any excess amounts withheld by filing an appropriate claim for a refund with the IRS. Non-U.S. Holders are urged to consult their own tax advisors regarding possible entitlement to benefits under an income tax treaty.

Dividend income that is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States by a Non-U.S. Holder will be taxed in the manner described in "—U.S. Trade or Business Income" below.

Sale, Exchange or Other Taxable Disposition of Our Common Stock

Except as described below under "—Information Reporting and Backup Withholding Tax," a Non-U.S. Holder generally will not be subject to U.S. federal income or withholding tax in respect of any gain on a sale, exchange or other disposition of our common stock unless:

- the gain is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States by such Non-U.S. Holder, in which case, such gain will be taxed as described in "—U.S. Trade or Business Income," below;
- the Non-U.S. Holder is an individual who is present in the U.S. for 183 or more days in the taxable year of the disposition and certain other conditions are met, in which case the Non-U.S. Holder will be subject to U.S. federal income tax at a rate of 30% (or a reduced rate under an applicable tax treaty) on the amount by which certain capital gains allocable to U.S. sources exceed certain capital losses allocable to U.S. sources (provided that such Non-U.S. Holder has timely filed U.S. federal income tax returns with respect to such losses); or
- we are or have been a "U.S. real property holding corporation" (a "USRPHC") as defined under section 897 of the Code at any time during the period (the "applicable period") that is the shorter of the five-year period ending on the date of the disposition of our common stock and the Non-U.S. Holder's holding period for our common stock, in which case, subject to the Publicly Traded Exception (discussed below), such gain will be subject to U.S. federal income tax in the same manner as U.S. trade or business income.

In general, a corporation is a USRPHC if the fair market value of its "U.S. real property interests" equals or exceeds 50% of the sum of the fair market value of its worldwide real property interests and its other assets used or held for use in a trade or business. If it is determined that we are a USRPHC, gain realized by a Non-U.S. Holder on a sale, exchange or other disposition of our common stock will not be subject to tax as U.S. trade or business income under section 897 of the Code if such Non-U.S. Holder's holdings (direct and indirect) at all times during the applicable period constituted 5% or less of our common stock, provided that our common stock was regularly traded on an established securities market during such period (the "Publicly Traded Exception"). Although there can be no assurances in this regard, we believe we have not been and are not currently a USRPHC, and do not anticipate being a USRPHC in the future.

U.S. Trade or Business Income

For purposes of this discussion, dividend income and gain on the sale, exchange or other taxable disposition of our common stock will be considered to be "U.S. trade or business income" if (A) (i) such income or gain is effectively connected with the conduct of a trade or business within the United States by the Non-U.S. Holder and (ii) if the Non-U.S. Holder is eligible for the benefits of an income tax treaty with the United States, such income or gain is attributable to a permanent establishment (or, in the case of an individual, a fixed base) that the Non-U.S. Holder maintains in the United States or (B) other than with respect to dividend income, we are or have been a USRPHC at any time during the applicable period (subject to the Publicly Traded Exception discussed under "—Sale, Exchange or Other Taxable Disposition of our Common Stock"). Generally, U.S. trade or business income is not subject to U.S. federal withholding tax (provided certain certification and disclosure requirements are satisfied, including providing a properly executed IRS Form W-8ECI or other applicable form (or, in each case, an appropriate successor form)); instead, such income is subject to U.S. federal income tax on a net basis at regular U.S. federal income tax rates (in the same manner as a U.S. person). Any U.S. trade or business income received by a non-U.S. corporation pursuant to (A) above may also be subject to a "branch profits tax" at a 30% rate or at a lower rate prescribed by an applicable income tax treaty.

Information Reporting and Backup Withholding Tax

We must annually report to the IRS and to each Non-U.S. Holder any dividend income that is subject to U.S. federal withholding tax or that is exempt from such withholding pursuant to an income tax treaty. Copies of these information returns may also be made available under the provisions of a specific treaty or agreement to the tax authorities of the country in which a Non-U.S. Holder resides. Under certain circumstances, the Code imposes a backup withholding obligation on certain reportable payments. Dividends paid to a Non-U.S. Holder of our common stock will generally be exempt from backup withholding if the Non-U.S. Holder provides a properly executed IRS Form W-8BEN or IRS Form W-8BEN-E (or, in each case, an appropriate successor form) or otherwise establishes an exemption and the applicable withholding agent does not have actual knowledge or reason to know that the shareholder is a U.S. person or that the conditions of such other exemption are not, in fact, satisfied.

The payment of the proceeds from the disposition of our common stock to or through the U.S. office of any broker (U.S. or non-U.S.) will be subject to information reporting and possible backup withholding unless the shareholder certifies as to such shareholder's non-U.S. status under penalties of perjury or otherwise establishes an exemption and the broker does not have actual knowledge or reason to know that the shareholder is a U.S. person or that the conditions of any other exemption are not, in fact, satisfied. The payment of proceeds from the disposition of our common stock to or through a non-U.S. office of a non-U.S. broker will not be subject to information reporting or backup withholding unless the non-U.S. broker has certain types of relationships with the U.S. (a "U.S. related financial intermediary"). In the case of the payment of proceeds from the disposition of our common stock to or through a non-U.S. office of a broker that is either a U.S. person or a U.S. related financial intermediary, the Treasury regulations require information reporting (but not backup withholding) on the payment unless the broker has documentary evidence in its files that the beneficial owner is a Non-U.S. Holder and the broker has no knowledge to the contrary. Holders of our common stock are urged to consult their tax advisor on the application of information reporting and backup withholding in light of their particular circumstances.

Backup withholding is not an additional tax. Any amounts withheld under the backup withholding rules from a payment to a shareholder will be refunded by the IRS or credited against such shareholder's U.S. federal income tax liability, if any, provided that the required information is timely furnished to the IRS.

FATCA

Provisions of the Code commonly known as the Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act, or FATCA, generally impose a U.S. federal withholding tax at a rate of 30% on payments of dividends on our common stock paid to a non-U.S. entity unless: (i) if the non-U.S. entity is a "foreign financial institution," such non-U.S. entity undertakes certain due diligence, reporting, withholding and certification obligations; (ii) if the non-U.S. entity is not a "foreign financial institution," such non-U.S. entity identifies any "substantial" owner (generally, any specified U.S. person who owns, directly or indirectly, more than a specified percentage of such entity); or (iii) the non-U.S. entity is otherwise exempt under FATCA.

Withholding under FATCA generally applies to payments of dividends on our common stock. Proposed Treasury regulations, which taxpayers may rely upon until final regulations are issued, eliminate withholding on payments of gross proceeds. Under certain circumstances, a non-U.S. Holder may be eligible for refunds or credits of the tax, and a Non-U.S. Holder might be required to file a U.S. federal income tax return to claim such refunds or credits. An intergovernmental agreement between the United States and an applicable foreign country may modify the requirements described in this paragraph. Non-U.S. Holders are urged to consult their own tax advisors regarding the possible implications of FATCA on their investment in our common stock and the entities through which they hold our common stock, including, without limitation, the process and deadlines for meeting the applicable requirements to prevent the imposition of the 30% withholding tax under FATCA.

UNDERWRITING

The Company and the underwriters named below have entered into an underwriting agreement with respect to the shares of Class A common stock being offered. Subject to certain conditions, each underwriter has severally agreed to purchase the number of shares indicated in the following table. Goldman Sachs & Co. LLC, Morgan Stanley & Co. LLC, Credit Suisse Securities (USA) LLC, J.P. Morgan Securities LLC and RBC Capital Markets, LLC are the representatives of the underwriters.

Underwriters	Number of Shares
Goldman Sachs & Co. LLC
Morgan Stanley & Co. LLC
Credit Suisse Securities (USA) LLC
J.P. Morgan Securities LLC
RBC Capital Markets, LLC
Siebert Williams Shank & Co., LLC
Total

The underwriters are committed to take and pay for all of the shares being offered, if any are taken, other than the shares covered by the option described below unless and until this option is exercised.

The underwriters have an option to buy up to an additional shares of Class A common stock from the Company to cover sales by the underwriters of a greater number of shares than the total number set forth in the table above. They may exercise that option for 30 days. If any shares are purchased pursuant to this option, the underwriters will severally purchase shares in approximately the same proportion as set forth in the table above.

The following table shows the per share and total underwriting discounts and commissions to be paid to the underwriters by the Company. Such amounts are shown assuming both no exercise and full exercise of the underwriters' option to purchase additional shares.

Paid by the Company

	No Exercise	Full Exercise
Per Share	$	$
Total	$	$

Shares sold by the underwriters to the public will initially be offered at the initial public offering price set forth on the cover of this prospectus. Any shares sold by the underwriters to securities dealers may be sold at a discount of up to $ per share from the initial public offering price. After the initial offering of the shares, the representatives may change the offering price and the other selling terms. The offering of the shares by the underwriters is subject to receipt and acceptance and subject to the underwriters' right to reject any order in whole or in part.

The Company and its officers, directors, and holders of substantially all of the Company's common stock have agreed with the underwriters, subject to certain exceptions, not to dispose of or hedge any of their common stock or securities convertible into or exchangeable for shares of common stock (including Holdings Units) during the period from the date of this prospectus continuing through the date 180 days after the date of this prospectus, except with the prior written consent of the representatives. The lock-up agreements are subject to specified exceptions.

The restrictions described in the paragraph above relating to the officers, directors, and our stockholders do not apply, subject in certain cases to various conditions (including no filing requirements (other than certain filings on Form 5) and the transfer of the lock-up restrictions), to:

- transfers as a bona fide gift or gifts, or charitable contributions;
- transfers to any trust for the direct or indirect benefit of the lock-up party or the immediate family of the lock-up party;
- transfers to any beneficiary of or estate of a beneficiary of the lock-up party pursuant to a trust, will or other testamentary document or applicable laws of descent;
- transfers by operation of law, such as pursuant to a qualified domestic order or in connection with a divorce settlement;
- transfers in transactions relating to shares of common stock or other securities acquired in open market transactions after the completion of the public offering;
- transfers by (A) the exercise of stock options solely with cash granted pursuant to equity incentive plans described herein, and the receipt by the lock-up party from us of shares of common stock upon such exercise; (B) transfers of shares of common stock to us upon the "net" or "cashless" exercise of stock options or other equity awards granted pursuant to equity incentive plans described in this prospectus; (C) forfeitures of shares of common stock to us to satisfy tax withholding requirements of the lock-up party or us upon the vesting, during the lock-up period, of equity based awards granted under equity incentive plans or pursuant to other stock purchase arrangements, in each case described in this prospectus;
- transfers of shares of common stock pursuant to a bona fide third-party tender offer, merger, consolidation or other similar transaction made to all of our stockholders' capital stock after the consummation of this offering, involving a change of control of us, provided that in the event that such tender offer, merger, consolidation or other such transaction is not completed, the lock-up party's shares of common stock shall remain subject to the provisions of the lock-up agreement; or
- the establishment of a trading plan pursuant to Rule 10b5-1 under the Exchange Act for the transfer of shares of common stock; provided that such plan does not provide for the transfer of common stock during the lock-up period.

See "Shares Eligible for Future Sale" for a discussion of certain transfer restrictions.

Prior to the offering, there has been no public market for the shares of Class A common stock. The initial public offering price has been negotiated among the Company and the representatives. Among the factors to be considered in determining the initial public offering price of the shares, in addition to prevailing market conditions, will be the Company's historical performance, estimates of the business potential and earnings prospects of the Company, an assessment of the Company's management and the consideration of the above factors in relation to market valuation of companies in related businesses.

We intend to apply to list our Class A common stock on the Exchange under the symbol "RKT."

In connection with the offering, the underwriters may purchase and sell shares of Class A common stock in the open market. These transactions may include short sales, stabilizing transactions and purchases to cover positions created by short sales. Short sales involve the sale by the underwriters of a greater number of shares than they are required to purchase in the offering, and a short position represents the amount of such sales that have not been covered by subsequent purchases. A "covered short position" is a short position that is not greater than the amount of additional shares for which the underwriters' option described above may be exercised. The underwriters may cover any covered short position by either exercising their option to purchase additional shares or purchasing shares in the open market. In determining the source of shares to cover the covered short position, the underwriters will consider, among other things, the price of shares available for purchase in the open market as compared to the price at which they may purchase additional shares pursuant to the option described above. "Naked" short sales are any short sales that create a short position greater than the amount of additional shares for which the option described above may be exercised. The underwriters must cover any such naked short position by purchasing shares in the open market. A naked short position is more likely to be created if the underwriters are concerned that there may be downward pressure on the price of the shares of the Company's Class A common stock in the open market after pricing that could adversely affect investors who purchase in the offering. Stabilizing transactions consist of various bids for or purchases of the Company's Class A common stock made by the underwriters in the open market prior to the completion of the offering.

The underwriters may also impose a penalty bid. This occurs when a particular underwriter repays to the underwriters a portion of the underwriting discount received by it because the representatives have repurchased shares sold by or for the account of such underwriter in stabilizing or short covering transactions.

Purchases to cover a short position and stabilizing transactions, as well as other purchases by the underwriters for their own accounts, may have the effect of preventing or retarding a decline in the market price of the Company's Class A common stock, and together with the imposition of the penalty bid, may stabilize, maintain or otherwise affect the market price of the Class A common stock. As a result, the price of the Class A common stock may be higher than the price that otherwise might exist in the open market. The underwriters are not required to engage in these activities and may end any of these activities at any time. These transactions may be effected on the Exchange, in the over-the-counter market or otherwise.

We estimate that our share of the total expenses of the offering, excluding underwriting discounts and commissions, will be approximately $ million. We have also agreed to reimburse the underwriters for certain FINRA-related expenses incurred by them in connection with the offering in an amount up to $.

We have agreed to indemnify the several underwriters against certain liabilities, including liabilities under the Securities Act.

The underwriters and their respective affiliates are full service financial institutions engaged in various activities, which may include sales and trading, commercial and investment banking, advisory, investment management, investment research, principal investment, hedging, market making, brokerage and other financial and non-financial activities and services. Certain of the underwriters and their respective affiliates have provided, and may in the future provide, a variety of these services to us and to persons and entities with relationships with us, for which they received or will receive customary fees and expenses. In addition, certain of the underwriters and their respective affiliates currently provide us, and may provide us in the future, with borrowing capacity under certain loan funding warehouse facilities, treasury services, and maintenance of certain escrow deposits; certain of the underwriters and their respective affiliates are also our To-Be-Announced ("TBA") trading partners. Certain of our underwriters and their affiliates have provided commitments to arrange and syndicate a senior unsecured revolving credit facility. We pay customary fees for these services.

In the ordinary course of their various business activities, the underwriters and their respective affiliates, officers, directors and employees may purchase, sell or hold a broad array of investments and actively traded securities, derivatives, loans, commodities, currencies, credit default swaps and other financial instruments for their own account and for the accounts of their customers, and such investment and trading activities may involve or relate to assets, securities and/or instruments of ours (directly, as collateral securing other obligations or otherwise) and/or persons and entities with relationships with us. The underwriters and their respective affiliates may also communicate independent investment recommendations, market color or trading ideas and/or publish or express independent research views in respect of such assets, securities or instruments and may at any time hold, or recommend to clients that they should acquire, long and/or short positions in such assets, securities and instruments. Certain affiliates of the underwriters provide several funding facilities to our subsidiaries and purchase personal loans originated on the Rocket Loans platform.

Directed Share Program

At our request, the underwriters have reserved for sale, at the initial public offering price, up to % of the Class A common stock to certain persons associated with us. The sales will be made at our direction by through a directed share program. Each person buying shares of our Class A common stock through the directed share program will be subject to a 180-day lock-up period with respect to such shares. If these persons purchase reserved common stock, it will reduce the number of shares of Class A common stock available for sale to the general public. Any reserved shares of Class A common stock that are not so purchased will be offered by the underwriters to the general public on the same terms as the other shares of Class A common stock offered by this prospectus. We have agreed to indemnify the underwriters against certain liabilities and expenses, including liabilities under the Securities Act, in connection with the sales of the shares reserved for the directed share program.

European Economic Area and United Kingdom

In relation to each Member State of the European Economic Area and the United Kingdom (each a "Relevant State"), no shares of common stock (the "Shares") have been offered or will be offered pursuant to the offering to the public in that Relevant State prior to the publication of a prospectus in relation to the Shares which has been approved by the competent authority in that Relevant State or, where appropriate, approved in another Relevant State and notified to the competent authority in that Relevant State, all in accordance with the Prospectus Regulation, except that it may make an offer to the public in that Relevant State of any Shares at any time under the following exemptions under the Prospectus Regulation:

(a) to any legal entity which is a qualified investor as defined under the Prospectus Regulation;

(b) to fewer than 150 natural or legal persons (other than qualified investors as defined under the Prospectus Regulation), subject to obtaining the prior consent of the representatives for any such offer; or

(c) in any other circumstances falling within Article 1(4) of the Prospectus Regulation, provided that no such offer of the Shares shall require the Issuer or any underwriter to publish a prospectus pursuant to Article 3 of the Prospectus Regulation or supplement a prospectus pursuant to Article 23 of the Prospectus Regulation.

For the purposes of this provision, the expression an "offer to the public" in relation to the Shares in any Relevant State means the communication in any form and by any means of sufficient information on the terms of the offer and any Shares to be offered so as to enable an investor to decide to purchase or subscribe for any Shares, and the expression "Prospectus Regulation" means Regulation (EU) 2017/1129.

United Kingdom

Each underwriter severally represents, warrants and agrees that:

(a) it has only communicated or caused to be communicated and will only communicate or cause to be communicated an invitation or inducement to engage in investment activity (within the meaning of Section 21 of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (FSMA)) in connection with the issue or sale of the Shares in circumstances in which Section 21(1) of FSMA does not apply to the Issuer; and

(b) it has complied and will comply with all applicable provisions of the FSMA with respect to anything done by it in relation to the Shares in, from or otherwise involving the United Kingdom.

Canada

The securities may be sold in Canada only to purchasers purchasing, or deemed to be purchasing, as principal that are accredited investors, as defined in National Instrument 45-106 Prospectus Exemptions or subsection 73.3(1) of the Securities Act (Ontario), and are permitted clients, as defined in National Instrument 31-103 Registration Requirements, Exemptions, and Ongoing Registrant Obligations. Any resale of the securities must be made in accordance with an exemption form, or in a transaction not subject to, the prospectus requirements of applicable securities laws.

Securities legislation in certain provinces or territories of Canada may provide a purchaser with remedies for rescission or damages if this offering memorandum (including any amendment thereto) contains a misrepresentation, provided that the remedies for rescission or damages are exercised by the purchaser within the time limit prescribed by the securities legislation of the purchaser's province or territory. The purchaser should refer to any applicable provisions of the securities legislation of the purchaser's province or territory of these rights or consult with a legal advisor.

Pursuant to section 3A.3 of National Instrument 33-105 Underwriting Conflicts (NI 33-105), the underwriters are not required to comply with the disclosure requirements of NI 33-105 regarding underwriter conflicts of interest in connection with this offering.

Hong Kong

The shares may not be offered or sold in Hong Kong by means of any document other than (i) in circumstances which do not constitute an offer to the public within the meaning of the Companies (Winding Up and Miscellaneous Provisions) Ordinance (Cap. 32 of the Laws of Hong Kong) ("Companies (Winding Up and Miscellaneous Provisions) Ordinance") or which do not constitute an invitation to the public within the meaning of the Securities and Futures Ordinance (Cap. 571 of the Laws of Hong Kong) ("Securities and Futures Ordinance"), or (ii) to "professional investors" as defined in the Securities and Futures Ordinance and any rules made thereunder, or (iii) in other circumstances which do not result in the document being a "prospectus" as defined in the Companies (Winding Up and Miscellaneous Provisions) Ordinance, and no advertisement, invitation or document relating to the shares may be issued or may be in the possession of any person for the purpose of issue (in each case whether in Hong Kong or elsewhere), which is directed at, or the contents of which are likely to be accessed or read by, the public in Hong Kong (except if permitted to do so under the securities laws of Hong Kong) other than with respect to shares which are or are intended to be disposed of only to persons outside Hong Kong or only to "professional investors" in Hong Kong as defined in the Securities and Futures Ordinance and any rules made thereunder.

Singapore

This prospectus has not been registered as a prospectus with the Monetary Authority of Singapore. Accordingly, this prospectus and any other document or material in connection with the offer or sale, or invitation for subscription or purchase, of the shares may not be circulated or distributed, nor may the shares be offered or sold, or be made the subject of an invitation for subscription or purchase, whether directly or indirectly, to persons in Singapore other than (i) to an institutional investor (as defined under Section 4A of the Securities and Futures Act, Chapter 289 of Singapore (the "SFA")) under Section 274 of the SFA, (ii) to a relevant person (as defined in Section 275(2) of the SFA) pursuant to Section 275(1) of the SFA, or any person pursuant to Section 275(1A) of the SFA, and in accordance with the conditions specified in Section 275 of the SFA or (iii) otherwise pursuant to, and in accordance with the conditions of, any other applicable provision of the SFA, in each case subject to conditions set forth in the SFA.

Where the shares are subscribed or purchased under Section 275 of the SFA by a relevant person that is a corporation (which is not an accredited investor (as defined in Section 4A of the SFA)) the sole business of which is to hold investments and the entire share capital of which is owned by one or more individuals, each of whom is an accredited investor, the securities (as defined in Section 239(1) of the SFA) of that corporation shall not be transferable for six months after that corporation has acquired the shares under Section 275 of the SFA except: (1) to an institutional investor under Section 274 of the SFA or to a relevant person (as defined in Section 275(2) of the SFA), (2) where such transfer arises from an offer in that corporation's securities pursuant to Section 275(1A) of the SFA, (3) where no consideration is or will be given for the transfer, (4) where the transfer is by operation of law, (5) as specified in Section 276(7) of the SFA, or (6) as specified in Regulation 32 of the Securities and Futures (Offers of Investments) (Shares and Debentures) Regulations 2005 of Singapore ("Regulation 32").

Where the shares are subscribed or purchased under Section 275 of the SFA by a relevant person which is a trust (where the trustee is not an accredited investor (as defined in Section 4A of the SFA)) whose sole purpose is to hold investments and each beneficiary of the trust is an accredited investor, the beneficiaries' rights and interest (howsoever described) in that trust shall not be transferable for six months after that trust has acquired the shares under Section 275 of the SFA except: (1) to an institutional investor under Section 274 of the SFA or to a relevant person (as defined in Section 275(2) of the SFA), (2) where such transfer arises from an offer that is made on terms that such rights or interest are acquired at a consideration of not less than S$200,000 (or its equivalent in a foreign currency) for each transaction (whether such amount is to be paid for in cash or by exchange of securities or other assets), (3) where no consideration is or will be given for the transfer, (4) where the transfer is by operation of law, (5) as specified in Section 276(7) of the SFA, or (6) as specified in Regulation 32.

Japan

The securities have not been and will not be registered under the Financial Instruments and Exchange Act of Japan (Act No. 25 of 1948, as amended), or the FIEA. The securities may not be offered or sold, directly or indirectly, in Japan or to or for the benefit of any resident of Japan (including any person resident in Japan or any corporation or other entity organized under the laws of Japan) or to others for reoffering or resale, directly or indirectly, in Japan or to or for the benefit of any resident of Japan, except pursuant to an exemption from the registration requirements of the FIEA and otherwise in compliance with any relevant laws and regulations of Japan.

LEGAL MATTERS

Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison LLP, New York, New York, will pass on the validity of the Class A common stock offered by this prospectus for us. Davis Polk & Wardwell LLP, New York, New York will pass upon certain legal matters in connection with the offering for the underwriters.

EXPERTS

The combined financial statements of the Combined Businesses at December 31, 2019 and 2018, and for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2019, appearing in this Prospectus and Registration Statement have been audited by Ernst & Young LLP, independent registered public accounting firm, as set forth in their report thereon appearing elsewhere herein, and are included in reliance upon such report given on the authority of such firm as experts in accounting and auditing.

WHERE YOU CAN FIND MORE INFORMATION

We have filed with the SEC a registration statement on Form S-1 with respect to the Class A common stock being sold in this offering. This prospectus constitutes a part of that registration statement. This prospectus does not contain all the information set forth in the registration statement and the exhibits and schedules to the registration statement, because some parts have been omitted in accordance with the rules and regulations of the SEC. For further information with respect to us and our Class A common stock being sold in this offering, you should refer to the registration statement and the exhibits and schedules filed as part of the registration statement. Statements contained in this prospectus regarding the contents of any agreement, contract or other document referred to herein are not necessarily complete; reference is made in each instance to the copy of the contract or document filed as an exhibit to the registration statement. Each statement is qualified by reference to the exhibit. You can read the registration statement at the SEC's website at www.sec.gov.

After we have completed this offering, we will file annual, quarterly and current reports, proxy statements and other information with the SEC. We intend to make these filings available on our website once this offering is completed. You may read and copy any reports, statements or other information on file at the public reference rooms. You can also request copies of these documents, for a copying fee, by writing to the SEC, or you can review these documents on the SEC's website, as described above. In addition, we will provide electronic or paper copies of our filings free of charge upon request.

Notes to Condensed Combined Financial Statements

(Unaudited)

1. Business, Basis of Presentation, and Accounting Policies

The accompanying condensed combined financial statements include all of the assets, liabilities and results of operations of twelve subsidiaries of Rock Holdings Inc. ("Rock Holdings", "RHI"), which are Quicken Loans Inc., EFB Holdings Inc. ("Edison Financial"), Lendesk Canada Holdings Inc., LMB HoldCo LLC ("Core Digital Media"), RCRA Holdings LLC ("Rock Connections" and "Rocket Auto"), RockTech Canada Inc., Rock Central LLC, Rocket Homes Real Estate LLC ("Rocket Homes"), RockLoans Holdings LLC ("Rocket Loans"), Amrock Inc. ("Amrock"), Nexsys Technologies LLC ("Nexsys"), and Woodward Capital Management LLC, (collectively, the "Combined Businesses", "Rocket Companies", "we", "us", "our", the "Company").

Basis of Presentation

The Combined Businesses have historically operated as part of RHI and not as a stand-alone entity. The condensed combined financial statements represent the results of operations, financial position, cash flows and changes in equity of the combined subsidiaries of RHI mentioned above, prepared on a stand-alone basis and have been derived from the consolidated financial statements and accounting records of RHI. All revenues and expenses as well as assets and liabilities that are either legally attributable to us or directly associated with our business activities are included in the condensed combined financial statements. Net parent investment represents RHI's interest in the recorded net assets of the Company. All significant transactions between the Company and RHI have been included in the accompanying condensed combined financial statements and are reflected in the accompanying Condensed Combined Statements of Changes in Equity as "Net transfers to/from parent" and in the accompanying Condensed Combined Balance Sheets within "Net parent investment."

All significant intercompany transactions and accounts between the businesses comprising the Company have been eliminated in the accompanying condensed combined financial statements. Our condensed combined financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP"). Our Condensed Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income include an allocation of executive management compensation for services provided to RHI and its subsidiaries. We believe the assumptions underlying the condensed combined financial statements, including the assumptions regarding allocation of expenses from RHI are reasonable. The executive management compensation expense has been allocated based on time incurred for services provided to the Combined Businesses. Total costs allocated to us for these services were $41,737 and $10,699 for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, and were included in salaries, commissions and team member benefits in our Condensed Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income.

All transactions and accounts between RHI and the Company have a history of settlement or are expected to be settled for cash, and are reflected as related party transactions. For further details of the Company's related party transactions refer to Note 6, Transactions with Related Parties.

The condensed combined financial statements may not include all of the expenses that would have been incurred had we been a stand-alone company during the periods presented and may not reflect our condensed combined results of operations, financial position and cash flows had we been a stand-alone company during the periods presented. The amount of actual expenses that would have been incurred if we had operated as a stand-alone company would depend on a number of factors, including our chosen organizational structure, strategic decisions made in various areas, including information technology and infrastructure. We also may incur additional costs associated with being a stand-alone, publicly listed company that were not included in the expense allocations and, therefore, would result in additional costs that are not reflected in our historical statements of income and comprehensive income, balance sheets and cash flows.

Our condensed combined financial statements are unaudited and presented in U.S. dollars. They have been prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP pursuant to the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") for interim financial information. Accordingly, they do not include all of the information and footnotes required by U.S. GAAP for complete financial statements. Our Condensed Combined Balance Sheet as of December 31, 2019 has been derived from our audited combined financial statements at that date. Our condensed combined financial statements should be read in conjunction with our combined financial statements and notes thereto for the year ended December 31, 2019, which include a complete set of footnote disclosures, including our significant accounting policies. In our opinion, these condensed combined financial statements include all normal and recurring adjustments considered necessary for a fair statement of our results of operations, financial position and cash flows for the periods presented. However, our results of operations for any interim period are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for a full fiscal year or for any other future period.

Management Estimates

The preparation of condensed combined financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the condensed combined financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Although management is not currently aware of any factors that would significantly change its estimates and assumptions, actual results may differ from these estimates.

Subsequent Events

In preparing these condensed combined financial statements, the Company evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure through June 22, 2020, the date these condensed combined financial statements were available to be issued. Refer to Note 5, Borrowings for disclosures on changes to the Company's debt agreements and to Note 10, Commitments, Contingencies, and Guarantees regarding litigation matters pertaining to the HouseCanary suit that occurred subsequent to March 31, 2020.

In April 2020, Quicken Loans LLC converted its corporate structure to an LLC and changed its name from Quicken Loans Inc. to Quicken Loans, LLC.

On May 15, 2020, RHI modified the vesting condition for RSUs granted in 2017 and 2019. For the 2017 grants it accelerated the tranche previously due to vest on October 31, 2021 and for the 2019 grants it accelerated the tranche previously due to vest on October 31, 2020. This modification will result in accelerated expense of $38,371 for 198,020 RSUs in the second quarter of 2020.

Subsequent to March 31, 2020, cash distributions were made in the total amount of $318,390.

At the time of issuance of this report, the direct and indirect impacts that the COVID-19 pandemic and recent market volatility may have on the Company's financial statements are uncertain. The Company cannot reasonably estimate the magnitude of the impact these events may ultimately have on its results of operations, liquidity or financial position. However, management of the Company is unaware of any known adverse material risk or event that should be recognized in the financial statements at this time.

Revenue Recognition

The following revenue streams fall within the scope of ASC Topic 606—Revenue from Contracts with Customers and are disaggregated hereunder:

Core Digital Media lead generation revenue—Online consumer acquisition revenue, net of intercompany eliminations, was $7,560 and $9,497 for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

Professional service fees—Professional service fee revenues were $1,835 and $1,604 for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively, and were rendered entirely to related parties.

Rocket Homes real estate network referral fees—Real estate network referral fees were $7,988 and $6,783 for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

Rock Connections contact center revenue—The Company recognizes contact center revenue for communication services including client support and sales. Consideration received includes a fixed base fee and/or a variable contingent fee. The fixed base fee is recognized ratably over the period of performance, as the performance obligation is considered to be satisfied equally throughout the service period. The variable contingent fee related to car sales is constrained until the sale of the car is completed. Contact center revenue was $7,341 and $4,489 for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

Amrock closing fees—Closing fees were $73,486 and $33,264 for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

Amrock appraisal revenue, net—Appraisal revenue, net was $17,619 and $18,052 for the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

Derivative Financial Instruments

The Company enters into interest rate lock commitments ("IRLCs"), forward commitments to sell mortgage loans and forward commitments to purchase loans, which are considered derivative financial instruments. These items are accounted for as free-standing derivatives and are included in the condensed combined balance sheets at fair value. The Company treats all of its derivative instruments as economic hedges; therefore, none of its derivative instruments qualify for designation as accounting hedges. Changes in the fair value of the IRLCs and forward commitments to sell mortgage loans are recorded in current period earnings and are included in gain on sale of loans, net in the Condensed Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income. Forward commitments to purchase mortgage loans are recognized in current period earnings and are included in gain on sale of loans in the Condensed Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income.

The Company enters into IRLCs to fund residential mortgage loans with its potential borrowers. These commitments are binding agreements to lend funds to these potential borrowers at specified interest rates within specified periods of time.

The fair value of IRLCs is derived from the fair value of similar mortgage loans or bonds, which is based on observable market data. Changes to the fair value of IRLCs are recognized based on changes in interest rates, changes in the probability that the commitment will be exercised, and the passage of time. The expected net future cash flows related to the associated servicing of the loan are included in the fair value measurement of rate locks.

IRLCs and uncommitted mortgage loans held for sale expose the Company to the risk that the value of the mortgage loans held and mortgage loans underlying the commitments may decline due to increases in mortgage interest rates during the life of the commitments. To protect against this risk, the Company uses forward loan sale commitments to economically hedge the risk of potential changes in the value of the loans. These derivative instruments are recorded at fair value. The Company expects that the changes in fair value of these derivative financial instruments will either fully or partially offset the changes in fair value of the IRLCs and uncommitted mortgage loans held for sale. The changes in the fair value of these derivatives are recorded in gain on sale of loans, net.

MSR assets (including the MSR value associated with outstanding IRLCs) that the Company plans to sell expose the Company to the risk that the value of the MSR asset may decline due to decreases in mortgage interest rates prior to the sale of these assets. To protect against this risk, the Company uses forward loan purchase commitments to economically hedge the risk of potential changes in the value of MSR assets that have been identified for sale. These derivative instruments are recorded at fair value. The Company expects that the changes in fair value of these derivative financial instruments will either fully or partially offset the changes in fair value of the MSR assets the Company intends to sell. The changes in fair value of these derivatives are recorded in the change in fair value of MSRs, net.

Forward commitments include To-Be-Announced ("TBA") mortgage backed securities that have been aggregated at the counterparty level for presentation and disclosure purposes. Counterparty agreements contain a legal right to offset amounts due to and from the same counterparty under legally enforceable master netting agreements to settle with the same counterparty, on a net basis, as well as the right to obtain cash collateral. Forward commitments also include commitments to sell loans to counterparties and to purchase loans from counterparties at determined prices. Refer to Note 9, Derivative Financial Instruments for further information.

Recently Adopted Accounting Pronouncements

In June 2016, the FASB issued Accounting Standard Update ("ASU") No. 2016-13, "Financial Instruments—Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments," which introduced an expected credit loss model for the impairment of financial assets, measured at amortized cost. The model replaces the probable, incurred loss model for those assets and broadens the information an entity must consider in developing its expected credit loss estimate for assets measures at amortized cost. On January 1, 2020, the Company adopted ASU No. 2016-13, Financial Instruments—Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments and subsequent amendments to the initial guidance under ASU 2018-19, ASU 2019-04 and ASU 2019-05 (collectively, "Topic 326") with no material impact to our combined financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

Based upon management's scoping analysis, the Company determined that money market funds, notes and other receivables, and Ginnie Mae early buyout loans are within the scope of ASU 2016-13. For the Ginnie Mae early buyout loans, the Company determined that the guarantee from the Federal Housing Administration ("FHA") or Veterans Affairs ("VA") limits the Company's exposure to potential credit-related losses to an immaterial amount. For other assets, primarily money market funds, the Company determined that these are short-term in nature (less than one year) and of high credit quality, and the estimated credit-related losses over the life of these receivables are also immaterial. For each of the aforementioned financial instruments carried at amortized cost, the Company enhanced its processes to consider and include the requirements of ASU 2016-13, as applicable, into the determination of credit-related losses.

In March 2020, the FASB issued ASU No. 2020-03, Codification Improvements to Financial Instruments ("ASU 2020-03"). ASU 2020-03 improves and clarifies various financial instruments topics to increase shareholder awareness and make the standards easier to understand and apply by eliminating inconsistencies and providing clarifications. The Company adopted ASU 2020-03 upon issuance, with no material effect on our combined financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

Accounting Standards Issued but Not Yet Adopted

In December 2019, the FASB issued ASU No. 2019-12, Income Taxes (Topic 740): Simplifying the Accounting for Income Taxes. The amendments to Topic 740 include the removal of certain exceptions to the general principles of ASC 740 in such areas as intraperiod tax allocation, year to date losses in interim periods and deferred tax liabilities related to outside basis differences. Amendments also include simplification in other areas such as interim recognition of enactment of tax laws or rate changes and accounting for a franchise tax (or similar tax) that is partially based on income. This standard will be effective for the Company on January 1, 2021. Early adoption is permitted in any interim or annual period, with any adjustments reflected as of the beginning of the fiscal year of adoption. If an entity chooses to early adopt, it must adopt all changes as a result of the ASU. The Company is currently evaluating the potential impact that the adoption of this ASU will have on the combined financial statements and related disclosures.

In March 2020, the FASB issued ASU No. 2020-04, Reference Rate Reform (Topic 848): Facilitation of the Effects of Reference Rate Reform on Financial Reporting. Subject to meeting certain criteria, the new guidance provides optional expedients and exceptions to applying contract modification accounting under existing U.S. GAAP, to address the expected phase out of the London Inter-bank Offered Rate ("LIBOR") by the end of 2021. This guidance is effective upon issuance and allows application to contract changes as early as January 1, 2020. The Company is in the process of reviewing its funding facilities and financing facilities that utilize LIBOR as the reference rate and is currently evaluating the potential impact that the adoption of this ASU will have on the combined financial statements and related disclosures.

2. Fair Value Measurements

Fair value is the price that would be received if an asset were sold or the price that would be paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between willing market participants at the measurement date. Required disclosures include classification of fair value measurements within a three-level hierarchy (Level 1, Level 2, and Level 3). Classification of a fair value measurement within the hierarchy is dependent on the classification and significance of the inputs used to determine the fair value measurement. Observable inputs are those that are observed, implied from, or corroborated with externally available market information. Unobservable inputs represent the Company's estimates of market participants' assumptions.

2. Fair Value Measurements (Continued)

Level 1—Valuation is based on quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date.

Level 2—Valuation is based on either observable prices for identical assets or liabilities in inactive markets, observable prices for similar assets or liabilities, or other inputs that are derived directly from, or through correlation to, observable market data at the measurement date.

Level 3—Valuation is based on the Company's internal models using assumptions at the measurement date that a market participant would use.

In determining fair value measurement, the Company uses observable inputs whenever possible. The level of a fair value measurement within the hierarchy is dependent on the lowest level of input that has a significant impact on the measurement as a whole. If quoted market prices are available at the measurement date or are available for similar instruments, such prices are used in the measurements. If observable market data is not available at the measurement date, judgment is required to measure fair value.

The following is a description of measurement techniques for items recorded at fair value on a recurring basis. There were no material items recorded at fair value on a nonrecurring basis as of March 31, 2020 or December 31, 2019.

Mortgage loans held for sale: Loans held for sale that trade in active secondary markets are valued using Level 2 measurements derived from observable market data, including market prices of securities backed by similar mortgage loans adjusted for certain factors to approximate the fair value of a whole mortgage loan, including the value attributable to mortgage servicing and credit risk. Loans held for sale for which there is little to no observable trading activity of similar instruments are valued using Level 3 measurements based upon dealer price quotes.

IRLCs: The fair value of IRLCs is based on current market prices of securities backed by similar mortgage loans (as determined above under mortgage loans held for sale), net of costs to close the loans, subject to the estimated loan funding probability, or "pull-through factor". Given the significant and unobservable nature of the pull-through factor, IRLCs are classified as Level 3.

MSRs: The fair value of MSRs (including MSRs collateral for financing liability and MSRs financing liability) is determined using a valuation model that calculates the present value of estimated net future cash flows. The model includes estimates of prepayment speeds, discount rate, cost to service, float earnings, contractual servicing fee income, and ancillary income among others. These fair value measurements are classified as Level 3.

Forward commitments: The Company's forward commitments are valued based on quoted prices for similar assets in an active market with inputs that are observable and are classified within Level 2 of the valuation hierarchy.

Fair Value Option

The following is the estimated fair value and unpaid principal balance ("UPB") of mortgage loans held for sale that have contractual principal amounts and for which the Company has elected the fair value option. The fair value option was elected for mortgage loans held for sale as the Company believes fair value best reflects their expected future economic performance:

	Fair Value	Principal Amount Due Upon Maturity	Difference(1)
Balance at March 31, 2020	$ 12,843,384	$ 12,275,067	$ 568,317
Balance at December 31, 2019	$ 13,275,735	$ 12,929,143	$ 346,592

(1) Represents the amount of gains included in Gain on sale of loans, net due to changes in fair value of items accounted for using the fair value option.

Disclosures of the fair value of certain financial instruments are required when it is practical to estimate the value. In cases where quoted market prices are not available, fair values are based on estimates using present value or other valuation techniques.

The following table presents the carrying amounts and estimated fair value of financial liabilities that are not recorded at fair value on a recurring or non-recurring basis. This table excludes cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash, warehouse borrowings, and line of credit borrowing facilities as these financial instruments are highly liquid or short-term in nature and as a result, their carrying amounts approximate fair value:

	March 31, 2020		December 31, 2019
	Carrying Amount	Estimated Fair Value	Carrying Amount	Estimated Fair Value
Senior Notes, due 5/1/2025	$ 1,241,440	$ 1,105,365	$ 1,241,012	$ 1,297,250
Senior Notes, due 1/15/2028	$ 993,316	$ 983,589	$ 992,779	$ 1,046,683

The fair value of Senior Notes, was calculated using the observable bond price at March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, respectively. The Senior Notes are classified as Level 2 in the fair value hierarchy.

3. Mortgage Servicing Rights

Mortgage servicing rights are recognized as assets on the Condensed Combined Balance Sheet when loans are sold and the associated servicing rights are retained. The Company maintains one class of MSR asset and has elected the fair value option. These MSRs are recorded at fair value, which is determined using a valuation model that calculates the present value of estimated future net servicing fee income. The model includes estimates of prepayment speeds, discount rate, cost to service, float earnings, contractual servicing fee income, and ancillary income and late fees, among others. These estimates are supported by market and economic data collected from various outside sources.

3. Mortgage Servicing Rights (Continued)

During 2019, the Company began using derivatives to economically hedge the risk of changes in the fair value of certain MSRs measured at fair value. The changes in the fair value of derivatives that serve to mitigate certain risks associated with the certain MSRs are recoded in current period earnings.

The following table summarizes changes to the MSR assets for the three months ended:

	2020	2019
Fair value, beginning of period	$ 2,874,972	$ 3,180,530
MSRs originated	535,419	296,672
MSRs sales	(186,292)	—
Changes in fair value:
Due to changes in valuation model inputs or assumptions(1)	(805,536)	(320,979)
Due to collection/realization of cash flows	(247,925)	(154,722)
Total changes in fair value	(1,053,461)	(475,701)
Fair value, end of period	$ 2,170,638	$ 3,001,501

(1) Reflects changes in assumptions including discount rates and prepayment speed assumptions, mostly due to changes in market interest rates. Does not include the change in fair value of derivatives that economically hedge MSRs identified for sale.

The total UPB of mortgage loans serviced, excluding subserviced loans, at March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019 was $319,111,177 and $311,718,188, respectively. The portfolio primarily consists of high quality performing agency and government (FHA and VA) loans. As of March 31, 2020, delinquent loans (defined as 60-plus days past-due) were 0.92% of our total portfolio.

During the third quarter of 2019, the Company sold MSRs with a book value of approximately $340,000 relating to certain single-family mortgage loans. Based on the contract terms, the sale of those MSRs did not qualify for sale accounting treatment under U.S. GAAP. As a result, the Company is required to retain the MSRs asset (i.e., MSRs collateral for financing liability) and the MSRs liability (i.e., MSRs financing liability) on the balance sheet until certain contractual provisions lapse in June 2020. These MSRs will continue to be reported on the balance sheet at fair value using a valuation methodology consistent with the Company's method for valuing MSRs until those contractual provisions lapse. Furthermore, the net change in fair market value ("FMV") of the MSRs asset and liability from this sale is captured within loan servicing (loss) income, net in the Condensed Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income. During the first quarter of 2020, the Company had $116,150 of unrealized gains relating to the MSRs liability and an offsetting $116,150 of unrealized losses relating to the MSRs asset. Additionally, terms of the agreement require quarterly adjustments to the sales price for changes in prepayment rates at the time of sale for a period of one year. Depending on these prepayment speeds the Company may either receive or pay additional funds from this transaction. Furthermore, in the first quarter of 2020, the Company also sold MSRs with a book value of approximately $186,000 relating to certain single-family mortgage loans, which qualified for sale accounting treatment under U.S. GAAP.

The following is a summary of the weighted average discount rate and prepayment speed assumptions used to determine the fair value of MSRs as well as the expected life of the loans in the servicing portfolio:

	March 31, 2020	December 31, 2019
Discount rate	10.0%	10.0%
Prepayment speeds	19.7%	14.5%
Life (in years)	4.13	5.33

The key assumptions used to estimate the fair value of MSRs are prepayment speeds and the discount rate. Increases in prepayment speeds generally have an adverse effect on the value of MSRs as the underlying loans prepay faster. In a declining interest rate environment, the fair value of MSRs generally decreases as prepayments increase and therefore, the estimated life of the MSRs and related cash flows decrease. Decreases in prepayment speeds generally have a positive effect on the value of MSRs as the underlying loans prepay less frequently. In a rising interest rate environment, the fair value of MSRs generally increases as prepayments decrease and therefore, the estimated life of the MSRs and related cash flows increase. Increases in the discount rate result in a lower MSR value and decreases in the discount rate result in a higher MSR value. MSR uncertainties are hypothetical and do not always have a direct correlation with each assumption. Changes in one assumption may result in changes to another assumption, which might magnify or counteract the uncertainties.

The following table stresses the discount rate and prepayment speeds at two different data points:

	Discount Rate		Prepayment Speeds
	100 BPS Adverse Change	200 BPS Adverse Change	10% Adverse Change	20% Adverse Change
March 31, 2020
Mortgage servicing rights	$ (68,001)	$ (131,506)	$ (149,317)	$ (260,884)
December 31, 2019

Balance at the end of period	$ 12,843,384	$ 7,328,466

(1) The proceeds from sales of loans held for sale on the Combined Statements of Cash Flows includes amounts related to the sale of consumer loans.

(2) The gain on sale of loans excluding fair value of other financials instruments, net on on the Combined Statements of Cash Flows includes amounts related to the sale of consumer loans. Excludes fair value adjustments for the fair value of mortgage loans held for sale, MSR fair value, interest rate lock commitments, forward commitments, and provisions for investor reserves.

Credit Risk

The Company is subject to credit risk associated with mortgage loans that it purchases and originates during the period of time prior to the sale of these loans. The Company considers credit risk associated with these loans to be insignificant as it holds the loans for a short period of time, which is, on average, approximately 20 days from the date of borrowing, and the market for these loans continues to be highly liquid. The Company is also subject to credit risk associated with mortgage loans it has repurchased as a result of breaches of representations and warranties during the period of time between repurchase and resale.

5. Borrowings

The Company maintains several funding facilities and other non-funding debt as shown in the tables below. Interest rates are based on one-month LIBOR (some have a floor) plus a spread, except for the $175,000 unsecured line of credit and the Senior Notes. The interest rate for each advance on the $175,000 unsecured line of credit is variable and is based on a margin over either a fixed one, two, or three-month LIBOR or a floating daily or 30 day LIBOR, or the lender's prime rate, at the option of the Company. The commitment fee charged by lenders for each of the facilities is an annual fee and is calculated based on the committed line amount multiplied by a negotiated rate. The fee at rate ranges from 0% to 0.50% among the facilities except for the Senior Notes. The Company is required to maintain certain covenants, including minimum tangible net worth, minimum liquidity, maximum total debt or liabilities to net worth ratio, pretax net income requirements, and other customary debt covenants, as defined in the agreements. The Company was in compliance with all covenants as of March 31, 2020.

The amount owed and outstanding on the Company's loan funding facilities fluctuates greatly based on its origination volume, the amount of time it takes the Company to sell the loans it originates, and the Company's ability to use the cash to self-fund loans. In addition to self-funding, the Company may from time to time use surplus cash to "buy-down" the effective interest rate of certain loan funding facilities or to self-fund a portion of our loan originations. As of March 31, 2020, $240,238 of the Company's cash was used to buy-down our funding facilities and self-fund, $6,000 of which are buy-down funds that are included in cash on the balance sheet and $234,238 of which is self-funding that reduces cash on the balance sheet. The Company has the right to withdraw the $6,000 at any time, unless a margin call has been made or a default has occurred under the relevant facilities. The Company has the right to transfer the $234,238 of self-funded loans on to a warehouse line or the early buy out line, provided that such loans meet the eligibility criteria to be placed on such warehouse line or the early buy out line and no default or margin call has been made on such line, the loans are further subject to any required haircuts, and are subject to its ability to borrow additional funds under the facility. A large, unanticipated margin call could have a material adverse effect on the Company's liquidity.

The terms of the Senior Notes restrict our ability and the ability of our subsidiary guarantors among other things to: (i) incur additional debt or issue preferred stock; (ii) pay dividends or make distributions in respect of capital stock; (iii) purchase or redeem capital stock; (iv) make investments or other restricted payments; (v) sell assets; (vii) enter into transactions with affiliates; (viii) effect a consolidation or merger, taken as a whole; and (ix) designate our subsidiaries as unrestricted subsidiaries, unless certain conditions are met, as defined in the agreements.

6. Transactions with Related Parties

The Company has entered into various transactions and agreements with RHI, its subsidiaries, certain other affiliates and related parties (collectively, "Related Parties"). These transactions include providing financing and services as well as obtaining financing and services from these Related Parties.

Financing Arrangements

On January 6, 2017, the Company entered into a $55,983 promissory note with one of the Company's shareholders ("Shareholder's Note"). In 2019, the Shareholder's Note was amended and the accrued interest balance of $1,474 was added to the principal outstanding, increasing the total principal outstanding to $57,457, due on December 31, 2020. In March 2020, the full amount of this note was settled in cash.

As of March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, there were other promissory notes outstanding with Related Parties. A portion of these notes were settled in cash in March 2020, and the remainder are expected to be settled in cash prior to the public offering.

On June 9, 2017, the Company and RHI entered into a $300,000 uncommitted and unsecured line of credit ("RHI Line of Credit"). On December 24, 2019 the Company amended the RHI Line of Credit and increased the borrowing capacity to $1,000,000, due on November 1, 2024. The line of credit is uncommitted and RHI has sole discretion over advances. The RHI Line of Credit also contains negative covenants which restrict the ability of the Company to incur debt and create liens on certain assets. It also requires the Company to maintain a quarterly combined net income before taxes if adjusted tangible net worth meets certain requirements. At quarter ended March 31, 2020 and the year ended December 31, 2019, the amounts due to RHI pursuant to the RHI Line of Credit were $600,000 and $0, respectively, recorded under Lines of Credit in the Combined Balance Sheets.

On January 10, 2019, the Company and RHI Opportunities entered into a $10,000 agreement for a perpetual uncommitted unsecured line of credit ("RHIO Line of Credit"), which provides for financing from RHI Opportunities to the Company. The line of credit is uncommitted and RHI has sole discretion over advances. The principal amount of all borrowings is payable in full on demand by RHI Opportunities. The RHIO Line of Credit also contains negative covenants that restrict the ability of RockLoans Opportunities to incur debt in excess of $500 and creates liens on certain assets other than liens securing permitted debt.

The Combined Businesses of the Company is comprised of qualified Subchapter S subsidiary corporations and single member LLCs, which are generally not subject to U.S. Federal or state income taxes. Accordingly, its operating results are included in the income tax returns of its shareholders. However, certain states in which the Company operates have entity-level income taxes that are not passed to the shareholders. Accordingly, income tax expense is accrued for such entity-level income taxes.

For interim tax reporting, we estimate one single effective tax rate for tax jurisdictions not subject to a valuation allowance, which is applied to the year-to-date ordinary income/(loss). Tax

9. Derivative Financial Instruments

The Company uses forward commitments in hedging the interest rate risk exposure on its fixed and adjustable rate commitments. Utilization of forward commitments involves some degree of basis risk. Basis risk is defined as the risk that the hedged instrument's price does not move in parallel with the increase or decrease in the market price of the hedged financial instrument. The Company calculates an expected hedge ratio to mitigate a portion of this risk. The Company's derivative instruments are not designated as accounting hedging instruments, and therefore, changes in fair value are recorded in current period earnings. Hedging gains and losses are included in gain on sale of loans, net in the Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income.

Net hedging losses were as follows:

	Three Months Ended March 31,
	2020(1)	2019
Hedging losses	$ (996,984)	$ (33,854)

(1) Includes the market changes on MSR hedge incurred from the economic hedging of MSRs identified for sale.

Refer to Note 2, Fair Value Measurements, for additional information on the fair value of derivative financial instruments.

Notional and Fair Value

The notional and fair values of derivative financial instruments not designated as hedging instruments were as follows:

	Notional Value	Derivative Asset	Derivative Liability

9. Derivative Financial Instruments (Continued)

Counterparty agreements for forward commitments contain master netting agreements. The table below presents the gross amounts of recognized assets and liabilities subject to master netting agreements. The Company had $764,548 and $3,697 of margin call receivable from counterparties related to these forward commitments at March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, respectively, classified in other assets in the Condensed Combined Balance Sheets. As of March 31, 2020 and 2019, there was no cash on our balance sheet from the respective counterparties. Margins received by the Company are classified in other liabilities in the Condensed Combined Balance Sheets.

Counterparty Credit Risk

Credit risk is defined as the possibility that a loss may occur from the failure of another party to perform in accordance with the terms of the contract, which exceeds the value of existing collateral, if any. The Company attempts to limit its credit risk by dealing with creditworthy counterparties and obtaining collateral where appropriate.

The Company is exposed to credit loss in the event of contractual nonperformance by its trading counterparties and counterparties to its various over-the-counter derivative financial instruments noted in the above Notional and Fair Value discussion. The Company manages this credit risk by selecting only counterparties that it believes to be financially strong, spreading the credit risk among many such counterparties, placing contractual limits on the amount of unsecured credit extended to any single counterparty, and entering into netting agreements with the counterparties as appropriate.

The master netting agreements contain a legal right to offset amounts due to and from the same counterparty. Derivative assets in the Condensed Combined Balance Sheets represent derivative contracts in a gain position net of loss positions with the same counterparty and, therefore, also represent the Company's maximum counterparty credit risk. The Company incurred no credit losses due to nonperformance of any of its counterparties during the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019.

10. Commitments, Contingencies, and Guarantees

Interest Rate Lock Commitments

IRLCs are agreements to lend to a client as long as there is no violation of any condition established in the contract. Commitments generally have fixed expiration dates or other termination clauses and may require payment of a fee. The Company evaluates each client's creditworthiness on a case-by-case basis.

The number of days from the date of the IRLC to expiration of fixed and variable rate lock commitments outstanding at March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019 was approximately 44 days on average.

The UPB of IRLCs was as follows:

	March 31, 2020		December 31, 2019
	Fixed Rate	Variable Rate	Fixed Rate	Variable Rate
IRLCs	$ 28,551,276	$ 2,264,826	$ 20,577,282	$ 974,693

Commitments to Sell Mortgage Loans

In the ordinary course of business, the Company enters into contracts to sell existing mortgage loans held for sale into the secondary market at specified future dates. The amount of commitments to sell existing loans at March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019 was $3,418,099 and $2,859,710, respectively.

Commitments to Sell Loans with Servicing Released

In the ordinary course of business, the Company enters into contracts to sell the MSRs of certain newly originated loans on a servicing released basis. In the event that a forward commitment is not filled and there has been an unfavorable market shift from the date of commitment to the date of settlement, the Company is contractually obligated to pay a pair-off fee on the undelivered balance. There were $628,900 and $78,446 of loans committed to be sold servicing released at March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, respectively.

10. Commitments, Contingencies, and Guarantees (Continued)

The maximum exposure under the Company's representations and warranties would be the outstanding principal balance and any premium received on all loans ever sold by the Company, less any loans that have already been paid in full by the mortgagee, that have defaulted without a breach of representations and warranties, that have been indemnified via settlement or make-whole, or that have been repurchased. Additionally, the Company may receive relief of certain representation and warranty obligations on loans sold to Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac on or after January 1, 2013 if Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac satisfactorily concludes a quality control loan file review or if the borrower meets certain acceptable payment history requirements within 12 or 36 months after the loan is sold to Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac.

Escrows Payable

As a service to its clients, the Company administers escrow deposits representing undisbursed amounts received for payment of property taxes, insurance and principal, and interest on mortgage loans held for sale. Cash held by the Company for property taxes and insurance was $3,052,571 and $2,617,016, and for principal and interest was $7,567,455 and $6,726,793 at March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, respectively. These amounts are not considered assets of the Company and, therefore, are excluded from the Condensed Combined Balance Sheets. The Company remains contingently liable for the disposition of these deposits.

Guarantees

As of March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, the Company guaranteed the debt of another related party totaling $15,000, consisting of three separate guarantees of $5,000 each. As of March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, the Company did not record a liability on the Condensed Combined Balance Sheets for these guarantees because it was not probable that the Company would be required to make payments under these guarantees.

Trademark License

The Company has a perpetual trademark license agreement with a third-party entity. This agreement requires annual payments by the Company based upon the income from the sale of loans generated under the Quicken Loans brand. Total licensing fees incurred and paid were $1,875 for each of the three months ended March 31, 2020 and 2019, which is the maximum annual amount allowable under the contract and is classified in other expenses in the Condensed Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income.

Legal

The Company, among other things, engages in mortgage lending, title and settlement services, and other financial technology services. The Company operates in a highly regulated industry and is routinely subject to various legal and administrative proceedings concerning matters that arise in the normal and ordinary course of business, including inquires, complaints, subpoenas, audits, examinations, investigations and potential enforcement actions from regulatory agencies and state attorney generals; state and federal lawsuits and putative class actions; and other litigation.

Periodically, we assess our potential liabilities and contingencies in connection with outstanding legal and administrative proceedings utilizing the latest information available. While it is not possible to predict the outcome of any of these matters, based on our assessment of the facts and circumstances, we do not believe any of these matters, individually or in the aggregate, will have a material adverse effect on our financial position, results of operations or cash flows. However, actual outcomes may differ from those expected and could have a material effect on our financial position, results of operations or cash flows in a future period. The Company accrues for losses when they are probable to occur and such losses are reasonably estimable. Legal costs expected to be incurred are accounted for as they are incurred.

In 2018 an initial judgment was entered against the Quicken Loans and Amrock, formerly known as Title Source, Inc., for a certified class action lawsuit filed in the U.S. District Court of the Northern District of West Virginia. The lawsuit alleged that Quicken Loans violated West Virginia state law by unconscionably inducing them (and a class of other West Virginians who received loans through Quicken Loans) into loans by including the borrower's own estimated home values on appraisal order forms. The judge has ruled in favor of the plaintiffs on liability and the case is currently on appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. Quicken Loans and Amrock believe an unfavorable outcome to be reasonably possible but not probable based on rulings by the court, advice of counsel, their respective defenses, and other developments with an aggregate possible range of loss to be between zero and $15,000.

Quicken Loans is also defending itself against five putative Telephone Consumer Protection Act ("TCPA") class action lawsuits. Quicken Loans denies the allegations in these cases and intends to vigorously defend itself. Quicken Loans has filed, or intends to file, a dispositive motion in each of these matters which, if granted, would result in a finding of no liability. The Company does not believe a loss is probable; therefore, no reserve has been recorded related to these matters. Given these lawsuits are at the early stages, the Company is unable to estimate a range of possible loss with any degree of reasonable certainty.

Amrock is currently involved in civil litigation related to a business dispute between Amrock and HouseCanary, Inc. ("HouseCanary"). The lawsuit was filed on April 12, 2016, by Amrock—Title Source, Inc. v. HouseCanary, Inc., No. 2016-CI-06300 (37th Civil District Court, San Antonio, Texas)—and included claims against HouseCanary for breach of contract and fraudulent inducement stemming from a contract between Amrock and HouseCanary whereby HouseCanary was obligated to provide Amrock with appraisal and valuation software and services. HouseCanary filed counterclaims against Amrock for, among other things, breach of contract, fraud, and misappropriation of trade secrets. On March 14, 2018, following trial of the claims in the lawsuit, a Bexar County, Texas, jury awarded $706.2 million in favor of HouseCanary and rejected Amrocks' claims against HouseCanary. The district court entered judgment in favor of HouseCanary and against Amrock for an aggregate of $739.6 million (consisting of $235.4 million in actual damages; $470.8 million in punitive damages; $28.9 million in prejudgment interest; and $4.5 million in attorney fees). On appeal (No. 04-19-00044-CV, Fourth Court of Appeals, San Antonio, Texas), the court of appeals affirmed judgment of no-cause on Amrock's claim for breach of contract, but reversed judgment on HouseCanary's claims for misappropriation of trade secrets and fraud and remanded the case for a new trial on HouseCanary's misappropriation of trade secrets and fraud claims. It is possible that one (or both) of the parties could seek additional appellate review of the court of appeals' decision. The outcome of this matter remains uncertain, and the ultimate resolution of the litigation may be several years in the future. If the case is tried again, Amrock intends to present new evidence, including evidence revealed by whistleblowers who came forward with evidence that undermined HouseCanary's claims after the conclusion of the original trial, and to vigorously defend against this case and any subsequent actions.

Quicken Loans and Rocket Homes are defending themselves against a tagalong lawsuit filed by HouseCanary that also includes claims for misappropriation of trade secrets. That case is in its early stages and is stayed pending a resolution of Quicken Loans' and Rocket Homes' dispositive motion.

In addition to the matters described above, the Company is subject to other legal proceedings arising the ordinary course of business. The ultimate outcome of these or other actions or proceedings, including any monetary awards against the companies, is uncertain and there can be no assurance as to the amount of any such potential awards.

There are no recorded reserves related to potential damages in connection with any of the above legal proceedings, as any potential loss is not currently probable and reasonably estimable under U.S. GAAP. The ultimate outcome of these or other actions or proceedings, including any monetary awards against one or more of the Rocket Companies, is uncertain and there can be no assurance as to the amount of any such potential awards. The Rocket Companies will incur defense costs and other expenses in connection with the lawsuits. Plus, if a judgment for money that exceeds specified thresholds is rendered against a Rocket Company or Rocket Companies and it or they fail to timely pay, discharge, bond or obtain a stay of execution of such judgment, it is possible that one or more of the Rocket Companies could be deemed in default of their loan funding facilities and other agreements governing indebtedness. If the final resolution of any such litigation is unfavorable in one or more of these actions, it could have a material adverse effect on a Rocket Company's or the Rocket Companies' business, liquidity, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

11. Minimum Net Worth Requirements

Certain secondary market investors and state regulators require the Company to maintain minimum net worth and capital requirements. To the extent that these requirements are not met, secondary market investors and/or the state regulators may utilize a range of remedies including sanctions, and/or suspension or termination of selling and servicing agreements, which may prohibit the Company from originating, securitizing or servicing these specific types of mortgage loans.

The Company is subject to the following minimum net worth, minimum capital ratio and minimum liquidity requirements established by the Federal Housing Finance Agency ("FHFA") for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac Seller/Servicers, and Ginnie Mae for single family issuers. Furthermore, refer to Note 6, Borrowings for additional information regarding compliance with all covenant requirements.

11. Minimum Net Worth Requirements (Continued)

Minimum Net Worth

The minimum net worth requirement for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac is defined as follows:

- Base of $2,500 plus 25 basis points of outstanding UPB for total loans serviced.
- Adjusted/Tangible Net Worth comprises of total equity less goodwill, intangible assets, affiliate receivables and certain pledged assets.

The minimum net worth requirement for Ginnie Mae is defined as follows:

- Base of $2,500 plus 35 basis points of the issuer's total single-family effective outstanding obligations.
- Adjusted/Tangible Net Worth is defined as total equity less goodwill, intangible assets, affiliate receivables and certain pledged assets. Effective for fiscal year 2020, under the Ginnie Mae MBS Guide, the issuers will no longer be permitted to include deferred tax assets when computing the minimum net worth requirements.

Minimum Capital Ratio

- For Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and Ginnie Mae the Company is also required to hold a ratio of Adjusted/Tangible Net Worth to Total Assets greater than 6%.

Minimum Liquidity

The minimum liquidity requirement for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac is defined as follows:

- 3.5 basis points of total Agency servicing.
- Incremental 200 basis points of total nonperforming Agency, measured as 90+ delinquencies, servicing in excess of 6% of the total Agency servicing UPB.
- Allowable assets for liquidity may include: cash and cash equivalents (unrestricted), available for sale or held for trading investment grade securities (e.g., Agency MBS, Obligations of GSEs, US Treasury Obligations); and unused/available portion of committed servicing advance lines.

The minimum liquidity requirement for Ginnie Mae is defined as follows:

- Maintain liquid assets equal to the greater of $1,000 or 10 basis points of our outstanding single-family MBS.

The most restrictive of the minimum net worth and capital requirements require the Company to maintain a minimum adjusted net worth balance of $1,248,735 and $1,179,928 as of March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, respectively. As of March 31, 2020 and December 31, 2019, the Company was in compliance with this requirement.

12. Segments

The Company's Chief Executive Officer, who has been identified as its Chief Operating Decision Maker ("CODM"), has evaluated how the Company views and measures its performance. ASC 280, Segment Reporting establishes the standards for reporting information about segments in financial statements. In applying the criteria set forth in that guidance, the Company has determined that it has two reportable segments—Direct to Consumer and Partner Network. The key factors used to identify these reportable segments are the organization and alignment of the Company's internal operations and the nature of its marketing channels which drive client acquisition into the mortgage ecosystem. This determination reflects how its CODM monitors performance, allocates capital and makes strategic and operational decisions. The Company's segments are described as follows:

Direct to Consumer

In the Direct to Consumer segment, the Company directly interacts with clients and potential clients using various performance marketing channels. The Direct to Consumer segment derives revenue from originating, closing, selling and servicing predominantly agency-conforming loans, which are pooled and sold to the secondary market. This also includes providing title insurance services, appraisals and settlement services to these clients as part of the Company's end-to-end mortgage origination experience it provides to its clients. Servicing activities are viewed as an extension of the client experience with the primary objective being to establish and maintain positive, regular touchpoints with our clients, which positions the Company to recapture the clients' next refinance or purchase mortgage transaction. Consequently, servicing is viewed by the CODM as an integral element of the Direct to Consumer segment.

Partner Network

In the Partner Network segment, the Company is focused on aligning its brand with other high-quality consumer-focused influencers and marketing partnerships who utilize its platform to provide their clients mortgage solutions with a superior client experience.

Other Information About Our Segments

The Company does not allocate assets to its reportable segments as they are not included in the review performed by the CODM for purposes of assessing segment performance and allocating resources. The balance sheet is managed on a consolidated basis and is not used in the context of segment reporting.

The Company also reports an "all other" category that includes operations from Rocket Homes, Rock Connections, Core Digital Media, Rocket Loans, and includes professional service fee revenues from related parties. These operations are neither significant individually nor in aggregate and therefore do not constitute a reportable segment.

Report of Ernst & Young LLP, Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

To the Board of Directors and Management of Rock Holdings Inc.

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying combined balance sheets of Quicken Loans Inc., EFB Holdings Inc., Lendesk Canada Holdings Inc., LMB HoldCo LLC, RCRA Holdings LLC, RockTech Canada Inc., Rock Central LLC, Rocket Homes Real Estate LLC, RockLoans Holdings LLC, Amrock Inc., Nexsys Technologies LLC, and Woodward Capital Management LLC, (each of which is a subsidiary of Rock Holdings Inc., collectively "Rocket Companies" or the "Company") as of December 31, 2019 and 2018, the related combined statements of income and comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2019, and the related notes (collectively referred to as the combined financial statements). In our opinion, the combined financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company at December 31, 2019 and 2018, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2019, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

Basis for Opinion

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB) and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the combined financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. As part of our audits we are required to obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the combined financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the combined financial statements. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the combined financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

1. Business, Basis of Presentation, and Accounting Policies

The accompanying combined financial statements include all of the assets, liabilities and results of operations of twelve subsidiaries of Rock Holdings Inc. ("Rock Holdings", "RHI"), which are Quicken Loans Inc., EFB Holdings Inc. ("Edison Financial"), Lendesk Canada Holdings Inc., LMB HoldCo LLC ("Core Digital Media"), RCRA Holdings LLC ("Rock Connections" and "Rocket Auto"), RockTech Canada Inc., Rock Central LLC, Rocket Homes Real Estate LLC ("Rocket Homes"), RockLoans Holdings LLC ("Rocket Loans"), Amrock, Inc. ("Amrock"), Nexsys Technologies LLC ("Nexsys"), and Woodward Capital Management LLC (collectively, the "Combined Businesses", "Rocket Companies", "we", "us", "our", the "Company"). Our Detroit-based company helps our clients achieve the American dream of home ownership and financial freedom. We are committed to providing an industry-leading client experience powered by our award-winning culture and innovative technologies. Quicken Loans almost exclusively offers agency-conforming and government-insured mortgage loan products, which are marketed directly to consumers in all 50 states through the internet, national television, and other marketing channels. Core Digital Media is a lead generation and online marketing company that provides services to consumers on the internet, and to clients seeking marketing and agency advertising services. Rocket Homes is the preferred real estate partner of Quicken Loans and assists clients nationwide with buying or selling a home through various product offerings to meet the client's needs. Rocket Loans operates an online lending platform where consumers can get an unsecured personal loan issued by a state-chartered bank. Amrock is a provider of title insurance services, property valuations, and settlement services for both residential and commercial real estate transactions. Rock Connections is a marketing company that offers an array of services, including inbound and outbound contact solutions, appointment setting and scheduling, prequalifying prospective clients, lead generation, lead and efficiency consulting, and providing proactive solution-oriented reporting and analytics. In late 2018, Rock Connections also launched the Rocket Auto brand and began selling cars. Our business operations are organized into the following two segments: (1) Direct to Consumer, (2) Partner Network (refer to Note 16, Segments).

Basis of Presentation

The Combined Businesses have historically operated as part of RHI and not as a stand-alone entity. The combined financial statements represent the results of operations, financial position, cash flows and changes in equity of the combined subsidiaries of RHI mentioned above, prepared on a stand-alone basis and have been derived from the consolidated financial statements and accounting records of RHI. All revenues and expenses as well as assets and liabilities that are either legally attributable to us or directly associated with our business activities are included in the combined financial statements. Net parent investment represents RHI's interest in the recorded net assets of the Company. All significant transactions between the Company and RHI have been included in the accompanying combined financial statements and are reflected in the accompanying Combined Statements of Changes in Equity as "Net transfers to parent" and in the accompanying combined balance sheets within "Net parent investment."

All significant intercompany transactions and accounts between the businesses comprising the Company have been eliminated in the accompanying combined financial statements. Our combined financial statements have been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("U.S. GAAP"). Our Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income include an allocation of executive management compensation for services provided to RHI and its subsidiaries. We believe the assumptions underlying the combined financial statements, including the assumptions regarding allocation of expenses from RHI are reasonable. The executive management compensation expense has been allocated based on time incurred for services provided to the Combined Businesses. Total costs allocated to us for these services were $52,250, $47,301 and $44,388 for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively, and were included in salaries, commissions and team member benefits in our Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income.

The Company's derivatives, IRLCs, mortgage loans held for sale, MSRs (including MSRs collateral for financing liability and MSRs financing liability), and investments are measured at fair value on a recurring basis. Additionally, other assets may be required to be measured at fair value in the combined financial statements on a nonrecurring basis. Examples of such measurements are mortgage loans transferred between held for investment and held for sale, certain impaired loans, and other real estate owned. For further details of the Company's transactions refer to Note 2, Fair Value Measurements.

All transactions and accounts between RHI and the Company have a history of settlement or are expected to be settled for cash, and are reflected as related party transactions. For further details of the Company's related party transactions refer to Note 7, Transactions with Related Parties.

The combined financial statements may not include all of the expenses that would have been incurred had we been a stand-alone company during the periods presented and may not reflect our combined results of operations, financial position and cash flows had we been a stand-alone company during the periods presented. The amount of actual expenses that would have been incurred if we had operated as a stand-alone company would depend on a number of factors, including our chosen organizational structure, strategic decisions made in various areas, including information technology and infrastructure. We also may incur additional costs associated with being a stand-alone, publicly listed company that were not included in the expense allocations and, therefore, would result in additional costs that are not reflected in our historical statements of income and comprehensive income, balance sheets and cash flows.

Management Estimates

The preparation of combined financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the combined financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Although management is not currently aware of any factors that would significantly change its estimates and assumptions, actual results may differ from these estimates.

Subsequent Events

In preparing these combined financial statements, the Company evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure through June 22, 2020, the date these combined financial statements were available to be issued. Refer to Note 6, Borrowings for disclosures on changes to the Company's debt agreement, Note 7, Transactions with Related Parties for the resolution of loans with related parties, Note 13, Commitments, Contingencies, and Guarantees regarding litigation matters pertaining to the HouseCanary suit, and to Note 15, Stock-Based Compensation for disclosures on accelerations of the Company's stock awards that occurred subsequent to December 31, 2019.

Effective January 2, 2020, Amrock became a wholly owned subsidiary of Amrock Holdings Inc. Amrock Holdings Inc. is a wholly owned subsidiary of Rock Holdings. This was done through a transfer of shares of common stock and does not create a new basis event because the entities are under common control.

In April 2020, Quicken Loans LLC converted its corporate structure to an LLC and changed its name from Quicken Loans Inc. to Quicken Loans, LLC.

Subsequent to December 31, 2019, cash distributions were made in the total amount of $321,471.

At the time of issuance of this report, the direct and indirect impacts that the COVID-19 pandemic and recent market volatility may have on the Company's financial statements are uncertain. The Company cannot reasonably estimate the magnitude of the impact these events may ultimately have on its results of operations, liquidity or financial position. However, management of the Company is unaware of any known adverse material risk or event that should be recognized in the financial statements at this time.

Revenue Recognition

On January 1, 2018, the Company adopted ASC 606, Revenue Recognition. The adoption of the standard had an immaterial impact on the combined financial statements.

Gain on sale of loans, net—Gain on sale of loans, net includes all components related to the origination and sale of mortgage loans, including (1) net gain on sale of loans, which represents the premium we receive in excess of the loan principal amount and certain fees charged by investors upon sale of loans into the secondary market, (2) loan origination fees (credits), points and certain costs, (3) provision for or benefit from investor reserves, (4) the change in fair value of interest rate locks and loans held for sale, (5) the gain or loss on forward commitments hedging loans held for sale and interest rate lock commitments (IRLCs), and (6) the fair value of originated MSRs. An estimate of the gain on sale of loans, net is recognized at the time an IRLC is issued, net of a pull-through factor. Subsequent changes in the fair value of IRLCs and mortgage loans held for sale are recognized in current period earnings. When the mortgage loan is sold into the secondary market, any difference between the proceeds received and the current fair value of the loan is recognized in current period earnings in gain on sale of loans, net. Included in gain on sale of loans, net is the fair value of originated MSRs, which represents the estimated fair value of MSRs related to loans which we have sold and retained the right to service. Refer to Note 3, Mortgage Servicing Rights for information related to the gain/(loss) on changes in the fair value of MSRs.

Loan servicing (loss) income, net—Loan servicing (loss) income, net includes income from servicing, sub-servicing and ancillary fees, and is recorded to income as earned, which is upon collection of payments from borrowers. This amount also includes the Change in fair value of MSRs, which is the adjustment for the fair value measurement of the MSR asset as of the respective balance sheet date.

Interest income, net—Interest income includes interest earned on mortgage loans held for sale and mortgage loans held for investment net of the interest expense paid on our loan funding facilities. Interest income is recorded as earned and interest expense is recorded as incurred.

Other income—Other income is derived primarily from lead generation revenue, professional service fees, real estate network referral fees, contact center revenue, closing fees, net appraisal revenue, and net title insurance fees.

Amrock title insurance fees, net—Title insurance fees relate to income the Company recognizes from providing title insurance services, including title search services and title insurance policies. Title insurance fees are reported net of the portion of premium related to title insurance policies remitted to the underwriters where Amrock acts as an agent of the underwriter and gross in all other instances where Amrock acts as principal. Amrock title insurance fees, net were $280,114, $201,106, and $243,867 for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively.

The following revenue streams fall within the scope of ASC Topic 606—Revenue from Contracts with Customers and are disaggregated hereunder:

Core Digital Media lead generation revenue— The Company recognizes online consumer acquisition revenue based on successful delivery of marketing leads to a client at a fixed fee per lead. This service is satisfied at the time the lead is delivered, at which time revenue for the service is recognized. Online consumer acquisition revenue, net of intercompany eliminations, was $41,895, $79,774 and $36,297 for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively.

Professional service fees— The Company recognizes professional service fee revenue based on the delivery of services (e.g. human resources, technology, training) over the term of a contract. Consideration for the promised services is received through a combination of a fixed fee for the period and incremental fees paid for optional services that are available at an incremental rate determined at the time such services are requested. The Company recognizes the annual fee ratably over the life of the contract, as the performance obligation is satisfied equally over the term of the contract. For the optional services, revenue is only recognized at the time the services are requested and delivered and pricing is agreed upon. Professional service fee revenues were $8,320, $5,088 and $3,060 for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively, and were rendered entirely to related parties.

Rocket Homes real estate network referral fees— The Company recognizes real estate network referral fee revenue based on arrangements with partner agencies contingent on the closing of a transaction. As this revenue stream is variable, and is contingent on the successful transaction close, the revenue is constrained until the occurrence of the transaction. At this point, the constraint on recognizing revenue is deemed to have been lifted and revenue is recognized for the consideration expected to be received. Real estate network referral fees were $39,924, $33,229 and $34,363 for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively.

Rock Connections contact center revenue— The Company recognizes contact center revenue for communication services including client support and sales. Consideration received includes a fixed base fee and/or a variable contingent fee. The fixed base fee is recognized ratably over the period of performance, as the performance obligation is considered to be satisfied equally throughout the service period. The variable contingent fee related to car sales is constrained until the sale of the car is completed. Contact center revenue was $27,055, $23,043 and $10,479 for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively.

Amrock closing fees—The Company recognizes closing fees for non-recurring services provided in connection with the origination of the loan. These fees are recognized at the time of loan closing for purchase transactions or at the end of a client's three-day rescission period for refinance transactions, which represents the point in time the loan closing services performance obligation is satisfied. The consideration received for closing services is a fixed fee per loan that varies by state and loan type. Amrock closing fees were $200,920, $139,176, and $170,546 for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018, and 2017, respectively.

Amrock appraisal revenue, net—The Company recognizes appraisal revenue when the appraisal service is completed. The Company may choose to deliver appraisal services directly to its client or subcontract such services to a third-party licensed and/or certified appraiser. In instances where the Company performs the appraisal, revenue is recognized as the gross amount of consideration received at a fixed price per appraisal. The Company is an agent in instances where a third-party appraiser is involved in the delivery of appraisal services and revenue is recognized net of third-party appraisal expenses. Amrock appraisal revenue, net was $76,200, $64,515, and $65,119 for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018, and 2017, respectively.

Marketing and Advertising Costs

Marketing and advertising costs for direct and non-direct response advertising are expensed as incurred. The costs of brand marketing and advertising are expensed in the period the advertising space or airtime is used.

The Company incurred marketing and advertising costs related to the naming rights for Rocket Mortgage Field House and other promotional sponsorships, which are related parties. For the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the Company incurred expenses of $9,675, $12,281 and $3,414, respectively, related to these arrangements.

Cash, Cash Equivalents and Restricted Cash

The Company considers all highly liquid investments purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. We maintain our bank accounts with a relatively small number of high-quality financial institutions.

Restricted cash as of December 31, 2019 and 2018 consisted of cash on deposit for a repurchase facility, client application deposits, title premiums collected from insureds that are due to the underwritten insurance company and a $25,000 bond.

	Years Ended December 31,

Total cash, cash equivalents, and restricted cash in the statement of cash flows	$ 1,412,126	$ 1,101,167	$ 1,442,931

Mortgage Loans Held for Sale

The Company has elected the fair value option for accounting for mortgage loans held for sale.

Included in mortgage loans held for sale are loans originated as held for sale that are expected to be sold into the secondary market and loans that have been previously sold and repurchased from investors that management intends to resell into the secondary market, which are all recorded at fair value.

Refer to Note 4, Mortgage Loans Held for Sale, for further information.

Derivative Financial Instruments

The Company enters into interest rate lock commitments ("IRLCs"), forward commitments to sell mortgage loans and forward commitments to purchase loans, which are considered derivative financial instruments. These items are accounted for as free-standing derivatives and are included in the combined balance sheets at fair value. The Company treats all of its derivative instruments as economic hedges; therefore, none of its derivative instruments qualify for designation as accounting hedges. Changes in the fair value of the IRLCs and forward commitments to sell mortgage loans are recorded in current period earnings and are included in gain on sale of loans, net in the Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income. Forward commitments to purchase mortgage loans are recognized in current period earnings and are included in gain on sale of loans in the Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income.

The Company enters into IRLCs to fund residential mortgage loans with its potential borrowers. These commitments are binding agreements to lend funds to these potential borrowers at specified interest rates within specified periods of time.

The fair value of IRLCs is derived from the fair value of similar mortgage loans or bonds, which is based on observable market data. Changes to the fair value of IRLCs are recognized based on changes in interest rates, changes in the probability that the commitment will be exercised, and the passage of time. The expected net future cash flows related to the associated servicing of the loan are included in the fair value measurement of rate locks.

IRLCs and uncommitted mortgage loans held for sale expose the Company to the risk that the value of the mortgage loans held and mortgage loans underlying the commitments may decline due

Rocket Companies

to increases in mortgage interest rates during the life of the commitments. To protect against this risk, the Company uses forward loan sale commitments to economically hedge the risk of potential changes in the value of the loans. These derivative instruments are recorded at fair value. The Company expects that the changes in fair value of these derivative financial instruments will either fully or partially offset the changes in fair value of the IRLCs and uncommitted mortgage loans held for sale. The changes in the fair value of these derivatives are recorded in gain on sale of loans, net.

MSR assets (including the MSR value associated with outstanding IRLCs) that the Company plans to sell expose the Company to the risk that the value of the MSR asset may decline due to decreases in mortgage interest rates prior to the sale of these assets. To protect against this risk, the Company uses forward loan purchase commitments to economically hedge the risk of potential changes in the value of MSR assets that have been identified for sale. These derivative instruments are recorded at fair value. The Company expects that the changes in fair value of these derivative financial instruments will either fully or partially offset the changes in fair value of the MSR assets the Company intends to sell. The changes in fair value of these derivatives are recorded in the change in fair value of MSRs, net.

Forward commitments include To-Be-Announced ("TBA") mortgage-backed securities that have been aggregated at the counterparty level for presentation and disclosure purposes. Counterparty agreements contain a legal right to offset amounts due to and from the same counterparty under legally enforceable master netting agreements to settle with the same counterparty, on a net basis, as well as the right to obtain cash collateral. Forward commitments also include commitments to sell loans to counterparties and to purchase loans from counterparties at determined prices. Refer to Note 12, Derivative Financial Instruments for further information.

Mortgage Servicing Rights

Mortgage servicing rights are recognized as assets on the Combined Balance Sheet when loans are sold and the associated servicing rights are retained. The Company maintains one class of MSR asset and has elected the fair value option. These MSRs are recorded at fair value, which is determined using a valuation model that calculates the present value of estimated future net servicing fee income. The model includes estimates of prepayment speeds, discount rate, cost to service, float earnings, contractual servicing fee income, and ancillary income and late fees, among others. These estimates are supported by market and economic data collected from various outside sources.

During 2019, the Company began using derivatives to economically hedge the risk of changes in the fair value of certain MSRs measured at fair value. The changes in the fair value of derivatives that serve to mitigate certain risks associated with the certain MSRs are recorded in current period earnings. The amount recognized through earnings has not been material. Refer to Note 3, Mortgage Servicing Rights for further information.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are recorded at cost, less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation of property and equipment is generally computed on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the assets. Amortization of leasehold improvements is computed on a straight-line basis over the shorter of the estimated useful lives or the remaining lease terms. Depreciation is not recorded on projects-in-process until the project is complete and the associated assets are placed into service or are ready for the intended use. Upon retirement or sale, the cost of assets disposed of and the related accumulated depreciation are removed from the accounts; any resulting gain or loss is credited or charged to operations. Costs of maintenance and repairs are charged to expense as incurred. Refer to Note 5, Property and Equipment for further information.

Ginnie Mae Loans Subject to Repurchase Right

For certain loans sold to Ginnie Mae, the Company as the servicer has the unilateral right to repurchase any individual loan in a Ginnie Mae securitization pool if that loan meets defined criteria, including being delinquent greater than 90 days. Once the Company has the unilateral right to repurchase the delinquent loan, the Company has effectively regained control over the loan and must re-recognize the loan on the Combined Balance Sheet and establish a corresponding finance liability regardless of the Company's intention to repurchase the loan.

Income Taxes

The Combined Businesses include C corporations that have elected to be treated as Subchapter S subsidiary corporation's or single member LLC's, both of which are disregarded for federal income tax purposes. The RHI shareholders are responsible for the federal income tax liabilities of RHI and the Combined Businesses. Therefore, no provision for federal income taxes is necessary.

Provision for income taxes in the combined financial statements are computed using the liability method. Under this method, deferred income taxes are provided for differences between the financial accounting and income tax basis of assets and liabilities. In assessing the need for a valuation allowance, both positive and negative evidence related to the likelihood of realization of the deferred tax assets is considered. If, based on the weight of the available evidence, it is more likely than not that the deferred tax assets will not be realized, a valuation allowance is recorded. Refer to Note 11, Income Taxes for further information.

Stock-Based Compensation

Stock-Based compensation is comprised of both equity and liability awards and is measured and expensed accordingly under Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 718 Compensation-Stock Compensation. Refer to Note 15, Stock-Based Compensation for further information.

Recently Adopted Accounting Pronouncements

On January 1, 2019, the Company early adopted Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") 2017-04, Intangibles-Goodwill and Other (Topic 350): Simplifying the Test for Goodwill Impairment. This guidance simplifies the subsequent measurement of goodwill by eliminating Step 2 of the goodwill impairment testing model. The Guidance also eliminated the requirements for any reporting unit with a zero or negative carrying value to perform a qualitative assessment and, if it fails that qualitative step, to perform Step 2 of the goodwill impairment test. Therefore, the same impairment test applies to all reporting units. The Company applied the amendments in this update on a prospective basis. The impact of the adoption of this ASU did not have a material impact on the combined financial statements.

On January 1, 2019, the Company early adopted the Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") issued ASU 2018-13, Fair Value Measurement—Disclosure Framework (Topic 820) Disclosure Framework—Changes to the Disclosure Requirements for Fair Value Measurement. The main provisions in this update include removal of the following disclosure requirements from this ASC: 1) the amount of and reasons for transfers between Level 1 and Level 2 of the fair value hierarchy, 2) the policy for timing of transfers between levels and 3) the valuation processes for Level 3 fair value measurements. This standard adds disclosure requirements to report the changes in unrealized gains and losses for the period included in other comprehensive income for recurring Level 3 fair value measurements held at the end of the reporting period, and for certain unobservable inputs an entity may disclose other quantitative information in lieu of the weighted average if the entity determines that other quantitative information would be a more reasonable and rational method to reflect the distribution of unobservable inputs used to develop Level 3 fair value measurements. The Company adopted this new standard on a retrospective basis. The impact of the adoption of this ASU has been reflected in Note 2, Fair Value Measurements.

On January 1, 2019, the Company adopted ASU No. 2016-02, Leases (Topics 842). The standard requires lessees to recognize most leases on their balance sheets as lease liabilities with corresponding right-of-use (ROU) assets, with the exception of short-term leases. The new standard eliminates real estate-specific guidance and changes what would be considered initial direct costs. The update also requires quantitative and qualitative disclosures regarding key information about leasing arrangements. All entities will classify leases to determine how to recognize lease-related revenue and expense. Lessee accounting for finance leases, as well as lessor accounting, are largely unchanged.

The Company prospectively adopted the provisions of the standard and elected to not reassess the prior ASC 840 conclusions for leases that commenced before the effective date. Additionally, the Company elected not to reassess its previous evaluation of the lease term, the exercise of any purchase options and impairment of ROU assets for transitioned leases. For in-lease arrangements where the company is the lessee, the Company elected to not separate non-lease components of a contract from the lease component to which they relate. Per the Company's election, any leases having a lease term of 12 months or less will not be recognized on the balance sheet. In determining a discount rate for transitioned leases, the Company will elect to take into account only the remaining lease term and lease payments post-transition date, rather than determining the discount rate as of lease inception date.

1. Business, Basis of Presentation, and Accounting Policies (Continued)

At adoption, the Company recognized a lease liability of $336,293 and a ROU asset of approximately $303,889 on the Combined Balance Sheets related to its future lease payments as a lessee under operating leases. Adoption of the standard did not have a material impact on the Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income. Refer to Note 8, Leases for additional details.

Accounting Standards Issued but Not Yet Adopted

In June 2016, the FASB issued ASU No. 2016-13, Financial Instruments—Credit Losses (Topic 326): Measurement of Credit Losses on Financial Instruments and issued subsequent amendments to the initial guidance under ASU 2018-19, ASU 2019-04 and ASU 2019-05 (collectively, "Topic 326"). This guidance will replace the incurred loss model currently used and requires the measurement of all expected credit losses for financial assets held at the reporting date based upon historical information, current conditions, and reasonable and supportable forecasts. The determination of credit loss estimates will now include forward-looking information, and additional disclosures related to credit risk will be required. Many of the loss estimation techniques applied today will still be permitted, although the inputs to those techniques will change to reflect the full amount of expected credit losses. Topic 326 also requires allowances to be recorded for purchased financial assets with credit deterioration, instead of reducing the amortized cost of the investment. For most instruments, entities must apply the standard using a cumulative-effect adjustment to the balance sheet upon adoption.

The Company plans to adopt the new standard effective January 1, 2020 and has identified and implemented appropriate changes, where necessary, related to controls, processes and accounting policies and disclosures. Financial assets held by the Company subject to the "expected credit loss" model prescribed by Topic 326 include money market funds, notes and other receivables, and loans subject to repurchase right from Ginnie Mae. The adoption of this guidance, including an acceleration in the timing for recognition of credit losses due to the requirement to record expected losses over the remaining contractual lives of its financial instruments, will not have a material impact on the Company's combined financial statements.

2. Fair Value Measurements

Fair value is the price that would be received if an asset were sold or the price that would be paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between willing market participants at the measurement date. Required disclosures include classification of fair value measurements within a three-level hierarchy (Level 1, Level 2, and Level 3). Classification of a fair value measurement within the hierarchy is dependent on the classification and significance of the inputs used to determine the fair value measurement. Observable inputs are those that are observed, implied from, or corroborated with externally available market information. Unobservable inputs represent the Company's estimates of market participants' assumptions.

Fair value measurements are classified in the following manner:

Level 1—Valuation is based on quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date.

Rocket Companies

2. Fair Value Measurements (Continued)

Level 2—Valuation is based on either observable prices for identical assets or liabilities in inactive markets, observable prices for similar assets or liabilities, or other inputs that are derived directly from, or through correlation to, observable market data at the measurement date.

Level 3—Valuation is based on the Company's internal models using assumptions at the measurement date that a market participant would use.

In determining fair value measurement, the Company uses observable inputs whenever possible. The level of a fair value measurement within the hierarchy is dependent on the lowest level of input that has a significant impact on the measurement as a whole. If quoted market prices are available at the measurement date or are available for similar instruments, such prices are used in the measurements. If observable market data is not available at the measurement date, judgment is required to measure fair value.

The following is a description of measurement techniques for items recorded at fair value on a recurring basis. There were no material items recorded at fair value on a nonrecurring basis as of December 31, 2019 or December 31, 2018.

Mortgage loans held for sale: Loans held for sale that trade in active secondary markets are valued using Level 2 measurements derived from observable market data, including market prices of securities backed by similar mortgage loans adjusted for certain factors to approximate the fair value of a whole mortgage loan, including the value attributable to mortgage servicing and credit risk. Loans held for sale for which there is little to no observable trading activity of similar instruments are valued using Level 3 measurements based upon dealer price quotes.

IRLCs: The fair value of IRLCs is based on current market prices of securities backed by similar mortgage loans (as determined above under mortgage loans held for sale), net of costs to close the loans, subject to the estimated loan funding probability, or "pull-through factor". Given the significant and unobservable nature of the pull-through factor, IRLCs are classified as Level 3.

MSRs: The fair value of MSRs (including MSRs collateral for financing liability and MSRs financing liability) is determined using a valuation model that calculates the present value of estimated net future cash flows. The model includes estimates of prepayment speeds, discount rate, cost to service, float earnings, contractual servicing fee income, and ancillary income among others. These fair value measurements are classified as Level 3.

Forward commitments: The Company's forward commitments are valued based on quoted prices for similar assets in an active market with inputs that are observable and are classified within Level 2 of the valuation hierarchy.

Fair Value Option

The following is the estimated fair value and unpaid principal balance ("UPB") of mortgage loans held for sale that have contractual principal amounts and for which the Company has elected the fair value option. The fair value option was elected for mortgage loans held for sale as the Company believes fair value best reflects their expected future economic performance:

	Fair Value	Principal Amount Due Upon Maturity	Difference(1)
Balance at December 31, 2019	$ 13,275,735	$ 12,929,143	$ 346,592
Balance at December 31, 2018	$ 5,784,812	$ 5,593,093	$ 191,719

(1) Represents the amount of gains included in Gain on sale of loans, net due to changes in fair value of items accounted for using the fair value option.

Disclosures of the fair value of certain financial instruments are required when it is practical to estimate the value. In cases where quoted market prices are not available, fair values are based on estimates using present value or other valuation techniques.

The following table presents the carrying amounts and estimated fair value of financial liabilities that are not recorded at fair value on a recurring or non-recurring basis. This table excludes cash and cash equivalents, restricted cash and cash equivalents, warehouse borrowings, and line of credit borrowing facilities as these financial instruments are highly liquid or short-term in nature and as a result, their carrying amounts approximate fair value:

	December 31, 2019		December 31, 2018
	Carrying Amount	Estimated Fair Value	Carrying Amount	Estimated Fair Value
Senior Notes, due 5/1/2025	$ 1,241,012	$ 1,297,250	$ 1,239,300	$ 1,176,413
Senior Notes, due 1/15/2028	$ 992,779	$ 1,046,683	$ 990,631	$ 907,657

The fair value of Senior Notes, was calculated using the observable bond price at December 31, 2019 and December 31, 2018, respectively. The Senior Notes are classified as Level 2 in the fair value hierarchy.

Total changes in fair value	(1,591,131)	(228,723)
Fair value, end of period	$ 2,874,972	$ 3,180,530

(1) The fair value of the MSRs collateral for financing liability as of December 31, 2019 is $205,108 as a result of change in fair value of $150,316. The fair value of the MSRs financing liability as of December 31, 2019 is $189,987 as a result of a change in fair value of $150,316. Refer below for additional details related to the MSR financing transaction.

(2) Reflects changes in assumptions including discount rates and prepayment speed assumptions, mostly due to changes in market interest rates.

The total UPB of mortgage loans serviced, excluding subserviced loans, at December 31, 2019 and 2018 was $311,718,188 and $297,558,369, respectively. The portfolio primarily consists of high quality performing agency and government (FHA and VA) loans. As of December 31, 2019, delinquent loans (defined as 60-plus days past-due) were 1.01% of our total portfolio.

During the third quarter of 2019, the Company sold MSRs with a book value of approximately $340,000 relating to certain single-family mortgage loans. Based on the contract terms, the sale of those MSRs did not qualify for sale accounting treatment under U.S. GAAP. As a result, the Company is required to retain the MSRs asset (i.e., MSRs collateral for financing liability) and the MSRs liability (i.e., MSRs financing liability) on the balance sheet until certain contractual provisions lapse in June 2020. These MSRs will continue to be reported on the balance sheet at fair value using a valuation methodology consistent with the Company's method for valuing MSRs until those contractual provisions lapse. Furthermore, the net change in fair market value ("FMV") of the MSRs asset and liability from this sale is captured within loan servicing (loss) income, net in the Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income. During 2019, the Company had $150,316 of unrealized gains relating to the MSRs liability and an offsetting $150,316 of unrealized losses relating to the MSRs asset. Additionally, terms of the agreement require quarterly adjustments to the sales price for changes in prepayment rates at the time of sale for a period of one year. Depending on these prepayment speeds the Company may either receive or pay additional funds from this transaction. Furthermore, in the fourth quarter of 2019, the Company also sold MSRs with a book value of approximately $146,000 relating to certain single-family mortgage loans, which qualified for sale accounting treatment under U.S. GAAP. In total throughout 2019, the Company sold the servicing for approximately 153,000 loans with approximately $42,500,000 in UPB.

The following is a summary of the weighted average discount rate and prepayment speed assumptions used to determine the fair value of MSRs as well as the expected life of the loans in the servicing portfolio:

	December 31,
	2019	2018
Discount rate	9.98%	9.95%
Prepayment speeds	14.53%	10.77%
Life (in years)	5.33	6.44

The key assumptions used to estimate the fair value of MSRs are prepayment speeds and the discount rate. Increases in prepayment speeds generally have an adverse effect on the value of MSRs as the underlying loans prepay faster. In a declining interest rate environment, the fair value of MSRs generally decreases as prepayments increase and therefore, the estimated life of the MSRs and related cash flows decrease. Decreases in prepayment speeds generally have a positive effect on the value of MSRs as the underlying loans prepay less frequently. In a rising interest rate environment, the fair value of MSRs generally increases as prepayments decrease and therefore, the estimated life of the MSRs and related cash flows increase. Increases in the discount rate result in a lower MSR value and decreases in the discount rate result in a higher MSR value. MSR uncertainties are hypothetical and do not always have a direct correlation with each assumption. Changes in one assumption may result in changes to another assumption, which might magnify or counteract the uncertainties.

The following table stresses the discount rate and prepayment speeds at two different data points:

	Discount Rate		Prepayment Speeds
	100 BPS Adverse Change	200 BPS Adverse Change	10% Adverse Change	20% Adverse Change
December 31, 2019

Credit Risk

The Company is subject to credit risk associated with mortgage loans that it purchases and originates during the period of time prior to the sale of these loans. The Company considers credit risk associated with these loans to be insignificant as it holds the loans for a short period of time, which is, on average, approximately 20 days from the date of borrowing, and the market for these loans continues to be highly liquid. The Company is also subject to credit risk associated with mortgage loans it has repurchased as a result of breaches of representations and warranties during the period of time between repurchase and resale.

Total property and equipment, net	$ 176,446	$ 202,555

6. Borrowings

The Company maintains several funding facilities and other non-funding debt as shown in the tables below. Interest rates are based on one-month LIBOR (some have a floor) plus a spread, except for the $175,000 unsecured line of credit and the Senior Notes. The interest rate for each advance on the $175,000 unsecured line of credit is variable and is based on a margin over either a fixed one, two, or three-month LIBOR or a floating daily or 30 day LIBOR, or the lender's prime rate, at the option of the Company. The commitment fee charged by lenders for each of the facilities is an annual fee and is calculated based on the committed line amount multiplied by a negotiated rate. The fee at rate ranges from 0% to 0.50% among the facilities except for the Senior Notes. The Company is required to maintain minimum combined tangible net worth and adhere to other financial covenants, as defined in the agreements. The Company was in compliance with all covenants as of December 31, 2019 and December 31, 2018.

The amount owed and outstanding on the Company's loan funding facilities fluctuates greatly based on its origination volume, the amount of time it takes the Company to sell the loans it originates, and the Company's ability to use the cash to self-fund loans. In addition to self-funding, the Company may from time to time use surplus cash to "buy-down" the effective interest rate of certain loan funding facilities or to self-fund a portion of our loan originations. As of December 31, 2019, $622,405 of the Company's cash was used to buy-down our funding facilities and self-fund, $450,000 of which are buy-down funds that are included in cash on the balance sheet and $172,405 of which is self-funding that reduces cash on the balance sheet. The Company has the right to withdraw the $450,000 at any time, unless a margin call has been made or a default has occurred under the relevant facilities. The Company has the right to transfer the $172,405 of self-funded loans on to a warehouse line or the early buy out line, provided that such loans meet the eligibility criteria to be placed on such warehouse line or the early buy out line and no default or margin call has been made on such line, the loans are further subject to any required haircuts, and are subject to its ability to borrow additional funds under the facility. A large, unanticipated margin call could have a material adverse effect on the Company's liquidity. Furthermore, refer to Note 3, Mortgage Servicing

7. Transactions with Related Parties

The Company has entered into various transactions and agreements with RHI, its subsidiaries, certain other affiliates and related parties (collectively, "Related Parties"). These transactions include providing financing and services as well as obtaining financing and services from these Related Parties.

Financing Arrangements

On January 6, 2017, the Company entered into a $55,983 promissory note with one of the Company's shareholders ("Shareholder's Note"). In 2019, the Shareholder's Note was amended and the accrued interest balance of $1,474 was added to the principal outstanding, increasing the total principal outstanding to $57,457, due on December 31, 2020. Subsequent to December 31, 2019, the full amount of this note was settled in cash.

On September 1, 2014 and April 30, 2015, the Company entered into two promissory notes, $1,883 and $2,000, respectively, with Fathead, LLC. On December 31, 2019, the Company sold these two promissory notes to RHI for an aggregate amount of $4,400, including accrued and unpaid interest.

As of December 31, 2019, there were other promissory notes outstanding with Related Parties. Subsequent to December 31, 2019, the full amount of these notes were settled in cash.

On June 9, 2017, the Company and RHI entered into a $300,000 uncommitted and unsecured line of credit ("RHI Line of Credit"). On December 24, 2019 the Company amended the RHI Line of Credit and increased the borrowing capacity to $1,000,000, due on November 1, 2024. The line of credit is uncommitted and RHI has sole discretion over advances. The RHI Line of Credit also contains negative covenants which restrict the ability of the Company to incur debt and create liens on certain assets. It also requires the Company to maintain a quarterly combined net income before taxes if adjusted tangible net worth meets certain requirements. Subsequent to December 31, 2019, the Company borrowed $600,000 on the RHI Line of Credit.

7. Transactions with Related Parties (Continued)

On January 10, 2019, the Company and RHI Opportunities entered into a $10,000 agreement for a perpetual uncommitted unsecured line of credit ("RHIO Line of Credit"), which provides for financing from RHI Opportunities to the Company. The line of credit is uncommitted and RHI has sole discretion over advances. The principal amount of all borrowings is payable in full on demand by RHI Opportunities. The RHIO Line of Credit also contains negative covenants that restrict the ability of RockLoans Opportunities to incur debt in excess of $500 and creates liens on certain assets other than liens securing permitted debt.

The amounts receivable from and payable to Related Parties consisted of the following as of:

	December 31, 2019		December 31, 2018
	Principal	Interest Rate(1)	Principal	Interest Rate(1)
Included in Notes receivable and due from affiliates on the Combined Balance Sheets

(1) Interest incurred and accrued is based on a margin over 30-day LIBOR as of the date of advance.

(2) One-month LIBOR ranged from 1.55% to 2.52%.

(3) The promissory notes were settled in full in cash subsequent to December 31, 2019 and before the filing of these financial statements.

Services, Products and Other Transactions

We have entered into transactions and agreements to provide certain services to RHI, its subsidiaries and certain other affiliates of our majority shareholder. We recognized revenue of $8,320, $5,088 and $3,060 in the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively, for the performance of these services, which was included in other income. Related Party receivables were $29,431 and $33,185 as of December 31, 2019 and 2018, respectively. We have also entered into transactions and agreements to purchase certain services, products and other transactions from certain subsidiaries of RHI and affiliates of our majority shareholder. We incurred expenses of $61,995, $56,600 and $68,050, in the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively, for these products, services and other transactions, which are included in general and

8. Leases

The Company enters into both lessee and lessor arrangements with independent third parties as well as with other related parties. For more information on lease accounting and the elections made by the Company refer to Note 1, Business, Basis of Presentation, and Accounting Policies.

Lessee

The Company's operating leases, in which the Company is the lessee, include real estate, such as office facilities, and various types of equipment, such as printers, copiers, mail equipment, and vending machines. The Company determines whether an arrangement is or contains a lease at inception. Leases are classified as either finance or operating at the commencement date of the lease, with classification affecting the pattern of expense recognition in the Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income. The Company currently does not have any finance leases, and the vast majority of the Company's operating lease expense is paid to a Related Party. See below for more information on related party lease transactions.

Per the Company's election, leases with an initial term of 12 months or less are not recorded on the balance sheet. The lease expense for these leases are recognized on a straight-line basis over the lease term. The Company's leases generally have remaining lease terms of one year to ten years. Some leases include options to extend or terminate the lease at the Company's sole discretion on a lease-by-lease basis, and the Company evaluates whether those options are "reasonably certain" of being exercised considering contractual and economic-based factors.

The components of lease expense for the year ended:

	December 31, 2019
Operating Lease Cost:
Fixed Lease Expense(1)	$ 64,837
Variable Lease Expense(2)	13,449
Total Operating Lease Cost	$ 78,286

(1) Short term lease expense and month to month lease expense are included within this amount.

(2) Variable lease payments are expensed in the period in which the obligation for those payments is incurred. These variable lease costs are payments that vary in amount beyond commencement date, for reasons other than passage of time. The Company's variable payments mainly include common area maintenance (CAM) and building utilities fees.

8. Leases (Continued)

When applying the requirements of Topic 842, the Company made significant assumptions and judgements about the determination of whether a contract contains a lease and the determination of the discount rate for the lease.

Lessor

While the Company is the sublessor in certain leasing arrangements, the majority of such lease arrangements are contracted between legal entities within the Company. Additionally, the accounting guidance for lessors is largely unchanged, therefore, the adoption of ASC 842 did not have a material impact on the Company's combined financial statements.

Lease Transactions with Related Parties

The Company is a party to lease agreements for certain offices, including our headquarters in Detroit, with various affiliates of Bedrock Management Services LLC ("Bedrock"), a Related Party, and other Related Parties of the Company. During the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the Company incurred expenses totaling $69,582, $66,218 and $60,515, respectively, for these properties.

9. Other Assets

Other assets consist of the following:

	December 31
	2019	2018
Mortgage production related receivables	$ 157,276	$ 121,684
Ginnie Mae buyouts	78,174	60,509

10. Team Member Benefit Plan

The Company maintains a defined contribution 401(k) plan which is sponsored by RHI, covering substantially all full-time team members of the Company. Team members can make elective contributions to the plan. The Company makes discretionary matching contributions of 50% of team members' contributions to the plan up to an annual maximum of approximately $3 per team member. The Company's contributions to the plan, net of team member forfeitures, for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018, and 2017 amounted to $35,556, $27,955, and $26,377, respectively, and

11. Income Taxes

Income (loss) before income taxes consists of the following:

	Years Ended December 31,
	2019	2018	2017
U.S.	$ 906,669	$ 616,642	$ 771,784
Total income before income taxes and noncontrolling interest	$ 898,371	$ 615,260	$ 771,937

On December 22, 2017, the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 (the "Act") was signed into law, making significant changes to the Internal Revenue Code. Changes include, but are not limited to, a corporate tax rate decrease from 35% to 21% effective for tax years beginning after December 31, 2017, the transition of U.S. international taxation from a worldwide tax system to a territorial system, and a one-time transition tax on the mandatory deemed repatriation of cumulative foreign earnings as of December 31, 2017. As a result of RHI's S-corporation election and the Company's qualified Subchapter S subsidiary elections, the Act had no impact on the Company's federal tax provision.

The provision for (benefit from) income taxes consists of the following:

	Years Ended December 31,
	2019	2018	2017
Current
State and local—U.S.	$ 4,768	$ (303)	$ 952
Canada	57	71	54
Total current	4,825	(232)	1,006
Deferred
State and local—U.S.	1,159	2,875	222
Total provision for income taxes	$ 5,984	$ 2,643	$ 1,228

The tax expense for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018, and 2017 was primarily due to state taxes on current year income, and deferred state taxes on MSRs not currently taxable, respectively. There are no deferred taxes relating to Canada.

Effective Tax Rate

The reconciliation of the U.S. statutory corporate tax rate and the effective tax rate for all periods presented is as follows:

	Years Ended December 31,
	2019		2018		2017
Income before income taxes	$ 898,371		$ 615,260		$ 771,937
State income taxes, net of federal benefit	$ 5,927	0.66%	$ 2,572	0.42%	$ 1,174	0.15%
Canadian taxes	57	0.01%	71	0.01%	54	0.01%
Provision for income taxes	$ 5,984	0.67%	$ 2,643	0.43%	$ 1,228	0.16%

For the year ended December 31, 2019, 2018, and 2017 the Company reported income before tax expense of $898,371, $615,260, and $771,937, respectively. The effective tax rates for these periods were lower than the U.S. statutory corporate income tax rate of 21% as the Company is comprised of qualified Subchapter S subsidiaries and single member LLC's, which are not subject to federal income taxes.

Deferred Income Taxes

Deferred income taxes, reflecting assets and liabilities netted by jurisdiction, have been classified on the Combined Balance Sheets as follows:

	December 31,
	2019	2018
Deferred tax assets—non-current	**$ —	$ —
Deferred tax liabilities—non-current	(13,597)	(12,438)
Net deferred tax liability	$ (13,597)	$ (12,438)

Net deferred tax liability was $13,597 and $12,438 at December 31, 2019 and 2018 respectively. The increase to the net deferred tax liability is due to changes in apportionment rates in multiple jurisdictions.

11. Income Taxes (Continued)

The components of the Company's deferred tax assets and liabilities are as follows:

	December 31,
	2019	2018
Deferred Tax Assets:
Accruals and other assets	$ 185	$ 137
Total Assets	$ 185	$ 137
Deferred Tax Liabilities:
Interest Rate Lock Commitments (IRLCs)	$ (2,145)	$ (690)
Mortgage Servicing Rights	(11,637)	(11,885)
Total Liabilities	$ (13,782)	$ (12,575)
Net Deferred Tax Liability	$ (13,597)	$ (12,438)

The net deferred tax liability at December 31, 2019 and 2018 resulted primarily from book to tax differences associated with IRLCs and MSRs, as well as other accruals and reserves not currently deductible.

In assessing the realizability of deferred tax assets, management considered whether it is more likely than not some portion or all the deferred tax assets will not be realized. The ultimate realization of deferred tax assets is dependent upon the generation of future taxable income during the periods in which the temporary differences become deductible. Based on the Company's assessment of all available evidence, the Company has not recorded a valuation allowance.

The Company has evaluated the tax positions expected to be taken in the course of preparing RHI's tax returns to determine whether the tax position will "more-likely-than-not" be sustained by the Company upon challenge by the applicable tax authority. Tax positions deemed to meet the more-likely- than-not threshold and that would result in a tax benefit or expense to the Company would be recorded as a tax benefit or expense in the current period. For the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, the Company did not recognize any amounts for uncertain tax positions. The Company expects no significant increases or decreases in unrecognized tax benefits due to changes in tax positions within one year of December 31, 2019.

The Company's policy is to report income tax penalties and income tax related interest expense related to uncertain income tax benefits as a component of income tax expense. No interest or penalty associated with any unrecognized income tax benefit or provision was accrued, nor was any income tax related interest or penalty recognized during the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017.

Tax positions taken in tax years which remain open under the statute of limitations will be subject to examination by tax authorities. With few exceptions, the Company is no longer subject to state and local examinations by tax authorities for the tax years ended December 31, 2015 and prior.

12. Derivative Financial Instruments

The Company uses forward commitments in hedging the interest rate risk exposure on its fixed and adjustable rate commitments. Utilization of forward commitments involves some degree of basis risk. Basis risk is defined as the risk that the hedged instrument's price does not move in parallel with the increase or decrease in the market price of the hedged financial instrument. The Company calculates an expected hedge ratio to mitigate a portion of this risk. The Company's derivative instruments are not designated as hedging instruments, and therefore, changes in fair value are recorded in current period earnings. Hedging gains and losses are included in gain on sale of loans, net in the Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income.

Net hedging (losses) gains were as follows:

	Years Ended December 31,
	2019(1)	2018	2017
Hedging (losses) gains	$ (554,995)	$ 208,773	$ (146,334)

(1) Includes the market changes on MSR hedge incurred from the economic hedging of MSRs identified for sale.

Refer to Note 2, Fair Value Measurements, for additional information on the fair value of derivative financial instruments.

Notional and Fair Value

The notional and fair values of derivative financial instruments not designated as hedging instruments were as follows:

	Notional Value	Derivative Asset	Derivative Liability

Balance at December 31, 2018:
IRLCs, net of projected fallout(1)	$ 6,281,021	$ 245,663	$ —
Forward commitments	$ 10,787,228	$ 895	$ 146,229

(2) IRLCs are also discussed in Note 13, Commitments, Contingencies, and Guarantees.

(3) Includes the market changes on MSR hedge incurred from the economic hedging of MSRs identified for sale.

Counterparty agreements for forward commitments contain master netting agreements. The table below presents the gross amounts of recognized assets and liabilities subject to master netting agreements. The Company had $3,697 and $25,861 of margin call receivable from counterparties related to these forward commitments at December 31, 2019 and December 31, 2018, respectively, classified in other assets in the Combined Balance Sheets. Counterparty Credit Risk

Credit risk is defined as the possibility that a loss may occur from the failure of another party to perform in accordance with the terms of the contract, which exceeds the value of existing collateral, if any. The Company attempts to limit its credit risk by dealing with creditworthy counterparties and obtaining collateral where appropriate.

The Company is exposed to credit loss in the event of contractual nonperformance by its trading counterparties and counterparties to its various over-the-counter derivative financial instruments noted in the above Notional and Fair Value discussion. The Company manages this credit risk by selecting only counterparties that it believes to be financially strong, spreading the credit risk among many such counterparties, placing contractual limits on the amount of unsecured credit extended to any single counterparty, and entering into netting agreements with the counterparties as appropriate.

The master netting agreements contain a legal right to offset amounts due to and from the same counterparty. Derivative assets in the Combined Balance Sheets represent derivative contracts in a gain position net of loss positions with the same counterparty and, therefore, also represent the Company's maximum counterparty credit risk. The Company incurred no credit losses due to nonperformance of any of its counterparties during the years ended December 31, 2019 and 2018.

13. Commitments, Contingencies, and Guarantees

Interest Rate Lock Commitments

IRLCs are agreements to lend to a client as long as there is no violation of any condition established in the contract. Commitments generally have fixed expiration dates or other termination clauses and may require payment of a fee. The Company evaluates each client's creditworthiness on a case-by-case basis.

The number of days from the date of the IRLC to expiration of fixed and variable rate lock commitments outstanding at December 31, 2019 and 2018 was approximately 44 and 41 days on average, respectively.

The UPB of IRLCs was as follows:

	December 31, 2019		December 31, 2018
	Fixed Rate	Variable Rate	Fixed Rate	Variable Rate
IRLCs	$ 20,577,282	$ 974,693	$ 8,445,034	$ 424,472

Commitments to Sell Mortgage Loans

In the ordinary course of business, the Company enters into contracts to sell existing mortgage loans held for sale into the secondary market at specified future dates. The amount of commitments to sell existing loans at December 31, 2019 and 2018 was $2,859,710 and $616,983, respectively.

Commitments to Sell Loans with Servicing Released

In the ordinary course of business, the Company enters into contracts to sell the MSRs of certain newly originated loans on a servicing released basis. In the event that a forward commitment is not filled and there has been an unfavorable market shift from the date of commitment to the date of settlement, the Company is contractually obligated to pay a pair-off fee on the undelivered balance. There were $78,446 and $161,188 of loans committed to be sold servicing released at December 31, 2019 and 2018, respectively.

Investor Reserves

The following presents the activity in the investor reserves:

	Years Ended December 31,
	2019	2018
Balance at beginning of period	$ 56,943	$ 50,130
(Benefit from) provision for investor reserves	(1,872)	7,458
Premium recapture and indemnification losses paid	(684)	(645)
Balance at end of period	$ 54,387	$ 56,943

The maximum exposure under the Company's representations and warranties would be the outstanding principal balance and any premium received on all loans ever sold by the Company, less any loans that have already been paid in full by the mortgagee, that have defaulted without a breach of representations and warranties, that have been indemnified via settlement or make-whole, or that have been repurchased. Additionally, the Company may receive relief of certain representation and warranty obligations on loans sold to Fannie Mae or Freddie Mac on or after

Escrows Payable

As a service to its clients, the Company administers escrow deposits representing undisbursed amounts received for payment of property taxes, insurance and principal, and interest on mortgage loans held for sale. Cash held by the Company for property taxes and insurance was $2,617,016 and $2,221,256, and for principal and interest was $6,726,793 and $2,520,941 at December 31, 2019 and 2018, respectively. These amounts are not considered assets of the Company and, therefore, are excluded from the Combined Balance Sheets. The Company remains contingently liable for the disposition of these deposits.

Guarantees

As of December 31, 2019 and 2018, the Company guaranteed the debt of another related party totaling $15,000, consisting of three separate guarantees of $5,000 each. As of December 31, 2019 and 2018, the Company did not record a liability on the Combined Balance Sheets for these guarantees because it was not probable that the Company would be required to make payments under these guarantees.

Trademark License

The Company has a perpetual trademark license agreement with a third-party entity. This agreement requires annual payments by the Company based upon the income from the sale of loans generated under the Quicken Loans brand. Total licensing fees incurred and paid were $7,500 for each of the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018, and 2017, which is the maximum annual amount allowable under the contract and is classified in other expenses in the Combined Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income.

Legal

The Company, among other things, engages in mortgage lending, title and settlement services, and other financial technology services. The Company operates in a highly regulated industry and is routinely subject to various legal and administrative proceedings concerning matters that arise in the normal and ordinary course of business, including inquires, complaints, subpoenas, audits, examinations, investigations and potential enforcement actions from regulatory agencies and state attorney generals; state and federal lawsuits and putative class actions; and other litigation. Periodically, we assess our potential liabilities and contingencies in connection with outstanding legal and administrative proceedings utilizing the latest information available. While it is not possible to predict the outcome of any of these matters, based on our assessment of the facts and circumstances, we do not believe any of these matters, individually or in the aggregate, will have a material adverse effect on our financial position, results of operations or cash flows. However, actual outcomes may differ from those expected and could have a material effect on our financial position, results of operations or cash flows in a future period. The Company accrues for losses when they are probable to occur and such losses are reasonably estimable. Legal costs expected to be incurred are accounted for as they are incurred.

The United States government filed a lawsuit against Quicken Loans for violations of the False Claims Act in 2015. This matter was resolved for $32,500 in June 2019. There was no admission of liability, no finding of wrongdoing of any kind, including no finding of fraud or violation of the False Claims Act in connection with the resolution.

In 2018 an initial judgment was entered against the Quicken Loans and Amrock, formerly known as Title Source, Inc., for a certified class action lawsuit filed in the U.S. District Court of the Northern District of West Virginia. The lawsuit alleged that Quicken Loans violated West Virginia state law by unconscionably inducing them (and a class of other West Virginians who received loans through Quicken Loans) into loans by including the borrower's own estimated home values on appraisal order forms. The judge has ruled in favor of the plaintiffs on liability and the case is currently on appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. Quicken Loans and Amrock believe an unfavorable outcome to be reasonably possible but not probable based on rulings by the court, advice of counsel, their respective defenses, and other developments with an aggregate possible range of loss to be between zero and $15,000.

Quicken Loans is also defending itself against five putative Telephone Consumer Protection Act ("TCPA") class action lawsuits. Quicken Loans denies the allegations in these cases and intends to vigorously defend itself. Quicken Loans has filed, or intends to file, a dispositive motion in each of these matters which, if granted, would result in a finding of no liability. The Company does not believe a loss is probable; therefore, no reserve has been recorded related to these matters. Given these lawsuits are at the early stages, the Company is unable to estimate a range of possible loss with any degree of reasonable certainty.

Amrock is currently involved in civil litigation related to a business dispute between Amrock and HouseCanary, Inc. ("HouseCanary"). The lawsuit was filed on April 12, 2016, by Amrock—Title Source, Inc. v. HouseCanary, Inc., No. 2016-CI-06300 (37th Civil District Court, San Antonio, Texas)—and included claims against HouseCanary for breach of contract and fraudulent inducement stemming from a contract between Amrock and HouseCanary whereby HouseCanary was obligated to provide Amrock with appraisal and valuation software and services. HouseCanary filed counterclaims against Amrock for, among other things, breach of contract, fraud, and misappropriation of trade secrets. On March 14, 2018, following trial of the claims in the lawsuit, a Bexar County, Texas, jury awarded $706.2 million in favor of HouseCanary and rejected Amrocks' claims against HouseCanary. The district court entered judgment in favor of HouseCanary and against Amrock for an aggregate of $739.6 million, consisting of $235.4 million in actual damages; $470.8 million in punitive damages; $28.9 million in prejudgment interest; and $4.5 million in attorney fees). On apeal (No. 04-19-00044-CV, Fourth Court of Appeals, San Antonio, Texas), the court of appeals affirmed judgment of no-cause on Amrock's claim for breach of contract, but reversed judgment on HouseCanary's claims for misappropriation of trade secrets and fraud and remanded the case for a new trial on HouseCanary's misappropriation of trade secrets and fraud claims. It is possible that one (or both) of the parties could seek additional appellate review of the court of appeals' decision. The outcome of this matter remains uncertain, and the ultimate resolution of the litigation may be several years in the future. If the case is tried again, Amrock intends to present new evidence, including evidence revealed by whistleblowers who came forward with evidence that undermined HouseCanary's claims after the conclusion of the original trial, and to vigorously defend against this case and any subsequent actions.

Quicken Loans and Rocket Homes are defending themselves against a tagalong lawsuit filed by HouseCanary that also includes claims for misappropriation of trade secrets. That case is in its early stages and is stayed pending a resolution of Quicken Loans' and Rocket Homes' dispositive motion.

In addition to the matters described above, the Company is subject to other legal proceedings arising the ordinary course of business. The ultimate outcome of these or other actions or proceedings, including any monetary awards against the companies, is uncertain and there can be no assurance as to the amount of any such potential awards.

There are no recorded reserves related to potential damages in connection with any of the above legal proceedings, as any potential loss is not currently probable and reasonably estimable under U.S. GAAP. The ultimate outcome of these or other actions or proceedings, including any monetary awards against one or more of the Rocket Companies, is uncertain and there can be no assurance as to the amount of any such potential awards. The Rocket Companies will incur defense costs and other expenses in connection with the lawsuits. Plus, if a judgment for money that exceeds specified thresholds is rendered against a Rocket Company or Rocket Companies and it or they fail to timely pay, discharge, bond or obtain a stay of execution of such judgment, it is possible that one or more of the Rocket Companies could be deemed in default of their loan funding facilities and other agreements governing indebtedness. If the final resolution of any such litigation is unfavorable in one or more of these actions, it could have a material adverse effect on a Rocket Company's or the Rocket Companies' business, liquidity, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

14. Minimum Net Worth Requirements

Certain secondary market investors and state regulators require the Company to maintain minimum net worth and capital requirements. To the extent that these requirements are not met, secondary market investors and/or the state regulators may utilize a range of remedies including sanctions, and/or suspension or termination of selling and servicing agreements, which may prohibit the Company from originating, securitizing or servicing these specific types of mortgage loans.

The Company is subject to the following minimum net worth, minimum capital ratio and minimum liquidity requirements established by the Federal Housing Finance Agency ("FHFA") for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac Seller/Servicers, and Ginnie Mae for single family issuers. Furthermore, refer to Note 6, Borrowings for additional information regarding compliance with all covenant requirements.

Minimum Net Worth

The minimum net worth requirement for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac is defined as follows:

- Base of $2,500 plus 25 basis points of outstanding UPB for total loans serviced.

Rocket Companies

14. Minimum Net Worth Requirements (Continued)

- Adjusted/Tangible Net Worth comprises of total equity less goodwill, intangible assets, affiliate receivables and certain pledged assets.

The minimum net worth requirement for Ginnie Mae is defined as follows:

- Base of $2,500 plus 35 basis points of the issuer's total single-family effective outstanding obligations.
- Adjusted/Tangible Net Worth is defined as total equity less goodwill, intangible assets, affiliate receivables and certain pledged assets.

Minimum Capital Ratio

- For Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and Ginnie Mae the Company is also required to hold a ratio of Adjusted/Tangible Net Worth to Total Assets greater than 6%.

Minimum Liquidity

The minimum liquidity requirement for Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac is defined as follows:

- 3.5 basis points of total Agency servicing.
- Incremental 200 basis points of total nonperforming Agency, measured as 90+ delinquencies, servicing in excess of 6% of the total Agency servicing UPB.
- Allowable assets for liquidity may include: cash and cash equivalents (unrestricted), available for sale or held for trading investment grade securities (e.g., Agency MBS, Obligations of GSEs, US Treasury Obligations); and unused/available portion of committed servicing advance lines.

The minimum liquidity requirement for Ginnie Mae is defined as follows:

- Maintain liquid assets equal to the greater of $1,000 or 10 basis points of our outstanding single-family MBS.

The most restrictive of the minimum net worth and capital requirements require the Company to maintain a minimum adjusted net worth balance of $1,179,928 and $746,396 as of December 31, 2019 and 2018, respectively. As of December 31, 2019 and 2018, the Company was in compliance with this requirement.

15. Stock-Based Compensation

RHI Denominated Restricted Stock Units ("RSUs")

During 2017 and 2019, RHI granted 1,076,433 and 125,000 RSUs, respectively, to Company team members. Each RSU, upon or after vesting, represents the right of the holder to receive one common share of RHI common stock. The RSUs were accounted for under ASC 718 as equity-classified share-based compensation awards at grant date fair value. The RSUs granted are only subject to service-based vesting with 20%–25% vesting immediately upon issuance and the remaining shares vesting annually over a four-year period. The related compensation expense is recognized on a straight-line basis with forfeitures recognized as they occur. Approximately 472,040, 555,060 and 731,477 unvested RSUs remained outstanding as of December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017 respectively. Share-based compensation expense of $39,029, $33,203 and $30,822 related to the RSUs was attributable to the Company for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017 respectively, which is included in salaries, commissions and team member benefits.

RHI Denominated Cash-Settled Award

RHI provided for a tax-offset cash bonus for RSUs granted to certain executives of the Company in 2017. This cash-settled award is accounted for under ASC 718 as a liability-classified award. The expense associated with the awards is $12,546, $13,665 and $11,491 for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively, which is included in salaries, commissions and team member benefits.

RHI Denominated Stock Options ("Options")

During 2016, RHI granted options to Company team members. Upon exercise, each option represented the right of the holder to purchase one common share of RHI common stock. The options were accounted for under ASC 718 as equity-classified awards. The fair value of each option award was estimated on the grant date using the Black-Scholes option-pricing model. The options were granted with exercise prices equal to fair value on the date of grant and were only subject to service-based vesting over a four-year period and had an expiration of ten years. The related compensation expense was recognized on a straight-line basis with forfeitures recognized as they occur. Approximately 3,861, 29,903 and 63,654 unvested options remained outstanding as of December 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively. Share-based compensation expense of $425, $433 and $2,076 for the options was attributable to the Company for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018, and 2017, respectively, which is included in salaries, commissions and team member benefits.

Additionally, one of the combined companies has a stand-alone stock compensation plan that resulted in $249 of share-based compensation expense for the year ended December 31, 2019.

Total share-based compensation, including the cash-settled awards attributable to the Company was $52,250, $47,301 and $44,388 for the years ended December 31, 2019, 2018 and 2017, respectively. Remaining compensation expense attributable to the Company for these awards is $110,586 as of December 31, 2019, to be recognized through 2023.

On February 14, 2020, RHI modified the vesting condition for certain RSUs granted in 2017 to accelerate the remaining eight months of the fourth tranche previously due to vest on October 31, 2020. This modification will result in accelerated expense of $29,433 for 180,020 RSUs in the first quarter of 2020. On May 15, 2020, RHI modified the vesting condition for certain RSUs granted in 2017 and 2019. For the 2017 grants it accelerated the tranche previously due to vest on October 31, 2021 and for the 2019 grants it accelerated the tranche previously due to vest on October 31, 2020. This modification will result in accelerated expense of $38,371 for 198,020 RSUs in the second quarter of 2020.

16. Segments

The Company's Chief Executive Officer, who has been identified as its Chief Operating Decision Maker ("CODM"), has evaluated how the Company views and measures its performance. ASC 280 Segment Reporting establishes the standards for reporting information about segments in financial statements. In applying the criteria set forth in that guidance, the Company has determined that it has two reportable segments—Direct to Consumer and Partner Network. The key factors used to identify these reportable segments are the organization and alignment of the Company's internal operations and the nature of its marketing channels which drive client acquisition into the mortgage ecosystem. This determination reflects how its CODM monitors performance, allocates capital and makes strategic and operational decisions. The Company's segments are described as follows:

Direct to Consumer

In the Direct to Consumer segment, the Company directly interacts with clients and potential clients using various performance marketing channels. The Direct to Consumer segment derives revenue from originating, closing, selling and servicing predominantly agency-conforming loans, which are pooled and sold to the secondary market. This also includes providing title insurance services, appraisals and settlement services to these clients as part of the Company's end-to-end mortgage origination experience it provides to its clients. Servicing activities are viewed as an extension of the client experience with the primary objective being to establish and maintain positive, regular touchpoints with our clients, which positions the Company to recapture the clients' next refinance or purchase mortgage transaction. Consequently, servicing is viewed by the CODM as an integral element of the Direct to Consumer segment.

Revenues in the Direct to Consumer segment are generated primarily from the gain on sale of loans, which includes loan origination fees, revenues from sales of loans into the secondary market, as well as the fair value of originated MSRs and hedging gains and losses. Loan servicing income consists of the contractual fees earned for servicing loans and other ancillary servicing fees, as well as changes in the fair value of MSRs due to changes in valuation assumptions and realization of cash flows.

Partner Network

In the Partner Network segment, the Company is focused on aligning its brand with other high-quality consumer-focused influencers and marketing partnerships who utilize its platform to provide their clients mortgage solutions with a superior client experience.

Revenues in the Partner Network segment are generated primarily from the gain on sale of loans, which includes loan origination fees, revenues from sales of loans into the secondary market, as well as the fair value of originated MSRs and hedging gains and losses. Additionally, there are no performance marketing costs associated with this segment.

Other Information About Our Segments

The Company measures the performance of the segments primarily on a contribution margin basis. The accounting policies applied by our segments are the same as those described in Note 1, Business, Basis of Presentation, and Accounting Policies and the decrease in MSRs due to valuation assumptions is consistent with the changes described in Note 3, Mortgage Servicing Rights. Directly attributable expenses include salaries, commissions and team member benefits, general and administrative expenses and other expenses, such as servicing costs and origination costs.

The Company does not allocate assets to its reportable segments as they are not included in the review performed by the CODM for purposes of assessing segment performance and allocating resources. The balance sheet is managed on a consolidated basis and is not used in the context of segment reporting.

The Company also reports an "all other" category that includes operations from Rocket Homes, Rock Connections, Core Digital Media, Rocket Loans, and includes professional service fee revenues from related parties. These operations are neither significant individually nor in aggregate and therefore do not constitute a reportable segment.

Item 14. Indemnification of Directors and Officers.

Section 145(b) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides, in general, that a corporation shall have the power to indemnify any person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any threatened, pending or completed action or suit by or in the right of the corporation to procure a judgment in its favor because the person is or was a director or officer of the corporation, against any expenses (including attorneys' fees) actually and reasonably incurred by the person in connection with the defense or settlement of such action or suit if the person acted in good faith and in a manner the person reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the best interests of the corporation, except that no indemnification shall be made in respect of any claim, issue or matter as to which such person shall have been adjudged to be liable to the corporation unless and only to the extent that the Court of Chancery or the court in which such action or suit was brought shall determine upon application that, despite the adjudication of liability but in view of all the circumstances of the case, such person is fairly and reasonably entitled to be indemnified for such expenses which the Court of Chancery or such other court shall deem proper.

Section 145(g) of the Delaware General Corporation Law provides, in general, that a corporation shall have the power to purchase and maintain insurance on behalf of any person who is or was a director or officer of the corporation against any liability asserted against the person in any such capacity, or arising out of the person's status as such, whether or not the corporation would have the power to indemnify the person against such liability under the provisions of the law. Our certificate of incorporation will provide that, to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, a director will not be liable to us or our stockholders for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a director. In addition, our certificate of incorporation will also provide that we will indemnify each director and officer and may indemnify employees and agents, as determined by our board, to the fullest extent provided by the laws of the State of Delaware.

The foregoing statements are subject to the detailed provisions of section 145 of the Delaware General Corporation Law and our amended and restated certificate of incorporation and by-laws.

Section 102 of the Delaware General Corporation Law permits the limitation of directors' personal liability to the corporation or its stockholders for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duties as a director except for (i) any breach of the director's duty of loyalty to the corporation or its stockholders, (ii) acts or omissions not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of the law, (iii) breaches under section 174 of the Delaware General Corporation Law, which relates to unlawful payments of dividends or unlawful stock repurchase or redemptions, and (iv) any transaction from which the director derived an improper personal benefit.

Reference is made to Item 17 for our undertakings with respect to indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act.

We currently maintain insurance policies which, within the limits and subject to the terms and conditions thereof, covers certain expenses and liabilities that may be incurred by directors and officers in connection with proceedings that may be brought against them as a result of an act or omission committed or suffered while acting as a director or officer of the Company.

The underwriting agreement for this offering will provide that each underwriter severally agrees to indemnify and hold harmless the Company, each of our directors, each of our officers who signs the registration statement, and each person who controls the Company within the meaning of the Securities Act but only with respect to written information relating to such underwriter furnished to the Company by or on behalf of such underwriter specifically for inclusion in the documents referred to in the foregoing indemnity.

We expect to enter into an indemnification agreement with each of our executive officers and directors that provides, in general, that we will indemnify them to the fullest extent permitted by law in connection with their service to us or on our behalf.

Item 15. Recent Sales of Unregistered Securities

Set forth below is information regarding securities sold or granted by us within the past three years that were not registered under the Securities Act. Also included is the consideration, if any, received by us for such securities and information relating to the section of the Securities Act, or rule of the SEC, under which exemption from registration was claimed for such sales and grants.

In March 2020, in connection with its formation, the Issuer sold 1000 shares of common stock to Rock Holdings Inc. for an aggregate consideration of $10. The shares of common stock described above were issued in reliance on the exemption contained in Section 4(a)(2) of the Securities Act on the basis that the transaction did not involve a public offering. No underwriters were involved in the transaction.

In connection with the reorganization transactions, based on an assumed initial public offering price of $ per share (the midpoint of the estimated public offering price range set forth on the cover page of this prospectus), the registrant will issue an aggregate of shares of its Class D common stock to RHI and an aggregate of shares of its class D common stock to Dan Gilbert. The shares of Class D common stock described above will be issued in reliance on the exemption contained in Section 4(a)(2) of the Securities Act on the basis that the transaction will not involve a public offering. No underwriters will be involved in the transaction.

Item 17. Undertakings

Insofar as indemnification for liabilities arising under the Securities Act may be permitted to directors, officers and controlling persons of the registrant pursuant to the foregoing provisions, or otherwise, the registrant has been advised that in the opinion of the Securities and Exchange Commission such indemnification is against public policy as expressed in the Securities Act and is, therefore, unenforceable. In the event that a claim for indemnification against such liabilities (other than the payment by the registrant of expenses incurred or paid by a director, officer or controlling person of the registrant in the successful defense of any action, suit or proceeding) is asserted by such director, officer or controlling person in connection with the securities being registered, the registrant will, unless in the opinion of its counsel the matter has been settled by controlling precedent, submit to a court of appropriate jurisdiction the question whether such indemnification by it is against public policy as expressed in the Securities Act and will be governed by the final adjudication of such issue.

The undersigned registrant hereby undertakes that:

(1) For purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act, the information omitted from the form of prospectus filed as part of this registration statement in reliance upon Rule 430A and contained in a form of prospectus filed by the registrant pursuant to Rule 424(b)(1) or (4) or 497(h) under the Securities Act shall be deemed to be part of this registration statement as of the time it was declared effective.

(2) For purposes of determining any liability under the Securities Act, each post-effective amendment that contains a form of prospectus shall be deemed to be a new registration statement relating to the securities offered therein, and the offering of such securities at that time shall be deemed to be the initial bona fide offering thereof.

SIGNATURES

Pursuant to the requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, the registrant has duly caused this Registration Statement to be signed on its behalf by the undersigned, thereunto duly authorized, in Detroit, Michigan, on the 7th day of July, 2020.

REORGANIZATION AGREEMENT

REORGANIZATION AGREEMENT (this "Agreement"), dated as of [●], 2020, by and among Rocket Companies, Inc., a Delaware corporation ("RocketCo"), RKT Holdings, LLC, a Michigan limited liability company ("Holdco"), Rock Holdings Inc., a Michigan corporation ("RHI") and Daniel Gilbert ("Gilbert").

RECITALS

WHEREAS, RocketCo was incorporated in Delaware on February 26, 2020, as a wholly owned subsidiary of RHI;

WHEREAS, the Board of Directors of RocketCo (the "Board") has determined to effect an underwritten initial public offering (the "IPO") of RocketCo's Class A Common Stock (as defined below);

WHEREAS, HoldCo was formed in Michigan on March 6, 2020, as a wholly owned subsidiary of RHI;

WHEREAS, Quicken Loans Inc. converted to a Michigan limited liability company on April 15, 2020;

WHEREAS, the parties hereto desire to effect the Reorganization Transactions (as defined below) in contemplation of the IPO; and

WHEREAS, in connection with the consummation of the Reorganization Transactions and the IPO, the applicable parties hereto intend to enter into the Reorganization Documents (as defined below).

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing recitals and of the mutual promises hereinafter set forth, the parties hereto hereby agree as follows:

ARTICLE I

DEFINITIONS

1.1 Certain Defined Terms. As used herein, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

"Business Day" means a day, other than Saturday, Sunday or other day on which commercial banks in New York, New York or Detroit, Michigan are authorized or required by applicable law to close.

"Class A Common Stock" shall mean Class A Common Stock, par value $0.00001 per share, of RocketCo, having the rights set forth in the Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

"Class B Common Stock" shall mean Class B Common Stock, par value $0.00001 per share, of RocketCo, having the rights set forth in the Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

"Class C Common Stock" shall mean Class C Common Stock, par value $0.00001 per share, of RocketCo, having the rights set forth in the Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

"Class D Common Stock" shall mean Class D Common Stock, par value $0.00001 per share, of RocketCo, having the rights set forth in the Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation.

"Class D Number" means the number set forth as the number of shares of Class D Common Stock expected to be outstanding immediately after the IPO as set forth in the preliminary prospectus included as part of the registration statement on Form S-1 filed by RocketCo under the Exchange Act with the SEC to register the Class A Common Stock as on file with the SEC immediately prior to such registration statement being declared effective by the SEC.

"Common Stock" means, collectively, the Class A Common Stock, Class B Common Stock, Class C Common Stock and Class D Common Stock.

"Exchange Act" means the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

"Existing Holdco Operating Agreement" means the Operating Agreement of Holdco, dated as of March 6, 2020, by and between Holdco and RHI.

"Form 8-A Effective Time" means the date and time on which the Registration Statement becomes effective, which will occur after the Pricing, on such date and at such time as determined by RocketCo.

"Gilbert Common Unit Amount" means the amount equal to the product of (i) the quotient of (x) $20 million (twenty million) divided by (y) the Pre-IPO Value and (ii) the Class D Number (rounded to the nearest whole number).

"Holdco Common Units" means Common Units, as such term is defined in the Second A&R Holdco Operating Agreement.

"IPO Closing" means the initial closing of the sale of the Class A Common Stock in the IPO.

"IPO Price Per Share" means the per share public offering price for the Class A Common Stock.

"Person" means any individual, firm, corporation, partnership, limited liability company, trust, estate, joint venture, governmental authority or other entity.

"Post-Reorg Holdco Members" means RHI and Gilbert.

"Pre-IPO Value" means the total equity value of all membership interests of Holdco immediately prior to the Form 8-A Effective Time that is implied by the IPO Price Per Share.

"Pricing" means such date and time as the Board or the pricing committee thereof determines to price the IPO.

"Registration Statement" means the registration statement on Form 8-A filed by RocketCo under the Exchange Act with the SEC to register the Class A Common Stock.

"Reorganization Documents" means each of the documents attached as an exhibit hereto and all other agreements and documents entered into in connection with the Reorganization Transactions.

"RHI Common Unit Amount" means the amount equal to (i) the Class D Number minus (ii) the Gilbert Common Unit Amount.

"SEC" means the Securities and Exchange Commission.

"Securities Act" means the Securities Act of 1933, as amended.

1.3 Other Definitional and Interpretative Provisions. The words "hereof", "herein" and "hereunder" and words of like import used in this Agreement shall refer to this Agreement as a whole and not to any particular provision of this Agreement. The captions herein are included for convenience of reference only and shall be ignored in the construction or interpretation hereof. References to Articles, Sections, Exhibits and Schedules are to Articles, Sections, Exhibits and Schedules of this Agreement unless otherwise specified. All Exhibits and Schedules annexed hereto or referred to herein are hereby incorporated in and made a part of this Agreement as if set forth in full herein. Any capitalized terms used in any Exhibit or Schedule but not otherwise defined therein, shall have the meaning as defined in this Agreement. Any singular term in this Agreement shall be deemed to include the plural, and any plural term the singular. Whenever the words "include", "includes" or "including" are used in this Agreement, they shall be deemed to be followed by the words "without limitation", whether or not they are in fact followed by those words or words of like import. The word "or" shall be disjunctive but not exclusive. "Writing", "written" and comparable terms refer to printing, typing and other means of reproducing words (including electronic media) in a visible form. References to any statute shall be deemed to refer to such statute as amended from time to time and to any rules or regulations promulgated thereunder. References to any agreement or contract are to that agreement or contract as amended, modified or supplemented from time to time in accordance with the terms hereof and thereof. References to any Person include the successors and permitted assigns of that Person. References from or through any date mean, unless otherwise specified, from and including or through and including, respectively.

ARTICLE II

THE REORGANIZATION

2.1 Transactions. Subject to the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth, and on the basis of and in reliance upon the representations, warranties, covenants and agreements set forth herein, the parties hereto shall take the actions described in this Section 2.1 (each, a "Reorganization Transaction" and, collectively, the "Reorganization Transactions"):

(a) On or shortly following the date hereof, the applicable parties shall take the actions set forth below (or cause such actions to take place):

(i) RHI shall contribute, assign, transfer and convey to Rocket Worldwide Holdings LLC, a newly formed wholly owned subsidiary of RHI ("RWH LLC"), the issued and outstanding equity interests in the following entities: (I) Rock Tech Canada Inc., (II) EFB Holdings Inc. and (III) Lendesk Canada Holdings, Inc.

(ii) RHI shall cause Amrock Holdings Inc. ("AHI") to distribute to RHI the issued and outstanding equity interests in (I) Amrock LLC and (II) Nexsys Technologies LLC.

(iii) RHI shall contribute, assign, transfer and convey to Holdco the issued and outstanding equity interests in the following entities: (I) Quicken Loans LLC, (II) Rock Central LLC, (III) RCRA Holdings LLC, (IV) RockLoans Holdings LLC, (V) Woodward Capital Management LLC, (VI) Nexsys Technologies LLC and (VII) Amrock LLC.

(iv) Holdco shall contribute, assign, transfer and convey to Amrock Holdco, LLC ("Amrock Holdco") the issued and outstanding equity interests in (I) Amrock LLC and (II) Nexsys Technologies LLC.

(v) (x) Holdco shall amend and restate its limited liability company operating agreement in the form attached hereto as Exhibit A (the "A&R Holdco Operating Agreement") to, among other things, admit Gilbert as a member, with a [•]% membership interest and (y) Gilbert shall make a capital contribution to Holdco in an amount equal to $20 million.

(b) Prior to the Pricing, RHI shall contribute, assign, transfer and convey to Holdco the issued and outstanding equity interests in the following entities: (I) RWH LLC, (II) LMB HoldCo LLC and (III) Rocket Homes Real Estate LLC.

(c) On or prior to the Pricing, the applicable parties shall take the actions set forth below (or cause such actions to take place):

(i) RocketCo shall adopt and file with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware an amended and restated certificate of incorporation of RocketCo in the form attached hereto as Exhibit B (the "Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation").

(ii) The Board shall adopt amended and restated by-laws of RocketCo in the form attached hereto as Exhibit C.

(d) Immediately following Pricing and prior to the Form 8-A Effective Time, the applicable parties shall take the actions set forth below (or cause such actions to take place):

(i) Holdco shall and RHI shall cause AHI to enter into a Purchase Agreement in the form attached hereto as Exhibit D (the "ATI Purchase Agreement"), whereby AHI shall agree to sell, assign, transfer and convey to Amrock Holdco the issued and outstanding equity interests in Amrock Title Insurance Company, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the ATI Purchase Agreement.

(ii) Holdco shall: (x) reclassify all membership interests outstanding as of immediately prior to the Form 8-A Effective Time into the number of Holdco Common Units, in the aggregate, equal to the Class D Number and (y) amend and restate its limited liability company operating agreement in the form attached hereto as Exhibit E (the "Second A&R Holdco Operating Agreement") so that, among other things, (A) RocketCo shall be admitted as a member and shall become the sole managing member of Holdco and (B) after giving effect to the reclassification described in clause (x) above, RHI shall own the number of Holdco Common Units equal to the RHI Common Unit Amount and Gilbert shall own the number of Holdco Common Units equal to the Gilbert Common Unit Amount and the Member Schedule (as such term is defined in the Second A&R Holdco Operating Agreement) (the "Holdco Member Schedule") shall reflect such amounts.

(iii) In connection with the receipt of Holdco Common Units in the reclassification described in clause (ii)(x) above, RHI shall enter into a Subscription Agreement in the form attached hereto as Exhibit F, whereby RHI shall subscribe for, and RocketCo shall issue to RHI upon payment therefor, the number of shares of Class D Common Stock (the "Class D Shares") equal to the number of Holdco Common Units set forth opposite RHI's name on the Holdco Member Schedule.

(iv) In connection with the receipt of Holdco Common Units in the reclassification described in clause (ii)(x) above, Gilbert shall enter into a Subscription Agreement in the form attached hereto as Exhibit G, whereby Gilbert shall subscribe for, and RocketCo shall issue to Gilbert upon payment therefor, the number of Class D Shares equal to the number of Holdco Common Units set forth opposite Gilbert's name on the Holdco Member Schedule.

(v) In connection with the receipt of Holdco Common Units in the reclassification described in clause (ii)(x) above, each of the Post-Reorg Holdco Members shall enter into an Exchange Agreement with Holdco and RocketCo, in the form attached hereto as Exhibit H (the "Exchange Agreement"), whereby each such Post-Reorg Holdco Member shall be permitted to exchange with RocketCo its Holdco Common Units and shares of Class C Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, as the case may be, for shares of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock, as applicable.

(vi) In connection with the receipt of Holdco Common Units in the reclassification described in clause (ii)(x) above, RocketCo and the Post-Reorg Holdco Members shall enter into a Tax Receivable Agreement, in the form attached hereto as Exhibit I.

(vii) RocketCo and the Post-Reorg Holdco Members shall enter into a Registration Rights Agreement, in the form attached hereto as Exhibit J.

(viii) RocketCo and RHI shall enter into a Purchase Agreement, in the form attached hereto as Exhibit K (the "RHI/RocketCo Purchase Agreement"), whereby RHI shall sell to RocketCo, and RocketCo shall purchase from RHI, the number of Holdco Common Units and shares of Class D Common Stock, as the case may be, set forth therein.

(e) Immediately following the IPO Closing, pursuant to the RHI/RocketCo Purchase Agreement, RHI shall sell to RocketCo, and RocketCo shall purchase from RHI, the number of Holdco Common Units and shares of Class D Common Stock, set forth therein.

(f) If at any time following the IPO Closing the underwriters exercise their option to purchase additional shares of Class A Common Stock from RocketCo, pursuant to the RHI/RocketCo Purchase Agreement, RHI shall sell to RocketCo, and RocketCo shall purchase from RHI, the number of Holdco Common Units and shares of Class D Common Stock, as determined in accordance with such agreement.

(g) Following the closing, pursuant to the ATI Purchase Agreement, AHI shall sell, assign, transfer and convey to Amrock Holdco, and Amrock Holdco shall purchase from AHI, the issued and outstanding equity interests in Amrock Title Insurance Company, subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the ATI Purchase Agreement.

2.2 Consent to Reorganization Transactions.

(a) Each of the parties hereto hereby acknowledges, agrees and consents to all of the Reorganization Transactions. Each of the parties hereto shall take all reasonable action necessary or appropriate in order to effect, or cause to be effected, to the extent within its control, each of the Reorganization Transactions and the IPO.

(b) The parties hereto shall deliver to each other, as applicable, prior to or at the Form 8-A Effective Time, each of the Reorganization Documents to which it is a party, together with any other documents and instruments necessary or appropriate to be delivered in connection with the Reorganization Transactions.

2.3 No Liabilities in Event of Termination; Certain Covenants(a) .

(a) In the event that the IPO is abandoned or, unless the Board, Holdco, RHI or Gilbert otherwise agree, the IPO Closing has not occurred by [•], 2020, (a) this Agreement shall automatically terminate and be of no further force or effect except for this Section 2.3 and Sections 4.1, 4.2, 4.3, 4.6, 4.7, , 4.8, 4.9, 4.10 and 4.12 and (b) there shall be no liability on the part of any of the parties hereto, except that such termination shall not preclude any party from pursuing judicial remedies for damages or other relief as a result of the breach by the other parties of any representation, warranty, covenant or agreement contained herein prior to such termination.

(b) In the event that this Agreement is terminated for any reason after the consummation of any Reorganization Transaction, but prior to the consummation of all of the Reorganization Transactions, the parties agree, as applicable, to cooperate and work in good faith to execute and deliver such agreements and consents and amend such documents and to effect such transactions or actions as may be necessary to re-establish the rights, preferences and privileges that the parties hereto had prior to the consummation of the Reorganization Transactions, or any part thereof, including, without limitation, voting any and all securities owned by such party in favor of any amendment to any organizational document and in favor of any transaction or action necessary to re-establish such rights, powers and privileges and causing to be filed all necessary documents with any governmental authority necessary to reestablish such rights, preferences and privileges.

(c) For the avoidance of doubt, each party hereto acknowledges and agrees that until the consummation of the Reorganization Transactions: (i) the parties hereto shall not receive or lose any voting, governance or similar rights in connection with this Agreement or the Reorganization Transactions and (ii) the rights of the parties hereto under the Existing Holdco Operating Agreement shall not be effected.

ARTICLE III

REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES

3.1 Representations and Warranties. Each party hereto hereby represents and warrants to all of the other parties hereto as follows:

(a) The execution, delivery and performance by such party of this Agreement and of the applicable Reorganization Documents, to the extent a party thereto, has been or prior to the Form 8-A Effective Time will be duly authorized by all necessary action. If such party is not an individual, such party is duly organized, validly existing and in good standing under the laws of its jurisdiction of organization or incorporation;

(b) Such party has, or prior to the Form 8-A Effective Time will have, the requisite power, authority, legal right and, if such party is an individual, legal capacity, to execute and deliver this Agreement and each of the Reorganization Documents, to the extent a party thereto, and to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby and thereby, as the case may be;

(c) This Agreement and each of the Reorganization Documents to which it is a party has been (or when executed will be) duly executed and delivered by such party and constitutes the legal, valid and binding obligation of such party, enforceable against such party in accordance with its terms, subject to (i) the effects of bankruptcy, insolvency, fraudulent conveyance, reorganization, moratorium and other similar laws relating to or affecting creditors' rights generally, (ii) general equitable principles (whether considered in a proceeding in equity or at law) and (iii) an implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing; and

(d) Neither the execution, delivery and performance by such party of this Agreement and the applicable Reorganization Documents, to the extent a party thereto, nor the consummation by such party of the transactions contemplated hereby or thereby, nor compliance by such party with the terms and provisions hereof or thereof, will, directly or indirectly (with or without notice or lapse of time or both), (i) if such party is not an individual, contravene or conflict with, or result in a breach or termination of, or constitute a default under (or with notice or lapse of time or both, result in the breach or termination of or constitute a default under) the organizational documents of such party, (ii) constitute a violation by such party of any existing requirement of law applicable to such party or any of its properties, rights or assets or (iii) require the consent or approval of any Person, except, in the case of clauses (ii) and (iii), as would not reasonably be expected to result in, individually or in the aggregate, a material adverse effect on the ability of such party to consummate the transactions contemplated by this Agreement or the applicable Reorganization Documents.

ARTICLE IV

MISCELLANEOUS

4.1 Amendments and Waivers. This Agreement (including the Exhibits) may be modified, amended or waived only with the written approval of RocketCo, Holdco, RHI and Gilbert. The failure of any party to enforce any of the provisions of this Agreement shall in no way be construed as a waiver of such provisions and shall not affect the right of such party thereafter to enforce each and every provision of this Agreement in accordance with its terms. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Section 4.1, nothing in this Section 4.1 shall be deemed to contradict the provisions of Section 2.3 hereof.

4.2 Successors and Assigns. This Agreement shall bind and inure to the benefit of and be enforceable by the parties hereto and their respective successors and permitted assigns.

4.3 Notices. All notices, requests and other communications to any party hereunder shall be in writing (including facsimile transmission and electronic mail ("e-mail") transmission, so long as a receipt of such e-mail is requested and not received by automated response). All such notices, requests and other communications shall be deemed received on the date of receipt by the recipient thereof if received prior to 5:00 p.m. on a Business Day in the place of receipt. Otherwise, any such notice, request or communication shall be deemed to have been received on the next succeeding Business Day in the place of receipt. 4.4 Further Assurances. At any time or from time to time after the date hereof, the parties agree to cooperate with each other, and at the request of any other party, to execute and deliver any further instruments or documents and to take all such further action as the other party may reasonably request in order to evidence or effectuate the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby and to otherwise carry out the intent of the parties hereunder.

4.5 Entire Agreement. Except as otherwise expressly set forth herein, this Agreement, together with the Reorganization Documents, embodies the complete agreement and understanding among the parties hereto with respect to the subject matter hereof and supersedes and preempts any prior understandings, agreements or representations by or among the parties, written or oral, that may have related to the subject matter hereof in any way.

4.6 Governing Law. This Agreement shall be governed in all respects by the laws of the State of New York, without regard to the conflicts of law rules of such State that would result in the application of the laws of any other State.

4.7 Jurisdiction. The parties hereto agree that any suit, action or proceeding seeking to enforce any provision of, or based on any matter arising out of or in connection with, this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby (whether brought by any party or any of its affiliates or against any party or any of its affiliates) shall be brought in the Third Judicial Circuit, Wayne County, Michigan or, if such court shall not have jurisdiction, the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, and each of the parties hereby irrevocably consents to the jurisdiction of such courts (and of the appropriate appellate courts therefrom) in any such suit, action or proceeding and irrevocably waives, to the fullest extent permitted by law, any objection that it may now or hereafter have to the laying of the venue of any such suit, action or proceeding in any such court or that any such suit, action or proceeding brought in any such court has been brought in an inconvenient forum. Process in any such suit, action or proceeding may be served on any party anywhere in the world, whether within or without the jurisdiction of any such court. Without limiting the foregoing, each party agrees that service of process on such party as provided in Section 4.3 shall be deemed effective service of process on such party.

4.8 Severability. Whenever possible, each provision of this Agreement shall be interpreted in such manner as to be effective and valid under applicable law, but if any provision of this Agreement is held to be invalid, illegal or unenforceable in any respect under any applicable law or rule in any jurisdiction, such invalidity, illegality or unenforceability shall not affect any other provision or any other jurisdiction, but this Agreement shall be reformed, construed and enforced in such jurisdiction as if such invalid, illegal or unenforceable provision had never been contained herein.

4.9 Enforcement. Each party hereto acknowledges that money damages would not be an adequate remedy in the event that any of the covenants or agreements in this Agreement are not performed in accordance with its terms, and it is therefore agreed that in addition to and without limiting any other remedy or right it may have, the non-breaching party will have the right, without posting a bond, to an injunction, temporary restraining order or other equitable relief in any court of competent jurisdiction enjoining any such breach and enforcing specifically the terms and provisions hereof.

4.10 Counterparts; Facsimile Signatures. This Agreement may be executed in any number of counterparts, each of which shall be an original, but all of which together shall constitute one instrument. This Agreement may be executed by facsimile, e-mail or .pdf format signature(s).

4.11 Expenses. Unless otherwise provided in the Reorganization Documents, all costs and expenses incurred in connection with the negotiation and execution of this Agreement and the transactions contemplated by this Agreement shall be paid by the party incurring such cost or expense.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have executed this Reorganization Agreement as of the date first above written.

Exhibit 3.1

CERTIFICATE OF INCORPORATION

ROCKET COMPANIES, INC.

* * * *

Rocket Companies, Inc., a corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware, hereby certifies as follows:

The date of filing of its original certificate of incorporation with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware was February 26, 2020 (the "Original Certificate of Incorporation").

This Amended and Restated Certificate of Incorporation of the Corporation (the "Certificate of Incorporation") has been duly adopted by the Board of Directors and stockholders of the Corporation in accordance with Sections 242 and 245 of the Delaware General Corporation Law (as amended from time to time, the "DGCL").

The Original Certificate of Incorporation is hereby amended, integrated and restated in its entirety to read as follows:

ARTICLE I.

Name

The name of the corporation is Rocket Companies, Inc. (the "Corporation").

ARTICLE II.

Address; Registered Office and Agent; Headquarters

A. The address of the Corporation's registered office in the State of Delaware is 251 Little Falls Drive, City of Wilmington, County of New Castle, State of Delaware 19808; and the name of its registered agent at such address is Corporation Service Company.

B. The principal executive offices of the Corporation are located at 1050 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226. The principal executive offices of the Corporation may not be moved outside of Detroit, Michigan without the affirmative vote of the holders of at least 75% of the voting power of the then outstanding shares of capital stock of the Corporation entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single class.

ARTICLE III.

Purposes

The purpose of the Corporation is to engage in any lawful act or activity for which a corporation may be organized under the DGCL. The Corporation is to have perpetual existence.

ARTICLE IV.

Capital Stock

A. Definitions. For purposes of this Certificate of Incorporation, reference to:

(1) "Class C Paired Interest" means one Holding Unit together with one share of Class C Common Stock, subject to adjustment pursuant to Section 2.03(a) of the Exchange Agreement;

(2) "Class D Paired Interest" means one Holding Unit together with one share of Class D Common Stock, subject to adjustment pursuant to Section 2.03(b) of the Exchange Agreement;

(3) "Exchange Agreement" means the Exchange Agreement, dated as of [•], 2020, by and among RHI, the Corporation and the holders of Holding Units and shares of Class C Common Stock and Class D Common Stock, as the same may be amended, restated, supplemented or otherwise modified, from time to time;

(4) "Family Member" means, with respect to any natural person, the spouse, parents, grandparents, lineal descendants, siblings of such person or such person's spouse, and lineal descendants of siblings of such person or such person's spouse. Lineal descendants shall include adopted persons, but only so long as they are adopted during minority;

(5) "Holding Unit" means a non-voting common interest unit of RKT Holdings, LLC;

(6) "Paired Interest" means one Class C Paired Interest or one Class D Paired Interest;

(7) "Permitted Transfer" means, with respect Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, any Transfer (i) to any Permitted Transferee or (ii) following which such Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock continues to be held by RHI or a Permitted Transferee and the Rock Equityholders or the direct or indirect equityholders of such Permitted Transferee immediately prior to such Transfer continue to hold a majority of the beneficial interests of RHI or such Permitted Transferee, as applicable, following such Transfer;

(8) "Permitted Transferees" means, with respect to any holder of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, (i) RHI or any Rock Equityholder, (ii) any Family Member of such holder or any Family Member of any Rock Equityholder, (iii) any trust, family-partnership or estate-planning vehicle so long as such holder, any Family Member of such holder, any Rock Equityholder or any Family Member of a Rock Equityholder are the sole economic beneficiaries thereof, (iv) any partnership, corporation or other entity controlled by, or a majority of which is beneficially owned by, such holder or any of the persons listed in the foregoing clauses (i)-(iii), (v) any charitable trust or organization that is exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, and controlled by such holder or any of the persons listed in the foregoing clauses (i)-(iv), (vi) an individual mandated under a qualified domestic relations order or (vii) a legal or personal representative of such holder, any Family Member of such holder, any Rock Equityholder or any Family Member of a Rock Equityholder in the event of the death or disability thereof;

(9) "RHI" means Rock Holdings Inc.;

(10) "RHI Entities" means RHI and any entities disregarded as separate from RHI for U.S. federal income tax purposes;

(11) "RHI Securities" means issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock or Preferred Stock beneficially owned by the RHI Entities;

(12) "Rock Equityholders" means the direct or indirect equityholders of RHI;

(13) "Transfer" of a share of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock means, directly or indirectly, any sale, assignment, transfer, exchange, gift, bequest, pledge, hypothecation or other disposition or encumbrance of such share or any legal or beneficial interest in such share, in whole or in part, whether or not for value and whether voluntary or involuntary or by operation of law; provided, however, that the following shall not be considered a "Transfer": (i) the granting of a revocable proxy to officers or directors of the Corporation at the request of the Board in connection with actions to be taken at annual or special meetings of stockholders or in connection with any action by written consent of the stockholders solicited by the Board (at such times as action by written consent of stockholders is permitted under this Certificate of Incorporation); (ii) entering into a voting trust, agreement or arrangement (with or without granting a proxy) solely with the Corporation or its stockholders that (x) is disclosed either in a Schedule 13D filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission or in writing to the Secretary of the Corporation and (y) does not involve any payment of cash, securities, property or other consideration to the holder of the shares subject thereto other than the mutual promise to vote shares in a designated manner; (iii) entering into a customary voting or support agreement (with or without granting a proxy) in connection with any merger, consolidation or other business combination of the Corporation that is approved by the Board, whether effectuated through one transaction or series of related transactions (including a tender offer followed by a merger in which holders of Class A Common Stock receive the same consideration per share paid in the tender offer); (iv) the pledge of shares of capital stock of the Corporation by a stockholder that creates a mere security interest in such shares pursuant to a bona fide loan or indebtedness transaction so long as such stockholder continues to exercise sole voting control over such pledged shares unless any pledged shares are transferred to or registered in the name of the pledgee; provided, however, that a foreclosure on such shares or other similar action by the pledgee shall constitute a "Transfer"; or (v) the fact that the spouse of any holder of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock possesses or obtains an interest in such holder's shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock arising solely by reason of the application of the community property laws of any jurisdiction, so long as no other event or circumstance shall exist or have occurred that constitutes a "Transfer" of such shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock; and

(14) "Triggering Event" means the first date on which RHI and the Permitted Transferees cease collectively to beneficially own (as such term is defined in Rule 13d-3 and Rule 13d-5 under the Exchange Act) shares of Common Stock representing at least ten percent of the issued and outstanding shares of Common Stock.

B. The total number of shares of all classes of stock that the Corporation shall have authority to issue is [•] shares, consisting of: (i) [•] shares of common stock, divided into (a) [•] shares of Class A common stock, with the par value of $0.00001 per share (the "Class A Common Stock"), (b) [•] shares of Class B common stock, with the par value of $0.00001 per share (the "Class B Common Stock" and, together with Class A Common Stock, the "Economic Common Stock"), (c) [•] shares of Class C common stock, with the par value of $0.00001 per share (the "Class C Common Stock"), and (d) [•] shares of Class D common stock, with the par value of $0.00001 per share (the "Class D Common Stock" and, together with the Class C Common Stock, the "Non-Economic Common Stock" and collectively with the Class A Common Stock, the Class B Common Stock and the Class C Common Stock, the "Common Stock"); and (ii) [•] shares of preferred stock, with the par value of $0.00001 per share (the "Preferred Stock").

C. Subject to the rights of the holders of any one or more series of Preferred Stock then outstanding, the number of authorized shares of any class or series of the Common Stock or the Preferred Stock may be increased or decreased, in each case by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the total voting power of the outstanding shares of capital stock of the Corporation entitled to vote thereon, voting together as a single class, irrespective of the provisions of Section 242(b)(2) of the General Corporation Law, and no vote of the holders of any class or series of the Common Stock or the Preferred Stock voting separately as a class will be required therefor. Notwithstanding the immediately preceding sentence, the number of authorized shares of any particular class or series may not be decreased below the number of shares of such class or series then outstanding, plus:

(1) in the case of Class A Common Stock, the number of shares of Class A Common Stock issuable in connection with (i) the conversion of all shares of Class B Common Stock issuable as described in subclause (2) below, (ii) the exchange of all outstanding shares of Class C Common Stock and all shares of Class C Common Stock issuable as described in subclause (3) below, together with the corresponding Holding Units constituting the remainder of any Class C Paired Interests in which such shares are included, pursuant to Section 2.01 of the Exchange Agreement and (iii) the exercise of outstanding options, warrants, exchange rights, conversion rights or similar rights for Class A Common Stock;

(2) in the case of Class B Common Stock, the number of shares of Class B Common Stock issuable in connection with (i) the exchange of all outstanding shares of Class D Common Stock and all shares of Class D Common Stock issuable as described in subclause (4) below, together with the corresponding Holding Units constituting the remainder of any Class D Paired Interests in which such shares are included, pursuant to Section 2.01 of the Exchange

Agreement and (ii) the exercise of outstanding options, warrants, exchange rights, conversion rights or similar rights for Class B Common Stock;

(3) in the case of Class C Common Stock, the number of shares of Class C Common Stock issuable in connection with (i) the conversion of all outstanding shares of Class D Common Stock, (ii) the conversion of all shares of Class D Common Stock issuable as described in subclause (4) below and (iii) the exercise of outstanding options, warrants, exchange rights, conversion rights or similar rights for Class C Common Stock; and

(4) in the case of Class D Common Stock, the number of shares of Class D Common Stock issuable in connection with the exercise of outstanding options, warrants, exchange rights, conversion rights or similar rights for Class D Common Stock.

A statement of the designations of each class and the powers, preferences and rights, and qualifications, limitations or restrictions thereof is as follows:

D. Common Stock.

(1) Voting Rights.

(a) Subject to Article VI, Section O, each holder of Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock, as such, will be entitled to one vote for each share of Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock held of record by such holder on all matters on which stockholders generally are entitled to vote, and each holder of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, as such, will be entitled to ten votes for each share of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock held of record by such holder on all matters on which stockholders generally are entitled to vote, except that, in each case, to the fullest extent permitted by law, holders of shares of each class of Common Stock, as such, will have no voting power with respect to, and will not be entitled to vote on, any amendment to this Certificate of Incorporation (including any certificate of designations relating to any series of Preferred Stock) that relates solely to the terms of any outstanding Preferred Stock if the holders of such Preferred Stock are entitled to vote as a separate class thereon under this Certificate of Incorporation (including any certificate of designations relating to any series of Preferred Stock) or under the DGCL.

(b) (i) The holders of the outstanding shares of Class A Common Stock and Class C Common Stock, voting together as a single class, shall be entitled to vote separately upon any amendment to this Certificate of Incorporation (including by merger, consolidation, reorganization or similar event) that would alter or change the powers, preferences or special rights of such classes of Common Stock in a manner that is disproportionately adverse as compared to the Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock and (ii) the holders of the outstanding shares of Class B Common Stock and Class D Common Stock, voting together as a single class, shall be entitled to vote separately upon any amendment to this Certificate of Incorporation (including by merger, consolidation, reorganization or similar event) that would alter or change the powers, preferences or special rights of such classes of Common Stock in a manner that is disproportionately adverse as compared to the Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock, it being understood that any merger, consolidation or other business combination shall not be deemed an amendment hereof if such merger, consolidation or other business combination would be permitted by Article IV.D(3).

(c) Except as otherwise required in this Certificate of Incorporation or by applicable law, the holders of Common Stock will vote together as a single class on all matters (or, if any holders of Preferred Stock are entitled to vote together with the holders of Common Stock, as a single class with the holders of Preferred Stock).

(2) Dividends; Stock Splits; Combinations.

(a) Subject to applicable law and the rights, if any, of the holders of any outstanding series of Preferred Stock or any class or series of stock having a preference senior to or the right to participate with the Economic Common Stock with respect to the payment of dividends, dividends of cash or property may be declared and paid on the Economic Common Stock out of the assets of the Corporation that are by law available therefor, at the times and in the amounts as the board of directors of the Corporation (the "Board") in its discretion may determine;

(b) Dividends of cash or property may not be declared or paid on the Class A Common Stock unless a dividend of the same amount and same type of cash or property (or combination thereof) is concurrently declared or paid on the Class B Common Stock. Dividends of cash or property may not be declared or paid on the Class B Common Stock unless a dividend of the same amount and same type of cash or property (or combination thereof) is concurrently declared or paid on the Class A Common Stock.

(c) Except as provided in Article IV.D(2)(d) with respect to stock dividends, dividends of cash or property may not be declared or paid on the Non-Economic Common Stock.

(d) In no event will any stock dividend, stock split, reverse stock split, combination of stock, reclassification or recapitalization be declared or made on any class of Common Stock (each, a "Stock Adjustment") unless a corresponding Stock Adjustment for all other classes of Common Stock not so adjusted at the time outstanding is made in the same proportion and the same manner. Stock dividends with respect to each class of Common Stock may only be paid with shares of stock of the same class of Common Stock.

(e) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary, if a dividend in the form of capital stock of a subsidiary of the Corporation is declared or paid on the Class A Common Stock and the Class B Common Stock, the relative per share voting rights of the capital stock of such subsidiary so distributed in respect of the Class A Common Stock and the Class B Common Stock shall be in the same proportion as the relative voting rights of a share of Class A Common Stock and a share of Class B Common Stock.

(3) Except as expressly provided in this Article IV, the Economic Common Stock shall have the same rights and privileges and rank equally, share ratably and be identical in all respects as to all matters, and the Non-Economic Common Stock shall have the same rights and privileges and rank equally, share ratably and be identical as to all matters. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, (i) in the event of a merger, consolidation or other business combination requiring the approval of the holders of the Corporation's capital stock entitled to vote thereon (whether or not the Corporation is the surviving entity), the holders of the Class A Common Stock shall have the right to receive, or the right to elect to receive, the same form of consideration, if any, as the holders of the Class B Common Stock and the holders of the Class A Common Stock shall have the right to receive, or the right to elect to receive, at least the same amount of consideration, if any, on a per share basis as the holders of the Class B Common Stock, and the holders of the Class C Common Stock shall have the right to receive, or the right to elect to receive, the same form of consideration (if any) as the holders of the Class D Common Stock and the holders of the Class C Common Stock shall have the right to receive, or the right to elect to receive, at least the same amount of consideration (if any) on a per share basis as the holders of the Class D Common Stock and (ii) in the event of (a) any tender or exchange offer to acquire any shares of Common Stock by any third party pursuant to an agreement to which the Corporation is a party or (b) any tender or exchange offer by the Corporation to acquire any shares of Common Stock, pursuant to the terms of the applicable tender or exchange offer, the holders of the Class A Common Stock shall have the right to receive, or the right to elect to receive, the same form of consideration as the holders of the Class B Common Stock and the holders of the Class A Common Stock shall have the right to receive, or the right to elect to receive, at least the same amount of consideration on a per share basis as the holders of the Class B Common Stock, and the holders of the Class C Common Stock shall have the right to receive, or the right to elect to receive, the same form of consideration (if any) as the holders of the Class D Common Stock and the holders of the Class C Common Stock shall have the right to receive, or the right to elect to receive, at least the same amount of consideration (if any) on a per share basis as the holders of the Class D Common Stock; provided that, for the purposes of the foregoing clauses (i) and (ii) and notwithstanding the first sentence of this Article IV.D(3), (x) in the event any such consideration includes securities, (a) the consideration payable to holders of Class A Common Stock shall be deemed the same form of consideration and at least the same amount of consideration on a per share basis as the holders of Class B Common Stock on a per share basis if the only difference in the per share distribution to the holders of Class B Common Stock is that the securities distributed to such holders have not more than ten times the voting power of any securities distributed to the holder of a share of Class A Common Stock and (b) the consideration payable to holders of Class D Common Stock shall be deemed the same form of consideration and at least the same amount of consideration on a per share basis as the holders of Class C Common Stock on a per share basis if the only difference in the per share distribution to the holders of Class D Common Stock is that the securities distributed to such holders have not more than ten times the voting power of any securities distributed to the holder of a share of Class C Common Stock (in each case, so long as such securities issued to the holders of Class B Common Stock or the Class D Common Stock, as the case may be, remain subject to automatic conversion on terms no more favorable to such holders than those set forth in Article IV.G) and (y) payments under or in respect of the tax receivable or similar agreement entered by the Corporation from time to time with any holders of Common Stock shall not be considered part of the consideration payable in respect of any share of Common Stock.

(4) Liquidation. In the event of any voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the affairs of the Corporation, after payment or provision for payment of the debts and other liabilities of the Corporation and of the preferential and other amounts, if any, to which the holders of Preferred Stock are entitled, if any, the holders of all outstanding shares of Common Stock will be entitled to receive, pari passu, an amount per share equal to the par value thereof, and thereafter the holders of all outstanding shares of Economic Common Stock will be entitled to receive the remaining assets of the Corporation available for distribution ratably in proportion to the number of shares of Economic Common Stock. Without limiting the rights of the holders of Non-Economic Common Stock to exchange their shares of Non-Economic Common Stock, together with the corresponding Holding Units constituting the remainder of any Paired Interests in which such shares are included, for shares of Economic Common Stock in accordance with Section 2.01 of the Exchange Agreement (or for the consideration payable in respect of shares of Economic Common Stock in such voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or winding up), the holders of shares of Non-Economic Common Stock, as such, will not be entitled to receive, with respect to such shares, any assets of the Corporation in excess of the par value thereof, in the event of any voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or winding up of the affairs of the Corporation.

E. Preferred Stock. Shares of Preferred Stock may be issued from time to time in one or more series of any number of shares; provided, that the aggregate number of shares issued and not retired of any and all such series shall not exceed the total number of shares of Preferred Stock hereinabove authorized, and with such powers, including voting powers, if any, and the designations, preferences and relative, participating, optional or other special rights, if any, and any qualifications, limitations or restrictions thereof, all as shall hereafter be stated and expressed in the resolution or resolutions providing for the designation and issue of such shares of Preferred Stock from time to time adopted by the Board pursuant to authority to do so which is hereby expressly vested in the Board. The powers, including voting powers, if any, preferences and relative, participating, optional and other special rights of each series of Preferred Stock, and the qualifications, limitations or restrictions thereof, if any, may differ from those of any and all other series at any time outstanding. Each series of shares of Preferred Stock: (i) may have such voting rights or powers, full or limited, if any; (ii) may be subject to redemption at such time or times and at such prices, if any; (iii) may be entitled to receive dividends (which may be cumulative or non-cumulative) at such rate or rates, on such conditions and at such times, and payable in preference to, or in such relation to, the dividends payable on any other class or classes or series of stock, if any; (iv) may have such rights upon the voluntary or involuntary liquidation, winding up or dissolution of, upon any distribution of the assets of, or in the event of any merger, sale or consolidation of, the Corporation, if any; (v) may be made convertible into or exchangeable for, shares of any other class or classes or of any other series of the same or any other class or classes of stock of the Corporation (or any other securities of the Corporation or any other person) at such price or prices or at such rates of exchange and with such adjustments, if any; (vi) may be entitled to the benefit of a sinking fund to be applied to the purchase or redemption of shares of such series in such amount or amounts, if any; (vii) may be entitled to the benefit of conditions and restrictions upon the creation of indebtedness of the Corporation or any subsidiary, upon the issue of any additional shares (including additional shares of such series or of any other series) and upon the payment of dividends or the making of other distributions on, and the purchase, redemption or other acquisition by the Corporation or any subsidiary of, any outstanding shares of the Corporation, if any; (viii) may be subject to restrictions on transfer or registration of transfer, or on the amount of shares that may be owned by any person or group of persons; and (ix) may have such other relative, participating, optional or other special rights, qualifications, limitations or restrictions thereof, if any; all as shall be stated in said resolution or resolutions of the Board providing for the designation and issue of such shares of Preferred Stock.

F. Conversion and Exchange of Shares.

(1) Each share of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock may be converted into one fully paid and non-assessable share of Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock, respectively, at any time at the option of the holder of such share of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock. In order to exercise the conversion privilege, the holder of any shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock to be converted shall deliver to the Corporation written or electronic notice that the holder elects to convert shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, as applicable, to the extent specified in such notice and, if such shares are certificated, such holder shall present and surrender the certificate or certificates representing such shares during usual business hours at the principal executive offices of the Corporation or, if any agent for the registration or transfer of shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock is then duly appointed and acting (the "Class B Transfer Agent" and the "Class D Transfer Agent," respectively), at the office of the Class B Transfer Agent or Class D Transfer Agent, as applicable. If required by the Corporation, any certificate for shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock surrendered for conversion shall be accompanied by instruments of transfer, in form reasonably satisfactory to the Corporation and the Class B Transfer Agent or Class D Transfer Agent, as applicable, duly executed by the holder of such shares or such holder's duly authorized representative. As promptly as practicable after the receipt of such notice and the surrender of the certificate or certificates representing such shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock as aforesaid and in any event within three days of the receipt of such notice and certificates, if such shares are certificated, the Corporation shall issue and deliver at such office to such holder, or on such holder's written order, a certificate or certificates for the number of full shares of Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock, as applicable, (if certificated) issuable upon the conversion of such shares. To the extent such shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock as aforesaid are settled through the facilities of The Depository Trust Company or through the book entry facilities of the Class B Transfer Agent or Class D Transfer Agent, the Corporation shall, upon such holder's written order, issue and deliver the number of full shares of Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock, as applicable, issuable upon the conversion of such shares through the facilities of The Depository Trust Company to the account of the participant of The Depository Trust Company designated by such holder or through the book entry facilities of the Class B Transfer Agent or Class D Transfer Agent. Each conversion of shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock shall be deemed to have been effected on (i) the date on which such notice shall have been received by the Corporation, the Class B Transfer Agent or the Class D Transfer Agent, as applicable (subject to receipt by the Corporation, the Class B Transfer Agent or the Class D Transfer Agent, as applicable, within five business days thereafter of any required instruments of transfer as aforesaid), or (ii) such later date specified in or pursuant to such notice, and the person or persons in whose name or names any certificate or certificates for shares of Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock shall be issuable upon such conversion as aforesaid shall be deemed to have become on said date the holder or holders of record of the shares represented thereby.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in this Article IV.F to the contrary, any holder may withdraw or amend a notice of conversion, in whole or in part, prior to the effectiveness of the conversion, at any time prior to 5:00 p.m., New York City time, on the business day immediately preceding the date of the conversion (or any such later time as may be required by applicable law) by delivery of a written or electronic notice of withdrawal to the Corporation, the Class B Transfer Agent or the Class D Transfer Agent, as applicable, specifying (i) if applicable, the certificate numbers of the withdrawn shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, (ii) if any, the number of shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock as to which the notice of conversion remains in effect and (iii) if the holder so determines, a new conversion date or any other new or revised information permitted in a notice of conversion. A notice of conversion may specify that the conversion is to be contingent (including as to timing) upon the consummation of a purchase by another person (whether in a tender or exchange offer, an underwritten offering or otherwise) of shares of the Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock into which the Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, respectively, is convertible, or contingent (including as to timing) upon the closing of an announced merger, consolidation or other transaction or event in which the Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock would be exchanged or converted or become exchangeable for or convertible into cash or other securities or property.

G. Automatic Conversion of Class B Common Stock and Class D Common Stock.

(1) Each outstanding share of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock will, automatically and without further action on the part of the Corporation or any holder of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, convert into one fully paid and non-assessable share of Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock, respectively, (i) immediately prior to any Transfer of such Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, as applicable, by the initial registered holder thereof, other than a Permitted Transfer or (ii) upon the occurrence of the Triggering Event. Upon any conversion pursuant to this Article IV.G, the certificate or certificates that represented immediately prior thereto the shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock that were so converted, automatically and without further action, shall represent the same number of shares of Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock, respectively, without the need for surrender or exchange thereof. As promptly as practicable following a conversion pursuant to this Article IV.G, the Corporation shall deliver or cause to be delivered to any holder whose shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock have been converted as a result of such conversion the number of shares of Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock deliverable upon such conversion, as applicable, registered in the name of such holder. To the extent such shares are settled through the facilities of The Depository Trust Company or through the book entry facilities of the Class B Transfer Agent or Class D Transfer Agent, the Corporation will, upon the written instruction of such holder, deliver the shares of Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock deliverable to such holder, through the facilities of The Depository Trust Company, to the account of the participant of The Depository Trust Company designated by such holder or through the book entry facilities of the Class B Transfer Agent or Class D Transfer Agent. Each share of Class B Common Stock and Class D Common Stock that is converted pursuant to this Article IV.G shall thereupon be retired by the Corporation and shall not be available for reissuance.

(2) The Corporation may, from time to time, establish such policies and procedures relating to the conversion of the Class B Common Stock and Class D Common Stock and the general administration of its multi-class common stock structure, including the issuance of stock certificates with respect thereto, as it may deem necessary or advisable, and may request that holders of shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock furnish affidavits or other proof to the Corporation as it deems necessary to verify the ownership of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, as applicable, and to confirm that a conversion to Class A Common Stock or Class C Common Stock, respectively, has not occurred.

H. Unconverted Shares. If less than all of the shares of Class B Common Stock or Class D Common Stock evidenced by a certificate or certificates surrendered to the Corporation are converted, the Corporation shall execute and deliver to, or upon the written order of, the holder of such certificate or certificates a new certificate or certificates evidencing the number of shares of Common Stock which are not converted without charge to the holder.

I. No Conversion Rights of Class A Common Stock and Class C Common Stock. The Class A Common Stock and Class C Common Stock shall not have any conversion rights.

J. Reservation of Shares of Class A Common Stock for Conversion Right. The Corporation will at all times reserve and keep available out of its authorized and unissued shares of Class A Common Stock, solely for the purposes of conversions of Class B Common Stock, the number of shares of Class A Common Stock that are issuable upon conversion of all outstanding shares of Class B Common Stock, including any shares of Class B Common Stock issuable upon the exchange of all outstanding shares of Class D Common Stock, together with the corresponding Holding Units constituting the remainder of any Class D Paired Interests in which such shares are included, pursuant to Section 2.01 of the Exchange Agreement. The Corporation covenants that all the shares of Class A Common Stock that are issued upon conversion of such Class B Common Stock will, upon issuance, be validly issued, fully paid and non-assessable.

K. Reservation of Shares of Class C Common Stock for Conversion Right. The Corporation will at all times reserve and keep available out of its authorized and unissued shares of Class C Common Stock, solely for the purposes of conversions of Class D Common Stock, the number of shares of Class C Common Stock that are issuable upon conversion of all outstanding shares of Class D Common Stock. The Corporation covenants that all the shares of Class C Common Stock that are issued upon conversion of Class D Common Stock will, upon issuance, be validly issued, fully paid and non-assessable.

L. Distributions with Respect to Converted Shares. No conversion pursuant to this Article IV shall impair the right of the converting stockholder to receive any dividends or other distributions payable on shares so converted in respect of a record date that occurs prior to the effective date for such conversion. For the avoidance of doubt, no converting stockholder shall be entitled to receive, in respect of a single record date, dividends or other distributions both on shares that are converted by such stockholder and on shares received by such stockholder in such conversion.

M. Exchange of Class C Common Stock and Class D Common Stock. Shares of Class C Common Stock or Class D Common Stock may be exchanged, together with the corresponding Holding Units constituting the remainder of any Class C Paired Interests or Class D Paired Interests in which such shares are included, as applicable, at any time and from time to time for shares of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock, respectively, in accordance with Section 2.01 of the Exchange Agreement.

N. Taxes. The issuance of shares of Economic Common Stock upon the exercise by holders of shares of Non-Economic Common Stock of their right under Section 2.01 of the Exchange Agreement to exchange Paired Interests will be made without charge to the holders of the shares of Non-Economic Common Stock for any transfer taxes, stamp taxes or duties or other similar tax in respect of the issuance; provided, however, that if any such shares of Economic Common Stock are to be issued in a name other than that of the then record holder of the shares of Non-Economic Common Stock being exchanged (or The Depository Trust Company or its nominee for the account of a participant of The Depository Trust Company that will hold the shares for the account of such holder or the book entry facilities of the Class B Transfer Agent or Class D Transfer Agent), then such holder or the person in whose name such shares are to be delivered, shall pay to the Corporation the amount of any tax that may be payable in respect of any transfer involved in the issuance or shall establish to the reasonable satisfaction of the Corporation that the tax has been paid or is not payable.

O. Voting Limitation. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Certificate of Incorporation, the number of votes per share of each RHI Security (each such share, the voting power of which is to be determined by this provision, the "Applicable Share") at a time when, but for this provision, the aggregate voting power of the RHI Securities would be equal to or greater than 79% of the total voting power of the outstanding shares of capital stock of the Corporation shall be equal to the following formula:

W = the aggregate voting power (but for this Article IV, Section O) of the RHI Securities of the same series as the Applicable Share;

X = the aggregate voting power (but for this Article IV, Section O) of all of the RHI Securities;

Y = the aggregate voting power of all outstanding shares of capital stock of the Corporation that are not RHI Securities; and

Z = the number of RHI Securities that are of the same series as the Applicable Share

provided that, in the event the holders of a class or series are entitled to vote separately as a class or series, the number of votes per share of each Applicable Share at a time when, but for this provision, the aggregate voting power of the RHI Securities of such class or series would be equal to or greater than 79% of the total voting power of the outstanding shares of capital stock of such class or series shall be equal to the following formula

Y = the aggregate voting power of all outstanding shares of capital stock of the Corporation that are of the same series as the Applicable Share that are not RHI Securities; and

Z = the number of RHI Securities that are of the same series as the Applicable Share.

ARTICLE V.

Board of Directors

A. Except as otherwise provided in this Certificate of Incorporation and the DGCL, the business and affairs of the Corporation shall be managed by or under the direction of the Board. Except as otherwise provided for or fixed pursuant to the provisions of Article IV.E relating to the rights of the holders of any series of Preferred Stock to elect additional Directors, the total number of directors constituting the whole Board shall be determined from time to time exclusively by the Board.

B. During any period when the holders of any series of Preferred Stock have the right to elect additional Directors as provided for or fixed pursuant to the provisions of Article IV.E ("Preferred Stock Directors"), upon the commencement, and for the duration, of the period during which such right continues: (i) the then total authorized number of Directors shall automatically be increased by such specified number of Preferred Stock Directors, and the holders of the related Preferred Stock shall be entitled to elect the Preferred Stock Directors pursuant to the provisions of the Board's designation for the series of Preferred Stock, and (ii) each such Preferred Stock Director shall serve until such Preferred Stock Director's successor shall have been duly elected and qualified, or until such Preferred Stock Director's right to hold such office terminates pursuant to such provisions, whichever occurs earlier, subject to his or her earlier death, resignation, disqualification or removal. Except as otherwise provided by the Board in the resolution or resolutions establishing such series, whenever the holders of any series of Preferred Stock having such right to elect Preferred Stock Directors are divested of such right pursuant to the provisions of such stock, the terms of office of all such Preferred Stock Directors elected by the holders of such Preferred Stock, or elected to fill any vacancies resulting from the death, resignation, disqualification or removal of such Preferred Stock Directors, shall forthwith terminate and the total and authorized number of Directors shall be reduced accordingly.

C. The Board (other than Preferred Stock Directors) shall be divided into three classes designated Class I, Class II and Class III. Each class shall consist, as nearly as possible, of one-third of the total number of such directors. Class I directors shall initially serve for a term expiring at the first annual meeting of stockholders following the date the Common Stock is first publicly traded (the "IPO Date"), Class II directors shall initially serve for a term expiring at the second annual meeting of stockholders following the IPO Date, and Class III directors shall initially serve for a term expiring at the third annual meeting of stockholders following the IPO Date. Commencing with the first annual meeting of stockholders following the IPO Date, each director of the class to be elected at each annual meeting shall be elected for a three-year term. If the total number of such directors is changed, any such additional director of any class elected to fill a newly created directorship resulting from an increase in such class shall hold office for a term that shall coincide with the remaining term of that class, but in no case shall a decrease in the total number of directors remove or shorten the term of any incumbent director. Any such director shall hold office until the annual meeting at which his or her term expires and until his or her successor shall be elected and qualified, or his or her death, resignation, disqualification or removal from office. The Board is authorized to assign members of the Board to their respective class.

D. Subject to the rights of the holders of any one or more series of Preferred Stock then outstanding, any newly created directorship on the Board that results from an increase in the total number of directors and any vacancy occurring on the Board (whether by death, resignation, disqualification, removal or other cause) shall be filled by the affirmative vote of a majority of the directors then in office (even if less than a quorum), by a sole remaining director or by the stockholders; provided, however, that when RHI and the Permitted Transferees first cease to beneficially own, in the aggregate, more than 50% in voting power of the stock of the Corporation entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, any newly created directorship on the Board that results from an increase in the number of directors and any vacancy occurring on the Board shall be filled only by a majority of the directors then in office (even if less than a quorum), or by a sole remaining director (and not by stockholders). Any director elected to fill a vacancy or newly created directorship shall hold office until the next election of the class for which such director shall have been chosen and until his or her successor shall be elected and qualified, or until his or her earlier death, resignation, disqualification or removal.

E. Except for Preferred Stock Directors, any or all of the directors may be removed at any time either with or without cause by the affirmative vote of a majority in voting power of all outstanding shares of stock of the Corporation entitled to vote thereon, voting together as a single class; provided, however, that when RHI and the Permitted Transferees first cease to beneficially own, in the aggregate, more than 50% in voting power of the stock of the Corporation entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, any such director or all such directors may be removed only for cause and only by the affirmative vote of the holders of at least 75% of the voting power of the then outstanding shares of capital stock of the Corporation entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single class.

ARTICLE VI.

Limitation of Liability

To the fullest extent permitted under the DGCL, no director of the Corporation shall be personally liable to the Corporation or its stockholders for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a director. Any amendment or repeal of this Article VI shall not adversely affect any right or protection of a director of the Corporation hereunder in respect of any act or omission occurring prior to the time of such amendment or repeal.

ARTICLE VII.

Amendments

A. The Corporation reserves the right to amend or repeal any provision contained in this Certificate of Incorporation in the manner prescribed by the laws of the State of Delaware and all rights conferred upon stockholders are granted subject to this reservation; provided, however, that, notwithstanding any provision of applicable law or any other provision of this Certificate of Incorporation that might otherwise permit a lesser vote or no vote, but in addition to any vote of the holders of any class or series of the capital stock of this Corporation required by applicable law or by this Certificate of Incorporation, from and after the time when RHI and the Permitted Transferees first cease to beneficially own, in the aggregate, more than 50% in voting power of the stock of the Corporation entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, any amendment to Article II.B, Article V, Article VI, Article VIII, Article IX, Article X or this Article VII of this Certificate of Incorporation or repeal of this Certificate of Incorporation shall require the affirmative vote of the holders of at least 75% of the voting power of the then outstanding shares of capital stock of the Corporation entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single class.

B. The Board shall have the power to adopt, amend or repeal the By-Laws. Any adoption, amendment or repeal of the By-Laws by the Board shall require the approval of a majority of the directors then in office (even if less than a quorum). The stockholders shall also have power to adopt, amend or repeal the By-Laws; provided, however, that, from and after the time when RHI and the Permitted Transferees first cease to beneficially own, in the aggregate, more than 50% in voting power of the stock of the Corporation entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, any amendment to or repeal of the By-Laws (or the adoption of any provision inconsistent therewith) shall require the affirmative vote of the holders of at least 75% of the voting power of the then outstanding shares of capital stock of the Corporation entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single class.

ARTICLE VIII.

Corporate Opportunities

A. Neither the Corporation nor any RHI Party shall have any duty to refrain from engaging, directly or indirectly, in the same or similar activities or lines of business as the other corporation, doing business with any potential or actual customer or supplier of the other corporation, or employing or engaging or soliciting for employment any director, officer or employee of the other corporation, and no director or officer of the Corporation shall be liable to the Corporation or any of its subsidiaries or any stockholder for breach of any fiduciary or other duty under statutory or common law, as a director or officer or controlling stockholder or otherwise, by reason of any such activities, or for the presentation or direction to, or participation in, any such activities by any RHI Party. “RHI” shall mean, for purposes of this Article VIII only, Rock Holdings Inc. and its affiliates (excluding the Corporation and its subsidiaries). “RHI Party” shall mean, for purposes of this Article VIII only, RHI or any officer, director, member, partner or employee of RHI.

B. To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law:

(1) The Corporation, on behalf of itself and its subsidiaries, renounces any interest or expectancy of the Corporation and its subsidiaries in any business opportunity, transaction or other matter in which any RHI Party participates or desires or seeks to participate in, even if the opportunity is one that the Corporation or its subsidiaries might reasonably be deemed to have pursued or had the ability or desire to pursue if granted the opportunity to do so; and

(2) Each such RHI Party shall have no duty to communicate or offer such business opportunity to the Corporation and shall not be liable to the Corporation or any of its subsidiaries or any stockholder for breach of any fiduciary or other duty under statutory or common law, as a director or officer or controlling stockholder or otherwise, by reason of the fact that such RHI Party pursues or acquires such business opportunity, directs such business opportunity to another person or fails to present such business opportunity, or information regarding such business opportunity, to the Corporation or its subsidiaries; and shall be deemed to have fully satisfied and fulfilled such person's duties to the Corporation and its stockholders with respect to such business opportunity and to have acted in accordance with the standard of care set forth in the DGCL, or any successor statute, or law that is otherwise applicable to such RHI Parties under the Delaware law.

C. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Corporation, on behalf of itself and its subsidiaries, does not hereby renounce any interest or expectancy it or its subsidiaries may have in any business opportunity, transaction or other matter that is offered to an RHI Party who is a director or officer of the Corporation and who is offered such opportunity solely in his or her capacity as a director or officer of the Corporation, as reasonably determined by such RHI Party.

D. Neither the amendment nor repeal of this Article VIII, nor the adoption of any provision of this Certificate of Incorporation or the By-Laws, nor, to the fullest extent permitted by Delaware law, any modification of law, shall adversely affect any right or protection of any person granted pursuant hereto existing at, or arising out of or related to any event, act or omission that occurred prior to, the time of such amendment, repeal, adoption or modification.

E. This Article VIII shall not limit any protections or defenses available to, or indemnification rights of, any director or officer of the Corporation under this Certificate of Incorporation, the By-Laws or applicable law.

ARTICLE IX.

Section 203

A. The Corporation shall not be governed by Section 203 of the DGCL ("Section 203"), and the restrictions contained in Section 203 shall not apply to the Corporation.

B. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Corporation shall not engage in any business combination (as defined below), at any point in time at which the Corporation's Common Stock is registered under Section 12(b) or 12(g) of the Exchange Act, with any interested stockholder

(as defined below) for a period of three years following the time that such stockholder became an interested stockholder, unless:

(1) prior to such time, the Board approved either the business combination or the transaction that resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder;

(2) upon consummation of the transaction that resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder, the interested stockholder owned at least 85% of the voting stock (as defined below) of the Corporation outstanding at the time the transaction commenced, excluding for purposes of determining the voting stock outstanding (but not the outstanding voting stock owned by the interested stockholder) those shares owned (i) by persons who are directors and also officers and (ii) employee stock plans in which employee participants do not have the right to determine confidentially whether shares held subject to the plan will be tendered in a tender or exchange offer; or

(3) at or subsequent to such time, the business combination is approved by the Board and authorized at an annual or special meeting of stockholders, and not by written consent, by the affirmative vote of at least two thirds of the outstanding voting stock of the Corporation that is not owned by the interested stockholder.

C. For purposes of this Article IX, references to:

(1) "affiliate" means a person that directly, or indirectly through one or more intermediaries, controls, or is controlled by, or is under common control with, another person.

(2) "associate" when used to indicate a relationship with any person, means: (i) any corporation, partnership, unincorporated association or other entity of which such person is a director, officer or partner or is, directly or indirectly, the owner of 20% or more of any class of voting stock; (ii) any trust or other estate in which such person has at least a 20% beneficial interest or as to which such person serves as trustee or in a similar fiduciary capacity; and (iii) any relative or spouse of such person, or any relative of such spouse, who has the same residence as such person.

(3) "business combination," when used in reference to the Corporation and any interested stockholder of the Corporation, means:

(a) (i) any merger or consolidation of the Corporation or any direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiary of the Corporation with the interested stockholder, or (ii) with any other corporation, partnership, unincorporated association or other entity if the merger or consolidation is caused by the interested stockholder and as a result of such merger or consolidation Article IX.B is not applicable to the surviving entity;

(b) any sale, lease, exchange, mortgage, pledge, transfer or other disposition (in one transaction or a series of transactions), except proportionately as a stockholder of the Corporation, to or with the interested stockholder, whether as part of a dissolution or otherwise, of assets of the Corporation or of any direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiary of the Corporation which assets have an aggregate market value equal to 10% or more of either the aggregate market value of all the assets of the Corporation determined on a consolidated basis or the aggregate market value of all the outstanding stock of the Corporation;

(c) any transaction that results in the issuance or transfer by the Corporation or by any direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiary of the Corporation of any stock of the Corporation or of such subsidiary to the interested stockholder, except: (i) pursuant to the exercise, exchange or conversion of securities exercisable for, exchangeable for or convertible into stock of the Corporation or any such subsidiary which securities were outstanding prior to the time that the interested stockholder became such; (ii) pursuant to a merger under Section 251(g) of the DGCL; (iii) pursuant to a dividend or distribution paid or made, or the exercise, exchange or conversion of securities exercisable for, exchangeable for or convertible into stock of the Corporation or any such subsidiary which security is distributed, pro rata to all holders of a class or series of stock of the Corporation subsequent to the time the interested stockholder became such; (iv) pursuant to an exchange offer by the Corporation to purchase stock made on the same terms to all holders of said stock; or (v) any issuance or transfer of stock by the Corporation; provided, however, that in no case under items (iii) through (v) of this subsection (c) shall there be an increase in the interested stockholder's proportionate share of the stock of any class or series of the Corporation or of the voting stock of the Corporation (except as a result of immaterial changes due to fractional share adjustments);

(d) any transaction involving the Corporation or any direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiary of the Corporation that has the effect, directly or indirectly, of increasing the proportionate share of the stock of any class or series, or securities convertible into the stock of any class or series, of the Corporation or of any such subsidiary that is owned by the interested stockholder, except as a result of immaterial changes due to fractional share adjustments or as a result of any purchase or redemption of any shares of stock not caused, directly or indirectly, by the interested stockholder; or

(e) any receipt by the interested stockholder of the benefit, directly or indirectly (except proportionately as a stockholder of the Corporation), of any loans, advances, guarantees, pledges, or other financial benefits (other than those expressly permitted in subsections (i) through (iv) above) provided by or through the Corporation or any direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiary.

(4) "control," including the terms "controlling," "controlled by" and "under common control with," means the possession, directly or indirectly, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a person, whether through the ownership of voting stock, by contract, or otherwise. A person who is the owner of 20% or more of the outstanding voting stock of a corporation, partnership, unincorporated association or other entity shall be presumed to have control of such entity, in the absence of proof by a preponderance of the evidence to the contrary. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a presumption of control shall not apply where such person holds voting stock, in good faith and not for the purpose of circumventing this Article IX, as an agent, bank, broker, nominee, custodian or trustee for one or more owners who do not individually or as a group have control of such entity.

(5) "interested stockholder" means any person (other than the Corporation or any direct or indirect majority-owned subsidiary of the Corporation) that (i) is the owner of 15% or more of the outstanding voting stock of the Corporation, or (ii) is an affiliate or associate of the Corporation and was the owner of 15% or more of the outstanding voting stock of the Corporation at any time within the three-year period immediately prior to the date on which it is sought to be determined whether such person is an interested stockholder; and the affiliates and associates of such person; but "interested stockholder" shall not include (a) RHI, any Rock Equityholder or any RHI Transferee or any of their respective affiliates or successors or any "group," or any member of any such group, to which such persons are a party under Rule 13d-5 of the Exchange Act, or (b) any person whose ownership of shares in excess of the 15% limitation set forth herein is the result of any action taken solely by the Corporation; provided that in the case of clause (b), such person shall be an interested stockholder if thereafter such person acquires additional shares of voting stock of the Corporation, except as a result of further corporate action not caused, directly or indirectly, by such person. For the purpose of determining whether a person is an interested stockholder, the voting stock of the Corporation deemed to be outstanding shall include stock deemed to be owned by the person through application of the definition of "owner" below but shall not include any other unissued stock of the Corporation that may be issuable pursuant to any agreement, arrangement or understanding, or upon exercise of conversion rights, warrants or options, or otherwise.

(6) "owner," including the terms "own" and "owned," when used with respect to any stock, means a person that individually or with or through any of its affiliates or associates:

(a) beneficially owns such stock, directly or indirectly; or

(b) has (i) the right to acquire such stock (whether such right is exercisable immediately or only after the passage of time) pursuant to any agreement, arrangement or understanding, or upon the exercise of conversion rights, exchange rights, warrants or options, or otherwise; provided, however, that a person shall not be deemed the owner of stock tendered pursuant to a tender or exchange offer made by such person or any of such person's affiliates or associates until such tendered stock is accepted for purchase or exchange; or (ii) the right to vote such stock pursuant to any agreement, arrangement or understanding; provided, however, that a person shall not be deemed the owner of any stock because of such person's right to vote such stock if the agreement, arrangement or understanding to vote such stock arises solely from a revocable proxy or consent given in response to a proxy or consent solicitation made to ten or more persons; or

(c) has any agreement, arrangement or understanding for the purpose of acquiring, holding, voting (except voting pursuant to a revocable proxy or consent as described in item (b) of subsection (ii) above), or disposing of such stock with any other person that beneficially owns, or whose affiliates or associates beneficially own, directly or indirectly, such stock.

(7) "person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, unincorporated association or other entity.

(8) "RHI Transferee" means any person that acquires (other than in connection with a registered public offering) voting stock of the Corporation from RHI or any of its affiliates or successors or any "group," or any member of any such group, to which such persons are a party under Rule 13d-5 of the Exchange Act and who is designated in writing by RHI as an "RHI Transferee."

(9) "stock" means, with respect to any corporation, capital stock and, with respect to any other entity, any equity.

(10) "voting stock" means stock of any class or series entitled to vote generally in the election of directors and, with respect to any entity that is not a corporation, any equity interest entitled to vote generally in the election of the governing body of such entity. Every reference to a percentage of voting stock shall refer to such percentages of the votes of such voting stock.

ARTICLE X.

Stockholder Matters

A. Until such time as RHI and the Permitted Transferees first cease to beneficially own, in the aggregate, more than 50% in voting power of the stock of the Corporation entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, any action required or permitted to be taken at any annual or special meeting of stockholders of the Corporation may be taken without a meeting, without prior notice and without a vote, if a consent or consents in writing, setting forth the action so taken, shall be signed by the holders of outstanding shares having not less than the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize or take such action at a meeting at which all shares entitled to vote thereon were present and voted. From and after the time when RHI and the Permitted Transferees first cease to beneficially own, in the aggregate, more than 50% in voting power of the stock of the Corporation entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, any action required or permitted to be taken by the stockholders of the Corporation must be effected at a duly called annual or special meeting of such holders and may not be effected by any consent in writing by such holders.

B. Except as otherwise required by law and subject to the rights of the holders of any series of Preferred Stock, special meetings of the stockholders of the Corporation for any purpose or purposes may be called at any time only by or at the direction of the Board, the chairman of the Board or the Chief Executive Officer of the Corporation. Business transacted at special meetings of stockholders shall be confined to the purpose or purposes stated in the notice of meeting.

C. Advance notice of stockholder nominations for the election of directors of the Corporation and of business to be brought by stockholders before any meeting of stockholders of the Corporation shall be given in the manner provided in the By-Laws.

D. Any person purchasing or otherwise acquiring any interest in any securities of the Corporation shall be deemed to have notice of and to have consented to the provisions of this Certificate of Incorporation.

ARTICLE XI.

Exclusive Forums

A. Unless the Corporation consents in writing to the selection of an alternative forum, and subject to applicable jurisdictional requirements, the exclusive forums for (i) any derivative action or proceeding brought on behalf of the Corporation, (ii) any action asserting a claim of breach of a fiduciary duty owed by any current or former director, officer, or stockholder of the Corporation to the Corporation or the Corporation's stockholders, (iii) any action asserting a claim arising pursuant to any provision of the DGCL, this Certificate of Incorporation or the By-Laws, or (iv) any action asserting a claim governed by the internal affairs doctrine shall be either the Third Judicial Circuit, Wayne County, Michigan (or, if the Third Judicial Circuit, Wayne County, Michigan lacks jurisdiction over such action or proceeding, then another state court of the State of Michigan or, if no state court of the State of Michigan has jurisdiction, then the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan) or the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware (or, if the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware lacks jurisdiction over such action or proceeding, then another state court of the State of Delaware or, if no state court of the State of Delaware has jurisdiction, then the United States District Court for the District of Delaware). This Article XI.A shall not apply to claims arising under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, or other federal securities laws for which there is exclusive federal or concurrent federal and state jurisdiction.

B. Unless the Corporation consents in writing to the selection of an alternative forum, the federal district courts of the United States of America shall be the exclusive forum for the resolution of any complaint asserting a cause of action arising under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended.

Exhibit 3.2

BY-LAWS

OF

ROCKET COMPANIES, INC.

OFFICES

Section 1 Registered Office. The registered office of Rocket Companies, Inc. (the "Corporation") shall be the office of the Corporation's registered agent in the State of Delaware or such other office of the Corporation in the State of Delaware as established from time to time by the board of directors of the Corporation (the "Board").

Section 2 Other Offices. Subject to Article II of the Certificate of Incorporation of the Corporation, as amended from time to time (the "Certificate of Incorporation"), the Corporation may also have offices at such other places, both within and without the State of Delaware, as the Board may from time to time determine or the business of the Corporation may require.

STOCKHOLDERS

Section 1 Place of Meeting. Meetings of stockholders may be held at such place, if any, either within or without the State of Delaware, or by means of remote communication, as may be designated by the Board.

Section 2 Annual Meeting.

(a) A meeting of stockholders for the election of directors and such other business as may be properly brought before the meeting in accordance with these Amended and Restated By-Laws (these "By-Laws") shall be held annually at such date and time as may be designated by the Board from time to time.

(b) At an annual meeting of the stockholders, only business (other than business relating to the nomination or election of directors which is governed by ARTICLE III, Section 3) that has been properly brought before the stockholder meeting in accordance with the procedures set forth in this ARTICLE II, Section 2 shall be conducted. To be properly brought before a meeting of stockholders, such business must be brought before the meeting (i) by or at the direction of the Board or any committee thereof or (ii) by a stockholder who (A) was a stockholder of record of the Corporation when the notice required by this ARTICLE II, Section 2 is delivered to the Secretary of the Corporation and at the time of the meeting, (B) is entitled to vote at the meeting and (c) complies with the notice and other provisions of this ARTICLE II, Section 2. Subject to ARTICLE II, Section 2(l), and except with respect to nominations or elections of directors, which are governed by ARTICLE III, Section 3, ARTICLE II, Section 2(b)(ii) is the exclusive means by which a stockholder may bring business before a meeting of stockholders. Any business brought before a meeting in accordance with ARTICLE II, Section 2 is referred to as "Stockholder Business".

(c) Subject to ARTICLE II, Section 2(l), at any annual meeting of stockholders, all proposals of Stockholder Business must be made by timely written notice given by or on behalf of a stockholder of record of the Corporation (the "Notice of Business") and must otherwise be a proper matter for stockholder action. To be timely, the Notice of Business must be delivered personally or mailed to, and received at the executive office of the Corporation, addressed to the Secretary of the Corporation, by no earlier than 120 days and no later than 90 days before the first anniversary of the date of the prior year's annual meeting of stockholders; provided, however, that if (i) the annual meeting of stockholders is advanced by more than 30 days, or delayed by more than 60 days, from the first anniversary of the prior year's annual meeting of stockholders, (ii) no annual meeting was held during the prior year or (iii) in the case of the Corporation's first annual meeting of stockholders as a corporation with a class of equity security registered under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act"), the notice by the stockholder to be timely must be received (A) no earlier than 120 days before such annual meeting and (B) no later than the later of 90 days before such annual meeting and the tenth day after the day on which the notice of such annual meeting was first made by mail or Public Disclosure. In no event shall an adjournment, postponement or deferral, or Public Disclosure of an adjournment, postponement or deferral, of a stockholder meeting commence a new time period (or extend any time period) for the giving of the Notice of Business.

(d) The Notice of Business must set forth:

(i) the name and record address of each stockholder proposing Stockholder Business (the "Proponent"), as they appear on the Corporation's books;

(ii) the name and address of any Stockholder Associated Person;

(iii) as to each Proponent and any Stockholder Associated Person, (A) the class or series and number of shares of stock directly or indirectly held of record and beneficially owned by the Proponent or Stockholder Associated Person, (B) the date such shares of stock were acquired, (C) a description of any agreement, arrangement or understanding, direct or indirect, with respect to such Stockholder Business between or among the Proponent, any Stockholder Associated Person or any others (including their names) acting in concert with any of the foregoing, (D) a description of any agreement, arrangement or understanding (including any derivative or short positions, profit interests, options, hedging transactions and borrowed or loaned shares) that has been entered into, directly or indirectly, by the Proponent or any Stockholder Associated Person and that remains in effect, the effect or intent of which is to mitigate loss to, manage risk or benefit of share price changes for, or increase or decrease the voting power of the Proponent or any Stockholder Associated Person with respect to shares of stock of the Corporation (a "Derivative") and (E) a description in reasonable detail of any proxy (including revocable proxies), contract, arrangement, understanding or other relationship pursuant to which the Proponent or any Stockholder Associated Person has a right to vote any shares of stock of the Corporation. The information specified in ARTICLE II, Section 2(d)(i) to (iii) is referred to herein as "Stockholder Information";

(iv) a representation that each Proponent is a holder of record of stock of the Corporation entitled to vote at the meeting and intends to appear in person or by proxy at the meeting to propose such Stockholder Business;

(v) a brief description of the Stockholder Business desired to be brought before the annual meeting, the text of the proposal (including the text of any resolutions proposed for consideration and, if such business includes a proposal to amend the By-Laws, the language of the proposed amendment) and the reasons for conducting such Stockholder Business at the meeting;

(vi) any material interest of each Proponent and any Stockholder Associated Person in such Stockholder Business;

(vii) a representation as to whether the Proponent intends (A) to deliver a proxy statement and form of proxy to holders of at least the percentage of the Corporation's outstanding capital stock required to approve or adopt such Stockholder Business or (B) otherwise to solicit proxies from stockholders in support of such Stockholder Business;

(viii) all other information that would be required to be filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") if the Proponents or Stockholder Associated Persons were participants in a solicitation subject to Section 14 of the Exchange Act; and

(ix) a representation that the Proponents shall provide any other information reasonably requested by the Corporation.

(e) The Proponents shall also provide any other information reasonably requested from time to time by the Corporation within ten business days after each such request.

(f) In addition, the Proponent shall affirm as true and correct the information provided to the Corporation in the Notice of Business or at the Corporation's request pursuant to ARTICLE II, Section 2(e) (and shall update or supplement such information as needed so that such information shall be true and correct) as of (i) the record date for the meeting, (ii) the date that is ten calendar days before the first anniversary date of the Corporation's proxy statement released to stockholders in connection with the previous year's annual meeting and (iii) the date that is ten business days before the meeting and, if applicable, before reconvening any adjournment or postponement thereof. Such affirmation, update and/or supplement must be delivered personally or mailed to, and received at the executive office of the Corporation, addressed to the Secretary of the Corporation, by no later than (x) five business days after the applicable date specified in clause (i) or (ii) of the foregoing sentence (in the case of the affirmation, update and/or supplement required to be made as of those dates), and (y) not later than seven business days before the date for the meeting (in the case of the affirmation, update and/or supplement required to be made as of ten business days before the meeting or reconvening any adjournment or postponement thereof).

(g) The person presiding over the meeting shall, if the facts warrant, determine and declare to the meeting, that business was not properly brought before the meeting in accordance with the procedures set forth in this ARTICLE II, Section 2. Any such business not properly brought before the meeting shall not be transacted.

(h) If the Proponent (or a qualified representative of the Proponent) does not appear at the meeting of stockholders to present the Stockholder Business such business shall not be transacted, notwithstanding that proxies in respect of such vote may have been received by the Corporation. For purposes of this ARTICLE II, Section 2, to be considered a qualified representative of the Proponent, a person must be a duly authorized officer, manager or partner of such stockholder or must be authorized by a writing executed by such Stockholder or an electronic transmission delivered by such stockholder to act for such stockholder as proxy at the meeting of stockholders and such person must produce such writing or electronic transmission, or a reliable reproduction of the writing or electronic transmission, at the meeting of stockholders.

(i) "Public Disclosure" of any date or other information means disclosure thereof by a press release reported by the Dow Jones News Services, Associated Press or comparable U.S. national news service or in a document publicly filed by the Corporation with the SEC pursuant to Sections 13, 14 or 15(d) of the Exchange Act.

(j) "Stockholder Associated Person" means with respect to any stockholder, (i) any other beneficial owner of stock of the Corporation that is owned by such stockholder and (ii) any person that directly, or indirectly through one or more intermediaries, controls, or is controlled by, or is under common control with, the stockholder or such beneficial owner.

(k) "Control," including the terms "controlling," "controlled by" and "under common control with," means the possession, directly or indirectly, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a person, whether through the ownership of voting stock, by contract, or otherwise. A person who is the owner of 20% or more of the outstanding voting stock of a corporation, partnership, unincorporated association or other entity shall be presumed to have control of such entity, in the absence of proof by a preponderance of the evidence to the contrary. Notwithstanding the foregoing, a presumption of control shall not apply where such person holds voting stock, in good faith and not for the purpose of circumventing Article X of the Certificate of Incorporation, as an agent, bank, broker, nominee, custodian or trustee for one or more owners who do not individually or as a group have control of such entity.

(l) The notice requirements of this ARTICLE II, Section 2 shall be deemed satisfied with respect to stockholder proposals that have been properly brought under Rule 14a-8 of the Exchange Act and that are included in a proxy statement that has been prepared by the Corporation to solicit proxies for such annual meeting. Further, nothing in this ARTICLE II, Section 2 shall be deemed to affect any rights of the holders of any series of preferred stock of the Corporation pursuant to any applicable provision of the Certificate of Incorporation.

Section 3 Special Meetings. Special meetings of the stockholders may be called only by the Chairman of the Board, a majority of members of the Board then in office or the Chief Executive Officer. Business transacted at any special meeting of the stockholders shall be limited to the purposes stated in the notice.

Section 4 Record Date.

(a) For the purpose of determining the stockholders entitled to notice of any meeting of stockholders or any adjournment thereof, unless otherwise required by the Certificate of Incorporation or applicable law, the Board may fix a record date (the "Notice Record Date"), which record date shall not precede the date on which the resolution fixing the record date was adopted by the Board and shall not be more than 60 or less than ten days before the date of such meeting. The Notice Record Date shall also be the record date for determining the stockholders entitled to vote at such meeting unless the Board determines, at the time it fixes such Notice Record Date, that a later date on or before the date of the meeting shall be the date for making such determination (the "Voting Record Date"). Subject to ARTICLE II, Section 12, for the purposes of determining the stockholders entitled to express consent to corporate action in writing without a meeting, unless otherwise required by the Certificate of Incorporation or applicable law, the Board may fix a record date, which record date shall not precede the date on which the resolution fixing the record date was adopted by the Board and shall not be more than ten days after the date on which the record date was fixed by the Board. For the purposes of determining the stockholders entitled to receive payment of any dividend or other distribution or allotment of any rights, exercise any rights in respect of any change, conversion or exchange of stock or take any other lawful action, unless otherwise required by the Certificate of Incorporation or applicable law, the Board may fix a record date, which record date shall not precede the date on which the resolution fixing the record date was adopted by the Board and shall not be more than 60 days prior to such action.

(b) Subject to ARTICLE II, Section 12, if no such record date is fixed by the Board:

(i) The record date for determining stockholders entitled to notice of and to vote at a meeting of stockholders shall be at the close of business on the day next preceding the day on which notice is given or, if notice is waived, at the close of business on the day next preceding the day on which the meeting is held;

(ii) The record date for determining stockholders entitled to express consent to corporate action in writing without a meeting (when permitted by, and unless otherwise provided in, the Certificate of Incorporation), when no prior action by the Board is required by applicable law, shall be the first day on which a signed written consent setting forth the action taken or proposed to be taken is delivered to the Corporation in accordance with applicable law; and when prior action by the Board is required by applicable law, the record date for determining stockholders entitled to express consent to corporate action in writing without a meeting shall be at the close of business on the date on which the Board takes such prior action; and

(iii) The record date for the purposes of determining the stockholders entitled to receive payment of any dividend or other distribution or allotment of any rights, exercise any rights in respect of any change, conversion or exchange of stock or take any other lawful action shall be at the close of business on the day on which the Board adopts the resolution relating thereto.

(c) When a determination of stockholders of record entitled to notice of or to vote at any meeting of stockholders has been made as provided in this ARTICLE II, Section 4, such determination shall apply to any adjournment thereof, unless the Board fixes a new Voting Record Date for the adjourned meeting, in which case the Board shall also fix such Voting Record Date or a date earlier than such date as the new Notice Record Date for the adjourned meeting.

Section 5 Notice of Meetings of Stockholders. Whenever under the provisions of applicable law, the Certificate of Incorporation or these By-laws, stockholders are required or permitted to take any action at a meeting, a notice of the meeting in the form of a writing or electronic transmission shall be given stating the place, if any, date and hour of the meeting, the means of remote communication, if any, by which stockholders and proxy holders may be deemed to be present in person and vote at such meeting, the Notice Record Date and the Voting Record Date, if such date is different from the Notice Record Date, and, in the case of a special meeting, the purposes for which the meeting is called. Unless otherwise provided by these By-laws or applicable law, notice of any meeting shall be given, not less than ten nor more than 60 days before the date of the meeting, to each stockholder entitled to vote at such meeting as of the Notice Record Date. If mailed, such notice shall be deemed to be given when deposited in the U.S. mail, with postage prepaid, directed to the stockholder at his or her address as it appears on the records of the Corporation. If given by electronic mail, such notice shall be deemed to be given when directed to such stockholder's electronic mail address unless the stockholder has notified the Corporation in writing or by electronic transmission of an objection to receiving notice by electronic mail or such notice is prohibited pursuant to the terms of the Delaware General Corporation Law (as amended from time to time, the "DGCL"). A notice by electronic mail must include a prominent legend that the communication is an important notice regarding the Corporation. An affidavit of the Secretary or the transfer agent of the Corporation that the notice required by this ARTICLE II, Section 5 has been given shall, in the absence of fraud, be prima facie evidence of the facts stated therein. If a meeting is adjourned to another time or place, notice need not be given of the adjourned meeting if the time and place, if any, thereof, and the means of remote communication, if any, by which stockholders and proxy holders may be deemed to be present in person and vote at such adjourned meeting are announced at the meeting at which the adjournment is taken. Any business that might have been transacted at the meeting as originally called may be transacted at the adjourned meeting. If, however, the adjournment is for more than 30 days, or if after the adjournment a new Notice Record Date is fixed for the adjourned meeting, a notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given to each stockholder of record entitled to vote at the meeting. If after the adjournment a new Voting Record Date is fixed for the adjourned meeting, the Board shall fix a new Notice Record Date in accordance with ARTICLE II, Section 4(c) hereof and shall give notice of such adjourned meeting to each stockholder entitled to vote at such meeting as of the Notice Record Date.

Section 6 Waivers of Notice. Whenever the giving of any notice to stockholders is required by applicable law, the Certificate of Incorporation or these By-laws, a written waiver, signed by the stockholder entitled to notice, or a waiver by electronic transmission by such stockholder, whether before or after the event as to which such notice is required, shall be deemed equivalent to notice. Attendance by a stockholder at a meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting except when the stockholder attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting, at the beginning of the meeting, to the transaction of any business on the ground that the meeting has not been lawfully called or convened. Neither the business to be transacted at, nor the purposes of, any regular or special meeting of the stockholders need be specified in any waiver of notice.

Section 7 List of Stockholders. The Secretary shall prepare and make, at least ten days before every meeting of stockholders, a complete, alphabetical list of the stockholders entitled to vote at the meeting, and showing the address of each stockholder and the number of shares registered in the name of each stockholder. Such list may be examined by any stockholder, at the stockholder's expense, for any purpose germane to the meeting, for a period of at least ten days prior to the meeting, during ordinary business hours at the principal place of business of the Corporation or on a reasonably accessible electronic network as provided by applicable law. If the meeting is to be held at a place, the list shall also be produced and kept at the time and place of the meeting during the whole time thereof and may be inspected by any stockholder who is present. If the meeting is held solely by means of remote communication, the list shall also be open for inspection as provided by applicable law. Except as provided by applicable law, the stock ledger shall be the only evidence as to who are the stockholders entitled to examine the list of stockholders or to vote in person or by proxy at any meeting of stockholders.

Section 8 Quorum of Stockholders; Adjournment. Except as otherwise provided by these By-laws, at each meeting of stockholders, the presence in person or represented by proxy of the holders of a majority of the voting power of all outstanding shares of stock entitled to vote at the meeting of stockholders shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of any business at such meeting. In the absence of a quorum, the person presiding over the meeting in accordance with ARTICLE II, Section 11 or, in the absence of such person, the holders of a majority of the voting power of the shares of stock present in person or represented by proxy at any meeting of stockholders, including an adjourned meeting, may adjourn such meeting to another time or place. Shares of its own stock belonging to the Corporation or to another corporation, if a majority of the shares entitled to vote in the election of directors of such other corporation is held, directly or indirectly, by the Corporation, shall neither be entitled to vote nor be counted for quorum purposes; provided, however, that the foregoing shall not limit the right of the Corporation to vote stock, including but not limited to its own stock, held by it in a fiduciary capacity.

Section 9 Voting; Proxies. At any meeting of stockholders, all matters other than the election of directors, except as otherwise provided by the Certificate of Incorporation, these By-laws or any applicable law, shall be decided by the affirmative vote of a majority of the voting power of shares of stock present in person or represented by proxy and entitled to vote thereon. At all meetings of stockholders for the election of directors, directors shall be elected by a plurality of the votes cast. Each stockholder entitled to vote at a meeting of stockholders may authorize another person or persons to act for such stockholder by proxy but no such proxy shall be voted or acted upon after three years from its date, unless the proxy provides for a longer period. A proxy shall be irrevocable if it states that it is irrevocable and if, and only so long as, it is coupled with an interest sufficient in law to support an irrevocable power. A stockholder may revoke any proxy that is not irrevocable by attending the meeting and voting in person or by delivering to the Secretary a revocation of the proxy or by delivering a new duly authorized proxy bearing a later date.

Section 10 Voting Procedures and Inspectors at Meetings of Stockholders. The Board, in advance of any meeting of stockholders, shall appoint one or more inspectors, who may be employees of the Corporation, to act at the meeting and make a written report thereof. The Board may designate one or more persons as alternate inspectors to replace any inspector who fails to act. If no inspector or alternate is able to act at a meeting, the person presiding at the meeting shall appoint one or more inspectors to act at the meeting. Each inspector, before entering upon the discharge of his or her duties, shall take and sign an oath faithfully to execute the duties of inspector with strict impartiality and according to the best of his or her ability. The inspectors shall (a) ascertain the number of shares outstanding and the voting power of each, (b) determine the shares represented at the meeting and the validity of proxies and ballots, (c) count all votes and ballots, (d) determine and retain for a reasonable period a record of the disposition of any challenges made to any determination by the inspectors and (e) certify their determination of the number of shares represented at the meeting and their count of all votes and ballots. The inspectors may appoint or retain other persons or entities to assist the inspectors in the performance of their duties. Unless otherwise provided by the Board, the date and time of the opening and the closing of the polls for each matter upon which the stockholders will vote at a meeting shall be determined by the person presiding at the meeting and shall be announced at the meeting. No ballot, proxies, votes or any revocation thereof or change thereto shall be accepted by the inspectors after the closing of the polls unless the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware upon application by a stockholder shall determine otherwise. In determining the validity and counting of proxies and ballots cast at any meeting of stockholders, the inspectors may consider such information as is permitted by applicable law. No person who is a candidate for office at an election may serve as an inspector at such election.

Section 11 Conduct of Meetings; Adjournment. The Board may adopt such rules and procedures for the conduct of stockholder meetings as it deems appropriate. At each meeting of stockholders, any officer of the Corporation designated by the Board or, in the absence of such person, the Chief Executive Officer or, in the absence of the Chief Executive Officer, the Chairman shall preside over the meeting. Except to the extent inconsistent with the rules and procedures as adopted by the Board, the person presiding over the meeting of stockholders shall have the right and authority to convene, adjourn and reconvene the meeting from time to time, to prescribe such additional rules and procedures and to do all such acts as, in the judgment of such person, are appropriate for the proper conduct of the meeting. Such rules and procedures, whether adopted by the Board or prescribed by the person presiding over the meeting, may include (a) the establishment of an agenda or order of business for the meeting, (b) rules and procedures for maintaining order at the meeting and the safety of those present, (c) limitations on attendance at or participation in the meeting to stockholders of record of the Corporation, their duly authorized and constituted proxies or such other persons as the person presiding over the meeting shall determine, (d) restrictions on entry to the meeting after the time fixed for the commencement thereof and (e) limitations on the time allotted to questions or comments by participants. Subject to any prior, contrary determination by the Board, the person presiding over any meeting of stockholders, in addition to making any other determinations that may be appropriate to the conduct of the meeting, may determine and declare to the meeting that a matter or business was not properly brought before the meeting and any such matter or business not properly brought before the meeting shall not be transacted or considered. Unless and to the extent determined by the Board or the person presiding over the meeting, meetings of stockholders shall not be required to be held in accordance with the rules of parliamentary procedure. The Secretary shall act as secretary of the meeting. If none of the officers above designated to act as the person presiding over the meeting or as secretary of the meeting shall be present, a person presiding over the meeting or a secretary of the meeting, as the case may be, shall be designated by the Board and, if the Board has not so acted, in the case of the designation of a person to act as secretary of the meeting, designated by the person presiding over the meeting.

ARTICLE III

DIRECTORS

Section 1 Power; Number and Tenure. The business and affairs of the Corporation shall be managed by the Board, the number thereof to be determined in accordance with the Certificate of Incorporation. The Board may adopt such rules and procedures, not inconsistent with the Certificate of Incorporation, these By-Laws or applicable law, as it may deem proper for the conduct of its meetings and the management of the Corporation.

Section 2 Election; Resignation. Directors shall be elected for such terms and in accordance with the Certificate of Incorporation and applicable law. Each director shall hold office until such director's successor is duly elected and qualified, or until such director's earlier death, resignation, disqualification or removal. Any director may resign at any time upon written notice to the Corporation.

Section 3 Nominations of Directors.

(a) Subject to ARTICLE III, Section 3(k), only persons who are nominated in accordance with the procedures set forth in this ARTICLE III, Section 3 are eligible for election as directors.

(b) Nominations of persons for election to the Board may only be made at a meeting properly called for the election of directors and only (i) by or at the direction of the Board or any committee thereof or (ii) by a stockholder who (A) was a stockholder of record of the Corporation when the notice required by this ARTICLE III, Section 3 is delivered to the Secretary of the Corporation and at the time of the meeting, (B) is entitled to vote for the election of directors at the meeting and (C) complies with the notice and other provisions of this ARTICLE III, Section 3. Subject to ARTICLE III, Section 3(k), ARTICLE III, Section 3(b)(ii) is the exclusive means by which a stockholder may nominate a person for election to the Board. Persons nominated in accordance with ARTICLE III, Section 3(b)(ii) are referred to as "Stockholder Nominees". A stockholder nominating persons for election to the Board is referred to as the "Nominating Stockholder".

(c) Subject to ARTICLE III, Section 3(k), all nominations of Stockholder Nominees must be made by timely written notice given by or on behalf of a stockholder of record of the Corporation (the "Notice of Nomination"). To be timely, the Notice of Nomination must be delivered personally or mailed to and received at the executive office of the Corporation, addressed to the attention of the Secretary of the Corporation, by the following dates:

(i) in the case of the nomination of a Stockholder Nominee for election to the Board at an annual meeting of stockholders, no earlier than 120 days and no later than 90 days before the first anniversary of the date of the prior year's annual meeting of stockholders; provided, however, that if (A) the annual meeting of stockholders is advanced by more than 30 days, or delayed by more than 60 days, from the first anniversary of the prior year's annual meeting of stockholders, (B) no annual meeting was held during the prior year or (C) in the case of the Corporation's first annual meeting of stockholders as a corporation with a class of equity security registered under the Exchange Act, the notice by the stockholder to be timely must be received (1) no earlier than 120 days before such annual meeting and (2) no later than the later of 90 days before such annual meeting and the tenth day after the day on which the notice of such annual meeting was first made by mail or Public Disclosure, and

(ii) in the case of the nomination of a Stockholder Nominee for election to the Board at a special meeting of stockholders, no earlier than 120 days before and no later than the later of 90 days before such special meeting and the tenth day after the day on which the notice of such special meeting was first made by mail or Public Disclosure.

(d) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary, if the number of directors to be elected to the Board at a meeting of stockholders is increased and there is no Public Disclosure by the Corporation naming the nominees for the additional directorships at least 100 days before the first anniversary of the preceding year's annual meeting, a Notice of Nomination shall also be considered timely, but only with respect to nominees for the additional directorships, if it shall be delivered personally and received at the executive office of the Corporation, addressed to the attention of the Secretary of the Corporation, no later than the close of business on the tenth day following the day on which such Public Disclosure is first made by the Corporation.

(e) In no event shall an adjournment, postponement or deferral, or Public Disclosure of an adjournment, postponement or deferral, of an annual or special meeting commence a new time period (or extend any time period) for the giving of the Notice of Nomination.

(f) The Notice of Nomination shall set forth:

(i) the Stockholder Information with respect to each Nominating Stockholder and Stockholder Associated Person (except that references to the "Proponent" in ARTICLE II, Section 2(d)(i) to (iii) shall instead refer to the "Nominating Stockholder," and the disclosure required by ARTICLE II, Section 2(d)(iii)(C) may be omitted, for purposes of this ARTICLE III, Section 3(f)(i));

(ii) a representation that each Nominating Stockholder is a holder of record of stock of the Corporation entitled to vote at the meeting and intends to appear in person or by proxy at the meeting to propose such nomination;

(iii) all information regarding each Stockholder Nominee and Stockholder Associated Person that would be required to be disclosed in a solicitation of proxies subject to Section 14 of the Exchange Act, the written consent of each Stockholder Nominee to being named in a proxy statement as a nominee and to serve if elected and a completed signed questionnaire, representation and agreement required by ARTICLE III, Section 4;

(iv) a description of all direct and indirect compensation and other material monetary agreements, arrangements and understandings during the past three years, and any other material relationships, between or among a Nominating Stockholder, Stockholder Associated Person or their respective associates, or others acting in concert therewith, including all information that would be required to be disclosed pursuant to Rule 404 promulgated under Regulation S-K if the Nominating Stockholder, Stockholder Associated Person or any person acting in concert therewith, were the "registrant" for purposes of such rule and the Stockholder Nominee were a director or executive of such registrant;

(v) a representation as to whether the Nominating Stockholders intends (A) to deliver a proxy statement and form of proxy to holders of at least the percentage of the Corporation's outstanding capital stock required to approve the nomination or (B) otherwise to solicit proxies from stockholders in support of such nomination;

(vi) all other information that would be required to be filed with the SEC if the Nominating Stockholders and Stockholder Associated Person were participants in a solicitation subject to Section 14 of the Exchange Act; and

(vii) a representation that the Nominating Stockholders shall provide any other information reasonably requested by the Corporation.

(g) The Nominating Stockholders shall also provide any other information reasonably requested from time to time by the Corporation within ten business days after each such request.

(h) In addition, the Nominating Stockholder shall affirm as true and correct the information provided to the Corporation in the Notice of Nomination or at the Corporation's request pursuant to ARTICLE III, Section 3(g) (and shall update or supplement such information as needed so that such information shall be true and correct) as of (i) the record date for the meeting, (ii) the date that is ten calendar days before the first anniversary date of the Corporation's proxy statement released to stockholders in connection with the previous year's annual meeting (in the case of an annual meeting) or 50 days before the date of the meeting (in the case of a special meeting) and (iii) the date that is ten business days before the date of the meeting or any adjournment or postponement thereof. Such affirmation, update and/or supplement must be delivered personally or mailed to, and received at the executive office of the Corporation, addressed to the Secretary of the Corporation, by no later than (1) five business days after the applicable date specified in clause (i) or (ii) of the foregoing sentence (in the case of the affirmation, update and/or supplement required to be made as of those dates), and (2) not later than seven business days before the date for the meeting (in the case of the affirmation, update and/or supplement required to be made as of ten business days before the meeting or reconvening any adjournment or postponement thereof).

(i) The person presiding over the meeting shall, if the facts warrant, determine and declare to the meeting, that the nomination was not made in accordance with the procedures set forth in this ARTICLE III, Section 3. Any such defective nomination shall be disregarded.

(j) If the Nominating Stockholder (or a qualified representative of the Nominating Stockholder) does not appear at the applicable stockholder meeting to nominate the Stockholder Nominees, such nomination shall be disregarded and such Stockholder Nominees shall not be qualified for election as Directors, notwithstanding that proxies in respect of such vote may have been received by the Corporation. For purposes of this ARTICLE III, Section 3, to be considered a qualified representative of the Nominating Stockholder, a person must be a duly authorized officer, manager or partner of such Nominating Stockholder or must be authorized by a writing executed by such Nominating Stockholder or an electronic transmission delivered by such Nominating Stockholder to act for such Nominating Stockholder as proxy at the meeting of stockholders and such person must produce such writing or electronic transmission, or a reliable reproduction of the writing or electronic transmission, at the meeting of stockholders.

(k) Nothing in this ARTICLE III, Section 3 shall be deemed to affect any rights of the holders of any series of preferred stock of the Corporation pursuant to any applicable provision of the Certificate of Incorporation.

Section 4 Nominee Qualifications. To be eligible to be a nominee for election or reelection as a director, the nominee must deliver (in accordance with the time periods prescribed for delivery of a Notice of Nomination under ARTICLE III, Section 3 (in the case of a Stockholder Nominee) or in accordance with any time periods required from time to time by any policy of the Board or Corporation generally applicable to all Directors (in the case of a person nominated by or at the direction of the Board or any committee thereof)) to the Secretary of the Corporation at the executive office of the Corporation (a) a completed and signed written questionnaire (in the form provided by the Secretary upon written request) with respect to the background and qualification of such person and the background of any other person or entity on whose behalf the nomination is being made, (b) information as necessary to permit the Board to determine if each such nominee (i) is independent under applicable listing standards, any applicable rules of the SEC and any publicly disclosed standards used by the Board in determining and disclosing the independence of the directors, (ii) is not or has not been, within the past three years, an officer or director of a competitor, as defined in Section 8 of the Clayton Antitrust Act of 1914, as amended, or (iii) is not a named subject of a pending criminal proceeding (excluding traffic violations and other minor offenses) or has been convicted in a criminal proceeding within the past ten years, (c) a written representation and agreement (in the form provided by the Secretary of the Corporation upon written request) that such person (i) is not and will not become a party to (A) any agreement, arrangement or understanding with, and has not given any commitment or assurance to, any person or entity as to how such person will act or vote as a Director on any issue or question (a "Voting Commitment") that has not been disclosed to the Corporation or (B) any Voting Commitment that could limit or interfere with such person's ability to comply with such person's fiduciary duties as a Director under applicable law, (ii) is not and will not become a party to any agreement, arrangement or understanding with any person or entity other than the Corporation with respect to any direct or indirect compensation, reimbursement or indemnification in connection with service or action as a director that has not been disclosed to the Corporation, (iii) will comply with all applicable publicly disclosed corporate governance, conflict of interest, confidentiality and stock ownership and trading and other policies and guidelines of the Corporation that are applicable to directors and (iv) currently intends to serve as a director for the full term for which he or she is standing for election and (d) such person's written consent to being named as a nominee for election of a Director and to serving as a Director if elected.

Section 5 Vacancies. Any vacancy occurring on the Board shall be filled in the manner prescribed in the Certificate of Incorporation.

Section 6 Regular Meetings. Regular meetings of the Board shall be held at such dates, times and places as may be designated by the Chairman of the Board or a majority of the members of the Board then in office. Notice of regular meetings need not be given if the date, times and places thereof are fixed by resolution of the Board.

Section 7 Special Meetings. Special meetings of the Board may be called by or at the request of the Chairman of the Board, the Chief Executive Officer or a majority of the members of the Board then in office. The person or persons calling a special meeting of the Board may fix a place and time within or without the State of Delaware for holding such meeting.

Section 8 Notice. Notice of any regular meeting or special meeting shall be given to each director, either orally, by facsimile or other means of electronic communication or by hand delivery, addressed to each director at his or her address as it appears on the records of the Corporation. If notice be by facsimile or other means of electronic communication, such notice shall be deemed to be adequately delivered when the notice is transmitted at least 24 hours before such meeting. If by telephone or by hand delivery, the notice shall be given at least 24 hours prior to the time set for the meeting. Neither the business to be transacted at, nor the purpose of, any regular or special meeting of the Board need be specified in the notice of such meeting.

Section 9 Waiver of Notice. Whenever the giving of any notice to directors is required by applicable law, the Certificate of Incorporation or these By-laws, a written waiver signed by the director, or a waiver by electronic transmission by such director, whether before or after such notice is required, shall be deemed equivalent to notice. Attendance by a director at a meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting except when the director attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting, at the beginning of the meeting, to the transaction of any business on the ground that the meeting was not lawfully called or convened. Neither the business to be transacted at, nor the purpose of, any regular or special Board or Directors or committee meeting need be specified in any waiver of notice.

Section 10 Organization. At each meeting of the Board, the Chairman or, in his or her absence, another Director selected by the Board shall preside. The Secretary shall act as secretary at each meeting of the Board. If the Secretary is absent from any meeting of the Board, the person presiding at the meeting may appoint any person to act as secretary of the meeting.

Section 11 Quorum. At all meetings of the Board, a majority of the total number of directors shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; provided, however, that in no case shall a quorum consist of less than one-third of the total number of directors that the Corporation would have if there were no vacancies on the Board.

Section 12 Adjourned Meetings. A majority of the directors present at any meeting of the Board, including an adjourned meeting, whether or not a quorum is present, may adjourn and reconvene such meeting to another time and place. Notice of any adjourned meeting of the Board shall be given to each director whether or not present at the time of the adjournment; provided, however, that notice of the adjourned meeting need not be given if (a) the adjournment is for 24 hours or less and (b) the time, place, if any, and means of remote communication, if any, are announced at the meeting at which the adjournment is taken. Any business may be transacted at an adjourned meeting that might have been transacted at the meeting as originally called.

Section 13 Action by Majority Vote. Except as otherwise expressly required by these By-laws or the Certificate of Incorporation, the vote of a majority of the directors present at a meeting at which a quorum is present shall be the act of the Board.

Section 14 Action Without Meeting. Any action required or permitted to be taken at any meeting of the Board or of any committee thereof may be taken without a meeting if all members of the Board or such committee, as the case may be, consent thereto in writing or by electronic communication and such written consent or consents and copies of such communication or communications are filed with the minutes of proceedings of the Board or committee.

Section 15 Action by Conference Telephone. Members of the Board or any committee thereof may participate in a meeting of such Board or committee by means of a conference telephone or other communications equipment by means of which all persons participating in the meeting can hear each other at the same time, and such participation in a meeting shall constitute presence in person at such meeting.

Section 16 Committees. The Board may from time to time designate one or more committees of the Board in accordance with Section 141(c) of the DGCL. Unless the Board provides otherwise, at all meetings of such committee, a majority of the then authorized number of members of the committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and the vote of a majority of the members of the committee present at any meeting at which there is a quorum shall be the act of the committee. Each committee shall keep regular minutes of its meetings. Unless the Board provides otherwise, each committee designated by the Board may make, alter and repeal rules and procedures for the conduct of its business. In the absence of such rules and procedures each committee shall conduct its business in the same manner as the Board conducts its business pursuant to this ARTICLE III.

Section 17 Chairman of the Board. The Corporation may have, at the discretion of the Board, a Chairman of the Board who shall be elected by the Board from their own numbers and shall preside as Chairman at all meetings of the stockholders and of the Board. The Chairman shall have such other powers and duties as provided in these By-laws and as the Board may from time to time prescribe.

ARTICLE IV

OFFICERS

Section 1 Positions; Election. The offices of the Corporation shall include a Chief Executive Officer, a President, a Secretary and a Treasurer and such other offices, including a Chief Operating Officer and a Chief Financial Officer, as the Board may elect from time to time. All officers elected by the Board shall each exercise such powers and perform such duties as shall be determined by the Board from time to time. Any number of offices may be held by the same person.

Section 2 Term of Office. Each officer of the Corporation shall hold office until such officer's successor is elected by the Board or until such officer's earlier death, resignation or removal. Any officer may resign at any time upon written notice to the Corporation. Such resignation shall take effect at the time of receipt of such notice or at such later time, or at such later time determined upon the happening of an event, as is therein specified. The resignation of an officer shall be without prejudice to the contract rights of the Corporation, if any. Any officer may be removed at any time with or without cause by the Board. Any vacancy occurring in any office of the Corporation may be filled by the Board. The election or appointment of an officer shall not of itself create contract rights.

Section 3 Chief Executive Officer. The Chief Executive Officer shall have general supervision over the business of the Corporation and other duties incident to the office of Chief Executive Officer, and any other duties as may from time to time be assigned to the Chief Executive Officer by the Board and subject to the control of the Board in each case.

Section 4 President. The President shall act in a general executive capacity and shall assist the Chief Executive Officer in the administration and operation of the Corporation's business and general supervision of its policies and affairs and shall, in general, perform all duties incident to the office of President of a corporation and such other duties as may from time to time be assigned to the President by the Board or the Chief Executive Officer.

Section 5 Chief Operating Officer. The Chief Operating Officer shall, in general, perform all duties incident to the office of Chief Operating Officer of a corporation and such other duties as may from time to time be assigned to the Chief Operating Officer by the Board or the Chief Executive Officer.

Section 6 Chief Financial Officer. The Chief Financial Officer shall act in an executive financial capacity. The Chief Financial Officer shall assist the Chief Executive Officer and the President in the general supervision of the Corporation's financial policies and affairs. The Chief Financial Officer shall, in general, perform all duties incident to the office of Chief Financial Officer of a corporation and such other duties as may from time to time be assigned to the Chief Financial Officer by the Board or the Chief Executive Officer.

Section 7 Secretary. The Secretary shall record all the proceedings of the meetings of the Board and of the stockholders in a book to be kept for that purpose and perform like duties for committees of the Board, when required. The Secretary shall give, or cause to be given, notice of all special meetings of the Board and all meetings of the stockholders and, in general, perform all duties incident to the office of secretary of a corporation and such other duties as may from time to time be assigned to the Secretary by the Board or the Chief Executive Officer.

Section 8 Treasurer. The Treasurer shall have charge and custody of, and be responsible for, all funds, securities and notes of the Corporation and, in general, perform all duties incident to the office of Treasurer of a corporation and such other duties as may from time to time be assigned to the Treasurer by the Board or the Chief Executive Officer.

Section 9 Actions with Respect to Securities of Other Entities. All stock and other securities of other entities owned or held by the Corporation for itself, or for other parties in any capacity, shall be voted (including by written consent), and all proxies with respect thereto shall be executed, by the person or persons authorized to do so by resolution of the Board or, in the absence of such authorization, by the Chief Executive Officer, the President, the Chief Operating Officer, the Chief Financial Officer, the Secretary or the Treasurer. The authority granted herein may be exercised either by such person directly or by any other person authorized to do so by proxy or power of attorney duly executed by the person having such authority.

ARTICLE V

CERTIFICATES OF STOCK

Section 1 Certificates Representing Shares. The shares of stock of the Corporation shall be represented by certificates, provided that the Board may provide by resolution or resolutions that some or all of any or all classes or series of its stock shall be uncertificated shares. If shares are represented by certificates (if any) such certificates shall be in the form approved by the Board. Every holder of stock represented by certificates shall be entitled to have a certificate signed by, or in the name of, the Corporation by any two authorized officers of the Corporation. Any or all such signatures may be facsimiles. Although any officer, transfer agent or registrar whose manual or facsimile signature is affixed to such a certificate ceases to be such officer, transfer agent or registrar before such certificate has been issued, it may nevertheless be issued by the Corporation with the same effect as if such officer, transfer agent or registrar were still such at the date of its issue.

Section 2 Transfer and Registry Agents. The Corporation may from time to time maintain one or more transfer offices or agents and registry offices or agents at such place or places as may be determined from time to time by the Board.

Section 3 Lost, Stolen or Destroyed Certificates. The Corporation may issue a new certificate of stock in the place of any certificate theretofore issued by it, alleged to have been lost, stolen or destroyed, and the Corporation may require the owner of the lost, stolen or destroyed certificate or his legal representative to give the Corporation a bond sufficient to indemnify it against any claim that may be made against it on account of the alleged loss, theft or destruction of any such certificate or the issuance of such new certificate.

INDEMNIFICATION

Section 1 Right to Indemnification. The Corporation shall indemnify and hold harmless, to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law as it presently exists or may hereafter be amended, any person (a "Covered Person") who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any threatened, pending or completed action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (a "Proceeding"), by reason of the fact that he or she, or a person for whom he or she is the legal representative, is or was a director or officer of the Corporation or, while a director or officer of the Corporation, is or was serving at the request of the Corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another entity or enterprise, including service with respect to employee benefit plans, against all liability and loss suffered and expenses (including attorneys' fees), judgments, fines and amounts paid in settlement (except for judgments, fines and amounts paid in settlement in any action or suit by or in the right of the Corporation to procure a judgment in its favor) actually and reasonably incurred by such Covered Person. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, except as otherwise provided in ARTICLE VI, Section 3, the Corporation shall be required to indemnify a Covered Person in connection with a Proceeding (or part thereof) commenced by such Covered Person only if the commencement of such Proceeding (or part thereof) by the Covered Person was authorized by the Board.

Section 2 Prepayment of Expenses. To the extent not prohibited by applicable law, the Corporation shall pay the expenses (including attorneys' fees) incurred by a Covered Person in defending any Proceeding in advance of its final disposition; provided, however, that, to the extent required by applicable law, such payment of expenses in advance of the final disposition of the Proceeding shall be made only upon receipt of an undertaking by the Covered Person to repay all amounts advanced if it should be ultimately determined that the Covered Person is not entitled to be indemnified under this ARTICLE VI or otherwise.

Section 3 Claims. If a claim for indemnification or advancement of expenses under this ARTICLE VI is not paid in full within 30 days after a written claim therefor by the Covered Person has been received by the Corporation, the Covered Person may file suit to recover the unpaid amount of such claim and, if successful in whole or in part, shall be entitled to be paid the expense of prosecuting such claim. In any such action the Corporation shall have the burden of proving that the Covered Person is not entitled to the requested indemnification or advancement of expenses under applicable law.

Section 4 Nonexclusivity of Rights. The rights conferred on any Covered Person by this ARTICLE VI shall not be exclusive of any other rights that such Covered Person may have or hereafter acquire under any statute, provision of these Bylaws, the Certificate of Incorporation, agreement, vote of stockholders or disinterested directors or otherwise.

Section 5 Other Sources. Subject to ARTICLE VI, Section 6, the Corporation's obligation, if any, to indemnify or to advance expenses to any Covered Person who was or is serving at its request as a director, officer, employee or agent of another entity or enterprise shall be reduced by any amount such Covered Person may collect as indemnification or advancement of expenses from such other entity or enterprise.

Section 6 Indemnitor of First Resort. In all events, (i) the Corporation hereby agrees that it is the indemnitor of first resort (i.e., its obligation to a Covered Person to provide advancement and/or indemnification to such Covered Person are primary and any obligation of any stockholder of the Corporation (including any affiliate thereof other than the Corporation) to provide advancement or indemnification hereunder or under any other indemnification agreement (whether pursuant to contract, by-laws or charter), or any obligation of any insurer of any stockholder (or any affiliate thereof, other than the Corporation) to provide insurance coverage, for the same expenses, liabilities, judgments, penalties, fines and amounts paid in settlement (including all interest, assessments and other charges paid or payable in connection with or in respect of such expenses, liabilities, judgments, penalties, fines and amounts paid in settlement) incurred by such Covered Person are secondary and (ii) if any stockholder (or any affiliate thereof, other than the Corporation) pays or causes to be paid, for any reason, any amounts otherwise indemnifiable hereunder or under any other indemnification agreement (whether pursuant to contract, by-laws or charter) with such Covered Person, then (x) such stockholder (or such affiliate, as the case may be), as the case may be, shall be fully subrogated to all rights of such Covered Person with respect to such payment and (y) the Corporation shall fully indemnify, reimburse and hold harmless such stockholder (or such other affiliate), as the case may be, for all such payments actually made by such stockholder (or such other affiliate).

Section 7 Amendment or Repeal. Any amendment or repeal of the foregoing provisions of this ARTICLE VI shall not adversely affect any right or protection hereunder of any Covered Person in respect of any act or omission occurring prior to the time of such amendment or repeal.

Section 8 Other Indemnification and Prepayment of Expenses. This ARTICLE VI shall not limit the right of the Corporation, to the extent and in the manner permitted by applicable law, to indemnify and to advance expenses to persons other than Covered Persons when and as authorized by appropriate corporate action.

ARTICLE VII

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 1 Fiscal Year. The fiscal year of the Corporation shall be established by the Board.

Section 2 Seal. The Corporation may have a corporate seal, which shall be in such form as may be approved from time to time by the Board. The seal may be used by causing it or a facsimile thereof to be impressed or affixed or otherwise reproduced.

Section 3 Form of Records. Any records administered by or on behalf of the Corporation in the regular course of its business, including its stock ledger, books of account, and minute books, may be kept on, or by means of, or be in the form of, any information storage device, method, or one or more electronic networks or databases (including one or more distributed electronic networks or databases); provided that the records so kept can be converted into clearly legible paper form within a reasonable time, and, with respect to the stock ledger, that the records so kept (i) can be used to prepare the list of stockholders specified in Sections 219 and 220 of the DGCL, (ii) record the information specified in Sections 156, 159, 217(a) and 218 of the DGCL and (iii) record transfers of stock as governed by Article 8 of the Uniform Commercial Code as enacted in the State of Delaware, 6 Del. C. §§8-101 et seq. The Corporation shall convert any records so kept into clearly legible paper form upon the request of any person entitled to inspect such records pursuant to any provision of the DGCL.

Section 4 Conflict with Applicable Law or Certificate of Incorporation. These By-laws are adopted subject to any applicable law and the Certificate of Incorporation. Whenever these By-laws may conflict with any applicable law or the Certificate of Incorporation, such conflict shall be resolved in favor of such law or the Certificate of Incorporation.

ARTICLE VIII

AMENDMENTS

Any alteration, amendment or repeal of these By-Laws may be made in the manner provided by the Certificate of Incorporation and applicable law.

ARTICLE II

REGISTRATION RIGHTS

2.1 Demand Rights.

(a) Demand Rights. Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement (including Section 2.1(b)), at any time upon written notice delivered by a Registration Party (a "Demand") at any time requesting that the Company effect the registration (a "Demand Registration") under the Securities Act of any or all of the Registrable Securities held by such Registration Party, which Demand shall specify the number and type of such Registrable Securities to be included in such registration and the intended method or methods of disposition of such Registrable Securities, the Company shall, as promptly as reasonably practicable, give written notice of such Demand to all other Registration Parties and shall, as promptly as reasonably practicable, at any time after the expiration or waiver of the lock-up agreements delivered pursuant to the underwriting agreement relating to the IPO, file the appropriate registration statement and use reasonable best efforts to effect the registration under the Securities Act and applicable state securities laws of (i) the Registrable Securities which the Company has been so requested to register for sale by such Registration Party in the Demand, and (ii) all other Registrable Securities which the Company has been requested to register for sale by such other Registration Parties by written request given to the Company within 10 days after the giving of such written notice by the Company (which request shall specify the intended method of disposition of such Registrable Securities), in each case subject to Section 2.1(f), all to the extent required to permit the disposition (in accordance with such intended methods of disposition) of the Registrable Securities to be so registered for sale. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the event the method of disposition is an underwritten offering, the right of any Registration Party to include Registrable Securities in such registration shall be conditioned upon such Registration Party's participation in such underwriting and the inclusion of such Registration Party's Registrable Securities in the underwriting (unless otherwise agreed by the Registration Parties with a majority of the Registrable Securities participating in the registration and by the requesting Registration Party) to the extent provided in this Agreement, and all Registration Parties proposing to distribute their Registrable Securities through such underwriting shall (together with the Company as provided in Section 2.7) enter into an underwriting agreement in customary form with the underwriter or underwriters selected for such underwriting.

(b) Limitations on Demand Rights. Any Demand by a Registration Party shall include a number of Registrable Securities that equals or is greater than the lesser of (i) 1.0% of the total Registrable Securities then outstanding and (ii) $20 million (such value shall be determined based on the value of such Registrable Securities on the date immediately preceding the date upon which the Demand has been received by the Company).

(c) Assignment. In connection with the Transfer of Registrable Securities to any Person other than by operation of law, a Registration Party may assign to any Transferee of such Registrable Securities (i) the right to make Demands pursuant to Section 2.1(a) and (ii) the right to participate in or effect any registration and/or Shelf Take-Down pursuant to the terms of Section 2.1(a), Section 2.2, Section 2.3 and Section 2.4, in each case to the extent that such Transferor has such rights. In connection with the Transfer of Registrable Securities by operation of law to any Permitted Transferee of Gilbert, a Transferee of such Registrable Securities shall be assigned (i) the right to make Demands pursuant to Section 2.1(a) and (ii) the right to participate in or effect any registration and/or Shelf Take-Down pursuant to the terms of Section 2.1(a), Section 2.2, Section 2.3 and Section 2.4, in each case to the extent that such Transferor has such rights. In the event of any such assignment, references to the Registration Parties in this Agreement shall be deemed to refer to such Transferee if such Transferee is making any Demand or otherwise exercising its registration rights hereunder. In each of the foregoing cases, as a condition to such Transfer, a Transferee shall enter into a joinder agreement in the form attached hereto as Annex A to become party to this Agreement and expressly be subject to Section 2.12 herein. If any such Transferee is an individual and married, as a condition to such Transfer, such Transferee shall deliver to the Company a duly executed copy of a spousal consent in the form attached hereto as Annex B. In the event of any such assignment, references to the Registration Party in Section 2.12 shall be deemed to refer to such Transferee. In addition, in each of the foregoing cases, the relevant Registration Party shall, as promptly as reasonably practicable, give written notice of any such assignment to the Company and, in the case of an assignment by a Registration Party, the other Registration Parties in accordance with the addresses and other contact information set forth under Section 3.1.

(d) Company Blackout Rights. With respect to any registration statement filed, or to be filed, including any amendment, renewal or replacement thereof, pursuant to this Section 2.1, if (i) the board of directors of the Company determines in good faith after consultation with outside counsel that such registration would cause the Company to disclose material non-public information, which disclosure (x) would be required to be made in any registration statement so that such registration statement would not be materially misleading, (y) would not be required to be made at such time but for the filing or effectiveness of such registration statement and (z) would be materially detrimental to the Company or would materially interfere with any material financing, acquisition, corporate reorganization or merger or other similar transaction involving the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, and that, as a result of such potential disclosure or interference, it is in the best interests of the Company to defer the filing or effectiveness of such registration statement at such time or suspend the Selling Holders' use of any prospectus which is a part of the registration statement, and (ii) the Company furnishes to the Selling Holders a certificate signed by the chief executive officer of the Company to that effect, then the Company shall have the right to defer such filing or effectiveness or suspend the continuance of such effectiveness for a period of not more than 120 days (in which event, in the case of a suspension, such Selling Holder shall discontinue sales of Registrable Securities pursuant to such registration statement); provided, that the Company shall not use this right, together with any other deferral or suspension of the Company's obligations under Section 2.1 or Section 2.3, more than once in any 12-month period. The Company shall as promptly as reasonably practicable notify the Selling Holders of the expiration of any deferral or suspension period during which it exercised its rights under this Section 2.1(d). The Company agrees that, in the event it exercises its rights under this Section 2.1(d), it shall, as promptly as reasonably practicable following the expiration of the applicable deferral or suspension period, file or update and use its reasonable best efforts to cause the effectiveness of, as applicable, the applicable deferred or suspended registration statement or prospectus which is a part of the registration statement.

(e) Fulfillment of Registration Obligations. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, a registration requested pursuant to this Section 2.1 shall not be deemed to have been effected: (i) if the registration statement is withdrawn without becoming effective; (ii) if after it has become effective such registration is interfered with by any stop order, injunction or other order or requirement of the SEC or any other Governmental Authority for any reason other than a misrepresentation or an omission by a Selling Holder that is the Registration Party, or an Affiliate of the Registration Party (other than the Company and its controlled Affiliates), that made the Demand relating to such registration and, as a result thereof, the Registrable Securities requested to be registered cannot be completely distributed in accordance with the plan of distribution set forth in the related registration statement; (iii) if the registration does not contemplate an underwritten offering, if it does not remain effective for at least 180 days (or such shorter period as will terminate when all securities covered by such registration statement have been sold or withdrawn); or if such registration statement contemplates an underwritten offering, if it does not remain effective for at least 180 days plus such longer period as, in the opinion of counsel for the underwriter or underwriters, a prospectus is required by applicable law to be delivered in connection with the sale of Registrable Securities by an underwriter or dealer; or (iv) in the event of an underwritten offering, if the conditions to closing (including any condition relating to an overallotment option) specified in the purchase agreement or underwriting agreement entered into in connection with such registration are not satisfied or waived other than by reason of some wrongful act or omission by a Selling Holder that is the Registration Party, or an Affiliate of the Registration Party, that made the Demand relating to such registration.

(f) Cutbacks in Demand Registration. If the lead underwriter or managing underwriter advises the Company in writing (with a copy to each Selling Holder) that, in such firm's good faith view, the number of Registrable Securities and Other Securities requested to be included in a Demand Registration exceeds the number which can be sold in such offering without being likely to have a significant adverse effect upon the price, timing or distribution of the offering and sale of the Registrable Securities and Other Securities then contemplated, the Company shall include in such registration:

(1) first, Registrable Securities owned by the Registration Parties that are requested to be included in such registration pursuant to Section 2.1(a) and that can be sold without having the significant adverse effect referred to above, pro rata on the basis of the relative number of such Registrable Securities owned by the Registration Parties requesting inclusion in such registration;

(2) second, shares of Common Stock that the Company proposes to sell for its own account that can be sold without having the significant adverse effect referred to above; and

(3) third, the Other Securities owned by any holder thereof with a contractual right to include such Other Securities in such registration that can be sold without having the significant adverse effect referred to above, pro rata on the basis of the relative number of such Other Securities owned by the Persons requesting inclusion in such registration.

2.2 Piggyback Registration Rights.

(a) Notice and Exercise of Rights. If the Company at any time proposes or is required to register any of its Common Stock or any other Equity Securities under the Securities Act (other than a Demand Registration pursuant to Section 2.1 or a registration pursuant to Section 2.3), whether or not for sale for its own account, in a manner that would permit registration of Registrable Securities for sale for cash to the public under the Securities Act, subject to the last sentence of this Section 2.2(a), it shall at each such time give written notice (the "Piggyback Notice"), as promptly as reasonably practicable, to each Registration Party of its intention to do so, which Piggyback Notice shall specify the number of shares of such Common Stock or other Equity Securities to be included in such registration. Upon the written request of any Registration Party made within 10 days after receipt of the Piggyback Notice by such Person (which request shall specify the number of Registrable Securities intended to be disposed of), subject to the other provisions of this Article II, the Company shall effect, in connection with the registration of such Common Stock or other Equity Securities, the registration under the Securities Act of all Registrable Securities which the Company has been so requested to register; provided, that in no event shall the Company be required to register pursuant to this Section 2.2 any securities other than Common Stock. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Section 2.2, the Company shall not be required to effect any registration of Registrable Securities under this Section 2.2 incidental to the registration of any of its securities on Forms S-4 or S-8 (or any similar or successor form providing for the registration of securities in connection with mergers, acquisitions, exchange offers, subscription offers, dividend reinvestment plans or stock option or other executive or employee benefit or compensation plans) or any other form that would not be available for registration of Registrable Securities.

(b) Determination Not to Effect Registration. If at any time after giving such Piggyback Notice and prior to the effective date of the registration statement filed in connection with such registration the Company shall determine for any reason not to register the securities originally intended to be included in such registration, the Company may, at its election, give written notice of such determination to the Selling Holders and thereupon the Company shall be relieved of its obligation to register such Registrable Securities in connection with the registration of securities originally intended to be included in such registration, without prejudice, however, to the right of a Registration Party immediately to request that such registration be effected as a registration under Section 2.1 (including a shelf registration under Section 2.3) to the extent permitted thereunder.

(c) Cutbacks in Company Offering. If the registration referred to in the first sentence of Section 2.2(a) is to be an underwritten registration on behalf of the Company, and the lead underwriter or managing underwriter advises the Company in writing (with a copy to each Selling Holder) that, in such firm's good faith view, the number of Other Securities and Registrable Securities requested to be included in such registration exceeds the number which can be sold in such offering without being likely to have a significant adverse effect upon the price, timing or distribution of the offering and sale of the Other Securities and Registrable Securities then contemplated, the Company shall include in such registration:

(1) first, all securities proposed to be registered on behalf the Company;

(2) second, Registrable Securities owned by the Registration Parties that are requested to be included in such registration pursuant to this Section 2.2 and that can be sold without having the significant adverse effect referred to above, pro rata on the basis of the relative number of such Registrable Securities owned by the Registration Parties requesting inclusion in such registration; and

(3) third, the Other Securities that are requested to be included in such registration pursuant to the terms of any agreement providing for registration rights to which the Company is a party that can be sold without having the significant adverse effect referred to above, pro rata on the basis of the relative number of such Other Securities owned by the Persons requesting inclusion in such registration.

(d) Cutbacks in Other Offerings. If the registration referred to in the first sentence of Section 2.2(a) is to be an underwritten registration other than on behalf of the Company, and the lead underwriter or managing underwriter advises the Selling Holders in writing (with a copy to the Company) that, in such firm's good faith view, the number of Registrable Securities and Other Securities requested to be included in such registration exceeds the number which can be sold in such offering without being likely to have a significant adverse effect upon the price, timing or distribution of the offering and sale of the Registrable Securities and Other Securities then contemplated, the Company shall include in such registration:

(1) first, the Other Securities held by any holder thereof with a contractual right to include such Other Securities in such registration prior to any other Person;

(2) second, Registrable Securities owned by the Registration Parties that are requested to be included in such registration pursuant to this Section 2.2 and that can be sold without having the significant adverse effect referred to above, pro rata on the basis of the relative number of such Registrable Securities owned by the Registration Parties requesting inclusion in such registration;

(3) third, shares of Common Stock that the Company proposes to sell for its own account that can be sold without having the significant adverse effect referred to above; and

(4) fourth, the Other Securities that are requested to be included in such registration pursuant to the terms of any agreement providing for registration rights to which the Company is a party that can be sold without having the significant adverse effect referred to above, pro rata on the basis of the relative number of such Other Securities owned by the Persons requesting inclusion in such registration.

2.3 Form S-3 Registration; Shelf Registration.

(a) Notwithstanding anything in Section 2.1 or Section 2.2 to the contrary, in case the Company shall receive from any Registration Party a written request or requests that the Company effect a registration on Form S-3 and any related qualification or compliance with respect to all or a part of the Registrable Securities owned by such Registration Party, and the Company is then eligible to use Form S-3 for the resale of Registrable Securities, the Company shall:

(1) as promptly as reasonably practicable, give written notice of the proposed registration, and any related qualification or compliance, to all other Registration Parties; and

(2) as promptly as reasonably practicable, file and use reasonable best efforts to effect such registration and all such qualifications and compliances as may be so requested and as would permit or facilitate the sale and distribution of all or such portion of such Registration Party's Registrable Securities as are specified in such request, together with all or such portion of the Registrable Securities of any other Registration Party joining in such request as are specified in a written request given within 15 days after receipt of such written notice from the Company; provided, that the Company shall not be obligated to effect any such registration, qualification or compliance pursuant to this Section 2.3 (or, with respect to a request under Section 2.4, any Shelf Take-Down pursuant to Section 2.4):

(A) if Form S-3 is not available for such offering by the Registration Parties;

(B) solely with respect to filing and causing the effectiveness of a registration on Form S-3 or effecting a Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down, if the Registration Parties, together with the holders of any Registrable Securities entitled to inclusion in such registration (or Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down, as applicable), propose to sell Registrable Securities at an aggregate price to the public (before any underwriters' discounts or commissions) of less than $20 million;

(C) if the board of directors of the Company determines in good faith after consultation with outside counsel that such Form S-3 registration would cause the Company to disclose material non-public information, which disclosure (x) would be required to be made in any registration statement so that such registration statement would not be materially misleading, (y) would not be required to be made at such time but for the filing or effectiveness of such registration statement and (z) would be materially detrimental to the Company or would materially interfere with any material financing, acquisition, corporate reorganization or merger or other similar transaction involving the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, and that, as a result of such potential disclosure or interference, it is in the best interests of the Company to defer the filing or effectiveness of such registration statement (or, with respect to a Shelf Take-Down under Section 2.4, the sale of securities of the Company pursuant to such Form S-3 Registration Statement) at such time, then the Company shall have the right to defer such filing of the Form S-3 Registration Statement (or Shelf Take-Down) for a period of not more than 120 days after receipt of the request of the Registration Party under this Section 2.3 (or Section 2.4, as applicable); provided, that the Company shall not use this right, together with any other deferral or suspension of the Company's obligations under Section 2.1 or Section 2.3, more than once in any 12-month period. The Company shall as promptly as reasonably practicable notify the Selling Holders of the expiration of any deferral period during which it exercised its rights under this Section 2.3(a)(2)(C). The Company agrees that, in the event it exercises its rights under this Section 2.3(a)(2)(C), it shall, as promptly as reasonably practicable following the expiration of the applicable deferral period, file or update and use its reasonable best efforts to cause the effectiveness of, as applicable, the applicable deferred registration statement (or Shelf Take-Down);

(D) solely with respect to filing and causing the effectiveness of a registration on Form S-3, subject to Section 2.3(d), if the Company has, within the 90-day period preceding the date of such request, already effected one registration on Form S-3 for a Registration Party pursuant to this Section 2.3 (but, for the avoidance of doubt, regardless of whether any Shelf Take-Downs have been effected during such period); provided, that any such registration shall be deemed to have been "effected" if the registration statement relating thereto (x) has become or been declared or ordered effective under the Securities Act, and any of the Registrable Securities of the

Registration Party included in such registration have actually been sold thereunder, and (y) has remained effective for a period of at least 180 days; or

(E) in any particular jurisdiction in which the Company would be required to qualify to do business or to execute a general consent to service of process in effecting such registration, qualification or compliance.

(b) Subject to the foregoing, the Company shall file a registration statement covering the Registrable Securities so requested to be registered, as promptly as reasonably practicable, after receipt of the request or requests of the Registration Parties (the "Form S-3 Registration Statement") and any such Registration Party may request inclusion of a plan of distribution in accordance with Section 2.7(i) and/or that such Form S-3 Registration Statement constitute a shelf offering on a delayed or continuous basis in accordance with Rule 415 under the Securities Act (a "Form S-3 Shelf Registration Statement"), in which case the provisions of Section 2.4 shall also be applicable.

(c) If a Registration Party intends to distribute the Registrable Securities covered by its request under this Section 2.3 by means of a Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down pursuant to Section 2.4(b), it shall so advise the Company as a part of its request made pursuant to this Section 2.3 and, subject to the limitations set forth in Section 2.3(a), the Company shall include such information in the written notice referred to in Section 2.3(a). In such event, the right of any Registration Party to include Registrable Securities in such registration (or Underwritten Shelf Take-Down, as applicable) shall be conditioned upon such Registration Party's participation in such underwriting and the inclusion of such Registration Party's Registrable Securities in the underwriting (unless otherwise agreed by the Registration Parties with a majority of the Registrable Securities participating in the registration and by the requesting Registration Party) to the extent provided in this Agreement. All Registration Parties proposing to distribute their securities through such underwriting shall (together with the Company as provided in Section 2.7) enter into an underwriting agreement in customary form with the underwriter or underwriters selected for such underwriting. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Section 2.3 or Section 2.4, if the lead underwriter or managing underwriter advises the Company in writing (with a copy to each Selling Holder) that, in such firm's good faith view, the number of Registrable Securities and Other Securities requested to be included in such offering exceeds the number which can be sold in such offering without being likely to have a significant adverse effect upon the price, timing or distribution of the offering and sale of the Registrable Securities and Other Securities then contemplated, the Company shall include in such offering:

(1) first, Registrable Securities owned by the Registration Parties that are requested to be included in such registration pursuant to Section 2.3 and Section 2.4 and that can be sold without having the significant adverse effect referred to above, pro rata on the basis of the relative number of such Registrable Securities owned by the Registration Parties requesting inclusion in such registration;

(2) second, shares of Common Stock that the Company proposes to sell for its own account that can be sold without having the significant adverse effect referred to above; and

(3) third, the Other Securities owned by any holder thereof with a contractual right to include such Other Securities in such offering that can be sold without having the significant adverse effect referred to above, pro rata on the basis of the relative number of such Other Securities owned by the Persons seeking inclusion in such offering.

(d) Notwithstanding the foregoing, if the Company shall receive from any Registration Party of Registrable Securities then outstanding a written request or requests under Section 2.3 that the Company effect a registration statement on Form S-3 that includes only those items and that information that is required to be included in parts I and II of such Form, and does not include any additional or extraneous items of information (e.g., a lengthy description of the Company or the Company's business) (an "Ordinary S-3 Registration Statement"), then Section 2.3(a)(2)(D) shall not apply to such Ordinary S-3 Registration Statement request.

(e) Upon the written request of any Registration Party, prior to the expiration of effectiveness of any existing Form S-3 Shelf Registration Statement in accordance with Rule 415, the Company shall file and seek the effectiveness of a new Form S-3 Shelf Registration Statement in order to permit the continued offering of the Registrable Securities included under such existing Form S-3 Shelf Registration Statement.

2.4 Shelf Take-Downs.

(a) Any Selling Holder of Registrable Securities included in a Form S-3 Shelf Registration Statement (an "Initiating Shelf Holder") may initiate an offering or sale of all or part of such Registrable Securities (a "Shelf Take-Down"), in which case the provisions of this Section 2.4 shall apply.

(b) If an Initiating Shelf Holder so elects in a written request delivered to the Company (an "Underwritten Shelf Take-Down Notice"), a Shelf Take-Down may be in the form of an underwritten offering (an "Underwritten Shelf Take-Down") and, subject to the limitations set forth in the proviso to Section 2.3(a)(2) as modified by Section 2.3(d), the Company shall file and effect an amendment or supplement to its Shelf Registration Statement (including the filing of a supplemental prospectus) for such purpose as promptly as reasonably practicable. Such Initiating Shelf Holder shall indicate in such Underwritten Shelf Take-Down Notice whether it intends for such Underwritten Shelf Take-Down to involve a customary "road show" (including an "electronic road show") or other substantial marketing effort by the underwriters over a period of at least 48 hours (a "Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down"). Upon receipt of an Underwritten Shelf Take-Down Notice indicating that such Underwritten Shelf Take-Down will be a Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down, the Company shall as promptly as reasonably practicable (but in any event no later than two Business Days after receipt of the notice for such Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down) give written notice of such Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down to all other Shelf Holders and shall permit the participation of all such Shelf Holders that request inclusion in such Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down who respond in writing within three Business Days after the receipt of such notice of their election to participate. The provisions of Section 2.3(c) (other than the first sentence thereof) shall apply with respect to the right of the Initiating Shelf Holder and any other Shelf Holder to participate in any Underwritten Shelf Take-Down.

(c) If the Initiating Shelf Holder desires to effect an Underwritten Shelf Take-Down that does not constitute a Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down (a "Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down"), the Initiating Shelf Holder shall so indicate in a written request delivered to the Company no later than two Business Days prior to the expected date of such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down, which request shall include (i) the total number of Registrable Securities expected to be offered and sold in such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down, (ii) the expected plan of distribution of such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down, (iii) the action or actions required (including the timing thereof) in connection with such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down (including the delivery of one or more stock certificates representing shares of Registrable Securities to be sold in such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down) and (iv) at the option and in the sole discretion of such Initiating Shelf Holder, an election that such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down shall be subject to Section 2.4(d) (a "Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down Piggyback Election"), and, subject to the limitations set forth in the proviso to Section 2.3(a)(2) as modified by Section 2.3(d), the Company shall file and effect an amendment or supplement to its Shelf Registration Statement (including the filing of a supplemental prospectus) for such purpose as promptly as reasonably practicable (and in any event within three Business Days).

(d) Upon receipt from any Registration Party of a written request pursuant to Section 2.4(c) that contains an affirmative Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down Piggyback Election, the Company shall provide written notice (a "Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down Notice") of such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down promptly to all Registration Parties (other than the requesting Registration Party), which Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down Notice shall set forth (i) the total number of Registrable Securities expected to be offered and sold in such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down, (ii) the expected plan of distribution of such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down, (iii) that each recipient of such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down Notice (each, a "Notice Recipient") shall have the right, upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in this Section 2.4(d), to elect to sell up to its Non-Marketed Take-Down Share and (iv) the action or actions required (including the timing thereof, which for the avoidance of doubt shall not require any delay in the expected date of such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down or extension of the Company's obligation to file and effect an amendment or supplement to its Shelf Registration Statement as soon as practicable (and in any event within three Business Days) of the Initiating Shelf Holder's Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down request pursuant to Section 2.4(c)) in connection with such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down with respect to each Notice Recipient that elects to exercise such right (including the delivery of one or more stock certificates representing shares of Registrable Securities held by such Notice Recipient to be sold in such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down). Upon receipt of such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down Notice, each such Notice Recipient may elect to sell up to its Non-Marketed Take-Down Share with respect to each such Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down, by taking such action or actions referred to in clause (iv) above in a timely manner. If the Initiating Shelf Holder does not elect to sell all of its respective Non-Marketed Take-Down Share, the unelected portion of such Non-Marketed Take-Down Share shall be allocated to the Notice Recipients, pro rata based on their respective Non-Marketed Take-Down Shares. Notwithstanding the delivery of any Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down Notice, all determinations as to whether to complete any Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down and as to the timing, manner, price and other terms of any Non-Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down contemplated by Section 2.4(d) shall be at the discretion of the Initiating Shelf Holder.

2.5 Selection of Underwriters. In the event that any registration pursuant to this Article II (other than a registration under Section 2.2) shall involve, in whole or in part, an underwritten offering, the underwriter or underwriters shall be designated by the Registration Party (or in the case of a Shelf Take-Down, the Initiating Shelf Holder) that requested such underwritten offering in accordance with this Article II, which underwriter or underwriters shall be reasonably acceptable to the Company.

2.6 Withdrawal Rights; Expenses.

(a) A Selling Holder may withdraw all or any part of its Registrable Securities from any registration or offering (including a registration effected pursuant to Section 2.1) by giving written notice to the Company of its request to withdraw at any time. In the case of a withdrawal, any Registrable Securities so withdrawn shall be reallocated among the remaining participants in accordance with the applicable provisions of this Agreement.

(b) Except as provided in this Agreement, the Company shall pay all Registration Expenses with respect to a particular offering (or proposed offering). Except as provided herein, each Selling Holder and the Company shall be responsible for its own fees and expenses of financial advisors and their internal administrative and similar costs, as well as their respective pro rata shares of underwriters' commissions and discounts, which shall not constitute Registration Expenses.

(c) If the Registration Party that requested a Demand Registration or a Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down pursuant to Section 2.1 or Section 2.4 withdraws all of its Registrable Securities from such Demand Registration or Marketed Underwritten Shelf Take-Down (a "Withdrawn Offering"), the other Registration Party(ies) or the Company may, in any of their sole discretion, elect within two Business Days thereafter to have the Company continue such Withdrawn Offering by giving written notice of such election to the Company and/or the other Registration Parties (a "Continuance Notice"), in which case such Withdrawn Offering shall proceed in accordance with the applicable provisions of this Agreement as if such Withdrawn Offering had been initiated by the Party providing the Continuance Notice (which, for the avoidance of doubt, shall not cause any new notice or consent period with respect to other Registration Parties to occur under this Agreement and shall not otherwise change the requirements for and timing of any notices and consents under this Agreement as they then exist with respect to such Withdrawn Offering).

2.7 Registration and Qualification. If and whenever the Company is required to effect the registration of any Registrable Securities under the Securities Act as provided in this Article II, the Company shall as promptly as practicable:

(a) Registration Statement. (i) Prepare and (as promptly as reasonably practicable thereafter and in any event no later than 20 days after the end of the applicable period specified in Section 2.1(a), Section 2.2(a) or Section 2.3(a)(2) within which requests for registration may be given to the Company) file a registration statement under the Securities Act relating to the Registrable Securities to be offered and use reasonable best efforts to cause such registration statement to become effective as promptly as practicable thereafter, and keep such registration statement effective for 180 days or, if earlier, until the distribution contemplated in the registration statement has been completed; provided, that in the case of any registration of Registrable Securities on Form S-3 which are intended to be offered on a continuous or delayed basis, such 180-day period shall be extended, if necessary, to keep the registration statement continuously effective, supplemented and amended to the extent necessary to ensure that it is available for sales of such Registrable Securities, and to ensure that it conforms with the requirements of this Agreement, the Securities Act and the policies, rules and regulations of the SEC as announced from time to time, until (A) the Selling Holders have sold all of such Registrable Securities or (B) no Registrable Securities then exist; (ii) furnish to the lead underwriter or underwriters, if any, and to the Selling Holders who have requested that Registrable Securities be covered by such registration statement, prior to the filing thereof with the SEC, a copy of the registration statement, and each amendment thereof, and a copy of any prospectus, and each amendment or supplement thereto (excluding amendments caused by the filing of a report under the Exchange Act); and (iii) use reasonable best efforts to reflect in each such document, when so filed with the SEC, such comments as such Persons reasonably may on a timely basis propose;

(b) Amendments; Supplements. Prepare and file with the SEC such amendments and supplements to such registration statement and the prospectus used in connection therewith as may be (i) reasonably requested by any Selling Holder (to the extent such request relates to information relating to such Selling Holder), or (ii) necessary to keep such registration statement effective and to comply with the provisions of the Securities Act with respect to the disposition of all Registrable Securities until the earlier of (A) such time as all of such Registrable Securities have been disposed of in accordance with the intended methods of disposition set forth in such registration statement and (B) if a Form S-3 registration, the expiration of the applicable period specified in Section 2.7(a) and, if not a Form S-3 registration, the applicable period specified in Section 2.1(e)(iii); provided, that any such required period shall be extended for such number of days (x) during any period from and including the date any written notice contemplated by paragraph (f) below is given by the Company until the date on which the Company delivers to the Selling Holders the supplement or amendment contemplated by paragraph (f) below or written notice that the use of the prospectus may be resumed, as the case may be, and (y) during which the offering of Registrable Securities pursuant to such registration statement is interfered with by any stop order, injunction or other order or requirement of the SEC or any other governmental agency or court; provided, further, that the Company shall have no obligation to a Selling Holder participating on a "piggyback" basis pursuant to Section 2.1(a) or Section 2.2 in a registration statement that has become effective to keep such registration statement effective for a period beyond 180 days from the effective date of such registration statement. The Company shall respond, as promptly as reasonably practicable, to any comments received from the SEC and request acceleration of effectiveness, as promptly as reasonably practicable, after it learns that the SEC will not review the registration statement or after it has satisfied comments received from the SEC. With respect to each Free Writing Prospectus or other materials to be included in the Disclosure Package, ensure that no Registrable Securities be sold "by means of" (as defined in Rule 159A(b) under the Securities Act) such Free Writing Prospectus or other materials without the prior written consent of the Selling Holders of the Registrable Securities covered by such registration statement, which Free

Writing Prospectuses or other materials shall be subject to the review of counsel to such Selling Holders, and make all required filings of all Free Writing Prospectuses with the SEC;

(c) Copies. Furnish to the Selling Holders and to any underwriter of such Registrable Securities such number of conformed copies of such registration statement and of each such amendment and supplement thereto (in each case including all exhibits), such number of copies of the prospectus included in such registration statement (including each preliminary prospectus, summary prospectus and Free Writing Prospectus), in conformity with the requirements of the Securities Act, such documents incorporated by reference in such registration statement or prospectus, and such other documents, as such Selling Holders or such underwriter may reasonably request, and upon request a copy of any and all transmittal letters or other correspondence to or received from, the SEC or any other Governmental Authority or self-regulatory body or other body having jurisdiction (including any domestic or foreign securities exchange) relating to such offering;

(d) Blue Sky. Register and qualify the securities covered by such registration statement under such other securities or blue sky laws of such jurisdictions as shall be reasonably requested by the Selling Holders and do any and all other acts and things which may be reasonably necessary or advisable to enable such Selling Holders to consummate the disposition in such jurisdictions of the Registrable Securities owned by such Selling Holder; provided, that the Company shall not be required in connection therewith or as a condition thereto to qualify to do business, or to file a general consent to service of process in any such states or jurisdictions;

(e) Delivery of Certain Documents. (i) Furnish to each Selling Holder and to any underwriter of such Registrable Securities an opinion of counsel for the Company (which opinion (in form, scope and substance) shall be reasonably satisfactory to the managing underwriters, if any, or, in the case of a non-underwritten offering, to the Selling Holders) addressed to each Selling Holder and any underwriter of such Registrable Securities and dated the date of the closing under the underwriting agreement (if any) (or if such offering is not underwritten, dated the effective date of the applicable registration statement) covering the matters customarily covered in opinions requested in sales of securities or underwritten offerings, (ii) in connection with an underwritten offering, furnish to each Selling Holder and any underwriter of such Registrable Securities a "cold comfort" and "bring-down" letter addressed to each Selling Holder and any underwriter of such Registrable Securities and signed by the independent public accountants who have audited the financial statements of the Company included in such registration statement, in each such case covering substantially the same matters with respect to such registration statement (and the prospectus included therein) as are customarily covered in accountants' letters delivered to underwriters in underwritten public offerings of securities and such other matters as any Selling Holder may reasonably request and, in the case of such accountants' letter, with respect to events subsequent to the date of such financial statements and (iii) cause such authorized officers of the Company to execute customary certificates as may be requested by any Selling Holder or any underwriter of such Registrable Securities;

(f) Notification of Certain Events; Corrections. Promptly notify the Selling Holders and any underwriter of such Registrable Securities in writing (i) of the occurrence of any event as a result of which the registration statement or the prospectus included in such registration statement, as then in effect, includes an untrue statement of a material fact or omits to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading, (ii) of any request by the SEC or any other regulatory body or other body having jurisdiction for any amendment of or supplement to any registration statement or other document relating to such offering, and (iii) if for any other reason it shall be necessary to amend or supplement such registration statement or prospectus in order to comply with the Securities Act and, in any such case as promptly as reasonably practicable thereafter, prepare and file with the SEC an amendment or supplement to such registration statement or prospectus which will correct such statement or omission or effect such compliance;

(g) Notice of Effectiveness. Notify the Selling Holders and the lead underwriter or underwriters, if any, and (if requested) confirm such advice in writing, as promptly as reasonably practicable after notice thereof is received by the Company (i) when the applicable registration statement or any amendment thereto has been filed or becomes effective and when the applicable prospectus or any amendment or supplement thereto has been filed, (ii) of any comments by the SEC, (iii) of the issuance by the SEC of any stop order suspending the effectiveness of such registration statement or any order preventing or suspending the use of any preliminary or final prospectus or the initiation or threat of any proceedings for such purposes and (iv) of the receipt by the Company of any notification with respect to the suspension of the qualification of the Registrable Securities for offering or sale in any jurisdiction or the initiation or threat of any proceeding for such purpose;

(h) Stop Orders. Use its reasonable best efforts to prevent the entry of, and use its reasonable best efforts to obtain as promptly as reasonably practicable the withdrawal of, any stop order with respect to the applicable registration statement or other order suspending the use of any preliminary or final prospectus;

(i) Plan of Distribution. Promptly incorporate in a prospectus supplement or post-effective amendment to the applicable registration statement such information as any Selling Holder requests (subject to the agreement of the lead underwriter or underwriters, if any) be included therein relating to the plan of distribution with respect to such Registrable Securities, which may include disposition of Registrable Securities by all lawful means, including firm-commitment underwritten public offerings, block trades, agented transactions, sales directly into the market, purchases or sales by brokers, derivative transactions, short sales, stock loan or stock pledge transactions and sales not involving a public offering; and make all required filings of such prospectus supplement or post-effective amendment as promptly as reasonably practicable after being notified of the matters to be incorporated in such prospectus supplement or post-effective amendment;

(j) Other Filings. Use its reasonable best efforts to cause the Registrable Securities covered by the applicable registration statement to be registered with or approved by such other Governmental Authorities as may be necessary to enable the seller or sellers thereof or the underwriter or underwriters, if any, to consummate the disposition of such Registrable Securities;

(k) FINRA Compliance. Cooperate with each Selling Holder and each underwriter or agent, if any, participating in the disposition of such Registrable Securities and their respective counsel in connection with any filings required to be made with FINRA;

(l) Listing. Use its reasonable best efforts to cause all such Registrable Securities registered pursuant to such registration to be listed and remain on each securities exchange and automated interdealer quotation system on which identical securities issued by the Company are then listed;

(m) Transfer Agent; Registrar; CUSIP Number. Provide a transfer agent and registrar for all Registrable Securities registered pursuant to such registration and a CUSIP number for all such Registrable Securities, in each case not later than the effective date of the applicable registration statement;

(n) Compliance; Earnings Statement. Otherwise use its reasonable best efforts to comply with all applicable rules and regulations of the SEC, and make available to each Selling Holder, as soon as reasonably practicable, an earnings statement covering the period of at least 12 months, but not more than 18 months, beginning with the first month after the effective date of the applicable registration statement, which earnings statement shall satisfy the provisions of Section 11(a) of the Securities Act;

(o) Road Shows. To the extent reasonably requested by the lead or managing underwriters in connection with an underwritten offering pursuant to Section 2.1 or a Form S-3 underwritten offering pursuant to Section 2.3 and Section 2.4(b), send appropriate officers of the Company to attend any "road shows" scheduled in connection with any such underwritten offering, with all out of pocket costs and expenses incurred by the Company or such officers in connection with such attendance to be paid by the Company;

(p) Certificates. Unless the relevant securities are issued in book-entry form, furnish for delivery in connection with the closing of any offering of Registrable Securities pursuant to a registration effected pursuant to this Article II unlegended certificates representing ownership of the Registrable Securities being sold in such denominations as shall be requested by any Selling Holder or the underwriters of such Registrable Securities (it being understood that the Selling Holders shall use reasonable best efforts to arrange for delivery to the Depository Trust Company); and

(q) Reasonable Best Efforts. Use reasonable best efforts to take all other steps necessary to effect the registration and offering of the Registrable Securities contemplated hereby.

2.8 Underwriting; Due Diligence.

(a) If requested by the underwriters for any underwritten offering of Registrable Securities pursuant to a registration requested under this Article II, the Company shall enter into an underwriting agreement with such underwriters for such offering, which agreement will contain such representations and warranties by the Company and such other terms and provisions as are customarily contained in underwriting agreements generally with respect to secondary distributions to the extent relevant, including indemnification and contribution provisions substantially to the effect and to the extent provided in Section 2.9, and agreements as to the provision of opinions of counsel and accountants' letters to the effect and to the extent provided in Section 2.7(e). The Selling Holders on whose behalf the Registrable Securities are to be distributed by such underwriters shall be parties to any such underwriting agreement, and the representations and warranties by, and the other agreements on the part of, the Company to and for the benefit of such underwriters, shall also be made to and for the benefit of such Selling Holders and the conditions precedent to the obligations of such underwriters under such underwriting agreement shall also be conditions precedent to the obligations of such Selling Holders to the extent applicable. Subject to the following sentence, such underwriting agreement shall also contain such representations and warranties by such Selling Holders and such other terms and provisions as are customarily contained in underwriting agreements with respect to secondary distributions, when relevant. No Selling Holder shall be required in any such underwriting agreement or related documents to make any representations or warranties to or agreements with the Company or the underwriters other than customary representations, warranties or agreements regarding such Selling Holder's title to Registrable Securities and any written information provided by the Selling Holder to the Company expressly for inclusion in the related registration statement, and the liability of any Selling Holder under the underwriting agreement shall be several and not joint and in no event shall the liability of any Selling Holder under the underwriting agreement be greater in amount than the dollar amount of the proceeds received by such Selling Holder under the sale of the Registrable Securities pursuant to such underwriting agreement (net of underwriting discounts and commissions).

(b) In connection with the preparation and filing of each registration statement registering Registrable Securities under the Securities Act pursuant to this Article II, the Company shall make available upon reasonable notice at reasonable times and for reasonable periods for inspection by each Selling Holder, by any lead underwriter or underwriters participating in any disposition to be effected pursuant to such registration statement, and by any attorney, accountant or other agent retained by any Selling Holder or any lead underwriter, all pertinent financial and other records, pertinent corporate documents and properties of the Company, and use its reasonable best efforts to cause all of the Company's officers, directors and employees and the independent public accountants who have certified the Company's financial statements to make themselves reasonably available to discuss the business of the Company and to supply all information reasonably requested by any such Selling Holders, lead underwriters, attorneys, accountants or agents in connection with such registration statement as shall be necessary to enable them to exercise their due diligence responsibility (subject to entry by each party referred to in this clause (b) into customary confidentiality agreements in a form reasonably acceptable to the Company).

(c) In the case of an underwritten offering requested by the Registration Parties pursuant to Section 2.1 or Section 2.3 or an Underwritten Shelf Take-Down pursuant to Section 2.4, the price, underwriting discount and other financial terms for the Registrable Securities of the related underwriting agreement shall be determined by the Registration Party exercising its Demand or requesting such Underwritten Shelf Take-Down. In the case of any underwritten offering of securities by the Company pursuant to Section 2.2, such price, discount and other terms shall be determined by the Company, subject to the right of Selling Holders to withdraw their Registrable Securities from the registration pursuant to Section 2.6(a).

(d) Subject to Section 2.8(a), no Person may participate in an underwritten offering (including an Underwritten Shelf Take-Down) unless such Person (i) agrees to sell such Person's securities on the basis provided in any underwriting arrangements approved by the Persons entitled to approve such arrangements and (ii) completes and executes all customary questionnaires, powers of attorney, custody agreements, indemnities, underwriting agreement and other documents reasonably required under the terms of such underwriting arrangements.

2.9 Indemnification and Contribution.

(a) Indemnification by the Company. In the case of each offering of Registrable Securities made pursuant to this Article II, the Company agrees to indemnify and hold harmless, to the extent permitted by applicable law, each Selling Holder, each underwriter of Registrable Securities so offered and each Person, if any, who controls or is alleged to control (within the meaning set forth in the Securities Act) any of the foregoing Persons, the Affiliates of each of the foregoing (other than the Company and its controlled Affiliates), and the officers, directors, partners, members, employees and agents of each of the foregoing, against any and all losses, liabilities, costs (including reasonable attorney's fees and disbursements), claims and damages, joint or several, to which they or any of them may become subject, under the Securities Act or otherwise, including any amount paid in settlement of any litigation commenced or threatened, insofar as such losses, liabilities, costs, claims and damages (or actions or proceedings in respect thereof, whether or not such indemnified Person is a party thereto) arise out of or are based upon any untrue statement or alleged untrue statement of a material fact contained in the registration statement (or in any preliminary, final or summary prospectus included therein) or in the Disclosure Package, or in any offering memorandum or other offering document relating to the offering and sale of such Registrable Securities, or any amendment thereof or supplement thereto, or in any document incorporated by reference therein, or any omission or alleged omission to state therein a material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein (in the case of a prospectus or preliminary prospectus, in light of the circumstances under which they were made) not misleading; provided, however, that the Company shall not be liable to any Person in any such case to the extent that any such loss, liability, cost, claim or damage arises out of or relates to any untrue statement, or any omission, if such statement or omission shall have been made in reliance upon and in conformity with information relating to such Person (which information shall be limited to the name of such Person, the address of such Person, the number of shares of Common Stock held by such Person, the number of shares of Common Stock being offered by such Person in the offering and the nature of the beneficial ownership of the Common Stock owned by such Person) furnished in writing to the Company by or on behalf of such Person expressly for inclusion in the registration statement (or in any preliminary, final or summary prospectus included therein), offering memorandum or other offering document, or any amendment thereof or supplement thereto. Such indemnity shall remain in full force and effect regardless of any investigation made by or on behalf of any such Person and shall survive the transfer of such securities.

(b) Indemnification by Selling Holders. In the case of each offering made pursuant to this Agreement, each Selling Holder, by exercising its registration and/or piggyback rights under this Agreement, agrees, severally and not jointly, to indemnify and hold harmless, to the extent permitted by applicable law, the Company, each other Selling Holder and each Person, if any, who controls or is alleged to control (within the meaning set forth in the Securities Act) any of the foregoing, any Affiliate of any of the foregoing, and the officers, directors, partners, members, employees and agents of each of the foregoing, against any and all losses, liabilities, costs (including reasonable attorney's fees and disbursements), claims and damages to which they or any of them may become subject, under the Securities Act or otherwise, including any amount paid in settlement of any litigation commenced or threatened, insofar as such losses, liabilities, costs, claims and damages (or actions or proceedings in respect thereof, whether or not such indemnified Person is a party thereto) arise out of or are based upon any untrue statement made by such Selling Holder of a material fact contained in the registration statement (or in any preliminary, final or summary prospectus included therein) or in the Disclosure Package relating to the offering and sale of such Registrable Securities prepared by the Company or at its direction, or any amendment thereof or supplement thereto, or any omission by such Selling Holder of a material fact required to be stated therein or necessary to make the statements therein (in the case of a prospectus or preliminary prospectus, in light of the circumstances under which they were made) not misleading, but in each case only to the extent that such untrue statement of a material fact occurs in reliance upon and in conformity with, or such material fact is omitted from, information relating to such Selling Holder (which information shall be limited to the name of such Selling Holder, the address of such Selling Holder, the number of shares of Common Stock held by such Selling Holder, the number of shares of Common Stock being offered by such Selling Holder in the offering and the nature of the beneficial ownership of the Common Stock owned by such Person) furnished in writing to the Company by or on behalf of such Selling Holder expressly for inclusion in such registration statement (or in any preliminary, final or summary prospectus included therein) or Disclosure Package, or any amendment thereof or supplement thereto.

(c) Indemnification Procedures. Each Party entitled to indemnification under this Section 2.9 shall give notice to the Party required to provide indemnification, as promptly as reasonably practicable, after such indemnified Party has actual knowledge that a claim is to be made against the indemnified Party as to which indemnity may be sought, and shall permit the indemnifying Party to assume the defense of such claim or litigation resulting therefrom and any related settlement and settlement negotiations, subject to the limitations on settlement set forth below; provided, that counsel for the indemnifying Party, who shall conduct the defense of such claim or any litigation resulting therefrom, shall be approved by the indemnified Party (whose approval shall not unreasonably be withheld, conditioned or delayed), and the indemnified Party may participate in such defense at such Party's expense; and provided, further, that the failure of any indemnified Party to give notice as provided in this Agreement shall not relieve the indemnifying Party of its obligations under this Section 2.9, except to the extent the indemnifying Party is actually prejudiced by such failure to give notice. Notwithstanding the foregoing, an indemnified Party shall have the right to retain separate counsel, with the reasonable fees and expenses of such counsel being paid by the indemnifying Party, if representation of such indemnified Party by the counsel retained by the indemnifying Party would be inappropriate due to actual or potential differing interests between such indemnified Party and any other party represented by such counsel or if the indemnifying Party has failed to assume the defense of such action. No indemnified Party shall enter into any settlement of any litigation commenced or threatened with respect to which indemnification is or may be sought without the prior written consent of the indemnifying Party (such consent not to be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed). No indemnifying Party, in the defense of any such claim or litigation, shall, except with the consent of each indemnified Party, consent to entry of any judgment or enter into any settlement that does not include as an unconditional term thereof the giving by the claimant or plaintiff to such indemnified Party of a release, reasonably satisfactory to the indemnified Party, from all liability in respect to such claim or litigation. Each indemnified Party shall furnish such information regarding itself or the claim in question as an indemnifying Party may reasonably request in writing and as shall be reasonably required in connection with defense of such claim and litigation resulting therefrom.

(d) Contribution. If the indemnification provided for in this Section 2.9 shall for any reason be unavailable (other than in accordance with its terms) to an indemnified Party in respect of any loss, liability, cost, claim or damage referred to therein, then each indemnifying Party shall, in lieu of indemnifying such indemnified Party, contribute to the amount paid or payable by such indemnified Party as a result of such loss, liability, cost, claim or damage in such proportion as shall be appropriate to reflect the relative fault of the indemnifying Party on the one hand and the indemnified Party on the other with respect to the statements or omissions which resulted in such loss, liability, cost, claim or damage as well as any other relevant equitable considerations. The relative fault shall be determined by reference to whether the untrue statement of a material fact or omission to state a material fact relates to information supplied by the indemnifying Party on the one hand or the indemnified Party on the other, the intent of the Parties and their relative knowledge, access to information and opportunity to correct or prevent such statement or omission. The amount paid or payable by an indemnified Party as a result of the loss, cost, claim, damage or liability, or action in respect thereof, referred to above in this paragraph (d) shall be deemed to include, for purposes of this paragraph (d), any legal or other expenses reasonably incurred by such indemnified Party in connection with investigating or defending any such action or claim. No Person guilty of fraudulent misrepresentation (within the meaning of Section 11(f) of the Securities Act) shall be entitled to contribution from any Person who was not guilty of such fraudulent misrepresentation. Notwithstanding anything in this Section 2.9(d) to the contrary, no indemnifying Party (other than the Company) shall be required pursuant to this Section 2.9(d) to contribute any amount in excess of the amount by which the net proceeds received by such indemnifying Party from the sale of Registrable Securities in the offering to which the losses of the indemnified Parties relate exceeds the amount of any damages which such indemnifying Party has otherwise been required to pay by reason of such untrue statement or omission. The Parties agree that it would not be just and equitable if contribution pursuant to this Section 2.9(d) were determined by pro rata allocation or by any other method of allocation which does not take into account the equitable considerations referred to in this Section 2.9(d).

(e) Indemnification/Contribution under State Law. Indemnification and contribution similar to that specified in the preceding paragraphs of this Section 2.9 (with appropriate modifications) shall be given by the Company and the Selling Holders with respect to any required registration or other qualification of securities under any state applicable law or with any Governmental Authority.

(f) Obligations Not Exclusive. The obligations of the Parties under this Section 2.9 shall be in addition to any liability which any Party may otherwise have to any other Person.

(g) Survival. For the avoidance of doubt, the provisions of this Section 2.9 shall survive any termination of this Agreement.

(h) Limitation of Selling Holder Liability. The liability of any Selling Holder under this Section 2.9 shall be several and not joint and in no event shall the liability of any Selling Holder under this Section 2.9 be greater in amount than the dollar amount of the proceeds, net of underwriting discounts and commissions, received by such Selling Holder from the sale of the Registrable Securities giving rise to such indemnification/contribution obligation.

(i) Third Party Beneficiary. Each of the indemnified Persons referred to in this Section 2.9 shall be a third party beneficiary of the rights conferred to such Person in this Section.

2.10 Cooperation; Information by Selling Holder.

(a) It shall be a condition of each Selling Holder's rights under this Article II that such Selling Holder cooperate with the Company by entering into any undertakings and taking such other action relating to the conduct of the proposed offering which the Company or the underwriters may reasonably request as being necessary to insure compliance with federal and state securities laws and the rules or other requirements of FINRA or which are otherwise customary and which the Company or the underwriters may reasonably request to effectuate the offering.

(b) Each Selling Holder shall furnish to the Company such information regarding such Selling Holder and the distribution proposed by such Selling Holder as the Company may reasonably request in writing and as shall be reasonably required in connection with any registration, qualification or compliance referred to in this Article II. The Company shall have the right to exclude from the registration any Selling Holder that does not comply with this Section 2.10.

(c) At such time as an underwriting agreement with respect to a particular underwriting is entered into, the terms of any such underwriting agreement shall govern with respect to the matters set forth therein to the extent inconsistent with this Article II; provided, that the indemnification provisions of such underwriting agreement as they relate to the Selling Holders are customary for registrations of the type then proposed and provide for indemnification by such Selling Holders only with respect to information relating to such Selling Holder (which information shall be limited to the name of such Selling Holder, the address of such Selling Holder, the number of shares of Common Stock held by such Selling Holder, the number of shares of Common Stock being offered by such Selling Holder in the offering and the nature of the beneficial ownership of the Common Stock owned by such Person) furnished in writing to the Company by or on behalf of such Selling Holder expressly for inclusion in such registration statement (or in any preliminary, final or summary prospectus included therein) or Disclosure Package, or any amendment thereof or supplement thereto.

2.11 Rule 144. The Company shall use its reasonable best efforts to ensure that the conditions to the availability of Rule 144 under the Securities Act set forth in paragraph (c) of Rule 144 shall be satisfied. The Company agrees to use its reasonable best efforts to file with the SEC in a timely manner all reports and other documents required of the Company under the Securities Act and the Exchange Act, at any time after it has become subject to such reporting requirements. Upon the request of any Registration Party for so long as such information is a necessary element of such Person's ability to avail itself of Rule 144, the Company shall deliver to such Person (i) a written statement as to whether it has complied with such requirements and (ii) a copy of the most recent annual or quarterly report of the Company, and such other reports and documents so filed as such Person may reasonably request in availing itself of any rule or regulation of the SEC allowing such Person to sell any such securities without registration.

2.12 Holdback Agreement.

(a) In the case of any underwritten offering pursuant to this Agreement, each Registration Party participating in such underwritten offering, agrees not to effect any public sale or distribution (including sales pursuant to Rule 144) of equity securities of the Company, or any securities convertible into or exchangeable or exercisable for such equity securities, during any time period reasonably requested by the managing underwriter(s) of such underwritten offering, which shall not exceed 90 days. Each Registration Party subject to the restrictions of the preceding sentence shall receive the benefit of any shorter "lock-up" period or permitted exceptions agreed to by the managing underwriter(s) for any underwritten offering pursuant to this Agreement and the terms of such lock-up agreements shall govern such Registration Party in lieu of the preceding sentence.

(b) In the case of any underwritten offering pursuant to this Agreement, the Company shall use commercially reasonable efforts to cause any stockholders that beneficially own 5% or more of the Common Stock (other than the Registration Parties) and its directors and executive officers to execute any lock-up agreements in form and substance as agreed by the Registration Parties and as reasonably requested by the managing underwriters.

(c) In the case of any underwritten offering pursuant to this Agreement, the Company agrees not to effect any public offering or distribution of any equity securities of the Company, or securities convertible into or exchangeable or exercisable for equity securities of the Company for a period commencing on the date of the prospectus pursuant to which such offering may be made and ending 90 days after the date of such prospectus, except as part of such underwritten offering.

2.13 Suspension of Sales. Each Selling Holder participating in a registration agrees that, upon receipt of notice from the Company pursuant to Section 2.7(f), such Selling Holder shall discontinue disposition of its Registrable Securities pursuant to such registration statement until receipt of the copies of the supplemented or amended prospectus contemplated by Section 2.7(f), or until advised in writing by the Company that the use of the prospectus may be resumed, as the case may be, and, if so directed by the Company, such Selling Holder shall deliver to the Company (at the Company's expense) all copies, other than permanent file copies then in such Selling Holder's possession, of the prospectus covering such Registrable Securities which are current at the time of the receipt of the notice of the event described in Section 2.7(f).

2.14 Third Party Registration Rights.

(a) Nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed to prevent the Company from providing registration rights to any other Person on such terms as the board of directors of the Company deems desirable in its sole discretion; provided that the Company does not grant any shelf, demand, piggyback or incidental registration rights that are senior to or otherwise conflict with the rights granted to the Registration Parties under this Agreement to any other Person without the prior written consent of RHI and Gilbert.

(b) (i) Any Person may join this agreement as Registration Party with the prior written consent of the Company, RHI and Gilbert (such Person, a "New Registration Party"), provided that such New Registration Party (a) enters into a joinder agreement in the form attached hereto as Annex A to become party to this Agreement and expressly be subject to Section 2.12 herein and (b) if a New Registration Party is an individual and married, such New Registration Party shall, as a condition to becoming a Registration Party deliver to the Company a duly executed copy of a spousal consent in the form attached hereto as Annex B.

2.15 Mergers. The Company shall not, directly or indirectly, (x) enter into any merger, consolidation, recapitalization, combination of shares or other reorganization in which the Company shall not be the surviving corporation or (y) Transfer or agree to Transfer all or substantially all the Company's assets, unless prior to such merger, consolidation, reorganization or asset Transfer, the surviving corporation or the transferee, as applicable, shall have agreed in writing to assume the obligations of the Company under this Agreement, and for that purpose references hereunder to "Registrable Securities", shall be deemed to include the securities which the Registration Parties, would be entitled to receive in exchange for Registrable Securities, pursuant to any such merger, consolidation, reorganization or asset Transfer.

2.16 Synthetic Secondary Offerings*2.17 . If a Registration Party elects to conduct an offering of Registrable Securities pursuant to this Agreement, the Company may, in its sole discretion, elect to conduct a synthetic secondary offering with respect to such Registrable Securities (i.e. an offering in which the Company sells Common Stock for its account and uses the net proceeds of such offering to acquire an equal number of Registrable Securities from the Registration Party that has elected to conduct an offering). In such case, the Common Stock sold by the Company for its own account shall be treated the same as Registrable Securities being offered by the Registration Party for purposes of Sections 2.1(f), 2.2(c) and 2.2(d) and other related provisions of this Agreement.

ARTICLE III

(d) if to any Transferee or any New Registration Party, to the address specified by such Person on the applicable joinder to this Agreement.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, any Person may, from time to time, update any address and/or other contact information for itself by providing written notice such update to the Company and the other Registration Parties. All notices, requests and other communications shall be deemed received on the date of receipt by the recipient thereof if received prior to 5:00 p.m. New York City time on a Business Day in the place of receipt. Otherwise, any such notice, request or communication shall be deemed to have been received on the next succeeding Business Day in the place of receipt.

3.2 Section Headings. The article and section headings in this Agreement are for reference purposes only and shall not affect the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement. References in this Agreement to a designated "Article" or "Section" refer to an Article or Section of this Agreement unless otherwise specifically indicated.

3.3 Governing Law. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New York.

3.4 Consent to Jurisdiction and Service of Process. The Parties agree that any suit, action or proceeding seeking to enforce any provision of, or based on any matter arising out of or in connection with, this Agreement or the transactions contemplated by this Agreement (whether brought by any Party or any of its Affiliates or against any Party or any of its Affiliates) shall be brought in the Third Judicial Circuit, Wayne County, Michigan or, if the Third Judicial Circuit, Wayne County lacks jurisdiction over such suit, action or proceeding, then another state court of the State of Michigan or, if no state court of the State of Michigan has jurisdiction, then the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, and each of the Parties hereby irrevocably consents to the jurisdiction of such courts (and of the appropriate appellate courts therefrom) in any such suit, action or proceeding and irrevocably waives, to the fullest extent permitted by law, any objection that it may now or hereafter have to the laying of the venue of any such suit, action or proceeding in any such court or that any such suit, action or proceeding brought in any such court has been brought in an inconvenient forum. Process in any such suit, action or proceeding may be served on any Party anywhere in the world, whether within or without the jurisdiction of any such court.

Without limiting the foregoing, each Party agrees that service of process on such Party as provided in Section 3.1 shall be deemed effective service of process on such Party.

3.5 Amendments; Termination. This Agreement may be amended only by an instrument in writing executed by the Company and each Registration Party. Any such amendment will apply to all Registration Parties equally, without distinguishing between them. This Agreement will terminate as to any Registration Party when it no longer holds any Registrable Securities.

3.6 Specific Enforcement. The Parties acknowledge that the remedies at law of the other Parties for a breach or threatened breach of this Agreement would be inadequate and, in recognition of this fact, any Party to this Agreement, without posting any bond, and in addition to all other remedies that may be available, shall be entitled to obtain equitable relief in the form of specific performance, a temporary restraining order, a temporary or permanent injunction or any other equitable remedy that may then be available.

3.7 Entire Agreement. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement and understanding of the Parties with respect to the transactions contemplated by this Agreement. The registration rights granted under this Agreement supersede any registration, qualification or similar rights with respect to any Registrable Securities granted under any other agreement at any time, and any of such preexisting registration rights are hereby terminated.

3.8 Severability. The invalidity or unenforceability of any specific provision of this Agreement shall not invalidate or render unenforceable any of its other provisions. Any provision of this Agreement held invalid or unenforceable shall be deemed reformed, if practicable, to the extent necessary to render it valid and enforceable and to the extent permitted by law and consistent with the intent of the Parties to this Agreement.

3.9 Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in multiple counterparts, including by means of facsimile or .pdf, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which together shall constitute the same instrument.

TAX RECEIVABLE AGREEMENT

This TAX RECEIVABLE AGREEMENT (as amended from time to time, this "Agreement"), dated as of [ ], 2020, is hereby entered into by and among Rocket Companies, Inc., a Delaware corporation (the "Corporate Taxpayer"), Daniel Gilbert ("Gilbert"), and Rock Holdings Inc., a Michigan corporation ("RHI" and together with Gilbert and along with each of the successors and assigns thereto, the "Members").

WHEREAS, RKT Holdings, LLC, a Michigan limited liability company ("OpCo"), is treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes;

WHEREAS, the Corporate Taxpayer is classified as an association taxable as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes;

WHEREAS, the Members hold common interest units in OpCo (the "Common Units"), and following certain reorganization transactions, the Corporate Taxpayer will be the managing member of OpCo and will hold, directly and/or indirectly, Common Units;

WHEREAS, (i) in connection with the IPO (as defined below), RHI shall sell to the Corporate Taxpayer, and the Corporate Taxpayer shall purchase from RHI, a number of Common Units (together with shares of Class D common stock, $0.00001 par value per share, of the Corporate Taxpayer ("Class D Common Stock")) pursuant to the provisions of the Member Purchase Agreement (as defined below) (the "Initial Purchase") and (ii) in connection with a future public offering of Class A common stock, $0.00001 par value per share, of the Corporate Taxpayer (the "Class A Common Stock") of the Corporate Taxpayer, one or more Members may sell to the Corporate Taxpayer, and the Corporate Taxpayer may purchase from such Member, a number of Common Units (together with shares of Class C common stock, $0.00001 par value per share, of the Corporate Taxpayer ("Class C Common Stock") or Class D Common Stock) pursuant to the provisions of a future purchase agreement by and among the Corporate Taxpayer, OpCo and the relevant sellers;

WHEREAS, each Member may exchange Common Units (when exchanged along with shares of Class C Common Stock or Class D Common Stock) for shares of Class A Common Stock or Class B common stock, $0.00001 par value per share, of the Corporate Taxpayer (the "Class B Common Stock") pursuant to the provisions of the Exchange Agreement (as defined below);

WHEREAS, OpCo and each of its direct and indirect subsidiaries treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes will have in effect an election under Section 754 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), for each Taxable Year (as defined below) in which an Exchange (as defined below) occurs, which elections are intended generally to result in an adjustment to the tax basis of the assets owned by OpCo (solely with respect to the Corporate Taxpayer) at the time of an Exchange (such time, the "Exchange Date") by reason of the Exchange and the receipt of payments under this Agreement;

WHEREAS, the income, gain, loss, expense and other Tax (as defined below) items of the Corporate Taxpayer may be affected by (i) the Basis Adjustment (as defined below) (ii) Imputed Interest (as defined below) and (iii) disproportionate allocations (if any) of tax benefits to the Corporate Taxpayer under Section 704(c) of the Code resulting from the Contribution (as defined below); and

WHEREAS, the parties to this Agreement desire to make certain arrangements with respect to the effect of the Basis Adjustment, Imputed Interest and the Contribution on the actual liability for Taxes of the Corporate Taxpayer.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing and the respective covenants and agreements set forth herein, and intending to be legally bound hereby, the parties hereto agree as follows:

ARTICLE I

DEFINITIONS

Section 1.01 Definitions.

(a) The following terms shall have the following meanings for the purposes of this Agreement:

"Advisory Firm" means law or accounting firm that is nationally recognized as being expert in Tax matters.

"Affiliate" shall have the meaning ascribed to such term in the LLC Agreement.

"Agreed Rate" means LIBOR plus 100 basis points.

"Applicable Member" means any Member to whom any portion of a Realized Tax Benefit may be Attributable under this Agreement.

"Assumed State and Local Tax Rate" means the tax rate equal to the sum of the product of (x) the OpCo's income and franchise Tax apportionment rate(s) for each state and local jurisdiction in which the OpCp files income or franchise Tax Returns for the relevant Taxable Year and (y) the highest corporate income and franchise Tax rate(s) for each such state and local jurisdiction in which the OpCo files income or franchise Tax Returns for each relevant Taxable Year; provided, that the Assumed State and Local Tax Rate calculated pursuant to the foregoing shall be reduced by the assumed federal income Tax benefit received by the Corporate Taxpayer with respect to state and local jurisdiction income and franchise Taxes (with such benefit calculated as the product of (a) the Corporate Taxpayer's marginal U.S. federal income tax rate for the relevant Taxable Year and (b) the Assumed State and Local Tax Rate (without regard to this proviso)).

"Attributable" means, with respect to any Applicable Member, the portion of any Realized Tax Benefit of the Corporate Taxpayer that is "attributable" to such Applicable Member, which shall be determined by reference to the assets from which arise the depreciation, amortization or other similar deductions for recovery of cost or basis ("Depreciation") and with respect to increased basis upon a disposition of an asset, the Section 704(c) Benefits or Imputed Interest that produce the Realized Tax Benefit, under the following principles:

(i) A portion of any Realized Tax Benefit arising from a deduction to the Corporate Taxpayer with respect to a Taxable Year for Depreciation arising in respect of a Basis Adjustment to a Reference Asset resulting from an Exchange is Attributable to the Applicable Member to the extent that the ratio of all Depreciation for the Taxable Year in respect of Basis Adjustments resulting from all Exchanges by the Applicable Member bears to the aggregate of all Depreciation for the Taxable Year in respect of Basis Adjustments resulting from all Exchanges by the Applicable Members (in each case, other than with respect to the portion of the Basis Adjustment described in clause (ii) below).

(ii) A portion of any Realized Tax Benefit arising from a deduction to the Corporate Taxpayer with respect to a Taxable Year for Depreciation arising in respect of a Basis Adjustment to a Reference Asset resulting from a payment hereunder is Attributable to the Applicable Member that receives such payment.

(iii) A portion of any Realized Tax Benefit arising from the disposition of a Reference Asset is Attributable to the Applicable Member to the extent that the ratio of all Basis Adjustments (to the extent not previously taken into account in the calculation of Realized Tax Benefits) resulting from all Exchanges by the Applicable Member with respect to such Reference Asset bears to the aggregate of all Basis Adjustments (to the extent not previously taken into account in the calculation of Realized Tax Benefits) with respect to such Reference Asset.

(iv) A portion of any Realized Tax Benefit arising from a deduction to the Corporate Taxpayer with respect to a Taxable Year in respect of Imputed Interest is Attributable to the Applicable Member to the extent corresponding to amounts that such Member is required to include in income in respect of Imputed Interest (without regard to whether such Member is actually subject to tax thereon).

(i) A portion of the Realized Tax Benefit arising from the Section 704(c) Benefits is Attributable to the Applicable Member who participated in the Contribution.

(ii) For the avoidance of doubt, in the case of a Basis Adjustment arising under Section 734(b) of the Code with respect to an Exchange, depreciation, amortization or other similar deductions for recovery of cost of basis shall constitute Depreciation only to the extent that such depreciation, amortization or other similar deductions may produce or increase a Realized Tax Benefit (and not to the extent that such depreciation, amortization or other similar deductions may be for the benefit of a Person other than the Corporate Taxpayer), as reasonably determined by the Corporate Taxpayer.

(iii) A portion of any Realized Tax Benefit arising from a carryover or carryback of any Tax item is Attributable to such Member to the extent such carryover or carryback is attributable to or available for use because of the prior use of the Basis Adjustments or Imputed Interest with respect to which a Realized Tax Benefit would be Attributable to such Member pursuant to clauses (i)—(vi) above.

Portions of any Realized Tax Detriment shall be Attributed to Members under principles similar to those described in clauses (i)—(vii) above.

"Basis Adjustment" means the adjustment to the tax basis of a Reference Asset under Sections 732, 755 and 1012 of the Code and the Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder (in situations where, as a result of one or more Exchanges, OpCo becomes an entity that is disregarded as separate from its owner for U.S. federal income tax purposes) or under Sections 734(b), 743(b) and 755 of the Code and the Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder (in situations where, following an Exchange, OpCo remains in existence as an entity for U.S. federal income tax purposes) and, in each case, comparable sections of state and local tax laws, as a result of (i) an Exchange and (ii) the payments made pursuant to the Tax Receivable Agreement. For the avoidance of doubt, the amount of any Basis Adjustment resulting from an Exchange of one or more Common Units shall be determined without regard to any Pre-Exchange Transfer of such Common Units and as if any such Pre-Exchange Transfer had not occurred.

A "Beneficial Owner" of a security is a Person who directly or indirectly, through any contract, arrangement, understanding, relationship or otherwise, has or shares: (i) voting power, which includes the power to vote, or to direct the voting of, such security and/or (ii) investment power, which includes the power to dispose of, or to direct the disposition of, such security.

"Board" means the board of directors of the Corporate Taxpayer.

"Business Day" shall have the meaning ascribed to such term in the LLC Agreement.

"Change of Control" means the occurrence of any of the following events:

(i) any Person or any group of Persons acting together which would constitute a "group" for purposes of Section 13(d) of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, or any successor provisions thereto, excluding (x) a corporation or other entity owned, directly or indirectly, by the stockholders of the Corporate Taxpayer in substantially the same proportions as their ownership of stock in the Corporate Taxpayer and (y) any Person that would be deemed a Rock Member (as such term is defined in the LLC Agreement, and assuming for this purpose that such Person owned Units or securities of the Corporate Taxpayer), is or becomes the Beneficial Owner, directly or indirectly, of securities of the Corporate Taxpayer representing more than 50% of the combined voting power of the Corporate Taxpayer's then outstanding voting securities;

(ii) the following individuals cease for any reason to constitute a majority of the number of directors of the Corporate Taxpayer then serving: individuals who, on the IPO Date, constitute the Board and any new director whose appointment or election by the Board or nomination for election by the Corporate Taxpayer's shareholders was approved or recommended by a vote of at least a majority of the directors then still in office who either were directors on the IPO Date or whose appointment, election or nomination for election was previously so approved or recommended by the directors referred to in this clause (ii);

(iii) there is consummated a merger or consolidation of the Corporate Taxpayer with any other corporation or other entity, and, immediately after the consummation of such merger or consolidation, either (x) the Board immediately prior to the merger or consolidation does not constitute at least a majority of the board of directors of the company surviving the merger or, if the surviving company is a Subsidiary, the ultimate parent thereof, or (y) the voting securities of the Corporate Taxpayer immediately prior to such merger or consolidation do not continue to represent or are not converted into more than 50% of the combined voting power of the then outstanding voting securities of the Person resulting from such merger or consolidation or, if the surviving company is a Subsidiary, the ultimate parent thereof; or

(iv) the shareholders of the Corporate Taxpayer approve a plan of complete liquidation or dissolution of the Corporate Taxpayer or there is consummated an agreement or series of related agreements for the sale or other disposition, directly or indirectly, by the Corporate Taxpayer of all or substantially all of the Corporate Taxpayer's assets, other than such sale or other disposition by the Corporate Taxpayer of all or substantially all of the Corporate Taxpayer's assets to an entity, at least 50% of the combined voting power of the voting securities of which are owned by shareholders of the Corporate Taxpayer in substantially the same proportions as their ownership of the Corporate Taxpayer immediately prior to such sale.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, except with respect to clause (ii) and clause (iii)(x) above, a "Change of Control" shall not be deemed to have occurred by virtue of the consummation of any transaction or series of integrated transactions immediately following which the record holders of the shares of the Corporate Taxpayer immediately prior to such transaction or series of transactions continue to have substantially the same proportionate ownership in, and own substantially all of the shares of, an entity which owns all or substantially all of the assets of the Corporate Taxpayer immediately following such transaction or series of transactions.

"Contribution" means the initial deemed contribution (if one is found to have occurred) for U.S. federal income tax purposes by RHI to OpCo of assets and liabilities as a result of the Initial Purchase.

"Control" means the possession, direct or indirect, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a Person, whether through ownership of voting securities, by contract or otherwise.

"Corporate Taxpayer Return" means the federal and/or state and/or local Tax Return, as applicable, of the Corporate Taxpayer filed with respect to Taxes of any Taxable Year.

"Cumulative Net Realized Tax Benefit" for a Taxable Year means the cumulative amount of Realized Tax Benefits for all Taxable Years of the Corporate Taxpayer, up to and including such Taxable Year, net of the cumulative amount of Realized Tax Detriments for the same period. The Realized Tax Benefit and Realized Tax Detriment for each Taxable Year shall be determined based on the most recent Tax Benefit Schedule or Amended Schedule, if any, in existence at the time of such determination.

"Default Rate" means LIBOR plus 500 basis points.

"Determination" shall have the meaning ascribed to such term in Section 1313(a) of the Code or similar provision of state and local tax law, as applicable, or any other event (including the execution of IRS Form 870-AD) that finally and conclusively establishes the amount of any liability for Tax and shall also include the acquiescence of the Corporate Taxpayer to the amount of any assessed liability for Tax.

"Early Termination Conditions" means, with respect to any portion of an Early Termination Payment, that (i) the Early Termination Effective Date has occurred and (ii) either (A) no Payment Condition is applicable or (B) a Payment Condition has been satisfied.

"Early Termination Date" means the date of an Early Termination Notice for purposes of determining the Early Termination Payment.

"Early Termination Rate" means the lesser of (i) 6.5% per annum, compounded annually, and (ii) LIBOR plus 100 basis points.

"Exchange" means an acquisition of Common Units or a purchase of Common Units by OpCo or the Corporate Taxpayer, including by way of an exchange of stock of the Corporate Taxpayer for Common Units pursuant to the Exchange Agreement, in each case occurring on or after the date of this Agreement. Any reference in this Agreement to Common Units "Exchanged" is intended to denote Common Units subject to an Exchange.

"Exchange Agreement" means that certain Exchange Agreement, dated as of the date hereof, by and among the Corporate Taxpayer, OpCo, and the other holders of Common Units and shares of Class C Common Stock and Class D Common Stock from time to time party thereto.

"Governmental Authority" has the meaning set forth in the LLC Agreement.

"Hypothetical Tax Liability" means, with respect to any Taxable Year, the liability for Taxes of (i) the Corporate Taxpayer and (ii) without duplication, OpCo, but only with respect to Taxes imposed on OpCo and allocable to the Corporate Taxpayer (or to the other members of the consolidated group of which the Corporate Taxpayer is the parent), in each case using the same methods, elections, conventions and similar practices used on the relevant Corporate Taxpayer Return, but (a) without regard to the Section 704(c) Benefits, (b) using the Non-Stepped Up Tax Basis as reflected on the Exchange Basis Schedule, including amendments thereto for the Taxable Year, (c) excluding any deduction attributable to Imputed Interest for the Taxable Year, (d) without taking into account the carryover or carryback of any Tax item (or portions thereof) that is attributable to or (without duplication) available for use because of the prior use of any of the Section 704(c) Benefits, Basis Adjustments or Imputed Interest, (e) using the Assumed State and Local Tax Rate, solely for purposes of calculating the state and local Hypothetical Tax Liability of the Corporate Taxpayer and (f) assuming, solely for purposes of calculating the liability for U.S. federal income Taxes, in order to prevent double counting, that state and local income and franchise Taxes are not deductible by the Corporate Taxpayer for U.S. federal income Tax purposes.

"Imputed Interest" shall mean any interest imputed under Section 1272, 1274 or 483 or other provision of the Code and any similar provision of state and local tax law with respect to the Corporate Taxpayer's payment obligations under this Agreement.

"IPO" means the initial public offering of Class A Common Stock of the Corporate Taxpayer.

"IPO Date" means the closing date of the IPO.

"IRS" means the U.S. Internal Revenue Service.

"LIBOR" means during any period, an interest rate per annum equal to the one-year LIBOR reported, on the date two days prior to the first day of such period, on the Telerate Page 3750 (or if such screen shall cease to be publicly available, as reported on Reuters Screen page "LIBOR01" or by any other publicly available source of such market rate) for London interbank offered rates for United States dollar deposits for such period; provided, however, that if at any time a majority of the Corporate Taxpayer's then-outstanding repurchase or warehouse agreements or other financing arrangements providing for the financing of mortgage loans, discontinue the use of LIBOR in determining pricing or interest rates and apply an alternative benchmark rate (such agreements that have discontinued the use of LIBOR, the "Discontinued Agreements"), then, during any period, all references in this Agreement to LIBOR shall automatically and without further action by any party refer to the sum of (1) the alternative benchmark rate applied in such period in the majority of the Discontinued Agreements (the "Successor Benchmark") and (2) the weighted average mathematical spread adjustment (which may be zero, negative or positive and shall be determined based on the aggregate principal amount of financing provided under each such Discontinued Agreement, whether utilized or unutilized at the time that Successor Benchmark is adopted) applied to such Successor Benchmark in the Discontinued Agreements.

"LLC Agreement" means the Second Amended and Restated Operating Agreement of OpCo, dated as of the date hereof.

"Market Value" shall mean the closing price of the Class A Common Stock on the applicable Exchange Date on the national securities exchange or interdealer quotation system on which such Class A Common Stock is then traded or listed, as reported by the Wall Street Journal; provided, that if the closing price is not reported by the Wall Street Journal for the applicable Exchange Date, then the Market Value shall mean the closing price of the Class A Common Stock on the Business Day immediately preceding such Exchange Date on the national securities exchange or interdealer quotation system on which such Class A Common Stock is then traded or listed, as reported by the Wall Street Journal; provided, further, that if the Class A Common Stock is not then listed on a national securities exchange or interdealer quotation system, the Market Value shall mean the cash consideration paid for Class A Common Stock, or the fair market value of the other property delivered for Class A Common Stock, as determined by the Board in good faith. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the above sentence, to the extent property is exchanged for cash in a transaction, the Market Value shall be determined by reference to the amount of cash transferred in such transaction.

"Member Purchase Agreement" means that certain Purchase Agreement, dated as of the date hereof, by and among the Corporate Taxpayer, OpCo, and RHI.

"Non-Stepped Up Tax Basis" means, with respect to any Reference Asset at any time, the Tax basis that such asset would have had at such time if no Basis Adjustments had been made.

"Payment Date" means any date on which a payment is required to be made pursuant to this Agreement.

"Person" means any individual, corporation, firm, partnership, joint venture, limited liability company, estate, trust, business association, organization, governmental entity or other entity.

"Pre-Exchange Transfer" means any transfer or distribution in respect of one or more Common Units (i) that occurs prior to an Exchange of such Common Units, and (ii) to which Section 743(b) or 734(b) of the Code applies.

"Realized Tax Benefit" means, for a Taxable Year, the excess, if any, of the Hypothetical Tax Liability over the actual liability for Taxes of (i) the Corporate Taxpayer and (ii) without duplication, OpCo, but only with respect to Taxes imposed on OpCo and allocable to the Corporate Taxpayer (or to the other members of the consolidated group of which the Corporate Taxpayer is the parent) for such Taxable Year. If all or a portion of the actual liability for such Taxes for the Taxable Year arises as a result of an audit by a Taxing Authority of any Taxable Year, such liability shall not be included in determining the Realized Tax Benefit unless and until there has been a Determination.

"Realized Tax Detriment" means, for a Taxable Year, the excess, if any, of the actual liability for Taxes of (i) the Corporate Taxpayer and (ii) without duplication, OpCo, but only with respect to Taxes imposed on OpCo and allocable to the Corporate Taxpayer (or to the other members of the consolidated group of which the Corporate Taxpayer is the parent) for such Taxable Year, over the Hypothetical Tax Liability for such Taxable Year. If all or a portion of the actual liability for such Taxes for the Taxable Year arises as a result of an audit by a Taxing Authority of any Taxable Year, such liability shall not be included in determining the Realized Tax Detriment unless and until there has been a Determination.

"Reference Asset" means an asset that is held by OpCo, or by any of its direct or indirect subsidiaries treated as a partnership or disregarded entity for purposes of the applicable Tax, at the time of an Exchange. A Reference Asset also includes any asset that is "substituted basis property" under Section 7701(a)(42) of the Code with respect to a Reference Asset.

"Schedule" means any of the following: (i) an Exchange Basis Schedule, (ii) a Tax Benefit Schedule, or (iii) the Early Termination Schedule.

"Section 704(c) Benefits" means the disproportionate allocation of tax items of income, gain, deduction and loss to, or away from, the Corporate Taxpayer pursuant to Section 704(c) of the Code in respect of any difference between the fair market value and the tax basis of the Reference Assets immediately following the Contribution (if one is found to have occurred). For the avoidance of doubt, such amount would include disproportionate allocations (if any) of tax items of income and gain to a Member and away from the Corporate Taxpayer.

"Subsidiaries" shall have the meaning ascribed to such term in the LLC Agreement.

"Subsidiary Stock" means any stock or other equity interest in any Subsidiary of the Corporate Taxpayer that is treated as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

"Tax Return" means any return, declaration, report or similar statement required to be filed with respect to Taxes (including any attached schedules), including any information return, claim for refund, amended return and declaration of estimated Tax.

"Tax Ruling" means a binding ruling by a Taxing Authority with respect to Taxes.

"Taxable Year" means a taxable year of the Corporate Taxpayer as defined in Section 441(b) of the Code or comparable section of state or local tax law, as applicable (and, therefore, for the avoidance of doubt, may include a period of less than 12 months for which a Tax Return is made), ending on or after the IPO Date.

"Taxes" means any and all U.S. federal, state and local taxes, assessments or similar charges that are based on or measured with respect to net income or profits, and any interest related to such Tax.

"Taxing Authority" shall mean any domestic, federal, national, state, county or municipal or other local government, any subdivision, agency, commission or authority thereof, or any quasi-governmental body exercising any taxing authority or any other authority exercising Tax regulatory authority.

"Treasury Regulations" means the final, temporary and proposed regulations under the Code promulgated from time to time (including corresponding provisions and succeeding provisions) as in effect for the relevant taxable period.

"Valuation Assumptions" shall mean, as of an Early Termination Date, the assumptions that (1) the Corporate Taxpayer will have taxable income sufficient to fully utilize (i) the deductions arising from the Basis Adjustments, Section 704(c) Benefits and Imputed Interest during such Taxable Year or future Taxable Years (including, for the avoidance of doubt, Basis Adjustments, Section 704(c) Benefits and Imputed Interest that would result from future Tax Benefit Payments that would be paid in accordance with the Valuation Assumptions) in which such deductions would become available and (ii) any net operating loss, excess interest deduction, or credit carryovers or carrybacks (or similar items with respect to carryovers or carrybacks) generated by deductions arising from Basis Adjustments, Section 704(c) Benefits or Imputed Interest that are available as of such Early Termination Date, (2) the U.S. federal income tax rates that will be in effect for each such Taxable Year will be those specified for each such Taxable Year by the Code and other law as in effect on the Early Termination Date, except to the extent any change to such tax rates for such Taxable Year have already been enacted into law as of the Early Termination Date, (3) all taxable income of the Corporate Taxpayer will be subject to the maximum applicable tax rate for U.S. federal income tax purposes throughout the relevant period, and the tax rate for U.S. state and local income taxes shall be the Assumed State and Local Tax Rate as in effect for the Taxable Year of the Early Termination Date, (4) any non-amortizable assets will be disposed of on the fifteenth anniversary of the applicable Basis Adjustment; provided, that in the event of a Change of Control, such non-amortizable assets shall be deemed disposed of at the time of sale of the relevant asset (if earlier than such fifteenth anniversary), (5) if, at the Early Termination Date, there are Common Units that have not been Exchanged, then each such Common Unit shall be deemed to be Exchanged for the Market Value of the number of shares of Class A Common Stock and the amount of cash that would be transferred if the Exchange occurred on the Early Termination Date, (6) any payment obligations pursuant to this Agreement will be satisfied on the date that any Tax Return to which such payment obligation relates is required to be filed excluding any extensions and (7) any Subsidiary Stock will be disposed of on the fifteenth anniversary of the IPO Date in a fully taxable transaction for U.S. federal income tax purposes (or, if later, on the Early Termination Date); provided, that if any Subsidiary Stock is disposed of in connection with a Change of Control, such Subsidiary Stock shall be deemed to be sold at the time of such Change of Control.

DETERMINATION OF REALIZED TAX BENEFIT

Section 2.01 Basis Adjustment. Within 90 calendar days after the filing of the U.S. federal income tax return of the Corporate Taxpayer for each Taxable Year in which any Exchange has been effected by any Member, the Corporate Taxpayer shall deliver to such Member a schedule (the "Exchange Basis Schedule") that shows, in reasonable detail necessary to perform the calculations required by this Agreement, including with respect to each Exchanging party, (i) the Non-Stepped Up Tax Basis of the Reference Assets as of each applicable Exchange Date, (ii) the Basis Adjustments with respect to the Reference Assets as a result of the Exchanges effected in such Taxable Year, calculated (x) in the aggregate, (y) solely with respect to Exchanges by such Member and (z) in the case of a Basis Adjustment under Section 734(b) of the Code solely with respect to the amount that is available to the Corporate Taxpayer in such Taxable Year, (iii) the period (or periods) over which the Reference Assets are amortizable and/or depreciable and (iv) the period (or periods) over which each Basis Adjustment is amortizable and/or depreciable.

Section 2.02 Realized Tax Benefit and Realized Tax Detriment.

(a) Tax Benefit Schedule. Within 120 calendar days after the filing of the U.S. federal income tax return of the Corporate Taxpayer for any Taxable Year in which there is a Realized Tax Benefit or Realized Tax Detriment a portion of which is Attributable to a Member, the Corporate Taxpayer shall provide to such Member a schedule showing, in reasonable detail and, at the request of such Member, with respect to each separate Exchange, the calculation of the Realized Tax Benefit or Realized Tax Detriment and the portion Attributable to such Member for such Taxable Year (a "Tax Benefit Schedule"). The Tax Benefit Schedule will become final as provided in Section 2.03(a) and may be amended as provided in Section 2.03(b) (subject to the procedures set forth in Section 2.03(b)).

(b) Applicable Principles. The Realized Tax Benefit or Realized Tax Detriment for each Taxable Year is intended to measure the decrease or increase in the actual liability for Taxes of the Corporate Taxpayer for such Taxable Year attributable to the Basis Adjustments, Section 704(c) Benefits and Imputed Interest, determined using a "with and without" methodology. For the avoidance of doubt, the actual liability for Taxes will take into account the deduction of the portion of the Tax Benefit Payment that must be accounted for as interest under the Code based upon the characterization of Tax Benefit Payments as additional consideration payable by the Corporate Taxpayer for the Common Units acquired in an Exchange. Carryovers or carrybacks of any Tax item attributable to the Basis Adjustments, Section 704(c) Benefits or Imputed Interest shall be considered to be subject to the rules of the Code and the Treasury Regulations or the appropriate provisions of U.S. state and local income and franchise tax law, as applicable, governing the use, limitation and expiration of carryovers or carrybacks of the relevant type. If a carryover or carryback of any Tax item includes a portion that is attributable to the Basis Adjustments, Section 704(c) Benefits or Imputed Interest and another portion that is not, such portions shall be considered to be used in accordance with the "with and without" methodology. The parties agree that (i) all Tax Benefit Payments attributable to the Basis Adjustments (other than amounts accounted for as interest under the Code) will (A) be treated as subsequent upward purchase price adjustments that give rise to further Basis Adjustments to Reference Assets for the Corporate Taxpayer and (B) have the effect of creating additional Basis Adjustments to Reference Assets for the Corporate Taxpayer in the year of payment, and (ii) as a result, such additional Basis Adjustments will be incorporated into the current year calculation and into future year calculations, as appropriate.

Section 2.03 Procedures, Amendments.

(a) Procedure. Every time the Corporate Taxpayer delivers to a Member an applicable Schedule under this Agreement, including any Amended Schedule delivered pursuant to Section 2.03(b) and any Early Termination Schedule or amended Early Termination Schedule, the Corporate Taxpayer shall also (x) deliver to such Member schedules, valuation reports (if any), and work papers, as determined by the Corporate Taxpayer or requested by such Member, providing reasonable detail regarding the preparation of the Schedule and (y) allow such Member reasonable access at no cost to the appropriate representatives at the Corporate Taxpayer, as determined by the Corporate Taxpayer or requested by such Member, in connection with a review of such Schedule. Without limiting the application of the preceding sentence, each time the Corporate Taxpayer delivers to a Member a Tax Benefit Schedule, in addition to the Tax Benefit Schedule duly completed, the Corporate Taxpayer shall deliver to such Member the Corporate Taxpayer Return, the reasonably detailed calculation by the Corporate Taxpayer of the Hypothetical Tax Liability, the reasonably detailed calculation by the Corporate Taxpayer of the actual Tax liability, as well as any other work papers as determined by the Corporate Taxpayer or requested by such Member. An applicable Schedule or amendment thereto shall become final and binding on all parties 30 calendar days from the first date on which the Member has received the applicable Schedule or amendment thereto unless such Member (i) within 30 calendar days after receiving an applicable Schedule or amendment thereto, provides the Corporate Taxpayer with notice of a material objection to such Schedule ("Objection Notice") made in good faith or (ii) provides a written waiver of such right of any Objection Notice within the period described in clause (i) above, in which case such Schedule or amendment thereto becomes binding on the date the waiver is received by the Corporate Taxpayer. If the parties, for any reason, are unable to successfully resolve the issues raised in the Objection Notice within 30 calendar days after receipt by the Corporate Taxpayer of an Objection Notice, the Corporate Taxpayer and the applicable Member shall employ the reconciliation procedures as described in Section 7.09 (the "Reconciliation Procedures").

(b) Amended Schedule. The applicable Schedule for any Taxable Year may be amended from time to time by the Corporate Taxpayer (i) in connection with a Determination affecting such Schedule, (ii) to correct inaccuracies in the Schedule identified as a result of the receipt of additional factual information relating to a Taxable Year after the date the Schedule was provided to the applicable Member, (iii) to comply with the Expert's determination under the Reconciliation Procedures, (iv) to reflect a change in the Realized Tax Benefit or Realized Tax Detriment for such Taxable Year attributable to a carryback or carryforward of a loss or other tax item to such Taxable Year, (v) to reflect a change in the Realized Tax Benefit or Realized Tax Detriment for such Taxable Year attributable to an amended Tax Return filed for such Taxable Year, or (vi) to adjust the Exchange Basis Schedule to take into account payments made pursuant to this Agreement (any such Schedule, an "Amended Schedule"). The Corporate Taxpayer shall provide an Amended Schedule to each Member within 30 calendar days of the occurrence of an event referenced in clauses (i) through (vi) of the preceding sentence.

ARTICLE III

TAX BENEFIT PAYMENTS

Section 3.01 Payments.

(a) Except as provided in Section 3.03, within five (5) Business Days after a Tax Benefit Schedule with respect to a Taxable Year is delivered to a Member pursuant to this Agreement becomes final in accordance with Section 2.03(a), the Corporate Taxpayer shall pay to each Member for such Taxable Year the portion, if any, of the Tax Benefit Payment with respect thereto in the amount determined pursuant to Section 3.01(b) with respect to which the Payment Conditions have been satisfied. Each such Tax Benefit Payment to a Member shall be made by wire transfer of immediately available funds to the bank account previously designated by such Member to the Corporate Taxpayer or as otherwise agreed by the Corporate Taxpayer and such Member. For the avoidance of doubt, no Tax Benefit Payment shall be made in respect of estimated tax payments, including federal estimated income tax payments. Notwithstanding any provision of this Agreement to the contrary, any Member may elect with respect to any Exchange to limit the aggregate Tax Benefit Payments made to such Member in respect of any such Exchange to a specified percentage of the amount equal to the sum of (A) the cash, excluding any Tax Benefit Payments, and (B) the Market Value of the Class A Shares, received by such Member on such Exchange (or such other limitation selected by the Member and consented to by the Corporate Taxpayer, which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld). The Member shall exercise its rights under the preceding sentence by notifying the Corporate Taxpayer in writing of its desire to impose such a limit and the specified percentage (or such other limitation selected by the Member) and such other details as may be necessary (including whether such limit includes the Imputed Interest in respect of any such Exchange) in such manner and at such time (but in no event later than the date of any such Exchange) as reasonably directed by the Corporate Taxpayer; provided, however, that, in the absence of such direction, the Member shall give such written notice in the same manner as is required by Section 7.01 of this Agreement contemporaneously with Member's notice to the Corporate Taxpayer of the applicable Exchange. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, the Corporate Taxpayer shall not be obligated to pay any portion of a Tax Benefit Payment, and the payment of such amount shall not be considered due for any purpose under this Agreement, unless and until the Payment Conditions have been satisfied with respect to such portion (any portion with respect to which the Payment Conditions have not been satisfied, a "Deferrable Portion").

(b) A "Tax Benefit Payment" means, with respect to a Member, an amount, not less than zero, equal to the sum of the amount of the Net Tax Benefit Attributable to such Member and the related Interest Amount. For the avoidance of doubt, for Tax purposes, the Interest Amount shall not be treated as interest but instead shall be treated as additional consideration for the acquisition of Common Units in Exchanges, unless otherwise required by law. Subject to Section 3.03(a), the "Net Tax Benefit" for a Taxable Year shall be an amount equal to the excess, if any, of 90% of the Cumulative Net Realized Tax Benefit as of the end of such Taxable Year over the sum of the total amount of Tax Benefit Payments previously made under this Section 3.01 (excluding payments attributable to Interest Amounts); provided, for the avoidance of doubt, that such Member shall not be required to return any portion of any previously made Tax Benefit Payment. The "Interest Amount" shall equal the interest on the amount of the Net Tax Benefit Attributable to such Member calculated at the Agreed Rate from the due date (without extensions) for filing the Corporate Taxpayer Return with respect to Taxes for such Taxable Year until the Payment Date of the applicable Tax Benefit Payment. For the avoidance of doubt, and without duplication, the Interest Amount with respect to a Deferrable Portion of a Tax Benefit Payment shall accrue from the due date of the relevant Tax Return until such Deferrable Portion is paid to the Applicable Member. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Agreement, after any lump-sum payment under Article IV in respect of present or future Tax attributes subject to this Agreement, the Tax Benefit Payment, Net Tax Benefit and components thereof shall be calculated without taking into account any such attributes or any such lump-sum payment.

(c) The "Payment Conditions" shall be satisfied with respect to any portion of a Tax Benefit Payment upon the earliest to occur of:

(i) the receipt by the Corporate Taxpayer of a Tax Ruling that, in the reasonable judgment of the Corporate Taxpayer, after consultation with the Advisory Firm and the Corporate Taxpayer's auditors, confirms that the Realized Tax Benefit to which the portion of such Tax Benefit Payment relates is available for the applicable Taxable Year;

(ii) the receipt by the Corporate Taxpayer of (a) a written opinion issued by the Advisory Firm identifying the categories of Reference Assets that should be amortizable under Section 197 of the Code and not subject to the anti-churning rules of Section 1.197-2(h) of the Treasury Regulations, (it being understood and agreed that any such opinion received by the Corporate Taxpayer may apply to subsequent Exchanges) and (b) a valuation report prepared by an independent appraiser or valuation expert setting forth the fair market value, as of the date of the relevant Exchange, of the Reference Assets identified in such opinion, but only if the opinion and report are satisfactory in form and substance to the Corporate Taxpayer's auditors and/or tax preparers, as applicable, to conclude that the Realized Tax Benefit to which the portion of such Tax Benefit Payment relates is available for the applicable Taxable Year without the filing of a Schedule UTP (with respect to such Realized Tax Benefit) with the Corporate Taxpayer's Tax Returns and without taking any tax reserve for financial statement purposes (with respect to such Realized Tax Benefit); or

(iii) a final Determination with respect to the Corporate Taxpayer's liability for Taxes for the relevant Taxable Year that conclusively determines the amount of Realized Tax Benefit.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, Reference Assets that are not, in the reasonable judgment of the Corporate Taxpayer, after consultation with the Advisory Firm and the Corporate Taxpayer's auditors, "section 197 intangibles" within the meaning of section 197(d)(1) of the Code, shall be treated as satisfying the requirement of Section 3.01(c)(ii).

The Corporate Taxpayer shall make reasonable efforts to determine whether the Payment Conditions are satisfied with respect to the amount of any Tax Benefit Payment before delivering the Tax Benefit Schedule for a Taxable Year, and in any event as soon as reasonably practicable thereafter, and will consult with the Applicable Member in connection with such determination.

Section 3.02 No Duplicative Payments. It is intended that the provisions of this Agreement will not result in duplicative payment of any amount (including interest) required under this Agreement. The provisions of this Agreement shall be construed in the appropriate manner to ensure such intentions are realized.

Section 3.03 Suspension of Payments.

(a) Receipt of Change Notice. If any party, or any Affiliate or Subsidiary of any party, receives a 30-day letter, a final audit report, a statutory notice of deficiency, or similar written notice from any Taxing Authority relating to the amount of the Net Tax Benefit calculated for purposes of this Agreement, or relating to any other material Tax matter that is relevant to the terms of this Agreement and the calculation of the Tax Benefit Payments that may be payable by the Corporate Taxpayer to a Member (a "Change Notice"), prompt written notification and a copy of the relevant Change Notice shall be delivered by the party, or its Affiliate or Subsidiary, that received such Change Notice to the other parties to this Agreement.

(b) Suspension of Payments. From and after the date on which a Change Notice is received in respect of the Depreciation of any Reference Asset that is a section 197 intangible and included in the calculation of a Realized Tax Benefit (a "197 Change Notice"), any Tax Benefit Payments required to be made under this Agreement(including, for the avoidance of doubt, the portion of any Early Termination Payment relating thereto) will, to the extent determined reasonably necessary by the disinterested directors or committee of disinterested directors after considering the potential Tax implications of such 197 Change Notice, be paid by the Corporate Taxpayer to a national bank mutually agreeable to the parties to act as escrow agent to hold such funds in escrow pursuant to an escrow agreement until a Determination is received. For purposes of the preceding sentence, and in particular for purposes of the disinterested directors or committee of disinterested directors' determination of the amount to be placed in escrow pending a Determination, the disinterested directors or committee of disinterested directors may suspend all future Tax Benefit Payments required under this Agreement up to an amount that is equal to the sum of (i) 90% of the amount of the asserted deficiency in Tax owed in such 197 Change Notice and (ii) portion of any future Tax Benefit Payment that is attributable to amortization deductions in respect of the Reference Asset(s) that are the subject of such 197 Change Notice.

(c) Release of Escrowed Funds. If a Determination is received in the case of a 197 Change Notice, and if such Determination results in no adjustment in any Tax Benefit Payments under this Agreement, then the relevant escrowed funds (along with any net interest earned on such funds) shall be distributed to the relevant Member or Members, as applicable. If a Determination is received in the case of a 197 Change Notice, and if such Determination results in an adjustment in any Tax Benefit Payments under this Agreement, then the relevant escrowed funds (along with any net interest earned on such funds) shall be distributed to the relevant parties (which, for the avoidance of doubt and depending on the nature of the adjustments, may include the Corporate Taxpayer, RHI or Gilbert, or some combination thereof) in accordance with the relevant Amended Schedule prepared pursuant to Section 2.03 of this Agreement.

ARTICLE IV

TERMINATION

Section 4.01 Termination, Early Termination and Breach of Agreement.

(a) Unless terminated earlier pursuant to Section 4.01(b) or Section 4.01(c), this Agreement will terminate when there is no further potential for a Tax Benefit Payment pursuant to this Agreement. Tax Benefit Payments under this Agreement are not conditioned on any Member retaining an interest in the Corporate Taxpayer or OpCo (or any successor thereto).

(b) The Corporate Taxpayer may terminate this Agreement with respect to all amounts payable to the Members and with respect to all of the Common Units held (or previously held and exchanged) by all Members at any time by paying to each Member the Early Termination Payment in respect of such Member; provided, however, that this Agreement shall only terminate pursuant to this Section 4.01(b) upon the receipt of the Early Termination Payment by all Members; and provided, further, that the Corporate Taxpayer may withdraw any notice to execute its termination rights under this Section 4.01(b) prior to the time at which any Early Termination Payment has been paid. Upon payment of the Early Termination Payment by the Corporate Taxpayer in accordance with this Section 4.01(b), neither the Members nor the Corporate Taxpayer shall have any further payment obligations under this Agreement, other than for any (1) Tax Benefit Payment agreed to by the Corporate Taxpayer and a Member as due and payable but unpaid as of the Early Termination Notice and (2) Tax Benefit Payment due for the Taxable Year ending with or including the date of the Early Termination Notice (except to the extent that the amount described in clause (2) is included in the Early Termination Payment). If an Exchange occurs after the Corporate Taxpayer makes the Early Termination Payment pursuant to this Section 4.01(b), the Corporate Taxpayer shall have no obligations under this Agreement with respect to such Exchange.

(c) In the event that the Corporate Taxpayer breaches any of its material obligations under this Agreement, whether as a result of failure to make any payment when due, failure to honor any other material obligation required hereunder or by operation of law as a result of the rejection of this Agreement in a case commenced under the Bankruptcy Code or otherwise, then all obligations hereunder shall be accelerated and such obligations shall be calculated as if an Early Termination Notice had been delivered on the date of such breach and shall include, but not be limited to, (1) the Early Termination Payment calculated as if an Early Termination Notice had been delivered on the date of a breach, (2) any Tax Benefit Payment agreed to by the Corporate Taxpayer and any Members as due and payable but unpaid as of the date of a breach, and (3) any Tax Benefit Payment due for the Taxable Year ending with or including the date of a breach; provided that procedures similar to the procedures of Section 4.02 shall apply with respect to the determination of the amount payable by the Corporate Taxpayer pursuant to this sentence. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the event that the Corporate Taxpayer breaches this Agreement, the Members shall be entitled to elect to receive the amounts set forth in clauses (1), (2) and (3) above or to seek specific performance of the terms hereof. The parties agree that the failure to make any payment due pursuant to this Agreement within three months of the date such payment is due shall be deemed to be a breach of a material obligation under this Agreement for all purposes of this Agreement, and that it will not be considered to be a breach of a material obligation under this Agreement to make a payment due pursuant to this Agreement within three months of the date such payment is due. Notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, it shall not be a breach of this Agreement if the Corporate Taxpayer fails to make any payment due pursuant to this Agreement when due to the extent the Corporate Taxpayer has insufficient funds to make such payment; provided that the interest provisions of Section 5.02 shall apply to such late payment (unless the Corporate Taxpayer does not have sufficient cash to make such payment as a result of limitations imposed by debt agreements to which the Corporate Taxpayer or its Subsidiaries is a party, in which case Section 5.02 shall apply, but the Default Rate shall be replaced by the Agreed Rate); provided, further, that the Corporate Taxpayer shall promptly (and in any event, within two (2) Business Days), pay all such unpaid payments, together with accrued and unpaid interest thereon, immediately following such time that the Corporate Taxpayer has, and to the extent the Corporate Taxpayer has, sufficient funds to make such payment, and the failure of the Corporate Taxpayer to do so shall constitute a breach of this Agreement. For the avoidance of doubt, all cash and cash equivalents used or to be used to pay dividends by, or repurchase equity securities of, the Corporate Taxpayer shall be deemed to be funds sufficient and available to pay such unpaid payments, together with any accrued and unpaid interest thereon.

Section 4.02 Early Termination Notice. If the Corporate Taxpayer chooses to exercise its right of early termination under Section 4.01(b) above, the Corporate Taxpayer shall deliver to each Member notice of such intention to exercise such right ("Early Termination Notice") and a schedule (the "Early Termination Schedule") specifying the Corporate Taxpayer's intention to exercise such right and showing in reasonable detail the calculation of the Early Termination Payment for such Member, including that portion of the Early Termination Payment that has satisfied the Payment Conditions and that portion of the Early Termination Payment that has not, as of the Early Termination Date, satisfied a Payment Condition. The Early Termination Schedule shall become final and binding on such Member 30 calendar days from the first date on which such Member has received such Schedule or amendment thereto unless such Member (i) within 30 calendar days after receiving the Early Termination Schedule, provides the Corporate Taxpayer with notice of a material objection to such Schedule made in good faith ("Material Objection Notice") or (ii) provides a written waiver of such right of a Material Objection Notice within the period described in clause (i) above, in which case such Schedule becomes binding on the date the waiver is received by the Corporate Taxpayer (such 30 calendar day date as modified, if at all, by clauses (i) or (ii), the "Early Termination Effective Date"). If the Corporate Taxpayer and such Member, for any reason, are unable to successfully resolve the issues raised in such notice within 30 calendar days after receipt by the Corporate Taxpayer of the Material Objection Notice, the Corporate Taxpayer and such Member shall employ the Reconciliation Procedures.

Section 4.03 Payment upon Early Termination.

(a) Within three Business Days after the Early Termination Conditions being satisfied with respect to an Early Termination Payment (or a portion thereof), the Corporate Taxpayer shall pay to each Member an amount equal to the Early Termination Payment in respect of such Member (or the portion thereof for which the Early Termination Conditions have been satisfied), plus interest calculated at the Agreed Rate from the Early Termination Effective Date until the Payment Date of such Early Termination Payment (or portion thereof). Such payment shall be made by wire transfer of immediately available funds to a bank account or accounts designated by such Member or as otherwise agreed by the Corporate Taxpayer and such Member. For the avoidance of doubt, after the initial Early Termination Payment, the Corporate Taxpayer will be required to make additional payments to the Member with respect to the Deferrable Portion of the Early Termination Payment if and when a Payment Condition has been satisfied with respect to such Deferrable Portion.

(b) "Early Termination Payment" in respect of a Member shall equal the present value, discounted at the Early Termination Rate as of the Early Termination Effective Date, of all Tax Benefit Payments in respect of such Member that would be required to be paid by the Corporate Taxpayer beginning from the Early Termination Date and assuming that the Valuation Assumptions are applied.

Section 4.04 Change of Control. In connection with any Change of Control all obligations hereunder with respect to such Member shall be accelerated and such obligations shall be calculated as if an Early Termination Notice had been delivered on the date of such Change of Control and shall include, but not be limited to, (1) the Early Termination Payment to such Member calculated as if an Early Termination Notice had been delivered on the date of such Change of Control, (2) any Tax Benefit Payment agreed to by the Corporate Taxpayer and such Member as due and payable but unpaid as of the date of such Change of Control, and (3) any Tax Benefit Payment due for the Taxable Year ending with or including the date of such Change of Control; provided, that procedures similar to the procedures of Section 4.02 shall apply with respect to the determination of the amount payable by the Corporate Taxpayer pursuant to this sentence.

ARTICLE V
SUBORDINATION AND LATE PAYMENTS

Section 5.01 Subordination. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement to the contrary, any Tax Benefit Payment or Early Termination Payment required to be made by the Corporate Taxpayer to any Member under this Agreement shall rank subordinate and junior in right of payment to any principal, interest or other amounts due and payable in respect of any obligations in respect of indebtedness for borrowed money of the Corporate Taxpayer and its Subsidiaries ("Senior Obligations") and shall rank pari passu with all current or future unsecured obligations of the Corporate Taxpayer that are not Senior Obligations.

Section 5.02 Late Payments by the Corporate Taxpayer. The amount of all or any portion of any Tax Benefit Payment or Early Termination Payment not made to the applicable Member when due under the terms of this Agreement shall be payable together with any interest thereon, computed at the Default Rate and commencing from the date on which such Tax Benefit Payment or Early Termination Payment was due and payable.

ARTICLE VI
NO DISPUTES; CONSISTENCY; COOPERATION

Section 6.01 Participation in the Corporate Taxpayer's and OpCo's Tax Matters. Except as otherwise provided herein, the Corporate Taxpayer shall have full responsibility for, and sole discretion over, all Tax matters concerning the Corporate Taxpayer and OpCo, including the preparation, filing or amending of any Tax Return and defending, contesting or settling any issue pertaining to Taxes. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Corporate Taxpayer shall notify a Member of, and keep such Member reasonably informed with respect to, the portion of any audit of the Corporate Taxpayer and OpCo by a Taxing Authority the outcome of which is reasonably expected to affect the rights and obligations of such Member under this Agreement, and shall provide to such Member reasonable opportunity to provide information and other input to the Corporate Taxpayer, OpCo and their respective advisors concerning the conduct of any such portion of such audit; provided, however, that the Corporate Taxpayer and OpCo shall not be required to take any action that is inconsistent with any provision of the LLC Agreement.

Section 6.02 Consistency. The Corporate Taxpayer and the Members agree to report and cause to be reported for all purposes, including federal, state and local Tax purposes and financial reporting purposes, all Tax-related items (including the Basis Adjustments and each Tax Benefit Payment) in a manner consistent with that specified by the Corporate Taxpayer in any Schedule required to be provided by or on behalf of the Corporate Taxpayer under this Agreement unless otherwise required by law. Any dispute as to required Tax or financial reporting shall be subject to Section 7.09.

Section 6.03 Cooperation. Each of the Corporate Taxpayer and each Member shall (a) furnish to the other party in a timely manner such information, documents and other materials as the other party may reasonably request for purposes of making any determination or computation necessary or appropriate under this Agreement, preparing any Tax Return or contesting or defending any audit, examination or controversy with any Taxing Authority, (b) make itself available to the other party and its representatives to provide explanations of documents and materials and such other information as the other party or its representatives may reasonably request in connection with any of the matters described in clause (a) above, and (c) reasonably cooperate in connection with any such matter, and the Corporate Taxpayer shall reimburse the applicable Member for any reasonable third-party costs and expenses incurred pursuant to this Section 6.03.

ARTICLE VII
MISCELLANEOUS

Section 7.01 Notices. All notices, requests and other communications to any party hereunder shall be in writing (including facsimile transmission and electronic mail ("e-mail") transmission, so long as a receipt of such e-mail is requested and received) and shall be given to such party as set forth below, or pursuant to such other instructions as may be designated in writing by the party to receive such notice:

All such notices, requests and other communications shall be deemed received on the date of receipt by the recipient thereof if received prior to 5:00 p.m. on a Business Day in the place of receipt. Otherwise, any such notice, request or communication shall be deemed to have been received on the next succeeding Business Day in the place of receipt

Section 7.02 Binding Effect; Benefit; Assignment.

(a) The provisions of this Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the parties hereto and their respective successors and assigns. No provision of this Agreement is intended to confer any rights, benefits, remedies, obligations or liabilities hereunder upon any Person other than the parties hereto and their respective successors and assigns. The Corporate Taxpayer shall require and cause any direct or indirect successor (whether by purchase, merger, consolidation or otherwise) to all or substantially all of the business or assets of the Corporate Taxpayer, by written agreement, expressly to assume and agree to perform this Agreement in the same manner and to the same extent that the Corporate Taxpayer would be required to perform if no such succession had taken place.

(b) A Member may assign any of its rights under this Agreement to any Person as long as such transferee has executed and delivered, or, in connection with such transfer, executes and delivers, a joinder to this Agreement, in form of Exhibit A, agreeing to become a "Member" for all purposes of this Agreement, except as otherwise provided in such joinder; provided, that a Member's rights under this Agreement shall be assignable by such Member under the procedure in this Section 7.02(b) regardless of whether such Member continues to hold any interests in OpCo or the Corporate Taxpayer or has fully transferred any such interests.

Section 7.03 Resolution of Disputes.

(a) Except for Reconciliation Disputes subject to Section 7.09, any and all disputes which cannot be settled amicably, including any ancillary claims of any party, arising out of, relating to or in connection with the validity, negotiation, execution, interpretation, performance or non-performance of this Agreement (including the validity, scope and enforceability of this arbitration provision) (each a "Dispute") shall be finally settled by arbitration conducted by a single arbitrator in Delaware in accordance with the then-existing Rules of Arbitration of the International Chamber of Commerce. If the parties to the Dispute fail to agree on the selection of an arbitrator within ten (10) days of the receipt of the request for arbitration, the International Chamber of Commerce shall make the appointment. The arbitrator shall be a lawyer admitted to the practice of law in the State of Delaware and shall conduct the proceedings in the English language. Performance under this Agreement shall continue if reasonably possible during any arbitration proceedings.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a), the Corporate Taxpayer may bring an action or special proceeding in any court of competent jurisdiction for the purpose of compelling a party to arbitrate, seeking temporary or preliminary relief in aid of an arbitration hereunder, and/or enforcing an arbitration award and, for the purposes of this paragraph (b), each Member (i) expressly consents to the application of paragraph (c) of this Section 7.03 to any such action or proceeding, (ii) agrees that proof shall not be required that monetary damages for breach of the provisions of this Agreement would be difficult to calculate and that remedies at law would be inadequate, and (iii) irrevocably appoints the Corporate Taxpayer as agent of such Member for service of process in connection with any such action or proceeding and agrees that service of process upon such agent, who shall promptly advise such Member of any such service of process, shall be deemed in every respect effective service of process upon such Member in any such action or proceeding.

(c) EACH PARTY HEREBY IRREVOCABLY SUBMITS TO THE JURISDICTION OF THE THIRD JUDICIAL CIRCUIT, WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN OR, IF SUCH COURT DECLINES JURISDICTION, ANOTHER STATE COURT OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN, OR, IF NO STATE COURT OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN HAS JURISDICTION, THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF MICHIGAN, FOR THE PURPOSE OF ANY JUDICIAL PROCEEDING BROUGHT IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS OF THIS SECTION 7.03, OR ANY JUDICIAL PROCEEDING ANCILLARY TO AN ARBITRATION OR CONTEMPLATED ARBITRATION ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO OR CONCERNING THIS AGREEMENT. Such ancillary judicial proceedings include any suit, action or proceeding to compel arbitration, to obtain temporary or preliminary judicial relief in aid of arbitration, or to confirm an arbitration award. The parties acknowledge that the fora designated by this paragraph (c) have a reasonable relation to this Agreement, and to the parties' relationship with one another.

(d) The parties hereby waive, to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, any objection which they now or hereafter may have to personal jurisdiction or to the laying of venue of any such ancillary suit, action or proceeding brought in any court referred to in the preceding paragraph of this Section 7.03 and such parties agree not to plead or claim the same.

Section 7.04 Counterparts. This Agreement may be signed in any number of counterparts, each of which shall be an original, with the same effect as if the signatures thereto and hereto were upon the same instrument. Until and unless each party has received a counterpart hereof signed by the other party hereto, this Agreement shall have no effect and no party shall have any right or obligation hereunder (whether by virtue of any other oral or written agreement or other communication).

Section 7.05 Entire Agreement. This Agreement and the other Reorganization Documents (as such term is defined in the LLC Agreement) constitute the entire agreement between the parties with respect to the subject matter of this Agreement and supersede all prior agreements and understandings, both oral and written, between the parties with respect to the subject matter of this Agreement. Except to the extent provided in Section 3.03, nothing in this Agreement shall create any third-party beneficiary rights in favor of any Person or other party hereto.

Section 7.06 Severability. If any term, provision, covenant or restriction of this Agreement is held by a court of competent jurisdiction or other Governmental Authority to be invalid, void or unenforceable, the remainder of the terms, provisions, covenants and restrictions of this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect and shall in no way be affected, impaired or invalidated so long as the economic or legal substance of the transactions contemplated hereby is not affected in any manner materially adverse to any party. Upon such a determination, the parties shall negotiate in good faith to modify this Agreement so as to effect the original intent of the parties as closely as possible in an acceptable manner in order that the transactions contemplated hereby are consummated as originally contemplated to the fullest extent possible.

Section 7.07 Amendment. No provision of this Agreement may be amended unless such amendment is approved in writing by the Corporate Taxpayer and by Persons who would be entitled to receive at least two-thirds of the Early Termination Payments payable to all Persons entitled to Early Termination Payments under this Agreement if the Corporate Taxpayer had exercised its right of early termination on the date of the most recent Exchange prior to such amendment (excluding, for purposes of this sentence, all payments made to any Persons pursuant to this Agreement since the date of such most recent Exchange); provided, that no such amendment shall be effective if such amendment will have a disproportionate effect on the payments certain Persons will or may receive under this Agreement unless all such Persons disproportionately affected consent in writing to such amendment. No provision of this Agreement may be waived unless such waiver is in writing and signed by the party against whom the waiver is to be effective.

Section 7.08 Governing Law. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New York, without regard to the conflicts of law rules of such State that would result in the application of the laws of any other State.

Section 7.09 Reconciliation. In the event that the Corporate Taxpayer and a Member are unable to resolve a disagreement with respect to the matters governed by Sections 2.03, 3.01(b), 4.02 and 6.02 within the relevant period designated in this Agreement ("Reconciliation Dispute"), the Reconciliation Dispute shall be submitted for determination to a nationally recognized expert (the "Expert") in the particular area of disagreement mutually acceptable to both parties. The Expert shall be a partner or principal in a nationally recognized accounting or law firm, and unless the Corporate Taxpayer and such Member agree otherwise, the Expert shall not, and the firm that employs the Expert shall not, have any material relationship with the Corporate Taxpayer or such Member or other actual or potential conflict of interest. If the parties are unable to agree on an Expert within fifteen (15) calendar days of receipt by the respondent(s) of written notice of a Reconciliation Dispute, the Expert shall be appointed by the International Chamber of Commerce Centre for Expertise. The Expert shall resolve any matter relating to the Exchange Basis Schedule or an amendment thereto or the Early Termination Schedule or an amendment thereto within 30 calendar days and shall resolve any matter relating to a Tax Benefit Schedule or an amendment thereto within 15 calendar days or as soon thereafter as is reasonably practicable, in each case after the matter has been submitted to the Expert for resolution. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, if the matter is not resolved before any payment that is the subject of a disagreement would be due (in the absence of such disagreement) or any Tax Return reflecting the subject of a disagreement is due, the undisputed amount shall be paid on the date prescribed by this Agreement and such Tax Return may be filed as prepared by the Corporate Taxpayer, subject to adjustment or amendment upon resolution. The costs and expenses relating to the engagement of such Expert or amending any Tax Return shall be borne by the Corporate Taxpayer, except as provided in the next sentence. The Corporate Taxpayer and such Member shall bear their own costs and expenses of such proceeding, unless (i) the Expert substantially adopts such Member's position, in which case the Corporate Taxpayer shall reimburse such Member for any reasonable out-of-pocket costs and expenses in such proceeding, or (ii) the Expert substantially adopts the Corporate Taxpayer's position, in which case such Member shall reimburse the Corporate Taxpayer for any reasonable out-of-pocket costs and expenses in such proceeding. Any dispute as to whether a dispute is a Reconciliation Dispute within the meaning of this Section 7.09 shall be decided by the Expert. The Expert shall finally determine any Reconciliation Dispute and the determinations of the Expert pursuant to this Section 7.09 shall be binding on the Corporate Taxpayer and such Member and may be entered and enforced in any court having jurisdiction.

Section 7.10 Withholding. The Corporate Taxpayer shall be entitled to deduct and withhold from any payment payable pursuant to this Agreement such amounts as the Corporate Taxpayer is required to deduct and withhold with respect to the making of such payment under the Code or any provision of state, local or foreign tax law. To the extent that amounts are so withheld and paid over to the appropriate Taxing Authority by the Corporate Taxpayer, such withheld amounts shall be treated for all purposes of this Agreement as having been paid to the applicable Member.

Section 7.11 Admission of the Corporate Taxpayer into a Consolidated Group; Transfers of Corporate Assets.

(a) If the Corporate Taxpayer is or becomes a member of an affiliated or consolidated group of corporations that files a consolidated income tax return pursuant to Sections 1501 et seq. of the Code or any corresponding provisions of state or local law, then: (i) the provisions of this Agreement shall be applied with respect to the group as a whole; and (ii) Tax Benefit Payments, Early Termination Payments and other applicable items hereunder shall be computed with reference to the consolidated taxable income of the group as a whole.

(b) If (x) any entity that is obligated to make a Tax Benefit Payment or Early Termination Payment hereunder transfers one or more assets to a corporation (or a Person classified as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes) with which such entity does not file a consolidated tax return pursuant to Section 1501 of the Code and (y) such transfer was not made with a principal purpose of increasing or accelerating any Tax Benefit Payments hereunder, such entity, for purposes of calculating the amount of any Tax Benefit Payment or Early Termination Payment (e.g., calculating the gross income of the entity and determining the Realized Tax Benefit of such entity) due hereunder, shall be treated as having disposed of such asset in a fully taxable transaction on the date of such contribution. The consideration deemed to be received by such entity shall be equal to the fair market value of the contributed asset. For purposes of this Section 7.11, a transfer of a partnership interest shall be treated as a transfer of the transferring partner's share of each of the assets and liabilities of that partnership.

(c) If (x) OpCo transfers (or is deemed to transfer for United States federal income Tax purposes) any Reference Asset to a transferee that is treated as a corporation for United States federal income Tax purposes (other than a member of a group described in Section 7.11(a)) in a transaction in which the transferee's basis in the property acquired is determined in whole or in part by reference to such transferor's basis in such property and (y) such transfer was not made with a principal purpose of increasing or accelerating any Tax Benefit Payments hereunder, OpCo shall be treated as having disposed of the Reference Asset in a wholly taxable transaction. The consideration deemed to be received by OpCo in a transaction contemplated in the prior sentence shall be equal to the fair market value of the deemed transferred asset, plus (i) the amount of debt to which such asset is subject, in the case of a transfer of an encumbered asset or (ii) the amount of debt allocated to such asset, in the case of a transfer of a partnership interest.

(d) If any member of a group described in Section 7.11(a) that owns any Common Unit deconsolidates from the group (or the Corporate Taxpayer deconsolidates from the group), then the Corporate Taxpayer shall cause such member (or the parent of the consolidated group in a case where the Corporate Taxpayer deconsolidates from the group) to assume the obligation to make payments hereunder with respect to the Basis Adjustments, Section 704(c) Benefits and Imputed Interest associated with any Reference Asset it owns (directly or indirectly) in a manner consistent with the terms of this Agreement as the member (or one of its Affiliates) actually realizes Tax benefits. If a transferee or a member of a group described in Section 7.11(a) assumes an obligation to make payments hereunder pursuant to either of the foregoing sentences, then the initial obligor is relieved of the obligation assumed.

Section 7.12 Confidentiality. Section 11.10 (Confidentiality) of the LLC Agreement as of the date of this Agreement shall apply to any information of the Corporate Taxpayer provided to the Members and their assignees pursuant to this Agreement.

Section 7.13 Change in Law. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, if, in connection with an actual or proposed change in law, a Member reasonably believes that the existence of this Agreement could cause income (other than income arising from receipt of a payment under this Agreement) recognized by such Member (or direct or indirect equity holders in such Member) upon an Exchange to be treated as ordinary income rather than capital gain (or otherwise taxed at ordinary income rates) for U.S. federal income tax purposes or would have other material adverse tax consequences to the Corporate Taxpayer or such Member or any direct or indirect owner of a Member, then at the election of such Member and to the extent specified by such Member, this Agreement (i) shall cease to have further effect with respect to such Member, (ii) shall not apply to an Exchange occurring after a date specified by such Member, or (iii) shall otherwise be amended in a manner determined by such Member; provided, that such amendment shall not result in an increase in payments under this Agreement to such Member at any time as compared to the amounts and times of payments that would have been due to such Member in the absence of such amendment.

Section 7.14 Partnership Agreement. This Agreement shall be treated as part of the partnership agreement of OpCo as described in Section 761(c) of the Code, and Sections 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(h) and 1.761-1(c) of the Treasury Regulations.

SECOND AMENDED AND RESTATED OPERATING AGREEMENT (this "Agreement") OF RKT HOLDINGS, LLC, a Michigan limited liability company (the "Company"), dated as of [•], 2020, by and among the Company, Rocket Companies, Inc., a Delaware corporation ("RocketCo"), Rock Holdings Inc., a Michigan corporation ("RHI") and Daniel Gilbert ("Gilbert").

W I T N E S S E T H:

WHEREAS, the Company has been heretofore formed as a limited liability company under the Michigan Act (as defined below) pursuant to the articles of organization which were executed and filed with the Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs, Corporations, Securities and Commercial Licensing Bureau of the State of Michigan on March 6, 2020;

WHEREAS, RHI entered into the initial Operating Agreement of the Company, dated as of March 6, 2020 (the "Initial Operating Agreement");

WHEREAS, the Initial Operating Agreement was amended and restated in its entirety by the Amended and Restated Operating Agreement of the Company, dated as of [•], 2020, by and among the Company, RHI and Gilbert (the "A&R Operating Agreement"); and

WHEREAS, the Company, RHI and Gilbert desire to enter into this Agreement to admit RocketCo as a Member (as defined below) and to make the modifications hereinafter set forth.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements herein made and other good and valuable consideration, the parties hereto hereby agree, to amend and restate the A&R Operating Agreement in its entirety as follows:

ARTICLE I

DEFINITIONS AND USAGE

Section 1.01 Definitions.

(a) The following terms shall have the following meanings for the purposes of this Agreement:

"Additional Member" means any Person admitted as a Member of the Company pursuant to Section 3.02 in connection with the new issuance of Units to such Person.

"Adjusted Capital Account Deficit" means, with respect to any Member, the deficit balance, if any, in such Member's Capital Account as of the end of the relevant Fiscal Year, after giving effect to the following adjustments:

(i) Credit to such Capital Account any amounts that such Member is deemed to be obligated to restore pursuant to the penultimate sentence in Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-2(g)(1) and 1.704-2(i)(5); and

(ii) Debit to such Capital Account the items described in Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d)(4), 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d)(5) and 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d)(6).

The foregoing definition of Adjusted Capital Account Deficit is intended to comply with the provisions of Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d) and shall be interpreted consistently therewith.

"Affiliate" means, with respect to any Person, any other Person directly or indirectly controlling, controlled by, or under common control with such Person; provided that no Member nor any Affiliate of any Member shall be deemed to be an Affiliate of any other Member or any of its Affiliates solely by virtue of such Members' Units.

"Applicable Law" means, with respect to any Person, any federal, state or local law (statutory, common or otherwise), constitution, treaty, convention, ordinance, code, rule, regulation, order, injunction, judgment, decree, ruling or other similar requirement enacted, adopted, promulgated or applied by a Governmental Authority or Regulatory Agency that is binding upon or applicable to such Person or its assets, as amended unless expressly specified otherwise.

"Available Cash Flow" means, for any period, the Company's consolidated net income determined in accordance with GAAP, adjusted by the Managing Member to exclude non-cash items, extraordinary or one-time items of gain or loss, any compensation expense related to Units or other Equity Securities issued under any management equity plan of RocketCo or the Company, and, to the extent not reflected in consolidated net income determined in accordance with GAAP, less any Reserves established during such period (including the amount of any net increase during such period to a Reserve established in a prior period) and plus the amount of any net decrease during such period to a Reserve established by a prior period.

"Business Day" means a day, other than Saturday, Sunday or other day on which commercial banks in New York, New York or Detroit, Michigan are authorized or required by Applicable Law to close.

"Capital Account" means the capital account established and maintained for each Member pursuant to Section 5.02.

"Capital Contribution" means, with respect to any Member, the amount of money and the initial Carrying Value of any Property (other than money) contributed to the Company.

"Carrying Value" means with respect to any Property (other than money), such Property's adjusted basis for U.S. federal income tax purposes, except as follows:

(i) The initial Carrying Value of any such Property contributed by a Member to the Company shall be the gross fair market value of such Property, as reasonably determined by the Managing Member;

(ii) The Carrying Values of all such Properties shall be adjusted to equal their respective gross fair market values (taking Section 7701(g) of the Code into account), as reasonably determined by the Managing Member, at the time of any Revaluation pursuant to Section 5.02(c);

(iii) The Carrying Value of any item of such Properties distributed to any Member shall be adjusted to equal the gross fair market value (taking Section 7701(g) of the Code into account) of such Property on the date of distribution as reasonably determined by the Managing Member; and

(iv) The Carrying Values of such Properties shall be increased (or decreased) to reflect any adjustments to the adjusted basis of such Properties pursuant to Code Section 734(b) or Code Section 743(b), but only to the extent that such adjustments are taken into account in determining Capital Accounts pursuant to Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(m) and subparagraph (vi) of the definition of "Net Income" and "Net Loss" or Section 5.04(b)(vi); provided, however, that Carrying Values shall not be adjusted pursuant to this subparagraph (iv) to the extent that an adjustment pursuant to subparagraph (ii) is required in connection with a transaction that would otherwise result in an adjustment pursuant to this subparagraph (iv). If the Carrying Value of such Property has been determined or adjusted pursuant to subparagraph (i), (ii) or (iv), such Carrying Value shall thereafter be adjusted by the Depreciation taken into account with respect to such asset, for purposes of computing Net Income and Net Loss.

"Class A Common Stock" means Class A common stock, $0.00001 par value per share, of RocketCo.

"Class B Common Stock" means Class B common stock, $0.00001 par value per share, of RocketCo.

"Class C Common Stock" means Class C common stock, $0.00001 par value per share, of RocketCo.

"Class D Common Stock" means Class D common stock, $0.00001 par value per share, of RocketCo.

"Code" means the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended from time to time.

"Common Unit" means a common limited liability company interest in the Company.

"Company Minimum Gain" means "partnership minimum gain," as defined in Treasury Regulation Sections 1.704-2(b)(2) and 1.704-2(d).

"Control" including the terms "controlling," "controlled by" and "under common control with," means the possession, directly or indirectly, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a person, whether through the ownership of voting stock, by contract, or otherwise. A person who is the owner of 20% or more of the outstanding voting stock of a corporation, partnership, unincorporated association or other entity shall be presumed to have control of such entity, in the absence of proof by a preponderance of the evidence to the contrary.

"Covered Person" means (i) each Member or an Affiliate thereof, in each case in such capacity, (ii) each officer, director, shareholder, member, partner, employee, representative, agent or trustee of a Member or an Affiliate thereof, in all cases in such capacity and (iii) each officer, director, shareholder (other than any public shareholder of RocketCo that is not a Member), member, partner, employee, representative, agent or trustee of the Managing Member, RocketCo (in the event RocketCo is not the Managing Member), the Company or an Affiliate controlled thereby, in all cases in such capacity.

"Depreciation" means, for each Fiscal Year, an amount equal to the depreciation, amortization, or other cost recovery deduction allowable with respect to an asset for such Fiscal Year, except that if the Carrying Value of an asset differs from its adjusted basis for U.S. federal income tax purposes at the beginning of such Fiscal Year, Depreciation shall be an amount that bears the same ratio to such beginning Carrying Value as the U.S. federal income tax depreciation, amortization, or other cost recovery deduction for such Fiscal Year bears to such beginning adjusted tax basis; provided, however, that if the adjusted basis for U.S. federal income tax purposes of an asset at the beginning of such Fiscal Year is zero, Depreciation shall be determined with reference to such beginning Carrying Value using any reasonable method selected by the Managing Member.

"DGCL" means the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware, as amended from time to time.

"Equity Securities" means, with respect to any Person, any (i) membership interests or shares of capital stock, (ii) equity, ownership, voting, profit or participation interests or (iii) similar rights or securities in such Person or any of its Subsidiaries, or any rights or securities convertible into or exchangeable for, options or other rights to acquire from such Person or any of its Subsidiaries, or obligation on the part of such Person or any of its Subsidiaries to issue, any of the foregoing.

"Exchange Agreement" means the Exchange Agreement, dated as of the date hereof, by and among RocketCo, the Company and the holders of Common Units and shares of Class C Common Stock and Class D Common Stock from time to time party thereto.

"Family Member" means, with respect to any natural person, the spouse, parents, grandparents, lineal descendants, siblings of such person or such person's spouse and lineal descendants of siblings of such person or such person's spouse. Lineal descendants shall include adopted persons, but only so long as they are adopted during minority.

"FINRA" means the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc.

"Fiscal Year" means the Company's fiscal year, which shall initially be the calendar year and which may be changed from time to time as determined by the Managing Member.

"Form 8-A Effective Time" has the meaning set forth in the Reorganization Agreement.

"Governmental Authority" means any transnational, domestic or foreign federal, state or local governmental, regulatory or administrative authority, department, court, agency or official, including any political subdivision thereof.

"Highest Member Tax Amount" means the Member receiving the greatest proportionate allocation of taxable income attributable to its ownership of the Company in the applicable tax period (or portion thereof) (including as a result of the application of Section 704(c) of the Code or otherwise), and calculated by multiplying (x) the aggregate taxable income allocated to such Member (excluding the tax consequences resulting from any adjustment under Sections 743(b) and 734(b) of the Code in such applicable taxable period (or portion thereof), by (y) the Tax Rate.

"Indebtedness" means (a) all indebtedness for borrowed money (including capitalized lease obligations, sale-leaseback transactions or other similar transactions, however evidenced), (b) any other indebtedness that is evidenced by a note, bond, debenture, draft or similar instrument, (c) notes payable and (d) lines of credit and any other agreements relating to the borrowing of money or extension of credit.

"IPO" means the initial underwritten public offering of RocketCo.

"Limited Ownership Minimum" means, with respect to the Rock Members, if the number of its Owned Shares exceeds [•], as adjusted for any stock split, stock dividend, reverse stock split, combination, recapitalization, reclassification or similar event.

"Managing Member" means (i) RocketCo so long as RocketCo has not withdrawn as the Managing Member pursuant to Section 7.02 and (ii) any successor thereof appointed as Managing Member in accordance with Section 7.02.

"Member" means any Person named as a Member of the Company on the Member Schedule and the books and records of the Company, as the same may be amended from time to time to reflect any Person admitted as an Additional Member or a Substitute Member, for so long as such Person continues to be a Member of the Company.

"Member Nonrecourse Debt" has the same meaning as the term "partner nonrecourse debt" in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(b)(4).

"Member Nonrecourse Debt Minimum Gain" means an amount with respect to each "partner nonrecourse debt" (as defined in Treasury Regulation Section 1.704-2(b)(4)) equal to the Company Minimum Gain that would result if such partner nonrecourse debt were treated as a nonrecourse liability (as defined in Treasury Regulation Section 1.752-1(a)(2)) determined in accordance with Treasury Regulation Section 1.704-2(i)(3).

"Member Nonrecourse Deductions" has the same meaning as the term "partner nonrecourse deductions" in Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-2(i)(1) and 1.704-2(i)(2).

"Michigan Act" means the Michigan Limited Liability Company Act.

"Net Income" and "Net Loss" mean, for each Fiscal Year or other period, an amount equal to the Company's taxable income or loss for such Fiscal Year or period, determined in accordance with Section 703(a) of the Code (for this purpose, all items of income, gain, loss, or deduction required to be stated separately pursuant to Section 703(a)(1) of the Code shall be included in taxable income or loss), with the following adjustments (without duplication):

(i) Any income of the Company that is exempt from U.S. federal income tax and not otherwise taken into account in computing Net Income or Net Loss pursuant to this definition of "Net Income" and "Net Loss" shall be added to such taxable income or loss;

(ii) Any expenditures of the Company described in Section 705(a)(2)(B) of the Code or treated as Section 705(a)(2)(B) of the Code expenditures pursuant to Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(i), and not otherwise taken into account in computing Net Income and Net Loss pursuant to this definition of "Net Income" and "Net Loss," shall be treated as deductible items;

(iii) In the event the Carrying Value of any Company asset is adjusted pursuant to subparagraphs (ii) or (iii) of the definition of "Carrying Value," the amount of such adjustment shall be treated as an item of gain (if the adjustment increases the Carrying Value of the asset) or an item of loss (if the adjustment decreases the Carrying Value of the asset) from the disposition of such asset and shall be taken into account, immediately prior to the event giving rise to such adjustment, for purposes of computing Net Income or Net Loss;

(iv) Gain or loss resulting from any disposition of Property with respect to which gain or loss is recognized for U.S. federal income tax purposes shall be computed by reference to the Carrying Value of the Property disposed of, notwithstanding that the adjusted tax basis of such Property differs from its Carrying Value;

(v) In lieu of the depreciation, amortization, and other cost recovery deductions taken into account in computing such taxable income or loss, there shall be taken into account Depreciation for such Fiscal Year, computed in accordance with the definition of Depreciation;

(vi) To the extent an adjustment to the adjusted tax basis of any Company asset pursuant to Section 734(b) of the Code is required, pursuant to Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-(b)(2)(iv)(m)(4), to be taken into account in determining Capital Accounts as a result of a distribution other than in liquidation of a Member's interest in the Company, the amount of such adjustment shall be treated as an item of gain (if the adjustment increases the basis of the asset) or loss (if the adjustment decreases such basis) from the disposition of such asset and shall be taken into account for purposes of computing Net Income or Net Loss; and

(vii) Notwithstanding any other provision of this definition, any items that are specially allocated pursuant to Section 5.04(b), Section 5.04(c) and Section 5.04(d) shall not be taken into account in computing Net Income and Net Loss.

The amounts of the items of Company income, gain, loss, or deduction available to be specially allocated pursuant to Section 5.04(b), Section 5.04(c) and Section 5.04(d) shall be determined by applying rules analogous to those set forth in subparagraphs (i) through (vi) above.

"Non-RocketCo Member" means any Member that is not a RocketCo Member.

"Nonrecourse Deductions" has the meaning set forth in Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-2(b)(1) and 1.704-2(c).

"Owned Shares" with respect to the Rock Members, the total number of shares of Class A Common Stock beneficially owned (as such term is defined in Rule 13d-3 and Rule 13d-5 under the Exchange Act) by the Rock Members (including, for the purposes of this definition, any Person that owns either Units or RocketCo Common Stock and that otherwise qualifies under the definition of "Rock Member"), in the aggregate and without duplication, as of the date of such calculation (determined on an "as-converted" basis taking into account any and all securities then convertible into, or exercisable or exchangeable for, shares of Class A Common Stock (including Common Units and shares of Class C Common Stock exchangeable pursuant to the Exchange Agreement).

"Ownership Minimum" means, with respect to the Rock Members, if the number of its Owned Shares exceeds [•], as adjusted for any stock split, stock dividend, reverse stock split, combination, recapitalization, reclassification or similar event.

"Paired Interest" has the meaning set forth in the Exchange Agreement.

"Partnership Audit Provisions" means Title XI, Section 1101, of the Bipartisan Budget Act of 2015, P.L. 114-74 (together with any subsequent amendments thereto, Treasury Regulations promulgated thereunder, and published administrative interpretations thereof, and any comparable provisions of state or local tax law).

"Percentage Interest" means, with respect to any Member, a fractional amount, expressed as a percentage: (i) the numerator of which is the aggregate number of Common Units owned of record thereby and (ii) the denominator of which is the aggregate number of Common Units issued and outstanding. The sum of the outstanding Percentage Interests of all Members shall at all times equal 100%.

"Permitted Transfer" means any Transfer (i) to any Permitted Transferee or (ii) following which such Units continue to be held by RHI or any Permitted Transferee and the direct or indirect equityholders of RHI or such Permitted Transferee immediately prior to such Transfer continue to hold a majority of the beneficial interests of RHI or such Permitted Transferee, as applicable, following such Transfer.

"Permitted Transferee" means, with respect to any Member, (i) RHI or any Rock Equityholder, (ii) any Family Member of such holder or any Family Member of any Rock Equityholder, (iii) any trust, family-partnership or estate-planning vehicle so long as such holder, any Family Member of such holder, any Rock Equityholder or any Family Member of a Rock Equityholder are the sole economic beneficiaries thereof, (iv) any partnership, corporation or other entity controlled by, or a majority of which is beneficially owned by, such holder or any of the persons listed in the foregoing clauses (i)-(iii), (v) any charitable trust or organization that is exempt from taxation under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, and controlled by such holder or any of the persons listed in the foregoing clauses (i)-(iv), (vi) an individual mandated under a qualified domestic relations order or (vii) a legal or personal representative of such holder, any Family Member of such holder, any Rock Equityholder or any Family Member of a Rock Equityholder in the event of the death or disability thereof.

"Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, unincorporated association or other entity.

"Prime Rate" means the rate of interest from time to time identified by JP Morgan Chase, N.A. as being its "prime" or "reference" rate.

"Property" means an interest of any kind in any real, personal or intellectual (or mixed) property, including cash, and any improvements thereto, and shall include both tangible and intangible property.

"RocketCo Common Stock" means all classes and series of common stock of RocketCo, including the Class A Common Stock, Class B Common Stock, Class C Common Stock and Class D Common Stock.

"RocketCo Equity Plan" means the Rocket Companies, Inc. 2020 Management Incentive Plan, as the same may be amended from time to time.

"RocketCo Member" means (i) RocketCo and (ii) any Subsidiary of RocketCo (other than the Company and its Subsidiaries) that is a Member.

"Purchase Agreement" means the Purchase Agreement, dated as of the date hereof, by and between RHI and Rocket Companies, Inc.

"Registration Rights Agreement" means the Registration Rights Agreement, dated as of the date hereof, by and between RocketCo and RHI.

"Regulatory Agency" means the SEC, FINRA and any other regulatory authority or body (including any state or provincial securities authority and any self-regulatory organization) with jurisdiction over the Company or any of its Subsidiaries.

"Relative Percentage Interest" means, with respect to any Member relative to another Member or Members, a fractional amount, expressed as a percentage, the numerator of which is the Percentage Interest of such Member; and the denominator of which is (x) the Percentage Interest of such Member plus (y) the aggregate Percentage Interest of such other Member or Members.

"Reorganization" means the transactions contemplated by the Reorganization Agreement.

"Reorganization Agreement" means the Reorganization Agreement by and between RocketCo, the Company, RHI and Gilbert.

"Reorganization Date Capital Account Balance" means, with respect to any Member, the positive Capital Account balance of such Member as of immediately following the Reorganization, the amount or deemed value of which is set forth on the Member Schedule.

"Reorganization Documents" means the Reorganization Agreement, this Agreement, the Tax Receivable Agreement, the Exchange Agreement, the Purchase Agreement and the Registration Rights Agreement.

"Reserves" means, as of any date of determination, amounts allocated by the Managing Member, in its reasonable judgment, to reserves maintained for working capital of the Company, for contingencies of the Company, for operating expenses and debt reduction of the Company.

"Rock Equityholders" means the direct or indirect equityholders of RHI.

"Rock Members" means (i) RHI, (ii) Gilbert and (iii) any Permitted Transferee of a Rock Member that owns Units from time to time.

"SEC" means the United States Securities and Exchange Commission.

"Subsidiary" means, with respect to any Person, any corporation, partnership, limited liability company, association, joint venture or other business entity of which more than 50% of the total voting power of Equity Securities or other ownership interests entitled (without regard to the occurrence of any contingency) to vote in the election of the Person or Persons (whether directors, managers, trustees or other Persons performing similar functions) having the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies thereof is at the time owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by that Person or one or more of the other Subsidiaries of that Person or a combination thereof.

"Substitute Member" means any Person admitted as a Member of the Company pursuant to Section 3.02 in connection with the Transfer of then-existing Units to such Person.

"Tax Amount" means the Highest Member Tax Amount divided by the Percentage Interest of the Member described in the definition of "Highest Member Tax Amount".

"Tax Distribution" means a distribution made by the Company pursuant to Section 5.03(e)(i) or Section 5.03(e)(iii) or a distribution made by the Company pursuant to another provision of Section 5.03 but designated as a Tax Distribution pursuant to Section 5.03(e)(ii).

"Tax Distribution Amount" means, with respect to a Member's Units, whichever of the following applies with respect to the applicable Tax Distribution, in each case in amount not less than zero:

(i) With respect to a Tax Distribution pursuant to Section 5.03(e)(i), the excess, if any, of (A) such Member's required annualized income installment for such estimated payment date under Section 6655(e) of the Code, assuming that (x) such Member is a corporation (which assumption, for the avoidance of doubt, shall not affect the determination of the Tax Rate), (y) Section 6655(e)(2)(C)(ii) is in effect and (z) such Member's only income is from the Company, which amount shall be calculated based on the projections believed by the Managing Member in good faith to be, reasonable projections of the product of (1) the Tax Amount and (2) such Member's Percentage Interest over (B) the aggregate amount of Tax Distributions designated by the Company pursuant to Section 5.03(e)(ii) with respect to such Units since the date of the previous Tax Distribution pursuant to Section 5.03(e)(i) (or if no such Tax Distribution was required to be made, the date such Tax Distribution would have been made pursuant to Section 5.03(e)(i)).

(ii) With respect to the designation of an amount as a Tax Distribution pursuant to Section 5.03(e)(ii), the product of (x) the Tax Amount projected, in the good faith belief of the Managing Member, during the period since the date of the previous Tax Distribution (or, if more recent, the date that the previous Tax Distribution pursuant to Section 5.03(e)(i) would have been made or, in the case of the first distribution pursuant to Section 5.03(b), the date of this Agreement) and (y) such Member's Percentage Interest.

(iii) With respect to an entire Fiscal Year to be calculated for purposes of Section 5.03(e)(iii), the excess, if any, of (A) the product of (x) the Tax Amount for the relevant Fiscal Year and (y) such Member's Percentage Interest, over (B) the aggregate amount of Tax Distributions (other than Tax Distributions under Section 5.03(e)(iii) with respect to a prior Fiscal Year) with respect to such Units made with respect to such Fiscal Year.

"Tax Rate" means the highest marginal federal, state and local tax rate for an individual or corporation that is resident in Michigan, New York City or California (whichever is higher) applicable to ordinary income, qualified dividend income or capital gains, as appropriate, taking into account the holding period of the assets disposed of and the year in which the taxable net income is recognized by the Company, and taking into account the deductibility of state and local income taxes as applicable at the time for U.S. federal income tax purposes and any limitations thereon including pursuant to Section 68 of the Code or Section 164 of the Code, which Tax Rate shall be the same for all Members.

"Tax Receivable Agreement" means the Tax Receivable Agreement by and between RocketCo, RHI and Gilbert.

"Transfer" of a Unit means, directly or indirectly, any sale, assignment, transfer, exchange, gift, bequest, pledge, hypothecation or other disposition or encumbrance of such Unit or any legal or beneficial interest in such Unit, in whole or in part, whether or not for value and whether voluntary or involuntary or by operation of Applicable Law, and shall include all matters deemed to constitute a Transfer under Article VIII; provided, however, that the following shall not be considered a "Transfer": (i) the pledge of Units by a Member that creates a mere security interest in such Units pursuant to a bona fide loan or indebtedness transaction so long as such Member continues to exercise sole voting control over such pledged Units; provided, however, that a foreclosure on such Units or other similar action by the pledgee shall constitute a "Transfer"; or (ii) the fact that the spouse of any Member possesses or obtains an interest in such Member's Units arising solely by reason of the application of the community property laws of any jurisdiction, so long as no other event or circumstance shall exist or have occurred that constitutes a "Transfer" of such Units. The terms "Transferred", "Transferring", "Transferor", "Transferee" and "Transferable" have meanings correlative to the foregoing.

"Treasury Regulations" mean the regulations promulgated under the Code, as amended from time to time.

"Units" means Common Units or any other class of limited liability interests in the Company designated by the Company after the date hereof in accordance with this Agreement; provided that any type, class or series of Units shall have the designations, preferences or special rights set forth or referenced in this Agreement, and the membership interests of the Company represented by such type, class or series of Units shall be determined in accordance with such designations, preferences or special rights.

References to any statute shall be deemed to refer to such statute as amended from time to time and to any rules or regulations promulgated thereunder. References to any agreement or contract are to that agreement or contract as amended, modified or supplemented from time to time in accordance with the terms hereof and thereof. References to any Person include the successors and permitted assigns of that Person. References from or through any date mean, unless otherwise specified, from and including or through and including, respectively. References to "law", "laws" or to a particular statute or law shall be deemed also to include any Applicable Law. As used in this Agreement, all references to "majority in interest" and phrases of similar import shall be deemed to refer to such percentage or fraction of interest based on the Relative Percentage Interests of the Members subject to such determination. Unless otherwise expressly provided herein, when any approval, consent or other matter requires any action or approval of any group of Members, including any holders of any class of Units, such approval, consent or other matter shall require the approval of a majority in interest of such group of Members. Except to the extent otherwise expressly provided herein, all references to any Member shall be deemed to refer solely to such Person in its capacity as such Member and not in any other capacity.

ARTICLE II

THE COMPANY

Section 2.01 Formation. The Company was formed upon the filing of the articles of organization of the Company with the Department of Licensing and Regulatory Affairs, Corporations, Securities and Commercial Licensing Bureau of the State of Michigan on March 6, 2020. The Managing Member or an "authorized agent" within the meaning of the Michigan Act shall file and record any amendments or restatements to the articles of organization of the Company and such other certificates and documents (and any amendments or restatements thereof) as may be required under the laws of the State of Michigan and of any other jurisdiction in which the Company may conduct business. The authorized agent or representative shall, on request, provide any Member with copies of each such document as filed and recorded. The Members hereby agree that the Company and its Subsidiaries shall be governed by the terms and conditions of this Agreement and, except as provided herein, the Michigan Act.

Section 2.02 Name. The name of the Company shall be RKT Holdings, LLC; provided that the Managing Member may change the name of the Company to such other name as the Managing Member shall determine in its sole discretion, and shall have the authority to execute, acknowledge, deliver, file and record such further certificates, amendments, instruments and documents, and to do all such other acts and things, as may be required by Applicable Law or as, in the reasonable judgment of the Managing Member, may be necessary or advisable to effect such change.

Section 2.03 Term. The Company shall have perpetual existence unless sooner dissolved and its affairs wound up as provided in Article X.

Section 2.04 Registered Agent and Registered Office. The name of the registered agent of the Company for service of process on the Company in the State of Michigan shall be CT Corporation, and the address of such registered agent and the address of the registered office of the Company in the State of Michigan shall be The Corporation Company, 40600 Ann Arbor Road East, Suite 201, Plymouth, Michigan 48170. Such office and such agent may be changed to such place within the State of Michigan and any successor registered agent, respectively, as may be determined from time to time by the Managing Member in accordance with the Michigan Act.

Section 2.05 Purposes. The primary business and purpose of the Company shall be to engage in such activities as are permitted under the Michigan Act and determined from time to time by the Managing Member in accordance with the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

Section 2.06 Powers of the Company. The Company shall have the power and authority to take any and all actions necessary, appropriate or advisable to or for the furtherance of the purposes set forth in Section 2.05.

Section 2.07 Partnership Tax Status. The Members intend that the Company shall be treated as a partnership for federal, state and local income tax purposes to the extent such treatment is available, and agree to take (or refrain from taking) such actions as may be necessary to receive and maintain such treatment and refrain from taking any actions inconsistent thereof.

Section 2.08 Regulation of Internal Affairs. The internal affairs of the Company and the conduct of its business shall be regulated by this Agreement, and to the extent not provided for herein, shall be determined by the Managing Member.

Section 2.09 Ownership of Property. Legal title to all Property, conveyed to, or held by the Company or its Subsidiaries shall reside in the Company or its Subsidiaries and shall be conveyed only in the name of the Company or its Subsidiaries and no Member or any other Person, individually, shall have any ownership of such Property.

Section 2.10 Subsidiaries. The Company shall cause the business and affairs of each of the Subsidiaries to be managed by the Managing Member in accordance with and in a manner consistent with this Agreement.

ARTICLE III

UNITS; MEMBERS; BOOKS AND RECORDS; REPORTS

Section 3.01 Units; Admission of Members.

(a) Effective upon the Reorganization, pursuant to Section 2.1(d)(ii) of the Reorganization Agreement, (i) RocketCo has been admitted to the Company as the Managing Member and (ii) the Company has hereby reclassified all membership interests of the Company outstanding as of immediately prior to the Form 8-A Effective Time into the number of Common Units, in the aggregate, set forth on Schedule A (the "Member Schedule"). The Member Schedule shall be maintained by the Managing Member on behalf of the Company in accordance with this Agreement and, upon any subsequent update to the Member Schedule, the Managing Member shall promptly deliver a copy of such updated Member Schedule to each Member. When any Units or other Equity Securities of the Company are issued, repurchased, redeemed, converted or Transferred in accordance with this Agreement, the Member Schedule shall be amended by the Managing Member to reflect such issuance, repurchase, redemption or Transfer, the admission of additional or substitute Members and the resulting Percentage Interest of each Member. Following the date hereof, no Person shall be admitted as a Member and no additional Units shall be issued except as expressly provided herein.

(b) The Managing Member may cause the Company to authorize and issue from time to time such other Units or other Equity Securities of any type, class or series and having the designations, preferences or special rights as may be determined the Managing Member. Such Units or other Equity Securities may be issued pursuant to such agreements as the Managing Member shall approve, with respect to Persons employed by or otherwise performing services for the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, other equity compensation agreements, options or warrants. When any such other Units or other Equity Securities are authorized and issued, the Member Schedule and this Agreement shall be amended by the Managing Member to reflect such additional issuances and resulting dilution, which shall be borne pro rata by all Members based on their Common Units.

Section 3.02 Substitute Members and Additional Members.

(a) No Transferee of any Units or Person to whom any Units are issued pursuant to this Agreement shall be admitted as a Member hereunder or acquire any rights hereunder, including any class voting rights or the right to receive distributions and allocations in respect of the Transferred or issued Units, as applicable, unless (i) such Units are Transferred or issued in compliance with the provisions of this Agreement (including Article VIII) and (ii) such Transferee or recipient shall have executed and delivered to the Company such instruments as the Managing Member deems necessary or desirable, in its reasonable discretion, to effectuate the admission of such Transferee or recipient as a Member and to confirm the agreement of such Transferee or recipient to be bound by all the terms and provisions of this Agreement. Upon complying with the immediately preceding sentence, without the need for any further action of any Person, a Transferee or recipient shall be deemed admitted to the Company as a Member. A Substitute Member shall enjoy the same rights, and be subject to the same obligations, as the Transferor; provided that such Transferor shall not be relieved of any obligation or liability hereunder arising prior to the consummation of such Transfer but shall be relieved of all future obligations with respect to the Units so Transferred. As promptly as practicable after the admission of any Person as a Member, the books and records of the Company shall be changed to reflect such admission of a Substitute Member or Additional Member. In the event of any admission of a Substitute Member or Additional Member pursuant to this Section 3.02(a), this Agreement shall be deemed amended to reflect such admission, and any formal amendment of this Agreement (including the Member Schedule) in connection therewith shall only require execution by the Company and such Substitute Member or Additional Member, as applicable, to be effective.

(b) If a Member shall Transfer all (but not less than all) its Units, the Member shall thereupon cease to be a Member of the Company.

Section 3.03 Tax and Accounting Information.

(a) Accounting Decisions and Reliance on Others. All decisions as to accounting matters, except as otherwise specifically set forth herein, shall be made by the Managing Member in accordance with Applicable Law and with accounting methods followed for U.S. federal income tax purposes. In making such decisions, the Managing Member may rely upon the advice of the independent accountants of the Company.

(b) Records and Accounting Maintained. The books and records of the Company shall be kept, and the financial position and the results of its operations recorded, in all material respects in accordance with United States generally accepted accounting principles as in effect from time to time ("GAAP"). The Fiscal Year of the Company shall be used for financial reporting and for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

(c) Financial Reports.

(i) The books and records of the Company shall be audited as of the end of each Fiscal Year by the same accounting firm that audits the books and records of RocketCo (or, if such firm declines to perform such audit, by an accounting firm selected by the Managing Member).

(ii) In the event neither RocketCo nor the Company is required to file an annual report on Form 10-K or quarterly report on Form 10-Q, the Company shall deliver, or cause to be delivered, the following to each Rock Member, in each case so long as such Rock Member meets the Ownership Minimum:

(A) not later than ninety (90) days after the end of each fiscal year of the Company, a copy of the audited consolidated balance sheet of the Company and its Subsidiaries as of the end of such fiscal year and the related statements of operations and cash flows for such fiscal year, setting forth in each case in comparative form the figures for the previous year, all in reasonable detail; and

(B) not later than forty five (45) days or such later time as permitted under applicable securities law after the end of each of the first three fiscal quarters of each fiscal year, the unaudited consolidated balance sheet of the Company and its Subsidiaries, and the related statements of operations and cash flows for such quarter and for the period commencing on the first day of the fiscal year and ending on the last day of such quarter.

(d) Tax Returns.

(i) The Company shall timely cause to be prepared by an accounting firm selected by the Managing Member all federal, state, local and foreign tax returns (including information returns) of the Company and its Subsidiaries, which may be required by a jurisdiction in which the Company and its Subsidiaries operate or conduct business for each year or period for which such returns are required to be filed and shall cause such returns to be timely filed. Upon request of RHI or any other Member, the Company shall furnish to such Member a copy of each such tax return;

(ii) The Company shall furnish to each Member (a) as soon as reasonably practical after the end of each Fiscal Year, all information concerning the Company and its Subsidiaries required for the preparation of tax returns of such Members (or any beneficial owner(s) of such Member), including a report (including Schedule K-1), indicating each Member's share of the Company's taxable income, gain, credits, losses and deductions for such year, in sufficient detail to enable such Member to prepare its federal, state and other tax returns; provided that estimates of such information believed by the Managing Member in good faith to be reasonable shall be provided within 90 days of the end of the Fiscal Year, (b) as soon as reasonably possible after the close of the relevant fiscal period, but in no event later than ten days prior to the date an estimated tax payment is due, such information concerning the Company as is required to enable such Member (or any beneficial owner of such Member) to pay estimated taxes and (c) as soon as reasonably possible after a request by such Member, such other information concerning the Company and its Subsidiaries that is reasonably requested by such Member for compliance with its tax obligations (or the tax obligations of any beneficial owner(s) of such Member) or for tax planning purposes; and

(e) Inconsistent Positions. No Member shall take a position on its income tax return with respect to any item of Company income, gain, deduction, loss or credit that is different from the position taken on the Company's income tax return with respect to such item unless such Member notifies the Company of the different position the Member desires to take and the Company's regular tax advisors, after consulting with the Member, are unable to provide an opinion that (after taking into account all of the relevant facts and circumstances) the arguments in favor of the Company's position outweigh the arguments in favor of the Member's position.

Section 3.04 Books and Records. The Company shall keep full and accurate books of account and other records of the Company at its principal place of business. No Member (other than the Managing Member and, in each case so long as it meets the Ownership Minimum, the Rock Members) shall have any right to inspect the books and records of RocketCo, the Company or any of its Subsidiaries; provided that, in the case of the Rock Members, (i) such inspection shall be at reasonable times and upon reasonable prior notice to the Company, but not more frequently than once per calendar quarter and (ii) neither RocketCo, the Company nor any of its Subsidiaries shall be required to disclose (x) any information the Managing Member determines to be competitively sensitive or (y) any privileged information of RocketCo, the Company or any of its Subsidiaries so long as the Company has used commercially reasonable efforts to enter into an arrangement pursuant to which it may provide such information to the Rock Members without the loss of any such privilege.

ARTICLE IV

ROCKETCO OWNERSHIP; RESTRICTIONS ON ROCKETCO STOCK

Section 4.01 RocketCo Ownership.

(a) If at any time RocketCo issues a share of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock or any other Equity Security of RocketCo entitled to any economic rights (including in the IPO) (an "Economic RocketCo Security") with regard thereto (other than Class C Common Stock, Class D Common Stock or other Equity Security of RocketCo not entitled to any economic rights with respect thereto), (i) the Company shall issue to RocketCo one Common Unit (if RocketCo issues a share of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock) or such other Equity Security of the Company (if RocketCo issues an Economic RocketCo Security other than Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock) corresponding to the Economic RocketCo Security, and with substantially the same rights to dividends and distributions (including distributions upon liquidation) and other economic rights as those of such Economic RocketCo Security and (ii) the net proceeds received by RocketCo with respect to the corresponding Economic RocketCo Security, if any, shall be concurrently contributed to the Company; provided, however, that if RocketCo issues any Economic RocketCo Securities, some or all of the net proceeds of which are to be used to fund expenses or other obligations of RocketCo for which RocketCo would be permitted a distribution pursuant to Section 5.03(c), then RocketCo shall not be required to transfer such net proceeds to the Company which are used or will be used to fund such expenses or obligations, and provided, further, that if RocketCo issues any shares of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock in order to purchase or fund the purchase from a Non-RocketCo Member of a number of Common Units (and shares of Class C Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, as applicable) or to purchase or fund the purchase of shares of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock, in each case equal to the number of shares of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock issued, then the Company shall not issue any new Common Units in connection therewith and RocketCo shall not be required to transfer such net proceeds to the Company (it being understood that such net proceeds shall instead be transferred to such Non-RocketCo Member as consideration for such purchase).

(b) Notwithstanding Section 4.01(a), this Article IV shall not apply (i) to the issuance and distribution to holders of shares of RocketCo Common Stock of rights to purchase Equity Securities of RocketCo under a "poison pill" or similar shareholders rights plan (it being understood that upon exchange of Paired Interests for Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock, as the case may be, pursuant to the Exchange Agreement, such Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock, as the case may be, will be issued together with a corresponding right) or (ii) to the issuance under the RocketCo Equity Plan or RocketCo's other employee benefit plans of any warrants, options or other rights to acquire Equity Securities of RocketCo or rights or property that may be converted into or settled in Equity Securities of RocketCo, but shall in each of the foregoing cases apply to the issuance of Equity Securities of RocketCo in connection with the exercise or settlement of such rights, warrants, options or other rights or property.

Section 4.02 Restrictions on RocketCo Common Stock.

(a) Except as otherwise determined by the Managing Member in accordance with Section 4.02(d), (i) the Company may not issue any additional Common Units to RocketCo or any of its Subsidiaries unless substantially simultaneously therewith RocketCo or such Subsidiary issues or sells an equal number of shares of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock to another Person and (ii) the Company may not issue any other Equity Securities of the Company to RocketCo or any of its Subsidiaries unless substantially simultaneously, RocketCo or such Subsidiary issues or sells, to another Person, an equal number of shares of a new class or series of Equity Securities of RocketCo or such Subsidiary with substantially the same rights to dividends and distributions (including distributions upon liquidation) and other economic rights as those of such Equity Securities of the Company.

(b) Except as otherwise determined by the Managing Member in accordance with Section 4.02(d), (i) RocketCo or any of its Subsidiaries may not redeem, repurchase or otherwise acquire any shares of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock unless substantially simultaneously the Company redeems, repurchases or otherwise acquires from RocketCo an equal number of Units for the same price per security (or, if RocketCo uses funds received from distributions from the Company or the net proceeds from an issuance of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock to fund such redemption, repurchase or acquisition, then the Company shall cancel an equal number of Units for no consideration) and (ii) RocketCo or any of its Subsidiaries may not redeem or repurchase any other Equity Securities of RocketCo unless substantially simultaneously, the Company redeems or repurchases from RocketCo an equal number of Equity Securities of the Company of a corresponding class or series with substantially the same rights to dividends and distributions (including distributions upon liquidation) or other economic rights as those of such Equity Securities of RocketCo for the same price per security (or, if RocketCo uses funds received from distributions from the Company or the net proceeds from an issuance of Equity Securities other than Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock to fund such redemption, repurchase or acquisition, then the Company shall cancel an equal number of its corresponding Equity Securities for no consideration). Except as otherwise determined by the Managing Member in accordance with Section 4.02(d): (x) the Company may not redeem, repurchase or otherwise acquire Common Units from RocketCo or any of its Subsidiaries unless substantially simultaneously RocketCo or such Subsidiary redeems, repurchases or otherwise acquires an equal number of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock for the same price per security from holders thereof (except that if the Company cancels Common Units for no consideration as described in Section 4.02(b)(i), then the price per security need not be the same) and (y) the Company may not redeem, repurchase or otherwise acquire any other Equity Securities of the Company from RocketCo or any of its Subsidiaries unless substantially simultaneously RocketCo or such Subsidiary redeems, repurchases or otherwise acquires for the same price per security an equal number of Equity Securities of RocketCo of a corresponding class or series with substantially the same rights to dividends and distributions (including dividends and distributions upon liquidation) and other economic rights as those of such Equity Securities of RocketCo (except that if the Company cancels Equity Securities for no consideration as described in Section 4.02(b)(ii), then the price per security need not be the same). Notwithstanding the immediately preceding sentence, to the extent that any consideration payable to RocketCo in connection with the redemption or repurchase of any shares or other Equity Securities of RocketCo or any of its Subsidiaries consists (in whole or in part) of shares or such other Equity Securities (including, for the avoidance of doubt, in connection with the cashless exercise of an option or warrant), then redemption or repurchase of the corresponding Common Units or other Equity Securities of the Company shall be effectuated in an equivalent manner (except if the Company cancels Common Units or other Equity Securities for no consideration as described in this Section 4.02(b)).

(c) The Company shall not in any manner effect any subdivision (by any stock or unit split, stock or unit dividend or distribution, reclassification, reorganization, recapitalization or otherwise) or combination (by reverse stock or unit split, reclassification, reorganization, recapitalization or otherwise) of the outstanding Common Units unless accompanied by a substantively identical subdivision or combination, as applicable, of the outstanding RocketCo Common Stock, with corresponding changes made with respect to any other exchangeable or convertible securities. RocketCo shall not in any manner effect any subdivision (by any stock or unit split, stock or unit dividend or distribution, reclassification, reorganization, recapitalization or otherwise) or combination (by reverse stock or unit split, reclassification, reorganization, recapitalization or otherwise) of the outstanding RocketCo Common Stock unless accompanied by a substantively identical subdivision or combination, as applicable, of the outstanding Common Units, with corresponding changes made with respect to any other exchangeable or convertible securities.

(d) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Article IV:

(i) if at any time the Managing Member shall determine that any debt instrument of RocketCo, the Company or its Subsidiaries shall not permit RocketCo or the Company to comply with the provisions of Section 4.02(a) or Section 4.02(b) in connection with the issuance, redemption or repurchase of any shares of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock or other Equity Securities of RocketCo or any of its Subsidiaries or any Units or other Equity Securities of the Company, then the Managing Member may in good faith implement an economically equivalent alternative arrangement without complying with such provisions; provided that, in the case that any such alternative arrangement is implemented because of restrictions in any debt instrument, such arrangement shall also be subject to the prior written consent (not to be unreasonably withheld) of each Rock Member, in each case so long as such Rock Member meets the Limited Ownership Minimum;

(ii) if (x) RocketCo incurs any indebtedness and desires to transfer the proceeds of such indebtedness to the Company and (y) RocketCo is unable to lend the proceeds of such indebtedness to the Company on an equivalent basis because of restrictions in any debt instrument of RocketCo, the Company or its Subsidiaries, then notwithstanding Section 4.02(a) or Section 4.02(b), the Managing Member may in good faith implement an economically equivalent alternative arrangement in connection with the transfer of proceeds to the Company using non-participating preferred Equity Securities of the Company without complying with such provisions; provided that, in the case that any such alternative arrangement is implemented because of restrictions in any debt instrument, such arrangement shall also be subject to the prior written consent (not to be unreasonably withheld) of each Rock Member, in each case so long as such Rock Member meets the Limited Ownership Minimum; and

(iii) If RocketCo receives a distribution pursuant to Section 5.03 and RocketCo subsequently contributes any of the amounts received to the Company, the Managing Member may take any reasonable action to properly reflect the changes in the Members' economic interests in the Company including by making appropriate adjustments to the number of Common Units held by the Members other than RocketCo in order to proportionally reduce the respective Percentage Interests held by the Members other than RocketCo.

(e) In the event any adjustment pursuant to this Agreement in the number of Common Units held by a Member results (x) in a decrease in the number of Common Units held by a Member that constitute a portion of a Paired Interest, concurrently with such decrease, such Member shall surrender the number of shares of Class C Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, as the case may be, constituting the remainder of such Paired Interest (which, as of the date hereof, would be one share of Class C Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, as the case may be) to RocketCo or (y) in an increase in the number of Common Units held by a Member that constitute a portion of a Paired Interest, concurrently with such increase, RocketCo shall issue the number of shares of Class C Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, as the case may be, constituting the remainder of such Paired Interest (which, as of the date hereof, would be one share of Class C Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, as the case may be) to such Member.

ARTICLE V

CAPITAL CONTRIBUTIONS; CAPITAL ACCOUNTS; DISTRIBUTIONS; ALLOCATIONS

Section 5.01 Capital Contributions.

(a) From and after the date hereof, no Member shall have any obligation to the Company, to any other Member or to any creditor of the Company to make any further Capital Contribution, except as expressly provided in Section 4.01(a).

(b) Except as expressly provided herein, no Member, in its capacity as a Member, shall have the right to receive any cash or any other property of the Company.

Section 5.02 Capital Accounts.

(a) Maintenance of Capital Accounts. The Company shall maintain a Capital Account for each Member on the books of the Company in accordance with the provisions of Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv) and, to the extent consistent with such provisions, the following provisions:

(i) Each Member listed on the Member Schedule shall be credited with the Reorganization Date Capital Account Balance set forth on the Member Schedule. The Member Schedule shall be amended by the Managing Member after the closing of the IPO and from time to time to reflect adjustments to the Members' Capital Accounts made in accordance with Sections 5.02(a)(ii), 5.02(a)(iii), 5.02(a)(iv), 5.02(c) or otherwise.

(ii) To each Member's Capital Account there shall be credited: (A) such Member's Capital Contributions, (B) such Member's distributive share of Net Income and any item in the nature of income or gain that is allocated pursuant to Section 5.04 and (C) the amount of any Company liabilities assumed by such Member or that are secured by any Property distributed to such Member.

(iii) To each Member's Capital Account there shall be debited: (A) the amount of money and the Carrying Value of any Property distributed to such Member pursuant to any provision of this Agreement, (B) such Member's distributive share of Net Loss and any items in the nature of expenses or losses that are allocated to such Member pursuant to Section 5.04 and (C) the amount of any liabilities of such Member assumed by the Company or that are secured by any Property contributed by such Member to the Company.

(iv) In determining the amount of any liability for purposes of subparagraphs (ii) and (iii) above there shall be taken into account Section 752(c) of the Code and any other applicable provisions of the Code and the Treasury Regulations.

The foregoing provisions and the other provisions of this Agreement relating to the maintenance of Capital Accounts are intended to comply with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b) and shall be interpreted and applied in a manner consistent with such Treasury Regulations. In the event that the Managing Member shall reasonably determine that it is prudent to modify the manner in which the Capital Accounts or any debits or credits thereto are maintained (including debits or credits relating to liabilities that are secured by contributed or distributed Property or that are assumed by the Company or the Members), the Managing Member may make such modification so long as such modification will not have any effect on the amounts distributed to any Person pursuant to Article X upon the dissolution of the Company. The Managing Member also shall (i) make any adjustments that are necessary or appropriate to maintain equality between Capital Accounts of the Members and the amount of capital reflected on the Company's balance sheet, as computed for book purposes, in accordance with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(g) and (ii) make any appropriate modifications in the event unanticipated events might otherwise cause this Agreement not to comply with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b).

(b) Succession to Capital Accounts. In the event any Person becomes a Substitute Member in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement, such Substitute Member shall succeed to the Capital Account of the former Member to the extent such Capital Account relates to the Transferred Units.

(c) Adjustments of Capital Accounts. The Company shall revalue the Capital Accounts of the Members in accordance with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(f) (a "Revaluation") at the following times: (i) immediately prior to the contribution of more than a de minimis amount of money or other property to the Company by a new or existing Member as consideration for one or more Units; (ii) the distribution by the Company to a Member of more than a de minimis amount of property in respect of one or more Units; (iii) the issuance by the Company of more than a de minimis amount of Units as consideration for the provision of services to or for the benefit of the Company (as described in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(f)(5)(iii)); and (iv) the liquidation of the Company within the meaning of Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(g); provided, however, that adjustments pursuant to clauses (i), (ii) and (iii) above shall be made only if the Managing Member reasonably determines that such adjustments are necessary or appropriate to reflect the relative economic interest of the Members.

(d) No Member shall be entitled to withdraw capital or receive distributions except as specifically provided herein. A Member shall have no obligation to the Company, to any other Member or to any creditor of the Company to restore any negative balance in the Capital Account of such Member. Except as expressly provided elsewhere herein, no interest shall be paid on the balance in any Member's Capital Account.

(e) Whenever it is necessary for purposes of this Agreement to determine a Member's Capital Account on a per Unit basis, such amount shall be determined by dividing the Capital Account of such Member attributable to the applicable class of Units held of record by such Member by the number of Units of such class held of record by such Member.

Section 5.03 Amounts and Priority of Distributions.

(a) Distributions Generally. Except as otherwise provided in Section 10.02, distributions shall be made to the Members as set forth in this Section 5.03, at such times and in such amounts as the Managing Member, in its sole discretion, shall determine.

(b) Distributions to the Members. Subject to Sections 5.03(e), and 5.03(f), at such times and in such amounts as the Managing Member, in its sole discretion, shall determine, distributions shall be made to the Members in proportion to their respective Percentage Interests.

(c) RocketCo Distributions. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 5.03(b), the Managing Member, in its sole discretion, may authorize that (i) cash be paid to RocketCo (which payment shall be made without pro rata distributions to the other Members) in exchange for the redemption, repurchase or other acquisition of Units held by RocketCo to the extent that such cash payment is used to redeem, repurchase or otherwise acquire an equal number of shares of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock in accordance with Section 4.02(b) and (ii) to the extent that the Managing Member determines that expenses or other obligations of RocketCo are related to its role as the Managing Member or the business and affairs of RocketCo that are conducted through the Company or any of the Company's direct or indirect Subsidiaries, cash (and, for the avoidance of doubt, only cash) distributions may be made to RocketCo (which distributions shall be made without pro rata distributions to the other Members) in amounts required for RocketCo to pay (w) operating, administrative and other similar costs incurred by RocketCo, including payments in respect of Indebtedness and preferred stock, to the extent the proceeds are used or will be used by RocketCo to pay expenses or other obligations described in this clause (ii) (in either case only to the extent economically equivalent Indebtedness or Equity Securities of the Company were not issued to RocketCo), payments representing interest with respect to payments not made when due under the terms of the Tax Receivable Agreement and payments pursuant to any legal, tax, accounting and other professional fees and expenses (but, for the avoidance of doubt, excluding any tax liabilities of RocketCo), (x) any judgments, settlements, penalties, fines or other costs and expenses in respect of any claims against, or any litigation or proceedings involving, RocketCo, (y) fees and expenses (including any underwriters discounts and commissions) related to any securities offering, investment or acquisition transaction (whether or not successful) authorized by the board of directors of RocketCo and (z) other fees and expenses in connection with the maintenance of the existence of RocketCo (including any costs or expenses associated with being a public company listed on a national securities exchange). For the avoidance of doubt, distributions made under this Section 5.03(c) may not be used to pay or facilitate dividends or distributions on the RocketCo Common Stock and must be used solely for one of the express purposes set forth under clause (i) or (ii) of the immediately preceding sentence.

(d) Distributions in Kind. Any distributions in kind shall be made at such times and in such amounts as the Managing Member, in its sole discretion, shall determine based on their fair market value as determined by the Managing Member in the same proportions as if distributed in accordance with Section 5.03(b), with all Members participating in proportion to their respective Percentage Interests. If cash and property are to be distributed in kind simultaneously, the Company shall distribute such cash and property in kind in the same proportion to each Member. For the purposes of this Section 5.03(d), if any such distribution in kind includes securities, distributions to the Members shall be deemed proportionate notwithstanding that the securities distributed to holders of Common Units that are included in Paired Interests with shares of Class D Common Stock have not more than ten times the voting power of any securities distributed to holders of Common Units that are included in Paired Interests with shares of Class C Common Stock, so long as such securities issued to the holders of Common Units that are included in Paired Interests with shares of Class D Common stock remain subject to automatic conversion on terms no more favorable to such holders than those set forth in Article IV, Section F of the certificate of incorporation of RocketCo.

(e) Tax Distributions.

(i) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Section 5.03 to the contrary, to the extent permitted by Applicable Law and consistent with the Company's obligations to its creditors as reasonably determined by the Managing Member, the Company shall make cash distributions by wire transfer of immediately available funds pursuant to this Section 5.03(e)(i) to the Members with respect to their Units in proportion to their respective Percentage Interests at least two Business Days prior to the date on which any U.S. federal corporate estimated tax payments are due, in an amount that in the Managing Member's discretion allows each Member to satisfy its tax liability with respect to its Units, up to such Member's Tax Distribution Amount, if any; provided that the Managing Member shall have no liability to any Member in connection with any underpayment of estimated taxes, so long as cash distributions are made in accordance with this Section 5.03(e)(i) and the Tax Distribution Amounts are determined as provided in paragraph (i) of the definition of Tax Distribution Amount.

(ii) On any date that the Company makes a distribution to the Members with respect to their Units under a provision of Section 5.03 other than this Section 5.03(e), if the Tax Distribution Amount is greater than zero, the Company shall designate all or a portion of such distribution as a Tax Distribution with respect to a Member's Units to the extent of the Tax Distribution Amount with respect to such Member's Units as of such date (but not to exceed the amount of such distribution). For the avoidance of doubt, such designation shall be performed with respect to all Members with respect to which there is a Tax Distribution Amount as of such date.

(iii) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Section 5.03 to the contrary, if the Tax Distribution Amount for such Fiscal Year is greater than zero, to the extent permitted by Applicable Law and consistent with the Company's obligations to its creditors as reasonably determined by the Managing Member, the Company shall make additional distributions under this Section 5.03(e)(iii) in an amount that in the Managing Member's discretion allows each Member to satisfy its tax liability with respect to the Units, up to such Tax Distribution Amount for such Fiscal Year as soon as reasonably practicable after the end of such Fiscal Year (or as soon as reasonably practicable after any event that subsequently adjusts the taxable income of such Fiscal Year).

(iv) Under no circumstances shall Tax Distributions reduce the amount otherwise distributable to any Member pursuant to this Section 5.03

(other than this Section 5.03(e)) after taking into account the effect of Tax Distributions on the amount of cash or other assets available for distribution by the Company.

(f) Pre-IPO Profits Distribution. Notwithstanding Section 5.03(b), after the Reorganization, before any other distributions are distributed to the Members by the Company or any of its Subsidiaries, the Company shall, or shall cause its Subsidiaries to, distribute to RHI and Gilbert, an aggregate amount of cash determined by the Managing Member up to an amount equal to (i) the Available Cash Flow attributable to the portion of the fiscal period beginning on January 1, 2020 and ended on the date hereof minus (ii) the amount of Available Cash Flow, if any, attributable to such period and distributed to RHI or Gilbert prior to the date hereof.

(g) Assignment. Rock Members shall have the right to assign to any Transferee of Common Units, pursuant to a Transfer made in compliance with this Agreement, the right to receive any portion of the amounts distributable or otherwise payable to such Rock Member pursuant to Section 5.03(b).

Section 5.04 Allocations.

(a) Net Income and Net Loss. Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement, and after giving effect to the special allocations set forth in Section 5.04(b), Section 5.04(c) and Section 5.04(d), Net Income and Net Loss (and, to the extent necessary, individual items of income, gain, loss, deduction or credit) of the Company shall be allocated among the Capital Accounts of the Members pro rata in accordance with their respective Percentage Interests. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Managing Member shall make such adjustments to Capital Accounts as it determines in its sole discretion to be appropriate to ensure allocations are made in accordance with a Member's interest in the Company.

(b) Special Allocations. The following special allocations shall be made in the following order:

(i) Minimum Gain Chargeback. Except as otherwise provided in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(f), notwithstanding any other provision of this Article V, if there is a net decrease in Company Minimum Gain during any Fiscal Year, each Member shall be specially allocated items of Company income and gain for such Fiscal Year (and, if necessary, subsequent Fiscal Years) in an amount equal to such Member's share of the net decrease in Company Minimum Gain, determined in accordance with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(g). Allocations pursuant to the immediately preceding sentence shall be made in proportion to the respective amounts required to be allocated to each Member pursuant thereto. The items to be so allocated shall be determined in accordance with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(f)(6) and 1.704-2(j)(2). This Section 5.04(b)(i) is intended to comply with the minimum gain chargeback requirement in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(f) and shall be interpreted consistently therewith.

(ii) Member Nonrecourse Debt Minimum Gain Chargeback. Except as otherwise provided in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(i)(4), notwithstanding any other provision of this Article V, if there is a net decrease in Member Nonrecourse Debt Minimum Gain attributable to a Member Nonrecourse Debt during any Fiscal Year, each Member who has a share of the Member Nonrecourse Debt Minimum Gain attributable to such Member Nonrecourse Debt, determined in accordance with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(i)(5), shall be specially allocated items of Company income and gain for such Fiscal Year (and, if necessary, subsequent Fiscal Years) in an amount equal to such Member's share of the net decrease in Member Nonrecourse Debt Minimum Gain attributable to such Member Nonrecourse Debt, determined in accordance with Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(i)(4). Allocations pursuant to the previous sentence shall be made in proportion to the respective amounts required to be allocated to each Member pursuant thereto. The items to be so allocated shall be determined in accordance with Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-2(i)(4) and 1.704-2(j)(2). This Section 5.04(b)(ii) is intended to comply with the minimum gain chargeback requirement in Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-2(i)(4) and shall be interpreted consistently therewith.

(iii) Qualified Income Offset. In the event any Member unexpectedly receives any adjustments, allocations, or distributions described in Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d)(4), 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d)(5) or Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d)(6), items of Company income and gain shall be specially allocated to such Member in an amount and manner sufficient to eliminate, to the extent required by the Treasury Regulations, the Adjusted Capital Account Deficit of the Member as promptly as possible; provided that an allocation pursuant to this Section 5.04(b)(iii) shall be made only if and to the extent that the Member would have an Adjusted Capital Account Deficit after all other allocations provided for in this Article V have been tentatively made as if this Section 5.04(b)(iii) were not in the Agreement.

(iv) Nonrecourse Deductions. Nonrecourse Deductions for any Fiscal Year shall be specially allocated to the Members in a manner determined by the Managing Member consistent with Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-2(b) and 1.704-2(c).

(v) Member Nonrecourse Deductions. Any Member Nonrecourse Deductions for any Fiscal Year shall be specially allocated to the Member who bears the economic risk of loss with respect to the Member Nonrecourse Debt to which such Member Nonrecourse Deductions are attributable in accordance with Treasury Regulations Sections 1.704-2(i)(1) and 1.704-2(j)(1).

(vi) Section 754 Adjustments. (A) To the extent an adjustment to the adjusted tax basis of any Company asset pursuant to Sections 734(b) or 743(b) of the Code is required, pursuant to Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(m)(4), to be taken into account in determining Capital Accounts as a result of a distribution other than in liquidation of a Member's interest in the Company, the amount of such adjustment shall be treated as an item of gain (if the adjustment increases the basis of such asset) or loss (if the adjustment decreases the basis of such asset) from the disposition of the asset and shall be taken into account for purposes of computing Net Income and Net Loss, and further (B) to the extent an adjustment to the adjusted tax basis of any Company asset pursuant to Sections 734(b) or 743(b) of the Code is required, pursuant to Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(m)(2) or Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(m)(4), to be taken into account in determining Capital Accounts as the result of a distribution to a Member in complete liquidation of such Member's interest in the Company, the amount of such adjustment to Capital Accounts shall be treated as an item of gain (if the adjustment increases the basis of the asset) or loss (if the adjustment decreases such basis) and such gain or loss shall be specially allocated to such Members in accordance with their interests in the Company in the event Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(m)(2) applies, or to the Member to whom such distribution was made in the event Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(m)(4) applies.

(c) Curative Allocations. The allocations set forth in Section 5.04(b)(i) through Section 5.04(b)(vi) and Section 5.04(d) (the "Regulatory Allocations") are intended to comply with certain requirements of the Treasury Regulations. It is the intent of the Members that, to the extent possible, all Regulatory Allocations shall be offset either with other Regulatory Allocations or with special allocations of other items of Company income, gain, loss, or deduction pursuant to this Section 5.04(c). Therefore, notwithstanding any other provision of this Article V (other than the Regulatory Allocations), the Managing Member shall make such offsetting special allocations of Company income, gain, loss, or deduction in whatever manner it determines appropriate so that, after such offsetting allocations are made, each Member's Capital Account balance is, to the extent possible, equal to the Capital Account balance such Member would have had if the Regulatory Allocations were not part of the Agreement and all Company items were allocated pursuant to Section 5.04.

(d) Loss Limitation. Net Loss (or individual items of loss or deduction) allocated pursuant to Section 5.04 hereof shall not exceed the maximum amount of Net Loss (or individual items of loss or deduction) that can be allocated without causing any Member to have an Adjusted Capital Account Deficit at the end of any Fiscal Year. In the event some but not all of the Members would have Adjusted Capital Account Deficits as a consequence of an allocation of Net Loss (or individual items of loss or deduction) pursuant to Section 5.04 hereof, the limitation set forth in this Section 5.04(d) shall be applied on a Member by Member basis and Net Loss (or individual items of loss or deduction) not allocable to any Member as a result of such limitation shall be allocated to the other Members in accordance with the positive balances in such Member's Capital Accounts so as to allocate the maximum permissible Net Loss to each Member under Treasury Regulations Section 1.704-1(b)(2)(ii)(d). Any reallocation of Net Loss pursuant to this Section 5.04(d) shall be subject to chargeback pursuant to the curative allocation provision of Section 5.04(c).

Section 5.05 Other Allocation Rules.

(a) Interim Allocations Due to Percentage Adjustment. If a Percentage Interest is the subject of a Transfer or the Members' interests in the Company change pursuant to the terms of the Agreement during any Fiscal Year, the amount of Net Income and Net Loss (or items thereof) to be allocated to the Members for such entire Fiscal Year shall be allocated to the portion of such Fiscal Year which precedes the date of such Transfer or change (and if there shall have been a prior Transfer or change in such Fiscal Year, which commences on the date of such prior Transfer or change) and to the portion of such Fiscal Year which occurs on and after the date of such Transfer or change (and if there shall be a subsequent Transfer or change in such Fiscal Year, which precedes the date of such subsequent Transfer or change), in accordance with a pro rata allocation unless the Managing Member elects to use an interim closing of the books, and the amounts of the items so allocated to each such portion shall be credited or charged to the Members in accordance with Section 5.04 as in effect during each such portion of the Fiscal Year in question. Such allocation shall be in accordance with Section 706 of the Code and the regulations thereunder and made without regard to the date, amount or receipt of any distributions that may have been made with respect to the transferred Percentage Interest to the extent consistent with Section 706 of the Code and the regulations thereunder. As of the date of such Transfer, the Transferee shall succeed to the Capital Account of the Transferor with respect to the transferred Units.

(b) Tax Allocations: Code Section 704(c). For U.S. federal, state and local income tax purposes, items of income, gain, loss, deduction and credit shall be allocated to the Partners in accordance with the allocations of the corresponding items for Capital Account purposes under Section 5.04, except that in accordance with Section 704(c) of the Code and the Treasury Regulations thereunder, income, gain, loss, and deduction with respect to any Property contributed to the capital of the Company and with respect to reverse Code Section 704(c) allocations described in Treasury Regulations 1.704-3(a)(6) shall, solely for tax purposes, be allocated among the Members so as to take account of any variation between the adjusted basis of such Property to the Company for U.S. federal income tax purposes and its initial Carrying Value or its Carrying Value determined pursuant to Treasury Regulation 1.704-1(b)(2)(iv)(f) (computed in accordance with the definition of Carrying Value) using the traditional allocation method under Treasury Regulation 1.704-3(b). Any elections or other decisions relating to such allocations shall be made by the Managing Member in any manner that reasonably reflects the purpose and intention of this Agreement. Allocations pursuant to this Section 5.05(b), Section 704(c) of the Code (and the principles thereof), and Treasury Regulation 1.704-1(b)(4)(i) are solely for purposes of federal, state, and local taxes and shall not affect, or in any way be taken into account in computing, any Member's Capital Account or share of Net Income, Net Loss, other items, or distributions pursuant to any provision of this Agreement.

(c) Modification of Allocations. The allocations set forth in Section 5.04 and Section 5.05 are intended to comply with certain requirements of the Treasury Regulations. Notwithstanding the other provisions of this Article V, the

Managing Member shall be authorized to make, in its reasonable discretion, appropriate amendments to the allocations of Net Income and Net Loss (and to individual items of income, gain, loss, deduction and credit) pursuant to this Agreement (i) in order to comply with Section 704 of the Code or applicable Treasury Regulations, (ii) to allocate properly Net Income and Net Loss (and individual items of income, gain, loss, deduction and credit) to those Members that bear the economic burden or benefit associated therewith and (iii) to cause the Members to achieve the objectives underlying this Agreement as reasonably determined by the Managing Member Section 5.06 Tax Withholding; Withholding Advances.

(a) Tax Withholding.

(i) If requested by the Managing Member, each Member shall, if able to do so, deliver to the Managing Member: (A) an affidavit in form satisfactory to the Company that the applicable Member (or its partners, as the case may be) is not subject to withholding under the provisions of any Applicable Law; (B) any certificate that the Company may reasonably request with respect to any such laws; or (C) any other form or instrument reasonably requested by the Company relating to any Member's status under such law. In the event that a Member fails or is unable to deliver to the Company an affidavit described in subclause (A) of this clause (i), the Company may withhold amounts from such Member in accordance with Section 5.06(b).

(ii) After receipt of a written request of any Member, the Company shall provide such information to such Member and take such other action as may be reasonably necessary to assist such Member in making any necessary filings, applications or elections to obtain any available exemption from, or any available refund of, any withholding imposed by any foreign taxing authority with respect to amounts distributable or items of income allocable to such Member hereunder to the extent not adverse to the Company or any Member. In addition, the Company shall, at the request of any Member, make or cause to be made (or cause the Company to make) any such filings, applications or elections; provided that any such requesting Member shall cooperate with the Company, with respect to any such filing, application or election to the extent reasonably determined by the Company and that any filing fees, taxes or other out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred and related thereto shall be paid and borne by such requesting Member or, if there is more than one requesting Member, by such requesting Members in accordance with their Relative Percentage Interests.

(b) Withholding Advances. To the extent the Company is required by Applicable Law to withhold or to make tax payments on behalf of or with respect to any Member (e.g., backup withholding) ("Withholding Advances"), the Company may withhold such amounts and make such tax payments as so required.

(c) Repayment of Withholding Advances. All Withholding Advances made on behalf of a Member, plus interest thereon at a rate equal to the Prime Rate as of the date of such Withholding Advances plus 2.0% per annum, shall (i) be paid on demand by the Member on whose behalf such Withholding Advances were made (it being understood that no such payment shall increase such Member's Capital Account), or (ii) with the consent of the Managing Member and the affected Member be repaid by reducing the amount of the current or next succeeding distribution or distributions that would otherwise have been made to such Member or, if such distributions are not sufficient for that purpose, by so reducing the proceeds of liquidation otherwise payable to such Member. Whenever repayment of a Withholding Advance by a Member is made as described in clause (ii) of this Section 5.06(c), for all other purposes of this Agreement such Member shall be treated as having received all distributions (whether before or upon any Dissolution Event) unreduced by the amount of such Withholding Advance and interest thereon.

(d) Withholding Advances — Reimbursement of Liabilities. Each Member hereby agrees to reimburse the Company for any liability with respect to Withholding Advances (including interest thereon) required or made on behalf of or with respect to such Member (including penalties imposed with respect thereto).

ARTICLE VI

CERTAIN TAX MATTERS

Section 6.01 Partnership Representative.

(a) The "Partnership Representative" (as such term is defined under Partnership Audit Provisions) of the Company shall be selected by the Managing Member with the initial Partnership Representative being RocketCo. The Partnership Representative may retain, at the Company's expense, such outside counsel, accountants and other professional consultants as it may reasonably deem necessary in the course of fulfilling its obligations as the Partnership Representative. The Partnership Representative is authorized to take, and shall determine in its sole discretion whether or not the Company will take, such actions and execute and file all statements and forms on behalf of the Company that are approved by the Managing Member and are permitted or required by the applicable provisions of the Partnership Audit Provisions (including a "push-out" election under Section 6226 of the Code or any analogous election under state or local tax Law). Each Member agrees to cooperate with the Partnership Representative and to use commercially reasonable efforts to do or refrain from doing any or all things requested by the Partnership Representative (including paying any and all resulting taxes, additions to tax, penalties and interest in a timely fashion) in connection with any examination of the Company's affairs by any federal, state, or local tax authorities, including resulting administrative and judicial proceedings.

(b) In the event that the Partnership Representative has not caused the Company to make a "push-out" election pursuant to Section 6226 of the Partnership Audit Provisions, then any "imputed underpayment" (as determined in accordance with Section 6225 of the Partnership Audit Provisions) or partnership adjustment that does not give rise to an imputed underpayment shall be apportioned among the Members of the Company for the taxable year in which the adjustment is finalized in such manner as may be necessary (as determined by the Partnership Representative in good faith) so that, to the maximum extent possible, the tax and economic consequences of the imputed underpayment or other partnership adjustment and any associated interest and penalties (any such amount, an "Imputed Underpayment Amount") are borne by the Members based upon their Percentage Interests in the Company for the reviewed year. Imputed Underpayment Amounts also shall include any imputed underpayment within the meaning of Section 6225 of the Partnership Audit Provisions paid (or payable) by any entity treated as a partnership for U.S. federal income tax purposes in which the Company holds (or has held) a direct or indirect interest other than through entities treated as corporations for U.S. federal income tax purposes to the extent that the Company bears the economic burden of such amounts, whether by Applicable Law or contract.

(c) Each Member agrees to indemnify and hold harmless the Company from and against any liability with respect to such Member's share of any tax deficiency paid or payable by the Company that is allocable to the Member as determined in accordance with Section 6.01(b) with respect to an audited or reviewed taxable year for which such Member was a partner in the Company. Any obligation of a Member pursuant to this Section 6.01(c) shall be implemented through adjustments to distributions otherwise payable to such Member as determined in accordance with Section 5.03; provided, however, that, at the written request of the Partnership Representative, each Member or former Member may be required to contribute to the Company such Member's Imputed Underpayment Amount imposed on and paid by the Company; provided, further, that if a Member or former Member individually directly pays, pursuant to the Partnership Audit Provisions, any such Imputed Underpayment Amount, then such payment shall reduce any offset to distribution or required capital contribution of such Member or former Member. Any amount withheld from distributions pursuant to this Section 6.01(c) shall be treated as an amount distributed to such Member or former Member for all purposes under this Agreement. For the avoidance of doubt, the obligations of a Member set forth in this Section 6.01(c) shall survive the withdrawal of a Member from the Company or any Transfer of a Member's interest.

Section 6.02 Section 754 Election. The Company has previously made or will make a timely election under Section 754 of the Code (and a corresponding election under state and local law) effective starting with the taxable year ended December 31, 2020, and the Managing Member shall not take any action to revoke such election.

Section 6.03 Debt Allocation. Indebtedness of the Company treated as "excess nonrecourse liabilities" (as defined in Treasury Regulation Section 1.752-3(a)(3)) shall be allocated among the Members based on their Percentage Interests.

ARTICLE VII

MANAGEMENT OF THE COMPANY

Section 7.01 Management by the Managing Member. Except as otherwise specifically set forth in this Agreement, the Managing Member shall be deemed to be a "manager" for purposes of applying the Michigan Act. Except as expressly provided in this Agreement or the Michigan Act, the day-to-day business and affairs of the Company and its Subsidiaries shall be managed, operated and controlled by the Managing Member in accordance with the terms of this Agreement and no other Members shall have management authority or rights over the Company or its Subsidiaries. The Managing Member is, to the extent of its rights and powers set forth in this Agreement, an agent of the Company for the purpose of the Company's and its Subsidiaries' business, and the actions of the Managing Member taken in accordance with such rights and powers, shall bind the Company (and no other Members shall have such right). Except as expressly provided in this Agreement, the Managing Member shall have all necessary powers to carry out the purposes, business, and objectives of the Company and its Subsidiaries. The Managing Member may delegate to Members, employees, officers or agents of the Company or any Subsidiary in its discretion the authority to sign agreements and other documents on behalf of the Company or any Subsidiary.

Section 7.02 Withdrawal of the Managing Member. RocketCo may withdraw as the Managing Member and appoint as its successor at any time upon written notice to the Company (i) any wholly-owned Subsidiary of RocketCo, (ii) any Person of which RocketCo is a wholly-owned Subsidiary, (iii) any Person into which RocketCo is merged or consolidated or (iv) any transferee of all or substantially all of the assets of RocketCo, which withdrawal and replacement shall be effective upon the delivery of such notice. No appointment of a Person other than RocketCo (or its successor, as applicable) as Managing Member shall be effective unless RocketCo (or its successor, as applicable) and the new Managing Member (as applicable) provide all other Members with contractual rights, directly enforceable by such other Members against the new Managing Member, to cause the new Managing Member to comply with all the Managing Member's obligations under this Agreement and the Exchange Agreement.

Section 7.03 Decisions by the Members.

(a) Other than the Managing Member, the Members shall take no part in the management of the Company's business, shall transact no business for the Company and shall have no power to act for or to bind the Company; provided, however, that the Company may engage any Member or principal, partner, member, shareholder or interest holder thereof as an employee, independent contractor or consultant to the Company, in which event the duties and liabilities of such individual or firm with respect to the Company as an employee, independent contractor or consultant shall be governed by the terms of such engagement with the Company.

(b) Except as expressly provided herein, neither the Members nor any class of Members shall have the power or authority to vote, approve or consent to any matter or action taken by the Company. Except as otherwise provided herein, any proposed matter or action subject to the vote, approval or consent of the Members or any class of Members shall require the approval of (i) a majority in interest of the Members or such class of Members, as the case may be (by (x) resolution at a duly convened meeting of the Members or such class of Members, as the case may be, or (y) written consent of the Members or such class of Members, as the case may be) and (ii) except with respect to any approval or other rights expressly granted to the Rock Members, the Managing Member. Except as expressly provided herein, all Members shall vote together as a single class on any matter subject to the vote, approval or consent of the Members (but not, for the avoidance of doubt, any vote, approval or consent of any class of Members). In the case of any such approval, a majority in interest of the Members or any class of Members, as the case may be, may call a meeting of the Members or such class of Members at such time and place or by means of telephone or other communications facility that permits all persons participating in such meeting to hear and speak to each other for the purpose of a vote thereon. Notice of any such meeting shall be required, which notice shall include a brief description of the action or actions to be considered by the Members or such class of Members, as the case may be. Unless waived by any such Member in writing, notice of any such meeting shall be given to each Member or Member of such class, as the case may be, at least four (4) days prior thereto. Attendance or participation of a Member at a meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, except when such Member attends or participates in the meeting for the express purpose of objecting at the beginning thereof to the transaction of any business because the meeting is not properly called or convened. Any action required or permitted to be taken at any meeting of the Members may be taken without a meeting, if a consent in writing, setting forth the actions so taken, shall be signed by Members sufficient to approve such action pursuant to this Section 7.03(b). A copy of any such consent in writing will be provided to the Members promptly thereafter.

Section 7.04 Fiduciary Duties.

(a) (i) The Managing Member shall, in its capacity as Managing Member, and not in any other capacity, have the same fiduciary duties to the Company and the Members as a member of the board of directors of a Delaware corporation (assuming such corporation had in its certificate of incorporation (A) a provision eliminating the liabilities of directors and officers to the maximum extent permitted by Section 102(b)(7) of the DGCL and (B) a provision renouncing the right of such corporation to business opportunities to the maximum extent permitted by the certificate of incorporation of RocketCo); (ii) any member of the Board of Directors of RocketCo that is an officer of RocketCo or the Company shall, in its capacity as director, and not in any other capacity, have the same fiduciary duties to RocketCo as a member of the board of directors of a Delaware corporation (assuming such corporation had in its certificate of incorporation (A) a provision eliminating the liabilities of directors and officers to the maximum extent permitted by Section 102(b)(7) of the DGCL and (B) a provision renouncing the right of such corporation to business opportunities to the maximum extent permitted by the certificate of incorporation of RocketCo); and (iii) each Officer and each officer of RocketCo shall, in their capacity as such, and not in any other capacity, have the same fiduciary duties to the Company and the Members (in the case of any Officer) or RocketCo (in the case of any officer of RocketCo) as an officer of a Delaware corporation (assuming such corporation had in its certificate of incorporation (A) a provision eliminating the liabilities of directors and officers to the maximum extent permitted by Section 102(b)(7) of the DGCL and (B) a provision renouncing the right of such corporation to business opportunities to the maximum extent permitted by the certificate of incorporation of RocketCo). For the avoidance of doubt, the fiduciary duties described in clause (i) above shall not be limited by the fact that the Managing Member shall be permitted to take certain actions in its sole or reasonable discretion pursuant to the terms of this Agreement or any agreement entered into in connection herewith. Each of the Rock Members shall have the exclusive right to enforce the rights and duties, or to waive such rights and duties, set forth in this Section 7.07(a), in each case so long as such Rock Member meets the Limited Ownership Minimum.

(b) The parties acknowledge that the Managing Member will take action through its board of directors, and that the members of the Managing Member's board of directors will owe fiduciary duties to the stockholders of the Managing Member. The Managing Member will use all commercially reasonable and appropriate efforts and means, as determined in good faith by the Managing Member, to minimize any conflict of interest between the Members, on the one hand, and the stockholders of the Managing Member, on the other hand, and to effectuate any transaction that involves or affects any of the Company, the Managing Member, the Members or the stockholders of the Managing Member in a manner that does not (i) disadvantage the Members or their interests relative to the stockholders of the Managing Member or (ii) advantage the stockholders of the Managing Member relative to the Members or (iii) treats the Members and the stockholders of the Managing Member differently; provided that in the event of a conflict between the interests of the stockholders of the Managing Member and the interests of the Members other than the Managing Member, such other Members agree that the Managing Member shall discharge its fiduciary duties to such other Members by acting in the best interests of the Managing Member's stockholders. Each of the Rock Members shall have the exclusive right to enforce the rights and duties, or to waive such rights and duties, set forth in this Section 7.04(b), so long as such Rock Member meets the Limited Ownership Minimum.

(c) Without prior written consent of each Rock Member (in each case so long as such Rock Member owns any Owned Shares), the Managing Member will not engage in any business activity other than the direct or indirect management and ownership of the Company and its Subsidiaries, or own any assets (other than on a temporary basis) other than securities of the Company and its Subsidiaries (whether directly or indirectly held) or any cash or other property or assets distributed by or otherwise received from the Company and its Subsidiaries in accordance with this Agreement, provided that the Managing Member may take any action (including incurring its own Indebtedness) or own any asset if it determines in good faith that such actions or ownership are in the best interest of the Company.

Section 7.05 Officers.

(a) Appointment of Officers. The Managing Member may appoint individuals as officers ("Officers") of the Company, which may include such officers as the Managing Member determines are necessary and appropriate. No Officer need be a Member. An individual may be appointed to more than one office.

(b) Authority of Officers. The Officers shall have the duties, rights, powers and authority as may be prescribed by the Managing Member from time to time.

(c) Removal, Resignation and Filling of Vacancy of Officers. The Managing Member may remove any Officer, for any reason or for no reason, at any time. Any Officer may resign at any time by giving written notice to the Company, and such resignation shall take effect at the date of the receipt of that notice or any later time specified in that notice; provided that, unless otherwise specified in that notice, the acceptance of the resignation shall not be necessary to make it effective. Any such resignation shall be without prejudice to the rights, if any, of the Company or such Officer under this Agreement. A vacancy in any office because of death, resignation, removal or otherwise shall be filled by the Managing Member.

ARTICLE VIII

TRANSFERS OF INTERESTS

Section 8.01 Restrictions on Transfers.

(a) Except as expressly permitted by Section 8.02, and subject to Section 8.01(b), Section 8.01(c) and Section 8.01(d), any underwriter lock-up agreement applicable to such Member or any other agreement between such Member and the Company, RocketCo or any of their controlled Affiliates, without the prior written approval of the Managing Member, no Member shall directly or indirectly Transfer all or any part of its Units or any right or economic interest pertaining thereto, including the right to vote or consent on any matter or to receive or have any economic interest in distributions or advances from the Company pursuant thereto. Any such Transfer which is not in compliance with the provisions of this Agreement shall be deemed a Transfer by such Member of Units in violation of this Agreement (and a breach of this Agreement by such Member) and shall be null and void ab initio. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Article VIII, (i) the Exchange Agreement shall govern the exchange of Paired Interests for shares of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock, and an exchange pursuant to and in accordance with the Exchange Agreement shall not be considered a "Transfer" for purposes of this Agreement, (ii) the certificate of incorporation of RocketCo shall govern the conversion of Class B Common Stock to Class A Common Stock and the conversion of Class D Common Stock to Class C Common Stock, and a conversion pursuant to and in accordance with the certificate of incorporation of RocketCo shall not be considered a "Transfer" for purposes of this Agreement, (iii) a Transfer of Registrable Securities (as such term is defined in the Registration Rights Agreement) in accordance with the Registration Rights Agreement shall not be considered a "Transfer" for the purposes of the Agreement and (iv) any other Transfer of shares of Class A Common Stock or Class B Common Stock shall not be considered a "Transfer" for purposes of this Agreement.

(b) Except as otherwise expressly provided herein, it shall be a condition precedent to any Transfer otherwise permitted or approved pursuant to this Article VIII that:

(i) the Transferor shall have provided to the Company prior notice of such Transfer;

(ii) the Transfer shall comply with all Applicable Laws; and

(iii) with respect to any Transfer of any Common Unit that constitutes a portion of a Paired Interest, concurrently with such Transfer, such Transferor shall also Transfer to such Transferee the number of shares of Class C Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, as the case may be, constituting the remainder of such Paired Interest (which, as of the date hereof, would be one share of Class C Common Stock or Class D Common Stock, as the case may be).

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement to the contrary, no Member shall directly or indirectly Transfer all or any part of its Units or any right or economic interest pertaining thereto if such Transfer, in the reasonable discretion of the Managing Member, would cause the Company to be classified as a "publicly traded partnership" as that term is defined in Section 7704 of the Code and Regulations promulgated thereunder.

(d) Any Transfer of Units pursuant to this Agreement, including this Article VIII, shall be subject to the provisions of Section 3.01 and Section 3.02.

Section 8.02 Certain Permitted Transfers. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, the following Transfers shall be permitted:

(a) Any Transfer by any Member of its Units pursuant to a RocketCo Offer (as such term is defined in the Exchange Agreement);

(b) At any time, any Permitted Transfer; provided that such Transfer, alone or together with other Transfers by any Rock Member and any Transferee thereof, would not result in the all Rock Members and their Transferees, in the aggregate, representing at any time more than fifty partners for the purposes of Treasury Regulation Section 1.7704-1(h)(1)(ii), including the application of the anti-avoidance rule of Treasury Regulation Section 1.7704-1(h)(3), excluding RocketCo from the fifty partners and treating RHI as one partner for purposes of this Section 8.02(b); or

(c) At any time, any Transfer by any Member (other than any Rock Member) of Units to any Transferee (i) previously approved in writing by the Company prior to the Reorganization or (ii) approved in writing by the Managing Member (not to be unreasonably withheld), it being understood that it shall be reasonable for the Managing Member to withhold such consent if the Managing Member reasonably determines that such Transfer would materially increase the risk that the Company would be classified as a "publicly traded partnership" as that term is defined in Section 7704 of the Code and Regulations promulgated thereunder.

Section 8.03 Registration of Transfers. When any Units are Transferred in accordance with the terms of this Agreement, the Company shall cause such Transfer to be registered on the books of the Company.

ARTICLE IX

LIMITATION ON LIABILITY, EXCULPATION AND INDEMNIFICATION

Section 9.01 Limitation on Liability. The debts, obligations and liabilities of the Company, whether arising in contract, tort or otherwise, shall be solely the debts, obligations and liabilities of the Company, and no Covered Person shall be obligated personally for any such debt, obligation or liability of the Company; provided that the foregoing shall not alter a Member's obligation to return funds wrongfully distributed to it.

Section 9.02 Exculpation and Indemnification.

(a) Subject to the duties of the Managing Member and Officers set forth in Section 7.04, neither the Managing Member nor any other Covered Person described in clause (iii) of the definition thereof shall be liable, including under any legal or equitable theory of fiduciary duty or other theory of liability, to the Company or to any other Covered Person for any losses, claims, damages or liabilities incurred by reason of any act or omission performed or omitted by such Covered Person in good faith on behalf of the Company. There shall be, and each Covered Person shall be entitled to, a presumption that such Covered Person acted in good faith.

(b) A Covered Person shall be fully protected in relying in good faith upon the records of the Company and upon such information, opinions, reports or statements presented to the Company by any Person as to matters the Covered Person reasonably believes are within such Person's professional or expert competence.

(c) The Company shall indemnify, defend and hold harmless each Covered Person against any losses, claims, damages, liabilities, expenses (including all reasonable out-of-pocket fees and expenses of counsel and other advisors), judgments, fines, settlements and other amounts arising from any and all claims, demands, actions, suits or proceedings, in which such Covered Person may be involved or become subject to, in connection with any matter arising out of or in connection with the Company's business or affairs, or this Agreement or any related document, unless such loss, claim, damage, liability, expense, judgment, fine, settlement or other amount (i) is as a result of a Covered Person not acting in good faith on behalf of the Company or arose as a result of the willful commission by such Covered Person of any act that is dishonest and materially injurious to the Company or (ii) results from the breach by any Member (in such capacity) of its contractual obligations under this Agreement. If any Covered Person becomes involved in any capacity in any action, suit, proceeding or investigation in connection with any matter arising out of or in connection with the Company's business or affairs, or this Agreement or any related document, other than by reason of a Covered Person not acting in good faith on behalf of the Company or by reason of the willful commission by such Covered Person of any act that is dishonest and materially injurious to the Company, the Company shall reimburse such Covered Person for its reasonable legal and other reasonable out-of-pocket expenses (including the cost of any investigation and preparation) as they are incurred in connection therewith; provided that such Covered Person shall promptly repay to the Company the amount of any such reimbursed expenses paid to it if it shall be finally judicially determined that such Covered Person was not entitled to indemnification by, or contribution from, the Company in connection with such action, suit, proceeding or investigation. If for any reason (other than by reason of a Covered Person not acting in good faith on behalf of the Company or by reason of the willful commission by such Covered Person of any act that is dishonest and materially injurious to the Company) the foregoing indemnification is unavailable to such Covered Person, or insufficient to hold it harmless, then the Company shall contribute to the amount paid or payable by such Covered Person as a result of such loss, claim, damage, liability, expense, judgment, fine, settlement or other amount in such proportion as is appropriate to reflect any relevant equitable considerations. There shall be, and each Covered Person shall be entitled to, a rebuttable presumption that such Covered Person acted in good faith.

(d) The obligations of the Company under Section 9.02(c) shall be satisfied solely out of and to the extent of the Company's assets, and no Covered Person shall have any personal liability on account thereof.

(e) Given that certain Jointly Indemnifiable Claims may arise by reason of the service of a Covered Person to the Company or as a director, trustee, officer, partner, member, manager, employee, consultant, fiduciary or agent of other corporations, limited liability companies, partnerships, joint ventures, trusts, employee benefit plans or other enterprises controlled by the Company (collectively, the "Controlled Entities"), or by reason of any action alleged to have been taken or omitted in any such capacity, the Company acknowledges and agrees that the Company shall, and to the extent applicable shall cause the Controlled Entities to, be fully and primarily responsible for the payment to the Covered Person in respect of indemnification or advancement of all out-of-pocket costs of any type or nature whatsoever (including, without limitation, all attorneys' fees and related disbursements) in each case, actually and reasonably incurred by or on behalf of a Covered Person in connection with either the investigation, defense or appeal of a claim, demand, action, suit or proceeding or establishing or enforcing a right to indemnification under this Agreement or otherwise incurred in connection with a claim that is indemnifiable hereunder (collectively, "Expenses") in connection with any such Jointly Indemnifiable Claim, pursuant to and in accordance with (as applicable) the terms of (i) the Michigan Act, (ii) this Agreement, (iii) any other agreement between the Company or any Controlled Entity and the Covered Person pursuant to which the Covered Person is indemnified, (iv) the laws of the jurisdiction of incorporation or organization of any Controlled Entity or (v) the certificate of incorporation, certificate of organization, bylaws, partnership agreement, operating agreement, certificate of formation, certificate of limited partnership, certificate of qualification or other organizational or governing documents of any Controlled Entity ((i) through (v) collectively, the "Indemnification Sources"), irrespective of any right of recovery the Covered Person may have from the Indemnitee-Related Entities. Under no circumstance shall the Company or any Controlled Entity be entitled to any right of subrogation or contribution by the Indemnitee-Related Entities and no right of advancement or recovery the Covered Person may have from the Indemnitee-Related Entities shall reduce or otherwise alter the rights of the Covered Person or the obligations of the Company or any Controlled Entity under the Indemnification Sources. In the event that any of the Indemnitee-Related Entities shall make any payment to the Covered Person in respect of indemnification or advancement of Expenses with respect to any Jointly Indemnifiable Claim, (i) the Company shall, and to the extent applicable shall cause the Controlled Entities to, reimburse the Indemnitee-Related Entity making such payment to the extent of such payment promptly upon written demand from such Indemnitee-Related Entity, (ii) to the extent not previously and fully reimbursed by the Company or any Controlled Entity pursuant to clause (i), the Indemnitee-Related Entity making such payment shall be subrogated to the extent of the outstanding balance of such payment to all of the rights of recovery of the Covered Person against the Company or any Controlled Entity, as applicable, and (iii) the Covered Person shall execute all papers reasonably required and shall do all things that may be reasonably necessary to secure such rights, including the execution of such documents as may be necessary to enable the Indemnitee-Related Entities effectively to bring suit to enforce such rights. The Company and the Covered Person agree that each of the Indemnitee-Related Entities shall be third-party beneficiaries with respect to this Section 9.02(e), entitled to enforce this Section 9.02(e) as though each such Indemnitee-Related Entity were a party to this Agreement. The Company shall cause each of the Controlled Entities to perform the terms and obligations of this Section 9.02(e) as though each such Controlled Entity was the "Company" under this Agreement. For purposes of this Section 9.02(e), the following terms shall have the following meanings:

(i) The term "Indemnitee-Related Entities" means any corporation, limited liability company, partnership, joint venture, trust, employee benefit plan or other enterprise (other than the Company, any Controlled Entity or the insurer under and pursuant to an insurance policy of the Company or any Controlled Entity) from whom a Covered Person may be entitled to indemnification or advancement of Expenses with respect to which, in whole or in part, the Company or any Controlled Entity may also have an indemnification or advancement obligation.

(ii) The term "Jointly Indemnifiable Claims" shall be broadly construed and shall include, without limitation, any claim, demand, action, suit or proceeding for which the Covered Person shall be entitled to indemnification or advancement of Expenses from both (i) the Company or any Controlled Entity pursuant to the Indemnification Sources, on the one hand, and (ii) any Indemnitee-Related Entity pursuant to any other agreement between any Indemnitee-Related Entity and the Covered Person pursuant to which the Covered Person is indemnified, the laws of the jurisdiction of incorporation or organization of any Indemnitee-Related Entity or the certificate of incorporation, certificate of organization, bylaws, partnership agreement, operating agreement, certificate of formation, certificate of limited partnership or other organizational or governing documents of any Indemnitee-Related Entity, on the other hand.

ARTICLE X

DISSOLUTION AND TERMINATION

Section 10.01 Dissolution.

(a) The Company shall not be dissolved by the admission of Additional Members or Substitute Members pursuant to Section 3.02.

(b) No Member shall (i) resign from the Company prior to the dissolution and winding up of the Company except in connection with a Transfer of Units pursuant to the terms of this Agreement or (ii) take any action to dissolve, terminate or liquidate the Company or to require apportionment, appraisal or partition of the Company or any of its assets, or to file a bill for an accounting, except as specifically provided in this Agreement, and each Member, to the fullest extent permitted by Applicable Law, hereby waives any rights to take any such actions under Applicable Law, including any right to petition a court for judicial dissolution under Section 450.4802 of the Michigan Act.

(c) The Company shall be dissolved and its business wound up only upon the earliest to occur of any one of the following events (each a "Dissolution Event"):

(i) The expiration of forty-five (45) days after the sale or other disposition of all or substantially all the assets of the Company; or

(ii) upon the approval of the Managing Member.

(d) The death, retirement, resignation, expulsion, bankruptcy, insolvency or dissolution of a Member or the occurrence of any other event that terminates the continued membership of a Member of the Company shall not in and of itself cause dissolution of the Company.

Section 10.02 Winding Up of the Company.

(a) The Managing Member shall promptly notify the other Members of any Dissolution Event. Upon dissolution, the Company's business shall be liquidated in an orderly manner. The Managing Member shall appoint a liquidating trustee to wind up the affairs of the Company pursuant to this Agreement. In performing its duties, the liquidating trustee is authorized to sell, distribute, exchange or otherwise dispose of the assets of the Company in accordance with the Delaware Act and in any reasonable manner that the liquidating trustee shall determine to be in the best interest of the Members.

(b) The proceeds of the liquidation of the Company shall be distributed in the following order and priority:

(i) first, to the creditors (including any Members or their respective Affiliates that are creditors) of the Company in satisfaction of all of the Company's liabilities (whether by payment or by making reasonable provision for payment thereof, including the setting up of any reserves which are, in the judgment of the liquidating trustee, reasonably necessary therefor); and

(ii) second, to the Members in the same manner as distributions under Section 5.03(b), subject to Section 5.03(e).

(c) Distribution of Property. In the event it becomes necessary in connection with the liquidation of the Company to make a distribution of Property in-kind, subject to the priority set forth in Section 10.02, the liquidating trustee shall have the right to compel each Member to accept a distribution of any Property in-kind (with such Property, as a percentage of the total liquidating distributions to such Member, corresponding as nearly as possible to such Member's Percentage Interest), with such distribution being based upon the amount of cash that would be distributed to such Members if such Property were sold for an amount of cash equal to the fair market value of such Property, as determined by the liquidating trustee in good faith, subject to the last sentence of Section 5.03(d).

Section 10.03 Termination. The Company shall terminate when all of the assets of the Company, after payment of or reasonable provision for the payment of all debts and liabilities of the Company, shall have been distributed to the Members in the manner provided for in this Article X, and the articles of organization of the Company shall have been cancelled in the manner required by the Michigan Act.

Section 10.04 Survival. Termination, dissolution, liquidation or winding up of the Company for any reason shall not release any party from any liability which at the time of such termination, dissolution, liquidation or winding up already had accrued to any other party or which thereafter may accrue in respect to any act or omission prior to such termination, dissolution, liquidation or winding up.

ARTICLE XI

MISCELLANEOUS

Section 11.01 Expenses. Other than as set forth in Section 4.11 of the Reorganization Agreement, all costs and expenses incurred in connection with this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby shall be paid by the party incurring such cost or expense.

Section 11.02 Further Assurances. Each Member agrees to execute, acknowledge, deliver, file and record such further certificates, amendments, instruments and documents, and to do all such other acts and things, as may be required by Applicable Law or as, in the reasonable judgment of the Managing Member, may be necessary or advisable to carry out the intent and purposes of this Agreement.

Section 11.03 Notices. All notices, requests and other communications to any party hereunder shall be in writing (including facsimile transmission and electronic mail ("e-mail") transmission, so long as a receipt of such e-mail is requested and received) and shall be given to such party at the address, facsimile number or e-mail address specified for such party on the Member Schedule hereto. All such notices, requests and other communications shall be deemed received on the date of receipt by the recipient thereof if received prior to 5:00 p.m. on a Business Day in the place of receipt. Otherwise, any such notice, request or communication shall be deemed to have been received on the next succeeding Business Day in the place of receipt.

Section 11.04 Binding Effect; Benefit; Assignment.

(a) The provisions of this Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the parties hereto and their respective successors and assigns. No provision of this Agreement is intended to confer any rights, benefits, remedies, obligations or liabilities hereunder upon any Person other than the parties hereto and their respective successors and assigns.

(b) Except as provided in Article VIII, no Member may assign, delegate or otherwise transfer any of its rights or obligations under this Agreement without the consent of the Managing Member (it being understood that any Rock Member may assign, delegate or otherwise transfer such rights or obligations without such consent to Permitted Transferees).

Section 11.05 Jurisdiction.

(a) The parties hereto agree that any suit, action or proceeding seeking to enforce any provision of, or based on any matter arising out of or in connection with, this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby (whether brought by any party or any of its Affiliates or against any party or any of its Affiliates) shall be brought in the Third Judicial Circuit, Wayne County, Michigan or, if the state courts of the State of Michigan lack jurisdiction over such action or proceeding, then the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Michigan, and each of the parties hereby irrevocably consents to the jurisdiction of such courts (and of the appropriate appellate courts therefrom) in any such suit, action or proceeding and irrevocably waives, to the fullest extent permitted by law, any objection that it may now or hereafter have to the laying of the venue of any such suit, action or proceeding in any such court or that any such suit, action or proceeding brought in any such court has been brought in an inconvenient forum. Process in any such suit, action or proceeding may be served on any party anywhere in the world, whether within or without the jurisdiction of any such court.

Without limiting the foregoing, each party agrees that service of process on such party as provided in Section 11.03 shall be deemed effective service of process on such party.

(b) EACH OF THE COMPANY AND THE MEMBERS HEREBY IRREVOCABLY DESIGNATES THE CORPORATION TRUST COMPANY (IN SUCH CAPACITY, THE "PROCESS AGENT"), WITH AN OFFICE AT THE CORPORATION COMPANY, 40600 ANN ARBOR ROAD EAST, SUITE 201, PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN 48170, AS ITS DESIGNEE, APPOINTEE AND AGENT TO RECEIVE, FOR AND ON ITS BEHALF SERVICE OF PROCESS IN SUCH JURISDICTION IN ANY LEGAL ACTION OR PROCEEDINGS WITH RESPECT TO THIS AGREEMENT OR ANY OTHER AGREEMENT EXECUTED IN CONNECTION WITH THIS AGREEMENT, AND SUCH SERVICE SHALL BE DEEMED COMPLETE UPON DELIVERY THEREOF TO THE PROCESS AGENT; PROVIDED THAT IN THE CASE OF ANY SUCH SERVICE UPON THE PROCESS AGENT, THE PARTY EFFECTING SUCH SERVICE SHALL ALSO DELIVER A COPY THEREOF TO EACH OTHER SUCH PARTY IN THE MANNER PROVIDED IN SECTION 11.03 OF THIS AGREEMENT. EACH PARTY SHALL TAKE ALL SUCH ACTION AS MAY BE NECESSARY TO CONTINUE SAID APPOINTMENT IN FULL FORCE AND EFFECT OR TO APPOINT ANOTHER AGENT SO THAT SUCH PARTY SHALL AT ALL TIMES HAVE AN AGENT FOR SERVICE OF PROCESS FOR THE ABOVE PURPOSES IN WILMINGTON, DELAWARE. NOTHING HEREIN SHALL AFFECT THE RIGHT OF ANY PARTY TO SERVE PROCESS IN ANY MANNER PERMITTED BY APPLICABLE LAW. EACH PARTY EXPRESSLY ACKNOWLEDGES THAT THE FOREGOING WAIVER IS INTENDED TO BE IRREVOCABLE UNDER THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN AND OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

Section 11.06 Counterparts. This Agreement may be signed in any number of counterparts, each of which shall be an original, with the same effect as if the signatures thereto and hereto were upon the same instrument. Until and unless each party has received a counterpart hereof signed by the other party hereto, this Agreement shall have no effect and no party shall have any right or obligation hereunder (whether by virtue of any other oral or written agreement or other communication).

Section 11.07 Entire Agreement. This Agreement and the other Reorganization Documents constitute the entire agreement between the parties with respect to the subject matter of this Agreement and supersede all prior agreements and understandings, both oral and written, between the parties with respect to the subject matter of this Agreement. Nothing in this Agreement shall create any third-party beneficiary rights in favor of any Person or other party, except to the extent provided herein with respect to Indemnitee-Related Entities, each of whom are intended third-party beneficiaries of those provisions that specifically relate to them with the right to enforce such provisions as if they were a party hereto.

Section 11.08 Severability. If any term, provision, covenant or restriction of this Agreement is held by a court of competent jurisdiction or other Governmental Authority to be invalid, void or unenforceable, the remainder of the terms, provisions, covenants and restrictions of this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect and shall in no way be affected, impaired or invalidated so long as the economic or legal substance of the transactions contemplated hereby is not affected in any manner materially adverse to any party. Upon such a determination, the parties shall negotiate in good faith to modify this Agreement so as to effect the original intent of the parties as closely as possible in an acceptable manner in order that the transactions contemplated hereby are consummated as originally contemplated to the fullest extent possible.

Section 11.09 Amendment.

(a) This Agreement can be amended at any time and from time to time by the Managing Member; provided, in addition to the approval of the Managing Member, no amendment to this Agreement may:

(i) without the prior written consent of each Rock Member, (x) adversely modify the limited liability of any Rock Member set forth in Section 5.01, Section 5.02, Section 5.04, Section 5.05, Section 5.06, Section 6.01(c), Section 6.03, Section 9.01, Section 9.02 or Section 11.01, or otherwise modify in any material respect the limited liability of any Rock Member, or adversely increase the liabilities or obligations (other than de minimis liabilities or obligations) of any Rock Member or (y) adversely modify the express rights of any Rock Member set forth in Section 3.01(a), Section 3.03(c)(ii), Section 3.04, Article IV, Section 5.03(e), Section 7.03(b), Section 7.04 and this Section 11.09 (in the case of clause (y), only so long as such Rock Member is entitled to such express rights);

(ii) adversely modify in any material respect the Units (or the rights, preferences or privileges of the Units) then held by any Members in any materially disproportionate manner to those then held by any other Members without the prior written consent of a majority in interest of such disproportionately affected Member or Members.

(b) For the avoidance of doubt, the Managing Member, acting alone, may amend this Agreement, including the Member Schedule, (x) to reflect the admission of new Members or Transfers of Units, each as provided by and in accordance with, the terms of this Agreement, (y) to effect any subdivisions or combinations of Units made in compliance with Section 4.02(c) and (z) to issue additional Common Units or any new class of Units (whether or not pari passu with the Common Units) in accordance with the terms of this Agreement and to provide that the Members being issued such new Units be entitled to the rights provided to the Rock Members with respect to all or a portion of the provisions applicable thereto hereunder and any other rights that do not diminish or eliminate any of the express rights of the Rock Members described in Section 11.09(a)(i)(y).

(c) No waiver of any provision or default under, nor consent to any exception to, the terms of this Agreement or any agreement contemplated hereby shall be effective unless in writing and signed by the party to be bound and then only to the specific purpose, extent and instance so provided.

Section 11.10 Confidentiality.

(a) Each Member shall, and shall direct those of its Affiliates and their respective directors, officers, members, stockholders, partners, employees, attorneys, accountants, consultants, trustees and other advisors (the "Member Parties") who have access to Confidential Information to, keep confidential and not disclose any Confidential Information to any Person other than a Member Party who agrees to keep such Confidential Information confidential in accordance with this Section 11.10, in each case without the express consent, in the case of Confidential Information acquired from the Company, of the Managing Member or, in the case of Confidential Information acquired from another Member, such other Member, unless:

(i) such disclosure is required by Applicable Law;

(ii) such disclosure is reasonably required in connection with any tax audit involving the Company or any Member or its Affiliates;

(iii) such disclosure is reasonably required in connection with any litigation against or involving the Company or any Member; or

(iv) such disclosure is reasonably required in connection with any proposed Transfer of all or any part of such Member's Units in the Company; provided that with respect to any such use of any Confidential Information referred to in this clause (iv), advance notice must be given to the Managing Member so that it may require any proposed Transferee that is not a Member to enter into a confidentiality agreement with terms substantially similar to the terms of this Section 11.10 (excluding this clause (iv)) prior to the disclosure of such Confidential Information.

(b) "Confidential Information" means any information related to the activities of the Company, the Members and their respective Affiliates that an Member may acquire from the Company or the Members, other than information that (i) is already available through publicly available sources of information (other than as a result of disclosure by such Member), (ii) was available to a Member on a non-confidential basis prior to its disclosure to such Member by the Company, or (iii) becomes available to a Member on a non-confidential basis from a third party, provided such third party is not known by such Member, after reasonable inquiry, to be bound by this Agreement or another confidentiality agreement with the Company. Such Confidential Information may include information that pertains or relates to the business and affairs of any other Member or any other Company matters. Confidential Information may be used by a Member and its Member Parties only in connection with Company matters and in connection with the maintenance of its interest in the Company.

(c) In the event that any Member or any Member Parties of such Member is required to disclose any of the Confidential Information, such Member shall use reasonable efforts to provide the Company with prompt written notice so that the Company may seek a protective order or other appropriate remedy or waive compliance with the provisions of this Agreement, and such Member shall use reasonable efforts to cooperate with the Company in any effort any such Person undertakes to obtain a protective order or other remedy. In the event that such protective order or other remedy is not obtained, or that the Company waives compliance with the provisions of this Section 11.10, such Member and its Member Parties shall furnish only that portion of the Confidential Information that is legally required and shall exercise all reasonable efforts to obtain reasonably reliable assurance that the Confidential Information shall be accorded confidential treatment.

(d) Notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, each Member may disclose to any persons the U.S. federal income tax treatment and tax structure of the Company and the transactions set out in the Reorganization Agreement. For this purpose, "tax structure" is limited to any facts relevant to the U.S. federal income tax treatment of the Company and does not include information relating to the identity of the Company or any Member.

Section 11.11 Governing Law. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Michigan, without regard to the conflicts of law rules of such State that would result in the application of the laws of any other State.

This is a THIRD AMENDED AND RESTATED MASTER REPURCHASE AGREEMENT, dated as of May 24, 2017, among CREDIT SUISSE FIRST BOSTON MORTGAGE CAPITAL LLC ("Administrative Agent"), as administrative agent on behalf of Buyers, Credit Suisse AG, a company incorporated in Switzerland, acting through its Cayman Islands Branch ("CS Cayman" and a "Buyer"), Alpine Securitization LTD ("Alpine" and a "Buyer"), QUICKEN LOANS INC. ("Quicken Loans" and a "Seller") and ONE REVERSE MORTGAGE, LLC ("One Reverse" and a "Seller", and together with Quicken Loans, the "Sellers").

The Administrative Agent, as a Buyer and the Sellers previously entered into a Master Repurchase Agreement, dated as of August 8, 2003, as amended by that certain Amended and Restated Master Repurchase Agreement, dated as of November 30, 2007, as amended by that certain Second Amended and Restated Master Repurchase Agreement, dated as of September 27, 2013, as amended (the "Existing Master Repurchase Agreement").

Pursuant to that certain Assignment, Assumption and Appointment Agreement, dated as of June 16, 2016 among Administrative Agent and CS Cayman, as a Buyer (the "Assignment, Assumption and Appointment Agreement"), Administrative Agent sold and assigned its right, title and interest in the Transactions and the related Purchased Mortgage Loans hereunder to CS Cayman and was designated by Buyers as their Administrative Agent.

The parties hereto have requested that the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement be amended and restated, in its entirety, on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth herein.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual agreements contained herein, and other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, the parties hereto hereby agree as follows:

1. Applicability

From time to time the parties hereto may enter into transactions in which Sellers agree to transfer to Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers Mortgage Loans (as hereinafter defined) on a servicing released basis against the transfer of funds by Administrative Agent, with a simultaneous agreement by Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers to transfer to Sellers such Mortgage Loans on a servicing released basis at a date certain or on demand, against the transfer of funds by Sellers. This Agreement is a commitment by Administrative Agent on behalf of Committed Buyer to engage in the Transactions as set forth herein on or before the Termination Date up to the Maximum Committed Purchase Price; provided, that the Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers shall have no commitment to enter into any Transaction requested which would result in the aggregate Purchase Price of then outstanding Transactions to exceed the Maximum Committed Purchase Price. Each such transaction shall be referred to herein as a "Transaction" and, unless otherwise agreed in writing, shall be governed by this Agreement, including any supplemental terms or conditions contained in any annexes identified herein, as applicable hereunder. For the avoidance of doubt, and for administrative and tracking purposes, the purchase and sale of each Purchased Mortgage Loan shall be deemed a separate Transaction.

2. Definitions

Whenever used in this Agreement, the following words and phrases, unless the context otherwise requires, shall have the following meanings:

"Accepted Servicing Practices" means, with respect to any Mortgage Loan, those mortgage servicing practices of prudent mortgage lending institutions which service mortgage loans of the same type as such Mortgage Loan in the jurisdiction where the related Mortgaged Property is located.

"Act of Insolvency" means, with respect to any Person, (i) the filing by such Person of a petition, commencing, or authorizing the commencement of any case or proceeding, or the voluntary joining of any case or proceeding under any bankruptcy, insolvency, reorganization, liquidation, dissolution or similar law relating to the protection of creditors, or suffering any such petition or proceeding to be commenced by another which is consented to, not timely contested or results in entry of an order for relief; (ii) the seeking by such Person of the appointment of a receiver, trustee, custodian or similar official for such party; (iii) the appointment of a receiver, conservator, or manager for such Person by any governmental agency or authority having the jurisdiction to do so (provided, however, if such appointment is the result of the commencement of involuntary proceedings or the filing of an involuntary petition against such Person and such appointment is dismissed within sixty (60) days after the initial date thereof, an Act of Insolvency shall not be deemed to have occurred); (iv) the making or offering by such Person of a composition with its creditors or a general assignment for the benefit of creditors; (v) the admission in writing by an Executive Management officer of such Person of its inability to pay its debts or discharge its obligations as they become due or mature; or (vi) that any governmental authority or agency or any person, agency or entity acting or purporting to act under governmental authority shall have taken any action to condemn, seize or appropriate, or to assume custody or control of, all or any substantial part of the property of such Person, or shall have taken any action to displace the Executive Management of such Person or to materially curtail its authority in the conduct of the business of such Person, and any such action described in this clause (vi) is determined by the Administrative Agent in its sole good faith discretion to be materially adverse to Administrative Agent and the Buyers taken as a whole, Sellers taken as a whole, the Repurchase Assets or Quicken Loans' ability to perform under this Agreement.

"Additional Buyers" has the meaning set forth in Section 37 hereof.

"Adjusted Tangible Net Worth" has the meaning assigned to such term in the Pricing Side Letter.

The applicable Seller shall repurchase the related Purchased Mortgage Loans from Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers, and Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers shall sell such Purchased Mortgage Loans on each related Repurchase Date. Such obligation to repurchase exists without regard to any prior or intervening liquidation or foreclosure with respect to any Purchased Mortgage Loan (but liquidation or foreclosure proceeds received by Administrative Agent shall be applied to reduce the Repurchase Price for such Purchased Mortgage Loan on each Price Differential Payment Date except as otherwise provided herein). The applicable Seller is obligated to repurchase and take physical possession of the Purchased Mortgage Loans from Administrative Agent or its designee (including the Custodian) at the applicable Seller's expense on the related Repurchase Date, and upon receipt of the Repurchase Price therefor, Administrative Agent is obligated to tender (or cause its designee to tender) such physical possession of the Purchased Mortgage Loans to the applicable Seller on the related Repurchase Date. Upon such transfer of the Mortgage Loans back to the applicable Seller as set forth in this Section, ownership of each Mortgage Loan, including each document in the related Mortgage File and Records, is vested in the applicable Seller. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, Sellers shall have the right, provided that no Event of Default shall have occurred and is continuing, to repurchase any Purchased Mortgage Loan.

b. Provided that no Default shall have occurred and is continuing, and Administrative Agent has received the related Repurchase Price (excluding accrued and unpaid Price Differential, which, for the avoidance of doubt, shall be paid on the next succeeding Price Differential Payment Date) upon repurchase of the Purchased Mortgage Loans, Administrative Agent and Buyers will each be deemed to have released their respective interests hereunder in the Purchased Mortgage Loans (including, the Repurchase Assets related thereto) at the request of the applicable Seller. The Purchased Mortgage Loans (including the Repurchase Assets related thereto) shall be delivered to the Sellers free and clear of any lien, encumbrance or claim of Administrative Agent or the Buyers. With respect to payments in full by the related Mortgagor of a Purchased Mortgage Loan, the applicable Seller agrees to (i) provide Administrative Agent with a copy of a report from the related Servicer indicating that such Purchased Mortgage Loan has been paid in full, (ii) remit to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers, within two (2) Business Days after the applicable Seller's receipt of such payment in full, the Repurchase Price with respect to such Purchased Mortgage Loans and (iii) provide Administrative Agent a notice specifying each Purchased Mortgage Loan that has been prepaid in full. Administrative Agent and Buyers agree to release their respective interests in Purchased Mortgage Loans which have been prepaid in full after receipt of evidence of compliance with clauses (i) through (iii) of the immediately preceding sentence.

5. Price Differential

a. On each Business Day that a Transaction is outstanding, the Pricing Rate shall be reset and, unless otherwise agreed, the accrued and unpaid Price Differential shall be settled in cash on each related Price Differential Payment Date. Two (2) Business Days prior to the Price Differential Payment Date, Administrative Agent shall give Sellers written or electronic notice of the amount of the Price Differential due on such Price Differential Payment Date. On the Price Differential Payment Date, Sellers shall pay to Administrative Agent the Price Differential for the benefit of Buyers for such Price Differential Payment Date (along with any other amounts to be paid pursuant to Section 7 hereof and Section 3 of the Pricing Side Letter), by wire transfer in immediately available funds.

b. If Sellers fail to pay all or part of the Price Differential by 3:00 p.m. (New York City time) on the related Price Differential Payment Date, with respect to any Purchased Mortgage Loan, Sellers shall be obligated to pay to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers (in addition to, and together with, the amount of such Price Differential) interest on the unpaid Repurchase Price at a rate per annum equal to the Post-Default Rate until the Price Differential is received in full by Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers.

c. Sellers, or either of them, may remit to Administrative Agent funds up to the then-outstanding Purchase Price, to be applied as of the date such funds are received by Administrative Agent towards the aggregate outstanding Purchase Price of Purchased Mortgage Loans subject to outstanding Transactions on a pro rata basis. The Price Differential shall be applied, and shall accrue on the Purchase Price then outstanding, after such application of such funds as provided in the preceding sentence, subject to Section 6.d.

6. Margin Maintenance

a. If at any time the outstanding Purchase Price of any Purchased Mortgage Loan subject to a Transaction is greater than the Asset Value of such Purchased Mortgage Loan subject to a Transaction (a "Margin Deficit"), then Administrative Agent may by notice to Sellers require Sellers to transfer to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers cash in an amount at least equal to the Margin Deficit (such requirement, a "Margin Call"), as more fully provided in Section 6(b) immediately below.

b. Notice delivered pursuant to Section 6(a) may be given by any written means. Except as provided below, any notice given before 10:00 a.m. (New York City time) on a Business Day shall be met, and the related Margin Call satisfied, no later than 5:00 p.m. (New York City time) on such Business Day; notice given after 10:00 a.m. (New York City time) on a Business Day shall be met, and the related Margin Call satisfied, no later than 5:00 p.m. (New York City time) on the following Business Day (the foregoing time requirements for satisfaction of a Margin Call are referred to as the "Margin Deadlines"). Notwithstanding the foregoing, in the event that the applicable Margin Deficit is greater than [] the Margin Deadline set forth above shall apply with respect to [] and the balance of the Margin Deficit (i.e., the amount thereof in excess of []) shall be satisfied by no later than 5:00 pm (New York City time) on the third (3rd) Business Day following the date of the Margin Call; provided that no Event of Default has occurred and is continuing. The failure of Administrative Agent, on any one or more occasions, to exercise its rights hereunder, shall not change or alter the terms and conditions to which this Agreement is subject or limit the right of Administrative Agent to do so at a later date. Sellers and Administrative Agent each agree that a failure or delay by Administrative Agent to exercise its rights hereunder shall not limit or waive Administrative Agent's or Buyers' rights under this Agreement or otherwise existing by law or in any way create additional rights for Sellers.

c. In the event that a Margin Deficit exists with respect to any Purchased Mortgage Loan, Administrative Agent may retain any funds received by it to which the Sellers would otherwise be entitled hereunder, which funds (i) shall be held by Administrative Agent against the related Margin Deficit and (ii) may be applied by Administrative Agent against any Purchased Mortgage Loan for which the related Margin Deficit remains otherwise unsatisfied. Administrative Agent shall give Sellers written notice of any funds so retained and/or applied by Administrative Agent. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Administrative Agent retains the right, in its sole good faith discretion, to make a Margin Call in accordance with the provisions of this Section 6.

d. If at any time the Asset Value of the aggregate of all Purchased Mortgage Loans subject to a Transaction hereunder as of any date of determination is greater than the aggregate Purchase Price of all Purchased Mortgage Loans subject to a Transaction hereunder as of such date (a "Margin Excess"), then Sellers may, by delivery of written notice to Administrative Agent by 10:00 a.m. (New York Time) on any Business Day (an "Excess Margin Notice"), require Administrative Agent either to (i) remit additional Purchase Price in an amount equal to the lesser of (x) such Margin Excess and (y) the amount requested by Sellers or (ii) reallocate the Purchase Price to Purchased Mortgage Loans with Margin Excess in order to release Purchased Mortgage Loans which, following such reallocation, will have a Purchase Price of zero (0). Administrative Agent shall not be obligated to remit Margin Excess or release Purchased Mortgage Loans pursuant to clause (i) or (ii) above to the extent (A) it would cause the outstanding Purchase Price to exceed the Maximum Aggregate Purchase Price or otherwise be inconsistent with the requirements or conditions of this Agreement; (B) a Default has occurred and is continuing or would exist after such action by Administrative Agent or (C) such action would cause a Margin Deficit.

7. Income Payments

a. If Income is paid in respect of any Purchased Mortgage Loan during the term of a Transaction, such Income shall be the property of Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers. Notwithstanding the foregoing, and provided no Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers agrees that if a third-party Servicer is in place for any Purchased Mortgage Loans, such Servicer shall deposit such Income to the Collection Account. Each Seller shall deposit all Income received in its capacity as Servicer of any Purchased Mortgage Loans to the Collection Account in accordance with Section 12(a)(3) hereof.

b. Provided no Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, on each Price Differential Payment Date, each Seller shall remit to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers an amount equal to the Price Differential out of the interest portion of the Income paid in respect to the Purchased Mortgage Loans for the preceding month in accordance with Section 5 of this Agreement. Provided that no Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, upon termination of any Transaction on the Repurchase Date, to the extent that there is any excess Income after repayment of all amounts to be transferred to c. In the event that an Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, notwithstanding any provision set forth herein, each Seller shall remit to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers all Income received with respect to each Purchased Mortgage Loan on the related Price Differential Payment Date or on such other date or dates as Administrative Agent notifies Sellers in writing.

d. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in this Section 7, within two (2) Business Days of receipt by either Seller of any prepayment of principal in full, with respect to a Purchased Mortgage Loan, the applicable Seller shall remit such amount to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers and Administrative Agent shall immediately apply any such amount received by Administrative Agent to reduce the amount of the Repurchase Price due upon termination of the related Transaction.

e. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary set forth herein, upon notice by Administrative Agent to Sellers, Sellers shall remit to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers all collections received by Servicer or Sellers on the Purchased Mortgage Loans in accordance with Administrative Agent's directions no later than the day on which aggregate collections of principal and interest (excluding principal prepayments) on the Purchased Mortgaged Loans reaches an amount to be indicated by Administrative Agent (pursuant to prior written notice to Sellers) in Administrative Agent's sole good faith discretion.

8. Security Interest

On each Purchase Date, the applicable Seller hereby sells, assigns and conveys all rights and interests in the Purchased Mortgage Loans identified on the related Mortgage Loan Schedule and the related Repurchase Assets to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers. Although the parties intend that all Transactions hereunder be sales and purchases and not loans, in the event any such Transactions are deemed to be loans, and in any event, each Seller hereby pledges to Administrative Agent as security for the performance of Sellers' Obligations and hereby grants, assigns and pledges to Administrative Agent a fully perfected first priority security interest in Sellers' right, title and interest in and to the Purchased Mortgage Loans, any Agency Security or right to receive such Agency Security when issued, in each case, only to the extent specifically backed by Purchased Mortgage Loans, the Records, and all related Servicing Rights, the Program Agreements (to the extent such Program Agreements and each Seller's right thereunder relate to the Purchased Mortgage Loans), any related Take-Out Commitments, any Property of any Seller (to the extent such Property relates to the Purchased Mortgage Loans), all insurance policies and insurance proceeds relating to any Purchased Mortgage Loan or the related Mortgaged Property, including, but not limited to, any payments or proceeds under any related primary insurance, hazard insurance and FHA Mortgage Insurance Contracts, VA Loan Guaranty Agreements and Rural Housing Service Guaranty agreements (if any), Income, the Collection Account, Interest Rate Protection Agreements, accounts (including any interest of any Seller in escrow accounts) and any other contract rights, instruments, accounts, payments, rights to payment (including payments of interest or finance charges), general intangibles and other assets of any Seller, to the extent that the same relates to the Purchased Mortgage Loans (including, without limitation, any other accounts) or any interest in the Purchased Mortgage Loans, and any proceeds (including the related securitization proceeds) and distributions with respect to any of the foregoing and any other property, rights, title or interests as are specified on a Transaction Request and/or Trust Receipt and Certification, in all instances, whether now owned or hereafter acquired, now existing or hereafter created (collectively, the "Repurchase Assets"). Each Seller agrees to execute, deliver and/or file such documents and perform such acts as may be reasonably necessary to fully perfect Administrative Agent's security interest created hereby. Furthermore, each Seller hereby authorizes the Administrative Agent to file financing statements relating to the Repurchase Assets, as the Administrative Agent, at its option, may deem appropriate. The Sellers shall pay the filing costs for any financing statement or statements prepared pursuant to this Section. Notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, unless an Event of Default shall have occurred and be continuing, upon a Seller's payment of the Repurchase Price to Administrative Agent, any security interest of Administrative Agent in the related Mortgage Loan and in any proceeds thereof shall be released by Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers. Upon a Seller's written request, Administrative Agent shall take such actions as may be reasonably necessary to evidence any such termination of a security interest in the related Mortgage Loan.

Each Seller acknowledges that it has no rights to service the Purchased Mortgage Loans. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing and in the event that each Seller is deemed to retain any residual Servicing Rights, and for the avoidance of doubt, each Seller grants, assigns and pledges to Administrative Agent a security interest in the Servicing Rights and proceeds related thereto and in all instances, whether now owned or hereafter acquired, now existing or hereafter created. The foregoing provision is intended to constitute a security agreement or other arrangement or other credit enhancement related to this Agreement and Transactions hereunder as defined under Sections 101(47)(A)(v) and 741(7)(A)(xi) of the Bankruptcy Code.

Administrative Agent and Quicken Loans hereby agree that in order to further secure Quicken Loans' Obligations hereunder, Quicken Loans hereby grants to Administrative Agent, for the benefit of each applicable Buyer, a security interest in Quicken Loans' rights (but not its obligations) under the Servicing Facility Documents, including without limitation any rights to assets and rights to receive payments thereunder, but not including rights (including rights to receive payments) in and under the collateral thereunder, whether now owned or hereafter acquired, now existing or hereafter created (collectively, the "Servicing Facility Rights"). Quicken Loans shall deliver an irrevocable instruction to the buyers or administrative agent under the Servicing Facility Documents that upon receipt of notice of an Event of Default under this Agreement, the buyers or administrative agent thereunder is authorized and instructed to remit to Administrative Agent hereunder directly any amounts otherwise payable to Quicken Loans under the Servicing Facility Documents. In furtherance of the foregoing, such notice shall also require, upon repayment of the entire Obligations (as defined in the Servicing Facility Documents) under the Servicing Facility Agreement and the termination of all obligations of the buyers thereunder or other termination of the Servicing Facility Documents following repayment of all obligations thereunder, that, if an Event of Default shall then exist under this Agreement, or the Servicing Facility Documents, the buyers or administrative agent thereunder shall deliver to Administrative Agent hereunder any amounts otherwise payable to Quicken Loans under the Servicing Facility Documents. Notwithstanding any of the foregoing to the contrary, such grant of a security interest in Servicing Facility Rights shall terminate (i) when CSFBMC or its Affiliates do not constitute all of the "Buyers" (as defined in the Servicing Facility Agreement) or all of the Buyers under this Agreement, or (ii) when the outstanding aggregate "Repurchase Price" under such Servicing Facility Agreement has been paid in full and the Servicing Facility Agreement has been terminated.

With respect to the Servicing Facility Rights, Section 4.05 of the Servicing Facility Agreement is deemed to apply and is incorporated by reference herein.

9. Payment and Transfer

Unless otherwise mutually agreed in writing, all transfers of funds to be made by Sellers hereunder shall be made in Dollars, in immediately available funds, without deduction, set-off or counterclaim, to Administrative Agent at the following account maintained by Administrative Agent: Account No. [] for the account of CSFB Administrative Agent /Quicken Loans Inc. Seller-Inbound Account, Citibank, ABA No. [] or such other account as Administrative Agent shall specify to Sellers in writing. Each Seller acknowledges that it has no rights of withdrawal from the foregoing account. All Purchased Mortgage Loans transferred by one party hereto to the other party shall be in the case of a purchase by a Buyer in suitable form for transfer or shall be accompanied by duly executed instruments of transfer or assignment in blank and such other documentation as Administrative Agent may reasonably request. All Purchased Mortgage Loans shall be evidenced by a Trust Receipt and Certification. Any Repurchase Price received by Administrative Agent after 2:00 p.m. (New York City time) shall be deemed received on the next succeeding Business Day.

10. Conditions Precedent

a. Continuing Transactions. As conditions precedent to continuing the Transactions outstanding on the date of this Agreement, Administrative Agent shall have received on or before the date hereof the following, in form and substance satisfactory to Administrative Agent and duly executed by each applicable Seller and each other party thereto:

(1) Program Agreements. The Program Agreements (including without limitation, a Custodial Agreement in a form acceptable to Administrative Agent) duly executed and delivered by the parties thereto and being in full force and effect, free of any modification, breach or waiver.

(2) Security Interest. Evidence that all other actions necessary or, in the opinion of Administrative Agent, desirable to perfect and protect Administrative Agent's and Buyers' interest in the Purchased Mortgage Loans and other Repurchase Assets have been taken, including, without limitation, duly authorized and filed Uniform Commercial Code financing statements on Form UCC-1 and Form UCC-3, as applicable.

(3) Underwriting Guidelines. To the extent they are required to be set forth in Exhibit G hereto, a true and correct copy of the Underwriting Guidelines certified by an officer of each Seller.

(4) Fees. Payment of any applicable fees due and owing (as of the date of this Agreement) to Administrative Agent and Buyers hereunder including, without limitation, the Commitment Fee as set forth in the Pricing Side Letter.

(5) Insurance. Evidence Administrative Agent has been added as a loss payee under the E&O Insurance covering each Seller.

(6) Opinion of Counsel. An opinion of Sellers' counsel, in form and substance reasonably acceptable to Administrative Agent in its sole good faith discretion, subject, however, to caveats, assumptions, and limitations to which similar opinions are typically subject.

b. All Transactions. The obligation of Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers to enter into each Transaction pursuant to this Agreement is subject to the following conditions precedent:

(1) Organizational Documents/Opinions. Each Seller shall have provided to Administrative Agent a certificate of the corporate secretary of such Seller substantially in form and substance acceptable to Administrative Agent in its sole good faith discretion, attaching certified copies of such Seller's applicable charter, bylaws, limited liability company agreement and resolutions approving the Program Agreements.

(2) Good Standing Certificate. Each Seller shall have provided to Administrative Agent (i) a good standing certificate from the jurisdiction of organization of such Seller, dated as of no earlier than the date ten (10) Business Days prior to the date of delivery hereunder, and (ii) an incumbency certificate of the corporate secretary of such Seller, certifying the names, true signatures and titles of the representatives duly authorized to request transactions hereunder and to execute the Program Agreements.

(3) Due Diligence Review. Without limiting the generality of Section 35 hereof, Administrative Agent and its designated agent shall have completed, to its satisfaction, its due diligence review of the related Mortgage Loans and each Seller; provided, however, with respect to any particular Transaction, if Administrative Agent has not given written notice to Sellers of the satisfactory completion of Administrative Agent's and its designated agent's due diligence relating to such Transaction by no later than twenty-four (24) hours prior to the time that such Seller would otherwise be obligated hereunder to effect such Transaction, such Seller shall have an additional Business Day in which to effect such Transaction.

(4) Required Documents.

(a) With respect to each Purchased Mortgage Loan which is not a Wet-Ink Mortgage Loan, the Mortgage File has been delivered to the Custodian in accordance with the Custodial Agreement; and

(b) With respect to each Wet-Ink Mortgage Loan, the Wet-Ink Documents have been delivered to Administrative Agent or Custodian, as the case may be, in accordance with the Custodial Agreement.

(5) Transaction Documents. Administrative Agent or its designee shall have received on or before the day of such Transaction (unless otherwise specified in this Agreement) the following, in form and substance satisfactory to Administrative Agent and (if applicable) duly executed:

(a) A Transaction Request and Mortgage Loan Schedule delivered by the applicable Seller pursuant to Section 3(b) hereof.

(b) The Request for Certification and the related Mortgage Loan Schedule delivered by the applicable Seller, and the Trust Receipt and Certification and Custodial Mortgage Loan Schedule delivered by Custodian.

(c) Such certificates or other documents as Administrative Agent may reasonably request.

(d) Solely with respect to any Transaction involving one or more Second Lien Mortgage Loans that are Purchased Mortgage Loans subject to the Schwab Purchase Agreement, the Takeout Commitment Letter Agreement has been executed by all applicable parties and such agreement remains in full force and effect.

(6) No Default. No Default or Event of Default shall have occurred and be continuing.

(7) Requirements of Law. Neither Administrative Agent nor Buyers shall have determined that the introduction of or a change in any Requirement of Law or in the interpretation or administration of any Requirement of Law applicable to Administrative Agent or any Buyer has made it unlawful, and no Governmental Authority shall have asserted that it is unlawful, for Administrative Agent or any Buyer to enter into Transactions with a Pricing Rate based on LIBOR.

(8) Representations and Warranties. Both immediately prior to the related Transaction and also after giving effect thereto and to the intended use thereof, the representations and warranties made by each Seller in each Program Agreement shall be true, correct and complete on and as of such Purchase Date in all material respects with the same force and effect as if made on and as of such date (or, if any such representation or warranty is expressly stated to have been made as of a specific date, as of such specific date).

(9) Electronic Tracking Agreement. To the extent any Seller is selling Mortgage Loans which are registered on the MERS® System, an Electronic Tracking Agreement entered into, duly executed and delivered by the parties thereto and being in full force and effect, free of any modification, breach or waiver.

(10) Maximum Aggregate Purchase Price. After giving effect to the requested Transaction, the aggregate outstanding Purchase Price for all Purchased Mortgage Loans subject to then outstanding Transactions under this Agreement shall not exceed the Maximum Aggregate Purchase Price. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, Administrative Agent shall have no obligation to enter into any Transaction, if, (a) as a result of such Transaction the aggregate Purchase Price for all Purchased Mortgage Loans subject to then outstanding Transactions under this Agreement exceed the Maximum Committed Purchase Price or (b) the Purchase Date is after the Termination Date.

(11) Material Adverse Change. None of the following shall have occurred and/or be continuing:

(a) Credit Suisse AG, New York Branch's corporate bond rating as calculated by S&P or Moody's has been lowered or downgraded to a rating below investment grade by S&P or Moody's;

(b) an event or events shall have occurred resulting in the effective absence of a market for financing debt obligations secured by mortgage loans similar to Purchased Mortgage Loans or securities backed by such Mortgage Loans or an event or events shall have occurred resulting in Committed Buyer not being able to finance Purchased Mortgage Loans with traditional counterparties at rates which would have been reasonable prior to the occurrence of such event or events; or

(c) an event or events shall have occurred resulting in the effective absence of a "securities market" for securities backed by mortgage loans similar to the Purchased Mortgage Loans or an event or events shall have occurred resulting in Committed Buyer not being able to sell securities backed by mortgage loans similar to the Purchased Mortgage Loans at prices which would have been reasonable prior to such event or events; or

(d) there shall have occurred a material adverse change in the financial condition of Committed Buyer which affects (or can reasonably be expected to affect) materially and adversely the ability of such Committed Buyer to fund its obligations under this Agreement;

provided, that, (x) the Administrative Agent and Committed Buyer shall not invoke subclause (a), (b), (c) or (d) with respect to either of the Sellers unless the Administrative Agent or the Committed Buyer shall invoke any similar clause contained in other similar agreements with similar terms to this Agreement between Administrative Agent or the Committed Buyer and other Persons that are substantially similar to the Sellers (including without limitation terms providing funding by the Administrative Agent or the Committed Buyer to such person or persons on a committed basis) and with respect to substantially the same types of assets as the Mortgage Loans that would be the subject of Transactions hereunder, and (y) the Administrative Agent or the Committed Buyer will give Seller notice in form and substance deemed appropriate by Administrative Agent or the Committed Buyer, upon request, of the reasons (which may not be exhaustive) for Administrative Agent's or the Committed Buyer's good faith belief that any of subclause (a), (b), (c) or (d) has occurred; provided, that such notice shall not in any way reduce or limit or condition the rights and remedies of Administrative Agent or the Committed Buyer hereunder or under any other provision of this Agreement or the Program Agreements.

(12) Underwriting Guidelines. Neither Seller shall have amended or otherwise modified the Underwriting Guidelines (to the extent that such Underwriting Guidelines are under such Seller's control) without the prior written consent of Administrative Agent (which consent shall be deemed to have been given unless Administrative Agent notifies such Seller of Administrative Agent's objection to such amendment or modification within thirty (30) days of such Seller's written request to Administrative Agent for Administrative Agent's consent). Without limiting the foregoing, in the event that any Seller makes any amendment or modification to the Underwriting Guidelines, such Seller shall promptly deliver to Administrative Agent a complete copy of the amended or modified Underwriting Guidelines.

11. Program; Costs

a. Subject to Section 35, Sellers shall reimburse Administrative Agent for any of Administrative Agent's reasonable (and documented) out-of-pocket costs, including due diligence review costs and reasonable attorney's fees, incurred by Administrative Agent in determining the acceptability to Administrative Agent and Buyers of any Mortgage Loans. Sellers shall also pay, or reimburse Administrative Agent and Buyers if Administrative Agent or Buyers shall pay, any termination fee, which may be due any servicer in connection with the termination of the servicing of a Mortgage Loan if such termination is required pursuant to the terms of this Agreement; provided, however, that Sellers shall be entitled to written evidence of such termination fee. Legal fees for any subsequent amendments to this Agreement or related documents shall be borne by Sellers. Sellers shall pay ongoing custodial and bank fees and expenses and any other ongoing fees and expenses under any other Program Agreement. Without limiting the foregoing, Sellers shall pay all fees as and when required under the Pricing Side Letter.

b. If any Buyer determines that, due to the introduction of, any change in, or the compliance by such Buyer with (i) any eurocurrency reserve requirement or (ii) the interpretation of any law, regulation or any guideline or request from any central bank or other Governmental Authority (whether or not having the force of law), there shall be an increase in the cost to such Buyer in engaging in the present or any future Transactions, then Sellers agree to pay to such Buyer, from time to time, upon demand by such Buyer (with a copy to Custodian) the actual cost of additional amounts as specified by such Buyer to compensate such Buyer for such increased costs.

c. With respect to any Transaction, Administrative Agent and Buyers may conclusively rely upon, and shall incur no liability to Sellers in acting upon, any request or other communication that Administrative Agent and Buyers reasonably believe to have been given or made by a person authorized to enter into a Transaction on Sellers' behalf, whether or not such person is listed on the certificate delivered pursuant to Section 10.b(2) hereof.

d. Notwithstanding the assignment of the Program Agreements with respect to each Purchased Mortgage Loan to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers, each Seller agrees and covenants with Administrative Agent and Buyers to use commercially reasonable efforts to enforce such Seller's rights and remedies set forth in the Program Agreements.

e. (i) Any payments made by Sellers to Administrative Agent or a Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee hereunder or any Program Agreement shall be made free and clear of and without deduction or withholding for any Taxes, except as required by applicable law. If any Seller shall be required by applicable law (as determined in the good faith discretion of the applicable withholding agent) to deduct or withhold any Tax from any sums payable to Administrative Agent or a Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee, then (i) such Seller shall make such deductions or withholdings and pay the full amount deducted to the relevant Governmental Authority in accordance with applicable law; (ii) to the extent the withheld or deducted Tax is an Indemnified Tax, the sum payable shall be increased as necessary so that after making all required deductions and withholdings (including deductions and withholdings applicable to additional sums payable under this Section 11(e)) Administrative Agent or the applicable Buyer receives an amount equal to the sum it would have received had no such deductions or withholdings been made; and (iii) such Seller shall notify the Administrative Agent of the amount paid and shall provide the original or a certified copy of a receipt issued by the relevant Governmental Authority evidencing such payment as soon as practicable but no later than thirty (30) days thereafter. Sellers shall otherwise indemnify Administrative Agent and such Buyer, within ten (10) Business Days after demand therefor, for any Indemnified Taxes imposed on Administrative Agent or such Buyer (including Indemnified Taxes imposed or asserted on or attributable to amounts payable under this Section 11(e)) and any reasonable expenses arising therefrom or with respect thereto, whether or not such Indemnified Taxes were correctly or legally asserted by the relevant Governmental Authority. A certificate as to the amount of such payment or liability delivered to Sellers by a Buyer or Administrative Agent shall be conclusive absent manifest error. Administrative Agent or the applicable Buyer shall promptly repay to Sellers any refund of any amounts received by any of them that can be directly attributable to the Program Documents, as determined by Administrative Agent in its sole good faith discretion, and amounts paid pursuant to this Section 11.

(ii) Administrative Agent shall cause each Buyer and permitted Buyer assignee to deliver to the Sellers, at the time or times reasonably requested by the Sellers, such properly completed and executed documentation reasonably requested by the Sellers as will permit payments made hereunder to be made without withholding or at a reduced rate of withholding. In addition, Administrative Agent shall cause each Buyer and permitted Buyer assignee, if reasonably requested by Sellers, to deliver such other documentation prescribed by applicable law or reasonably requested by the Sellers as will enable the Sellers to determine whether or not such Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee is subject to backup withholding or information reporting requirements. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Section 11, the completion, execution and submission of such documentation (other than such documentation in Section 11(e)(ii)(A), (B) and (C) below) shall not be required if in such Buyer's or any permitted Buyer's assignee's judgment such completion, execution or submission would subject such Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee to any material unreimbursed cost or expense or would materially prejudice the legal or commercial position of such Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, Administrative Agent shall cause a Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee to deliver to the Sellers the following properly completed and duly executed documents, to the extent legally entitled to do so:

(A) in the case of a Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee which is a "U.S. Person" as defined in section 7701(a)(30) of the Code, a properly completed and executed Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") Form W-9 (or any successor form thereto) certifying that it is not subject to U.S. federal backup withholding tax;

(B) in the case of a Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee which is not a "U.S. Person" as defined in Code section 7701(a)(30): (I) a properly completed and executed IRS Form W-8BEN, W-8BEN-E or W-8ECI, as appropriate, evidencing entitlement to a zero percent (0%) or reduced rate of U.S. federal income tax withholding on any payments made hereunder, (II) in the case of such non-U.S. Person claiming exemption from the withholding of U.S. federal income tax under Code sections 871(h) or 881(c) with respect to payments of "portfolio interest," a duly executed certificate (a "U.S. Tax Compliance Certificate") to the effect that such non-U.S. Person is not (x) a "bank" within the meaning of Code section 881(c)(3)(A), (y) a "10 percent shareholder" of any Seller or affiliate thereof, within the meaning of Code section 881(c)(3)(B), or (z) a "controlled foreign corporation" described in Code section 881(c)(3)(C), (III) to the extent such non-U.S. person is not the beneficial owner, executed originals of IRS Form W-8IMY, accompanied by IRS Form W-8ECI, IRS Form W-8BEN, IRS Form W-8BEN-E, a U.S. Tax Compliance Certificate, IRS Form W-9, and/or other certification documents from each beneficial owner, as applicable; provided that if such non-U.S. person is a partnership and one or more direct or indirect partners of such non-U.S. person are claiming the portfolio interest exemption, such non-U.S. person may provide a U.S. Tax Compliance Certificate on behalf of each such direct and indirect partner, and (IV) executed originals of any other form or supplementary documentation prescribed by law as a basis for claiming exemption from or a reduction in United States federal withholding tax together with such supplementary documentation as may be prescribed by law to permit a Seller to determine the withholding or deduction required to be made.

(C) if a payment made to a Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee under this Agreement would be subject to U.S. federal withholding tax imposed by FATCA if such Buyer or permitted assignee were to fail to comply with the applicable reporting requirements of FATCA (including those contained in Section 1471(b) or 1472(b) of the Code, as applicable), Administrative Agent on behalf of such Buyer or permitted assignee shall deliver to the Sellers at the time or times prescribed by law and at such time or times reasonably requested by the Sellers such documentation prescribed by applicable law (including as prescribed by Section 1471(b)(3)(C)(i) of the Code) and such additional documentation reasonably requested by the Sellers as may be necessary for the Sellers to comply with their obligations under FATCA or to determine the amount to deduct and withhold from such payment. Solely for purposes of this Section 11(e), "FATCA" shall include any amendments made to FATCA after the date of this Agreement.

The applicable IRS forms referred to above shall be delivered by Administrative Agent on behalf of each applicable Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee on or prior to the date on which such person becomes a Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee under this Agreement, as the case may be, and upon the obsolescence or invalidity of any IRS form previously delivered by it hereunder.

f. Any indemnification payable by Sellers to Administrative Agent or a Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee for Indemnified Taxes that are imposed on such Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee, as described in Section 11(e)(i) hereof, shall be paid by Sellers within ten (10) Business Days after demand therefor from Administrative Agent. A certificate as to the amount of such payment or liability delivered to the Sellers by the Administrative Agent on behalf of a Buyer or permitted Buyer assignee shall be conclusive absent manifest error.

g. If Administrative Agent determines, in its sole discretion exercised in good faith, that it has received a refund of any Taxes as to which it has been indemnified pursuant to this Section 11(e) (including by the payment of additional amounts pursuant to this Section 11(g)), it shall pay to the Sellers an amount equal to such refund (but only to the extent of indemnity payments made under this Section with respect to the Taxes giving rise to such refund), net of all out-of-pocket expenses (including Taxes) of Administrative Agent and without interest (other than any interest paid by the relevant Governmental Authority with respect to such refund). Sellers, upon the request of Administrative Agent, shall repay to Administrative Agent the amount paid over pursuant to this paragraph (g) (plus any penalties, interest or other charges imposed by the relevant Governmental Authority) in the event that Administrative Agent is required to repay such refund to such Governmental Authority. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this paragraph (g), in no event will Administrative Agent be required to pay any amount to Sellers pursuant to this paragraph (g) the payment of which would place Administrative Agent in a less favorable net after-Tax position than Administrative Agent would have been in if the Tax subject to indemnification and giving rise to such refund had not been deducted, withheld or otherwise imposed and the indemnification payments or additional amounts with respect to such Tax had never been paid. This paragraph shall not be construed to require Administrative Agent to make available its Tax returns (or any other information relating to its Taxes that it deems confidential) to Sellers or any other Person.

h. Each party's obligations under this Section 11 shall survive any assignment of rights by, or the replacement of, a Buyer or a permitted Buyer assignee, and the repayment, satisfaction or discharge of all obligations under any Program Agreement.

i. Each party to this Agreement acknowledges that it is its intent for purposes of U.S. federal, state and local income and franchise taxes to treat each Transaction as indebtedness of Sellers that is secured by the Purchased Mortgage Loans, and the Purchased Mortgage Loans as owned by Sellers in the absence of an Event of Default by Seller. Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers and Sellers agree that they will treat and report for all tax purposes the Transactions entered into hereunder as one or more loans from a Buyer to Sellers secured by the Purchased Mortgage Loans, unless otherwise prohibited by law or upon a final determination by any taxing authority that the Transactions are not loans for tax purposes.

12. Servicing

a. Servicing with Respect to Quicken Loans

(1) Quicken Loans, on Administrative Agent's and Buyers' behalf, shall contract with Servicer to, or if Quicken Loans is the Servicer, Quicken Loans shall, service the Mortgage Loans consistent with the degree of skill and care that Quicken Loans customarily requires with respect to similar Mortgage Loans owned or managed by it and in accordance with Accepted Servicing Practices. To the extent that Quicken Loans is the Servicer, Quicken Loans shall (i) comply in all material respects with all applicable federal, State and local laws and regulations, (ii) maintain all state and federal licenses necessary for it to perform its servicing responsibilities hereunder and (iii) not impair in any material respect the rights of Administrative Agent or Buyers in any Mortgage Loans or any payment thereunder. Administrative Agent may terminate the servicing of any Mortgage Loan with the then-existing Servicer in accordance with Section 12(a)(5) hereof.

(2) Quicken Loans shall cause the Servicer to hold or cause to be held all escrow funds collected by Quicken Loans and Servicer with respect to any Purchased Mortgage Loans in trust accounts and shall apply the same for the purposes for which such funds were collected.

(3) Quicken Loans shall cause the Servicer to deposit all collections other than escrow funds received by Servicer on the Purchased Mortgage Loans in the Collection Account no later than the fifth (5^{th}) Business Day following receipt; provided, however, that any amounts required to be remitted to Administrative Agent shall be deposited in the Collection Account on or prior to the day on which such remittance is to occur.

(4) Upon Administrative Agent's request, Quicken Loans shall provide promptly to Administrative Agent (i) a Servicer Notice addressed to and agreed to by the Servicer of the related Purchased Mortgage Loans, advising such Servicer of such matters as Administrative Agent may reasonably request, including, without limitation, recognition by the Servicer of Administrative Agent's and Buyers' interest in such Purchased Mortgage Loans and the Servicer's agreement that upon receipt of notice of an Event of Default from Administrative Agent, it will follow the instructions of Administrative Agent with respect to the Purchased Mortgage Loans and any related Income with respect thereto.

(5) Upon written notice, Administrative Agent shall have the right to immediately terminate the Servicer's right to service the Purchased Mortgage Loans without payment of any penalty or termination fee. Quicken Loans and the Servicer shall cooperate in transferring the servicing of the Purchased Mortgage Loans to a successor servicer appointed by Administrative Agent in its sole discretion.

(6) If Quicken Loans should discover that, for any reason whatsoever, Quicken Loans or any entity responsible to Quicken Loans for managing or servicing any such Purchased Mortgage Loan has failed to perform fully Quicken Loans' obligations under the Program Agreements or any of the obligations of such entities with respect to the Purchased Mortgage Loans, Quicken Loans shall promptly notify Administrative Agent.

(7) For the avoidance of doubt, Quicken Loans retains no economic rights to the servicing of the Purchased Mortgage Loans; provided that Quicken Loans shall continue to service the Purchased Mortgage Loans hereunder as part of its Obligations hereunder. As such, Quicken Loans expressly acknowledges that the Purchased Mortgage Loan are sold to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers on a "servicing released" basis.

b. Servicing with Respect to One Reverse

(1) One Reverse, on Administrative Agent's and Buyers' behalf, shall contract with Servicer to, or if One Reverse is the Servicer, shall, service the Mortgage Loans consistent with the degree of skill and care that One Reverse customarily requires with respect to similar Mortgage Loans owned or managed by it and in accordance with Accepted Servicing Practices. One Reverse and Servicer shall (i) comply with all applicable federal, state and local laws and regulations, (ii) maintain all state and federal licenses necessary for it to perform its servicing responsibilities hereunder and (iii) not impair the rights of Administrative Agent or Buyers in any Mortgage Loans or any payment thereunder. Administrative Agent may terminate the servicing of any Mortgage Loan with the Servicer in accordance with Section 12(b)(5) hereof.

(2) One Reverse shall and shall cause the Servicer to hold or cause to be held all escrow funds collected by One Reverse and Servicer with respect to any Purchased Mortgage Loans in trust accounts and shall apply the same for the purposes for which such funds were collected.

(3) One Reverse shall and shall cause the Servicer to deposit all collections other than escrow funds received by Servicer on the Purchased Mortgage Loans in the account set forth in Section 9 upon an Event of Default.

(4) One Reverse shall provide to Administrative Agent a Servicer Notice addressed to and agreed to by the Servicer of the related Purchased Mortgage Loans, advising such Servicer of such matters as Administrative Agent may reasonably request, including, without limitation, recognition by the Servicer of Administrative Agent's and Buyers' interest in such Purchased Mortgage Loans and the Servicer's agreement that upon receipt of notice of an Event of Default from Administrative Agent, it will follow the instructions of Administrative Agent with respect to the Purchased Mortgage Loans and any related Income with respect thereto.

(5) Upon written notice, Administrative Agent shall have the right to immediately terminate the Servicer's right to service the Purchased Mortgage Loans under the Servicing Agreement without payment of any penalty or termination fee. One Reverse and the Servicer shall cooperate in transferring the servicing of the Purchased Mortgage Loans to a successor servicer appointed by Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers in its sole discretion.

(6) If One Reverse should discover that, for any reason whatsoever, One Reverse or any entity responsible to One Reverse for managing or servicing any such Purchased Mortgage Loan has failed to perform fully One Reverse's obligations under the Program Agreements or any of the obligations of such entities with respect to the Purchased Mortgage Loans, One Reverse shall promptly notify Administrative Agent.

(7) For the avoidance of doubt, One Reverse retains no economic rights to the servicing of the Purchased Mortgage Loans other than One Reverse's rights under the Servicing Agreement. As such, One Reverse expressly acknowledges that the Purchased Mortgage Loans are sold to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers on a "servicing released" basis with such servicing retained by the Servicer.

13. Representations and Warranties

a. Each Seller represents and warrants to Administrative Agent and Buyers as of the date hereof and as of each Purchase Date for any Transaction that:

(1) Seller Existence. Quicken Loans has been duly organized and is validly existing as a corporation in good standing under the laws of the State of Michigan. One Reverse has been duly organized and is validly existing as a limited liability company in good standing under the laws of the State of Delaware.

(2) Licenses. Each Seller is duly licensed or is otherwise qualified in each jurisdiction in which it transacts business for the business which it conducts and is not in default of any applicable federal, state or local laws, rules and regulations unless, in either instance, the failure to take such action is not reasonably likely (either individually or in the aggregate) to cause a Material Adverse Effect and is not in default of such state's applicable laws, rules and regulations. Each Seller has the requisite power and authority and legal right to originate and purchase Mortgage Loans (as applicable) and to own, sell and grant a lien on all of its right, title and interest in and to the Mortgage Loans, and to execute and deliver, engage in the transactions contemplated by, and perform and observe the terms and conditions of, this Agreement, each Program Agreement and any Transaction Request. Each Seller is a HUD approved mortgagee and, to the extent a Seller is originating VA Loans, a VA Approved Lender and, to the extent a Seller is originating RHS Loans, a Rural Housing Service Approved Lender.

(3) Power. Each Seller has all requisite corporate or other power, and has all governmental licenses, authorizations, consents and approvals necessary to own its assets and carry on its business as now being or as proposed to be conducted, except where the lack of such licenses, authorizations, consents and approvals would not be reasonably likely to have a Material Adverse Effect.

(4) Due Authorization. Each Seller has all necessary corporate or other power, authority and legal right to execute, deliver and perform its obligations under each of the Program Agreements, as applicable. This Agreement, any Transaction Request and the Program Agreements have been (or, in the case of Program Agreements and any Transaction Request not yet executed, will be) duly authorized, executed and delivered by each applicable Seller, all requisite or other corporate action having been taken, and each is valid, binding and enforceable against each applicable Seller in accordance with its terms except as such enforcement may be affected by bankruptcy, by other insolvency laws, or by general principles of equity.

(5) Financial Statements. Quicken Loans has heretofore furnished to Administrative Agent a copy of its consolidated balance sheet of Quicken Loans as of December 31, 2016 and the related consolidated statements of income and retained earnings and of cash flows for Quicken Loans for the year then ended, setting forth in each case in comparative form the figures for the previous year ended December 31, 2015, with the opinion thereon of Ernst & Young. All such financial statements are complete and correct in all material respects and fairly present, in all material respects, the consolidated financial condition of Quicken Loans and the consolidated results of its operations as at such dates and for such fiscal periods, all in accordance with GAAP applied on a consistent basis. As of the date of this Agreement, since December 31, 2016, there has been no material adverse change in the consolidated business, operations or financial condition of Quicken Loans from that set forth in said financial statements nor is Quicken Loans aware of any state of facts which (with notice or the lapse of time) would or would be reasonably likely to result in any such material adverse change. Quicken Loans has, on the date of the statements delivered pursuant to this Section (the "Statement Date") no liabilities, direct or indirect, fixed or contingent, matured or unmatured, known or unknown, or liabilities for taxes, long-term leases or unusual forward or long-term commitments not disclosed by, or reserved against in, said balance sheet and related statements, and at the present time there are no material unrealized or anticipated losses from any loans, advances or other commitments of Quicken Loans except as heretofore disclosed to Administrative Agent in writing.

(6) Event of Default. There exists no Event of Default under Section 15(b) hereof, which default gives rise to a right to accelerate Indebtedness as referenced in Section 15(b) hereof, under any mortgage, borrowing agreement or other instrument or agreement pertaining to indebtedness for borrowed money or to the repurchase of mortgage loans or securities.

(7) Solvency. Quicken Loans, on a consolidated basis, is solvent and will not be rendered insolvent by any Transaction and, after giving effect to such Transaction, will not be left with an unreasonably small amount of capital with which to engage in its business. Quicken Loans, on a consolidated basis, does not intend to incur, nor does it believe that it has incurred, debts beyond its ability to pay such debts as they mature and is not contemplating the commencement of insolvency, bankruptcy, liquidation or consolidation proceedings or the appointment of a receiver, liquidator, conservator, trustee or similar official in respect of such entity or any of its assets. The amount of consideration being received by Sellers upon the sale of the Purchased Mortgage Loans to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers constitutes reasonably equivalent value and fair consideration for such Purchased Mortgage Loans. Neither Seller is transferring any Purchased Mortgage Loans with any intent to hinder, delay or defraud any of its creditors.

(8) No Conflicts. The execution, delivery and performance by each applicable Seller of this Agreement, any Transaction Request hereunder and the Program Agreements do not conflict with any term or provision of the applicable certificate of incorporation, certificate of formation, limited liability company agreement or by-laws of such Seller or any law, rule, regulation, order, judgment, writ, injunction or decree applicable to such Seller of any court, regulatory body, administrative agency or governmental body having jurisdiction over such Seller, which conflict would have a Material Adverse Effect and will not result in any violation of any such mortgage, instrument, agreement or obligation to which such Seller is a party.

(9) True and Complete Disclosure. All information, reports, exhibits, schedules, financial statements or certificates of each Seller or any Affiliate thereof or any of their officers furnished or to be furnished to Administrative Agent or Buyers in connection with the initial or any ongoing due diligence of each Seller, or any Affiliate or officer thereof, and the negotiation, preparation, or delivery of the Program Agreements are true and complete in all material respects and do not omit to disclose any material facts necessary to make the statements herein or therein, in light of the circumstances in which they are made, not misleading. All financial statements have been prepared in accordance with GAAP.

(10) Approvals. No consent, approval, authorization or order of, registration or filing with, or notice to any governmental authority or court is required under applicable law in connection with the execution, delivery and performance by each applicable Seller of this Agreement, any Transaction Request and the Program Agreements.

(11) Litigation. Except as set forth in Schedule 3 attached hereto, there is no action, proceeding or investigation pending with respect to which either of the Sellers has received service of process or, to the best of each Seller's knowledge threatened against it before any court, administrative agency or other tribunal (A) asserting the invalidity of this Agreement, any Transaction, Transaction Request or any Program Agreement, (B) seeking to prevent the consummation of any of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, any Transaction Request or any Program Agreement, (C) making a claim individually or in an aggregate amount greater than [] (D) which requires filing with the SEC in accordance with the 1934 Act or any rules thereunder or (E) which might materially and adversely affect the validity of the Mortgage Loans or the performance by it of its obligations under, or the validity or enforceability of, this Agreement, any Transaction Request or any Program Agreement.

(12) Material Adverse Change. There has been no material adverse change in the business, operations, financial condition or properties of the Sellers, taken as a whole, since the date set forth in the most recent financial statements supplied to Administrative Agent.

(13) Ownership. Upon payment of the Purchase Price and the filing of the financing statement and delivery of the Mortgage Files to the Custodian and the Custodian's receipt of the related Request for Certification, the Administrative Agent shall become the sole owner of the Purchased Mortgage Loans and related Repurchase Assets for the benefit of the Buyers, free and clear of all liens and encumbrances.

(14) Underwriting Guidelines. The Underwriting Guidelines provided to Administrative Agent are the true and correct Underwriting Guidelines of each Seller.

(15) Taxes. Each Seller has filed all federal income tax returns and all other material tax returns that are required to be filed by it and have paid all taxes due pursuant to such returns or pursuant to any assessment received by it, except for any such taxes as are subject to a Good Faith Dispute. The charges, accruals and reserves on the books of each Seller in respect of taxes and other governmental charges are, in the opinion of such Seller, adequate.

(16) Investment Company. No Seller nor any of its Subsidiaries is an "investment company", or a company "controlled" by an "investment company," within the meaning of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended.

(17) Chief Executive Office; Jurisdiction of Organization. On the date of this Agreement, Quicken Loans' chief executive office is located at 1050 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226-1906. On the date of this Agreement, Quicken Loans' jurisdiction of organization is the state of Michigan. Quicken Loans shall provide Administrative Agent with thirty (30) days' advance notice of any change in Quicken Loans' principal office or place of business or jurisdiction. Quicken Loans has the trade names set forth on the attached Schedule 5. During the preceding five (5) years, Quicken Loans has not been known by or done business under any other name, corporate or fictitious, and has not filed or had filed against it any bankruptcy receivership or similar petitions nor has it made any assignments for the benefit of creditors, except that it has (or had, within such period) the dbas as set forth on the attached Schedule 5. On the date of this Agreement, One Reverse Mortgage's chief executive office is located at 644 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226. Seller's jurisdiction of organization is the State of Delaware. One Reverse shall provide Administrative Agent with thirty (30) days' advance notice of any change in One Reverse's jurisdiction of organization. One Reverse has no other trade names.

(18) Location of Books and Records. The location where each Seller keeps its books and records, including all computer tapes and records relating to the Purchased Mortgage Loans and the related Repurchase Assets is its chief executive office.

(19) Adjusted Tangible Net Worth. On the date of this Agreement, Quicken Loans' Adjusted Tangible Net Worth is not less than the threshold set forth in Section 2.1 of the Pricing Side Letter.

(20) ERISA. Each Plan to which each of the Sellers or its Subsidiaries make direct contributions, and, to the knowledge of Sellers, each other Plan and each Multiemployer Plan, is in compliance in all material respects with, and has been administered in all material respects in compliance with, the applicable provisions of ERISA, the Code and any other federal or state law.

(21) Adverse Selection. Neither Seller has selected the Purchased Mortgage Loans in a manner so as to adversely affect Buyers' interests.

(22) Agreements. No Seller nor any Subsidiary of any Seller is a party to any agreement, instrument, or indenture or subject to any restriction materially and adversely affecting its business, operations, assets or financial condition, except as disclosed in the financial statements described in Section 13(a)(5) hereof. No Seller nor any Subsidiary of any Seller is in default in the performance, observance or fulfillment of any of the obligations, covenants or conditions contained in any agreement, instrument, or indenture which default could have a material adverse effect on the business, operations, properties, or financial condition of Sellers as a whole. No holder of any Indebtedness of any Seller or of any of its Subsidiaries has given notice of any asserted material default thereunder.

(23) Other Indebtedness. All Indebtedness (other than Indebtedness evidenced by this Agreement) of Sellers existing on the date hereof is listed on Exhibit J hereto (the "Existing Indebtedness").

(24) Agency Approvals. With respect to each Agency Security and to the extent necessary, Quicken Loans is an FHA Approved Mortgagee and a VA Approved Lender and One Reverse is an FHA Approved Mortgagee. Quicken Loans is also approved by Fannie Mae as an approved lender and Freddie Mac as an approved seller/servicer, and, to the extent necessary, approved by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development pursuant to Sections 203 and 211 of the National Housing Act. In each such case, each Seller is in good standing, with no event having occurred or such Seller having any reason whatsoever to believe or suspect will occur prior to the issuance of the Agency Security or the consummation of the Take-Out Commitment, as the case may be, including, without limitation, a change in insurance coverage which would either make a Seller unable to comply with the eligibility requirements for maintaining all such applicable approvals or require notification to the relevant Agency or to HUD, FHA or VA. Should a Seller for any reason cease to possess all such applicable approvals, or should notification to the relevant Agency or to HUD, FHA or VA be required, Sellers shall so notify Administrative Agent immediately in writing. Each Seller has adequate financial standing, servicing facilities, procedures and experienced personnel necessary for the sound servicing of mortgage loans of the same types as may from time to time constitute Mortgage Loans sold by it to Administrative Agent hereunder and in accordance with Accepted Servicing Practices.

(25) No Reliance. Each Seller has made its own independent decisions to enter into the Program Agreements and each Transaction and as to whether such Transaction is appropriate and proper for it based upon its own judgment and upon advice from such advisors (including without limitation, legal counsel and accountants) as it has deemed necessary. Neither Seller is relying upon any advice from Administrative Agent or Buyers as to any aspect of the Transactions, including without limitation, the legal, accounting or tax treatment of such Transactions.

(26) Plan Assets. No Seller is an employee benefit plan as defined in Section 3 of Title I of ERISA, or a plan described in Section 4975(e)(1) of the Code, and the Purchased Mortgage Loans are not "plan assets" within the meaning of 29 CFR §2510.3 101 as amended by Section 3(42) of ERISA, in a Seller's hands, and transactions by or with a Seller are not subject to any foreign, state or local statute regulating investments or fiduciary obligations with respect to governmental plans within the meaning of Section 3(32) of ERISA or church plans within the meaning of Section 3(33) of ERISA.

(27) No Prohibited Persons. No Seller nor any of its Affiliates, officers, directors, partners or members, is an entity or person: (i) that is listed in the annex to, or is otherwise subject to the provisions of Executive Order 13224 issued on September 24, 2001 ("EO13224"); (ii) whose name appears on the most current "List of Specially Designated National and Blocked Persons" (https://sanctionssearch.ofac.treas.gov/) maintained by the U.S. Department of the Treasury's Office of Foreign Assets Control ("OFAC") (or to any Seller's knowledge, 50 percent or greater owned or controlled by such entities or persons); (iii) who commits, threatens to commit or supports "terrorism", as that term is defined in EO13224; or (iv) who is otherwise affiliated with any entity or person listed above (any and all parties or persons described in clauses (i) through (iv) above are herein referred to as a "Prohibited Person").

b. With respect to every Purchased Mortgage Loan, each Seller represents and warrants to Administrative Agent and Buyers as of the applicable Purchase Date for any Transaction and each date thereafter that each representation and warranty set forth on Schedule 1 is true and correct.

c. The representations and warranties set forth in this Agreement shall survive transfer of the Purchased Mortgage Loans to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers and to each Buyer and shall continue for so long as the Purchased Mortgage Loans are subject to this Agreement. Upon discovery by Sellers, Servicer or Administrative Agent of any breach of any of the representations or warranties set forth in this Agreement, the party discovering such breach shall promptly give notice of such discovery to the others.

d. Each of Administrative Agent and Buyers, as applicable, represents, warrants and covenants (as applicable) to Sellers that, as of the date hereof and as of each Purchase Date for any Transaction that:

(1) Organization. Licenses and Standing. Each of Administrative Agent and Buyers is duly organized, validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the jurisdiction of its organization and has all licenses necessary to carry on its business as now being conducted;

(2) Due Authority. Each of Administrative Agent and Buyers has the full power and authority to perform, and to enter into and consummate, all transactions contemplated by this Agreement; Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers and each Buyer has the full power and authority to purchase and hold each Mortgage Loan;

(3) No Conflict. Neither the acquisition of the Mortgage Loans by Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers or any Buyer pursuant to this Agreement, the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby, nor the fulfillment of or compliance with the terms and conditions of this Agreement, will conflict with or result in a material breach of any of the terms, conditions or provisions of Administrative Agent's or any Buyer's charter or by-laws or result in a material breach of any legal restriction or any material agreement or instrument to which Administrative Agent or such Buyer is now a party or by which it is bound, or constitute a material default or result in an acceleration under any of the foregoing, or result in the violation of any material law, rule, regulation, order, judgment or decree to which Administrative Agent or such Buyer or its property is subject;

(4) No Pending Litigation. There is no action, suit, proceeding, investigation or litigation pending which would materially and adversely affect the ability of Administrative Agent or any Buyer to enter into this Agreement or to perform its obligations hereunder; and

(5) No Consent Required. No consent, approval, authorization or order of any court or governmental agency or body is required for the execution, delivery and performance by Administrative Agent or any Buyer of or compliance by Administrative Agent or any Buyer with this Agreement or the consummation of the Transactions contemplated by this Agreement, or if required, such consent, approval, authorization or order has been obtained prior to the related Purchase Date.

Each Seller acknowledges and agrees that such Seller's sole remedy for a breach of a representation and warranty of the Administrative Agent and Buyers hereunder shall be to repurchase all Mortgage Loans subject to Transactions hereunder at the Repurchase Price.

14. Covenants

Each Seller covenants with Administrative Agent and Buyers that, during the term of this facility:

a. Financial and other Unique Covenants. Quicken Loans shall comply with all financial covenants set forth in Section 2 of the Pricing Side Letter.

c. Litigation. Each Seller will promptly, and in any event within sixty (60) days after service of process on any of the following, give to Administrative Agent notice of all litigation, actions, suits, arbitrations, investigations (including, without limitation, any of the foregoing which are threatened or pending) or other legal or arbitrable proceedings affecting such Seller or any of its Subsidiaries or affecting any of the Property of any of them before any Governmental Authority that (i) questions or challenges the validity or enforceability of any of the Program Agreements or any action to be taken in connection with the transactions contemplated hereby, (ii) makes a claim individually or in an aggregate amount greater than [] or (iii) which, individually or in the aggregate, if adversely determined, could be reasonably likely to have a Material Adverse Effect. Each Seller will promptly provide notice of any judgment, which with the passage of time, could cause an Event of Default hereunder. Any notice under this Section 14(c) shall be deemed to automatically update Schedule 3.

d. Prohibition of Fundamental Changes. Subject to the provisions set forth above in the definition of "Change in Control," no Seller shall, without Administrative Agent's prior written consent, enter into any transaction of merger or consolidation if the result thereof would be a Change in Control, nor shall Quicken Loans liquidate, wind up or dissolve itself (or suffer any liquidation, winding up or dissolution).

f. Servicer; Asset Tape. Upon the occurrence of any of the following (a) the occurrence and continuation of an Event of Default, (b) the fifth (5^{th}) Business Day of each month, or (c) upon the written request of Administrative Agent, Sellers shall cause each Servicer to provide to Administrative Agent, electronically, in a format mutually acceptable to Administrative Agent and Sellers, an Asset Tape by no later than the Reporting Date. Sellers shall not cause the Mortgage Loans to be serviced by any servicer other than a servicer expressly approved in writing by Administrative Agent, which approval shall be deemed granted by Administrative Agent with respect to Sellers and any Person within the definition of Servicer with the execution of this Agreement.

g. Insurance. One or both of the Sellers or their Affiliates will continue to maintain, for Sellers, insurance coverage with respect to employee dishonesty, forgery or alteration, theft, disappearance and destruction, robbery and safe burglary, property (other than money and securities) and computer fraud in an aggregate amount acceptable to Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac and GNMA, to the extent a Seller sells Mortgage Loans to such Agency.

h. No Adverse Claims. Each Seller warrants and will defend, and shall cause any Servicer to defend, the right, title and interest of Administrative Agent and Buyers in and to all Purchased Mortgage Loans and the related Repurchase Assets against all adverse claims and demands (other than any claim or demand related to any act or omission of Administrative Agent or Buyers, which claim or demand does not arise out of or relate to any breach or potential breach of a representation or warranty by such Seller under this Agreement).

i. Assignment. Except as permitted herein, neither Sellers nor any Servicer shall sell, assign, transfer or otherwise dispose of, or grant any option with respect to, or pledge, hypothecate or grant a security interest in or lien on or otherwise encumber (except pursuant to the Program Agreements), any of the Purchased Mortgage Loans or any interest therein, provided that this Section shall not prevent any transfer of Purchased Mortgage Loans in accordance with the Program Agreements.

j. Security Interest. Each Seller shall do all things necessary to preserve the Purchased Mortgage Loans and the related Repurchase Assets so that they remain subject to a first priority perfected security interest hereunder. Without limiting the foregoing, each Seller will comply in all material respects with all rules, regulations and other laws of any Governmental Authority and cause the Purchased Mortgage Loans or the related Repurchase Assets to comply in all material respects with all applicable rules, regulations and other laws. Neither Seller will allow any default for which such Seller is responsible to occur under any Purchased Mortgage Loans or the related Repurchase Assets or any Program Agreement and each Seller shall fully perform or cause to be performed when due all of its material obligations under any Purchased Mortgage Loans or the related Repurchase Assets and any Program Agreement.

k. Records.

(1) Each Seller shall collect and maintain or cause to be collected and maintained all Records relating to the Purchased Mortgage Loans in accordance with industry custom and practice for assets similar to the Purchased Mortgage Loans, including those maintained pursuant to the preceding subparagraph, and all such Records shall be in Custodian's possession unless Administrative Agent otherwise approves. Sellers will exercise commercially reasonable efforts to not allow any such papers, records or files that are an original or an only copy to leave Custodian's possession, except for individual items removed in connection with servicing a specific Mortgage Loan, in which event Sellers will obtain or cause to be obtained a receipt from a financially responsible person for any such paper, record or file. Sellers or the Servicer of the Purchased Mortgage Loans will maintain all such Records not in the possession of Custodian in good and complete condition in accordance with industry practices for assets similar to the Purchased Mortgage Loans and Sellers shall exercise commercially reasonable efforts to preserve such Records against loss.

(2) For so long as Administrative Agent has an interest in or lien on any Purchased Mortgage Loan, Sellers will hold or cause to be held all related Records in trust for Administrative Agent. Sellers shall notify, or cause to be notified, every other party holding any such Records of the interests and liens in favor of Administrative Agent granted hereby.

(3) Upon reasonable advance written notice from Custodian or Administrative Agent, Sellers shall (x) make any and all such Records available to Custodian, Administrative Agent to examine any such Records, either by its own officers or employees, or by agents or contractors, or both, and make copies of all or any portion thereof, and (y) permit Administrative Agent or its authorized agents to discuss the affairs, finances and accounts of each Seller with its chief operating officer and chief financial officer and to discuss the affairs, finances and accounts of such Seller with its independent certified public accountants (which shall only be done in the presence of such Seller's controller or other officer designated by such Seller, which Person such Seller shall make available to Administrative Agent).

l. Books. Each Seller shall keep or cause to be kept in reasonable detail books and records of account of its assets and business and shall clearly reflect therein the transfer of Purchased Mortgage Loans to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers.

m. Approvals. Each Seller shall maintain all licenses, permits or other approvals necessary for such Seller to conduct its business and to perform its obligations under the Program Agreements, and such Seller shall conduct its business strictly in accordance with applicable law in all material respects.

n. Material Change in Business. There shall not be (i) any material change by Sellers, taken as a whole, in the nature of their business as carried on at the date hereof, or (ii) any change in the Executive Management of Quicken Loans, in each case, unless Administrative Agent otherwise consents to such Seller's written request therefor.

o. Distributions. During the occurrence and continuance of an Event of Default related to Sellers' failure to comply with Sections 2.1, 2.3 or 2.4 of the Pricing Side Letter, Quicken Loans shall not (absent Administrative Agent's prior written consent) pay any dividends with respect to any capital stock or other equity interests in such entity, whether now or hereafter outstanding, or make any other distribution in respect thereof, either directly or indirectly, whether in cash or property or in obligations of either Seller (any such payment a "Prohibited Distribution"); provided that (i) Quicken Loans may pay dividends or make any such other distribution solely in connection with the payment of taxes attributable to the preceding fiscal year, so long as such payment or distribution does not, after giving effect thereto, result in an Event of Default, and (ii) this Section 14(o) shall not restrict dividends or distributions by One Reverse unless there shall have occurred and is continuing a One Reverse Termination Trigger Event pursuant to clause (6) of the definition thereof or One Reverse ceases to be owned wholly and directly by Quicken Loans, in which case One Reverse shall not make any Prohibited Distribution while it is a party to this Agreement and the Program Agreements.

p. Applicable Law. Each Seller shall comply in all material respects with the requirements of all applicable laws, rules, regulations and orders of any Governmental Authority.

q. Existence. Subject to the provisions set forth in the definition of "Change in Control," each Seller shall preserve and maintain its legal existence.

r. Chief Executive Office; Jurisdiction of Organization. No Seller shall move its chief executive office from the address referred to in Section 13(a)(17) or change its jurisdiction of organization from the jurisdiction referred to in Section 13(a)(17) unless it shall have provided Administrative Agent thirty (30) days' prior written notice of such change.

s. Taxes. Each Seller shall pay and discharge all taxes, assessments and governmental charges or levies imposed on it or on its income or profits or on any of its property prior to the date on which penalties attach thereto, except for any such tax, assessment, charge or levy the payment of which is the subject of a Good Faith Dispute.

t. Transactions with Affiliates. No Seller will enter into any transaction, including, without limitation, any purchase, sale, lease or exchange of property or the rendering of any service, with any Affiliate unless such transaction is (1) between One Reverse (while it is a Seller) and Quicken Loans, or (2) upon fair and reasonable terms no less favorable to such Seller than it would obtain in a comparable arm's length transaction with a Person which is not an Affiliate, nor shall any Seller make a payment that is otherwise prohibited by this Agreement to any Affiliate; provided, that this clause shall not apply to the extent that such transaction(s) consist of a lending arrangement with such Affiliate where the total amount of such transactions are, when made, less than the amount that such Seller could have otherwise distributed as a dividend to all of its shareholders without such distribution (after giving effect thereto) resulting in an Event of Default.

u. Guarantees. No Seller shall create, incur, assume or suffer to exist any Guarantees, except (i) those to which Administrative Agent consents in writing, (ii) those reflected in such Seller's financial statements or notes thereto, to the extent so reflected, (iii) those by one Seller for the benefit of the other Seller, (iv) those disclosed in Exhibit J, as updated from time to time, and (v) those Guarantees in addition to those permitted by clause (i), (ii), (iii) or (iv) to the extent that they do not exceed [] in the aggregate for both Sellers combined.

v. Indebtedness. No Seller shall incur any additional Indebtedness in an amount greater than [] combined (other than (i) the Existing Indebtedness in amounts not to exceed the amounts specified on Exhibit J hereto, (ii) Guarantees permitted under Section 14(u) and (iii) usual and customary accounts payable for a mortgage company) without the prior written consent of Administrative Agent, which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld or delayed if the additional Indebtedness would not cause a violation of any of such Seller's covenants in this Agreement. Notwithstanding the restrictions in the immediately preceding sentence, it is understood and agreed that each Seller shall be permitted to: (1) increase the amount of its existing credit under its Existing Indebtedness and/or replace, refinance (including with a different lender), renew or extend such credit; (2) incur additional indebtedness with another lender secured by mortgage loans or mortgage servicing rights (and related advances); and/or (3) enter into another reverse repurchase facility similar to the one being provided under this Agreement; provided, however, that any such action contemplated by this sentence shall not cause a violation of any of such Seller's covenants in this Agreement.

w. Hedging. Quicken Loans has entered into Interest Rate Protection Agreements with respect to the Non-Agency QM Mortgage Loan and Conforming Mortgage Loans.

x. True and Correct Information. All information, reports, exhibits, schedules, financial statements or certificates of each Seller, any Affiliate thereof or any of their officers furnished to Administrative Agent hereunder and during Administrative Agent's diligence of each Seller are and will be true and complete in all material respects and do not omit to disclose any material facts necessary to make the statements herein or therein, in light of the circumstances in which they are made, not misleading. All required financial statements, information and reports delivered by each Seller to Administrative Agent pursuant to this Agreement shall be prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP, or, if applicable, to SEC filings, the appropriate SEC accounting regulations.

y. Agency Approvals; Servicing. Quicken Loans shall maintain its status with Fannie Mae as an approved lender and Freddie Mac as an approved seller/servicer, in each case in good standing. Sellers shall service all Purchased Mortgage Loans which are Committed Mortgage Loans in accordance, in all material respects, with the applicable agency guide, if any. Should Quicken Loans, for any reason, cease to possess all applicable Agency approvals, or should notification to the relevant Agency or to HUD, FHA or VA be required, Quicken Loans shall so notify Administrative Agent immediately in writing. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, Quicken Loans shall take all necessary action to maintain all of its required Agency approvals at all times during the term of this Agreement and each outstanding Transaction; provided, that, it shall not be a breach of this Section 14(y) should (1) Quicken Loans no longer maintain an applicable Agency's approval so long as the failure to maintain any Agency approvals is an independent decision of Quicken Loans and in no way is attributed to a disapproval or other adverse action taken against Quicken Loans specifically (as opposed to all approved lenders generally) by the applicable Agency, and (2) Quicken Loans maintain at least one Agency approval. Each Seller or its Servicer has adequate financial standing, servicing facilities, procedures and experienced personnel necessary for the sound servicing of mortgage loans of the same types as may from time to time constitute Mortgage Loans sold by it to Administrative Agent hereunder and in accordance with Accepted Servicing Practices.

z. Take-out Payments. With respect to each Committed Mortgage Loan, Sellers shall arrange that all payments under the related Take-Out Commitment shall be paid directly to Administrative Agent at the account set forth in Section 9 hereof, or to an account approved by Administrative Agent in writing prior to such payment. With respect to any Agency Take-Out Commitment, if applicable, (1) with respect to the wire transfer instructions as set forth in Freddie Mac Form 987 (Wire Transfer Authorization for a Cash Warehouse Delivery) such wire transfer instructions are identical to Administrative Agent's wire instructions or Administrative Agent has approved such wire transfer instructions in writing in its sole good faith discretion, or (2) the Payee Number set forth on Fannie Mae Form 1068 (Fixed-Rate, Graduated-Payment, or Growing-Equity Mortgage Loan Schedule) or Fannie Mae Form 1069 (Adjustable-Rate Mortgage Loan Schedule), as applicable, is identical to the Payee Number that has been identified by Administrative Agent in writing as Administrative Agent's Payee Number or Administrative Agent has previously approved the related Payee Number in writing in its sole good faith discretion; with respect to any Take-Out Commitment with an Agency, the applicable agency documents shall list Administrative Agent as sole subscriber, unless otherwise agreed to in writing by Administrative Agent, in Administrative Agent's sole discretion.

aa. No Pledge. Except pursuant to this Agreement, no Seller shall pledge, transfer or convey any security interest in the Collection Account to any Person (other than Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers) without the express written consent of Administrative Agent.

bb. Plan Assets. No Seller shall be an employee benefit plan as defined in Section 3 of Title I of ERISA, or a plan described in Section 4975(e)(1) of the Code and no Seller shall use "plan assets" within the meaning of 29 CFR §2510.3 101, as amended by Section 3(42) of ERISA to engage in this Agreement or any Transaction hereunder. Transactions by or with any Seller shall not be subject to any foreign, state or local statute regulating investments of or fiduciary obligations with respect to governmental plans within the meaning of Section 3(32) of ERISA or church plans within the meaning of Section 3(33) of ERISA.

cc. Furnishing of Financial Information. Each Seller shall furnish to Administrative Agent promptly, copies of any material financial information relating to such Seller's Indebtedness that is not otherwise required to be provided by such Seller hereunder which, from and after the date of this Agreement, is given to such Seller's lenders, with appropriate time permitted for such Seller to redact any information that is confidential and/or unrelated to the financial information.

dd. Preservation of Rights. Each Seller shall preserve and maintain all of its material rights, privileges, licenses and franchises, except for transactions that do not constitute a Change in Control or would otherwise cause a Default.

ee. Reserved.

ff. Reserved.

gg. Reserved.

hh. No Prohibited Persons. No Seller nor any of its officers, directors, partners or members shall be an entity or person: (i) whose name appears on the most current "List of Specially Designated National and Blocked Persons" (https://sanctionssearch.ofac.treas.gov/) maintained by OFAC (or to any Seller's knowledge, 50 percent or greater owned or controlled by such entities or persons); or (ii) who is otherwise a Prohibited Person.

ii. Sharing of Information. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, the Sellers shall allow the Administrative Agent and Buyers to exchange information related to any Seller's collateral and the performance of its financing arrangements with such Seller's lenders and the collateral subject to those agreements and the Sellers shall permit each of its lenders to share such information with the Administrative Agent and Buyers.

15. Events of Default

a. Payment Failure. Failure of any Seller to (i) make any scheduled payment of Price Differential or Repurchase Price under the terms of this Agreement, (ii) make any payment due under any other warehouse and security agreement evidencing or securing Indebtedness of either Seller to Administrative Agent or to any Affiliate of Administrative Agent, when due, after expiration of any applicable grace period thereunder, (iii) cure any Margin Deficit when due pursuant to Section 6 hereof, (iv) pay any Repurchase Price due following the occurrence of a One Reverse Termination Trigger Event, or (v) make any payment due under the terms of this Agreement not otherwise set forth in clauses (i) through (iv) above within [] following receipt of notice of such failure.

b. Cross Acceleration. Either Seller shall be in default, beyond the expiration of any applicable grace or cure period, under any Indebtedness in excess of [] in the aggregate of Sellers combined, which default results in the acceleration of the maturity of obligations by any other party to or beneficiary with respect to such Indebtedness; provided that an Event of Default arising under this subsection (b) and all consequences thereof shall be annulled, waived and rescinded, automatically and without any action by Administrative Agent, if, within [] after Sellers received notice of such acceleration, (i) the Indebtedness that was the basis for such Event of Default has been discharged, or (ii) the holder or holders thereof have rescinded, annulled or waived the acceleration, notice or action (as the case may be) giving rise to such Event of Default, or (iii) the default that was the basis for such Event of Default has been cured.

c. Assignment. Assignment or attempted assignment by any Seller of this Agreement or any rights hereunder without first obtaining the specific written consent of Administrative Agent, or the granting by any Seller of any security interest, lien or other encumbrances on any Purchased Mortgage Loans to any person other than Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers.

d. Insolvency. An Act of Insolvency shall have occurred with respect to either Seller.

e. Material Adverse Change. Any material adverse change in the Property, business, financial condition or operations of the Sellers, taken as a whole, shall occur, in each case as determined by Administrative Agent in its sole good faith discretion, or any other condition shall exist which, in Administrative Agent's sole good faith discretion, constitutes a material impairment of the Sellers', taken as a whole, ability to perform their obligations under this Agreement or any other Program Agreement.

f. Breach of Specified Representation or Covenant or Obligation. A breach by any Seller in any material respect of any of the representations, warranties or covenants or obligations set forth in Sections 13(a)(1) (Seller Existence), 13(a)(7) (Solvency), 13(a)(12) (Material Adverse Change), 13(a)(19) (Adjusted Tangible Net Worth), 13(a)(23) (Other Indebtedness), 14a (Financial and Other Unique Covenants), 14d (Prohibition of Fundamental Changes), 14q (Existence), 14u (Guarantees), 14v (Indebtedness), 14z (Take-out Payments), 14aa (No Pledge) or 14bb (Plan Assets) of this Agreement.

g. Breach of Non-Financial Representation or Covenant. A breach by any Seller of any other material representation, warranty or covenant set forth in this Agreement (and not otherwise specified in Section 15(f) above) or any other Program Agreement, if such breach is not cured within [] following receipt of written notice of such failure (other than the representations and warranties set forth in Schedule 1, which shall be considered solely for the purpose of determining the Asset Value, the existence of a Margin Deficit and the obligation to repurchase such Mortgage Loan) unless (i) a Seller shall have made any such representations and warranties with knowledge that they were materially false or misleading at the time made, (ii) any such representations and warranties have been determined by Administrative Agent in its sole good faith discretion to be materially false or misleading on a regular basis, or

(iii) Administrative Agent, in its sole good faith discretion, determines that such breach of a material representation, warranty or covenant materially and adversely affects (A) the condition (financial or otherwise) of the Sellers, taken as a whole; or (B) Administrative Agent's determination to enter into this Agreement or Transactions with the Sellers, taken as a whole, then such breach shall constitute an immediate Event of Default and Sellers shall have no cure right hereunder).

h. Change in Control. The occurrence of a Change in Control with respect to Quicken Loans and a failure of Sellers to repurchase all Purchased Mortgage Loans subject to Transactions within [].

i. Failure to Transfer. The applicable Seller fails to transfer the Purchased Mortgage Loans to Administrative Agent for the benefit of the applicable Buyer on the applicable Purchase Date (provided the Administrative Agent, on behalf of the applicable Buyer, has tendered the related Purchase Price). For the avoidance of doubt, a "transfer" will be deemed to have occurred if the Custodian has certified its possession of a Mortgage File or, in the case of Wet-Ink Mortgage Loans, any Mortgage Loan information.

j. Judgment. A final judgment or judgments for the payment of money in excess of [] in the aggregate shall be rendered against any Seller by one or more courts, administrative tribunals or other bodies having jurisdiction and the same shall not be satisfied, discharged (or provision shall not be made for such discharge) or bonded, or a stay of execution thereof shall not be procured, within [] from the date of entry thereof.

k. Government Action. Any Governmental Authority or any person, agency or entity acting or purporting to act under governmental authority shall have taken any action to condemn, seize or appropriate, or to assume custody or control of, all or any substantial part of the Property of Sellers, taken as a whole, or shall have taken any action to displace the Executive Management of Quicken Loans or to materially curtail its authority in the conduct of the business of the Sellers, taken as a whole, or takes any action in the nature of enforcement to remove, limit or restrict the approval of Quicken Loans as an issuer or buyer of Mortgage Loans or securities backed thereby, and such action provided for in this subparagraph k (i) is determined by Administrative Agent in its sole good faith discretion to be materially adverse to Administrative Agent and Buyers taken as a whole, the Sellers, taken as a whole, or the Repurchase Assets, taken as a whole, ability to perform under this Agreement and (ii) shall not have been discontinued or stayed within [].

l. Inability to Perform. A member of any Seller's Executive Management shall admit such Seller's inability to, or its intention not to, perform any of such Seller's Obligations hereunder.

m. Security Interest. This Agreement shall for any reason cease to create a valid, first priority security interest in any material portion of the (i) Purchased Mortgage Loans or (ii) other Repurchase Assets purported to be covered hereby.

n. Financial Statements. Quicken Loans' audited annual financial statements or the notes thereto or other opinions or conclusions stated therein shall be qualified or limited by reference to the status of Quicken Loans as a "going concern" or a reference of similar import.

An Event of Default shall be deemed to be continuing unless expressly waived by Administrative Agent in writing.

16. Remedies Upon Default

In the event that an Event of Default shall have occurred and be continuing:

a. Administrative Agent may, at its option (which option shall be deemed to have been exercised immediately upon the occurrence of an Act of Insolvency of any Seller), declare an Event of Default to have occurred hereunder and, upon the exercise or deemed exercise of such option, the Repurchase Date for each Transaction hereunder shall, if it has not already occurred, be deemed immediately to occur (except that, in the event that the Purchase Date for any Transaction has not yet occurred as of the date of such exercise or deemed exercise, such Transaction shall be deemed immediately canceled). Administrative Agent shall (except upon the occurrence of an Act of Insolvency of any Seller) give written notice to Sellers of the exercise of such option as promptly as practicable.

b. If Administrative Agent exercises or is deemed to have exercised the option referred to in subparagraph (a) of this Section, (i) Sellers' obligations in such Transactions to repurchase all Purchased Mortgage Loans, at the Repurchase Price therefor on the Repurchase Date determined in accordance with subparagraph (a) of this Section, shall thereupon become immediately due and payable, (ii) all Income paid after such exercise or deemed exercise shall be retained by Administrative Agent and applied, in Administrative Agent's sole good faith discretion, to the aggregate unpaid Repurchase Prices for all outstanding Transactions and any other amounts owing by Sellers hereunder, and (iii) Sellers shall immediately deliver to Administrative Agent the Mortgage Files relating to any Purchased Mortgage Loans subject to such Transactions then in Sellers' possession or control.

c. Administrative Agent also shall have the right to obtain physical possession, and to commence an action to obtain physical possession, of (i) all Records of each Seller relating to the Purchased Mortgage Loans and (ii) all documents relating to the Purchased Mortgage Loans (including, without limitation, any legal, credit or servicing files specifically relating to the Purchased Mortgage Loans), which Records and documents are then or may thereafter come in to the possession of such Seller or any third party acting for such Seller; provided, however, that if such Records and documents relate to mortgage loans other than the Purchased Mortgage Loans Administrative Agent shall have a right to obtain copies of such Records and documents rather than the originals. To obtain physical possession of any Purchased Mortgage Loans held by Custodian, Administrative Agent shall present to Custodian a Trust Receipt and Certification. Administrative Agent shall be entitled to specific performance of all agreements of such Seller contained in this Agreement.

d. Administrative Agent shall have the right to direct all servicers then servicing any Purchased Mortgage Loans to remit all collections thereon to Administrative Agent, and if any such payments are received by a Seller, such Seller shall not commingle the amounts received with other funds of either Seller and shall promptly pay them over to Administrative Agent. Administrative Agent shall also have the right to terminate any one or all of the servicers then servicing any Purchased Mortgage Loans with or without cause. In addition, Administrative Agent shall have the right to immediately sell the Purchased Mortgage Loans and liquidate all Repurchase Assets. Such disposition of Purchased Mortgage Loans may be, at Administrative Agent's option, on either a servicing released or a servicing retained basis. Administrative Agent shall not be required to give any warranties as to the Purchased Mortgage Loans with respect to any such disposition thereof. Administrative Agent may specifically disclaim or modify any warranties of title or the like relating to the Purchased Mortgage Loans. The foregoing procedure for disposition of the Purchased Mortgage Loans and liquidation of the Repurchase Assets shall not be considered to adversely affect the commercial reasonableness of any sale thereof. Administrative Agent shall be entitled to place the Purchased Mortgage Loans in a pool for issuance of mortgage backed securities at the then prevailing price for such securities and to sell such securities for such prevailing price in the open market. Administrative Agent shall also be entitled to sell any or all of such Mortgage Loans individually for the prevailing price. Administrative Agent shall also be entitled, in its sole discretion to elect, in lieu of selling all or a portion of such Purchased Mortgage Loans, to give the Sellers credit for such Purchased Mortgage Loans and the Repurchase Assets in an amount equal to the Asset Value of the Purchased Mortgage Loans against the aggregate unpaid Repurchase Price and any other amounts owing by the Sellers hereunder.

e. Upon the happening of one or more Events of Default, Administrative Agent may apply any proceeds from the liquidation of the Purchased Mortgage Loans and Repurchase Assets to the Repurchase Prices hereunder and all other Obligations in the manner Administrative Agent deems appropriate in its sole discretion.

f. Sellers shall be liable to Administrative Agent and each Buyer for (i) the amount of all reasonable legal or other expenses (including, without limitation, all costs and expenses of Administrative Agent and each Buyer in connection with the enforcement of this Agreement or any other agreement evidencing a Transaction, whether in action, suit or litigation or bankruptcy, insolvency or other similar proceeding affecting creditors' rights generally, further including, without limitation, the reasonable fees and expenses of counsel incurred in connection with or as a result of an Event of Default) and (ii) and any other out-of-pocket loss, damage, cost or expense arising or resulting from the occurrence of an Event of Default, including without limitation, reasonable costs under the circumstances incurred with the intention to mitigate losses, in respect of a Transaction.

g. To the extent permitted by applicable law, Sellers shall be liable to Administrative Agent and each Buyer for interest on any amounts owing by Sellers hereunder, from the date Sellers become liable for such amounts hereunder until such amounts are (i) paid in full by Sellers or (ii) satisfied in full by the exercise of Administrative Agent's and Buyers' rights hereunder. Interest on any sum payable by Sellers under this Section 16(g) shall be at a rate equal to the Post-Default Rate.

h. Administrative Agent shall have, in addition to its rights hereunder, any rights otherwise available to it under any other agreement or applicable law.

i. Administrative Agent may exercise one or more of the remedies available to Administrative Agent immediately upon the occurrence of an Event of Default and, except to the extent otherwise expressly provided in this Agreement (including, without limitation, as provided in subsections (a) and (d) of this Section), at any time thereafter without notice to Sellers. All rights and remedies arising under this Agreement as amended or restated from time to time hereunder are cumulative and not exclusive of any other rights or remedies which Administrative Agent may have.

j. Administrative Agent may enforce its rights and remedies hereunder without prior judicial process or hearing, and each Seller hereby expressly waives, to the extent permitted by applicable law (and absent any willful misconduct or gross negligence of Administrative Agent), any defenses a Seller might otherwise have to require Administrative Agent to enforce its rights by judicial process. Each Seller also waives, to the extent permitted by applicable law (and absent any willful misconduct or gross negligence of Administrative Agent), any defense (other than a defense of payment or performance) a Seller might otherwise have arising from the use of nonjudicial process in connection with the disposition of all or any portion of the Repurchase Assets, or from any other election of remedies. Each Seller recognizes that nonjudicial remedies are consistent with the usages of the trade, are responsive to commercial necessity and are the result of a bargain at arm's length.

k. Administrative Agent shall have the right to perform reasonable due diligence with respect to each Seller and the Mortgage Loans, which review shall be at the expense of Sellers (except as otherwise expressly provided herein).

l. With respect to any Second Lien Mortgage Loan, Administrative Agent shall have the right to exercise any rights available to the Sellers with respect to any Take-Out Commitment.

17. Reports

a. Notices. Sellers shall furnish to Administrative Agent (x) promptly, copies of any material and adverse notices (including, without limitation, notices of defaults, breaches, potential defaults or potential breaches), (y) immediately, notice of the occurrence of any Event of Default hereunder or default or breach by a Seller or Servicer of any obligation under any Program Agreement or any material contract or agreement of a Seller or Servicer or the occurrence of any event or circumstance that such party reasonably expects has resulted in, or will, with the passage of time, result in, a Material Adverse Effect or an Event of Default or such a default or breach by such party and (z) the following:

(1) as soon as available and in any event within forty-five (45) calendar days after the end of each calendar month, the unaudited consolidated balance sheet of Quicken Loans and its consolidated Subsidiaries as at the end of such period and the related unaudited consolidated statements of income and retained earnings and of cash flows for Quicken Loans and its consolidated Subsidiaries for such period and the portion of the fiscal year through the end of such period, accompanied by a certificate of a Responsible Officer of Quicken Loans, which certificate shall state that said consolidated financial statements fairly present in all material respects the consolidated financial condition and results of operations of Quicken Loans and its consolidated Subsidiaries in accordance with GAAP, consistently applied, as at the end of, and for, such period (subject to normal fiscal year-end and fiscal quarter-end adjustments);

(2) as soon as available and in any event within ninety (90) days after the end of each fiscal year of Quicken Loans, the consolidated balance sheet of Quicken Loans and its consolidated Subsidiaries as at the end of such fiscal year and the related consolidated statements of income and retained earnings and of cash flows for Quicken Loans and its consolidated Subsidiaries for such year, setting forth in each case in comparative form the figures for the previous year, accompanied by an opinion thereon of independent certified public accountants of recognized national standing, which opinion and the scope of audit shall be acceptable to Administrative Agent in its sole discretion, shall have no "going concern" qualification and shall state that said consolidated financial statements fairly present the consolidated financial condition and results of operations of Quicken Loans and its respective consolidated Subsidiaries as at the end of, and for, such fiscal year in accordance with GAAP;

(3) such other prepared statements that Administrative Agent may reasonably request;

(4) if applicable, copies of any 10-Ks, 10-Qs, registration statements and other "corporate finance" SEC filings (other than 8-Ks) by any Seller, within five (5) Business Days of their filing with the SEC; provided, that, such Seller will provide Administrative Agent with a copy of the annual 10-K filed with the SEC by such Seller, no later than ninety (90) days after the end of the year;

(5) as soon as available, and in any event within thirty (30) days of receipt, copies of relevant portions of all final written Agency, FHA, VA, Governmental Authority and investor audits, examinations, evaluations, monitoring reviews and reports of its operations (including those prepared on a contract basis) which provide for or relate to (i) material corrective action required, (ii) material sanctions proposed, imposed or required, including without limitation notices of defaults, notices of termination of approved status, notices of imposition of supervisory agreements or interim servicing agreements, and notices of probation, suspension, or non-renewal, or (iii) to the extent reasonably requested by the Administrative Agent, "report cards," "grades" or other classifications of the quality of a Seller's operations;

(6) from time to time such other information regarding the financial condition, operations, or business of the Sellers as Administrative Agent may reasonably request; provided that (A) any such request shall be made in writing and shall provide the applicable Seller at least ten (10) business days to provide such requested information, and (B) if a Seller objects to the provision to Administrative Agent of any such requested information, Administrative Agent and the applicable Seller shall work in good faith to resolve any such objection, and Sellers' failure to provide such information before such objection is resolved shall not be a breach of this Section 17.a.(6) or result in a Default or Event of Default under this Agreement;

(7) as soon as reasonably possible, and in any event within thirty (30) days after a Responsible Officer of any Seller has knowledge of the occurrence of any Event of Termination, stating the particulars of such Event of Termination in reasonable detail;

(8) as soon as reasonably possible, notice of any of the following events:

(a) material change in the insurance coverage required of Sellers or their Affiliates, Servicer or any other Person pursuant to any Program Agreement, with a copy of evidence of same attached;

(b) any material dispute, litigation, investigation, proceeding or suspension between any Seller or Servicer, on the one hand, and any Governmental Authority or any Person;

(c) any material change in accounting policies or financial reporting practices of Quicken Loans or Servicer;

(d) with respect to any Purchased Mortgage Loan(s) with a combined aggregate unpaid principal balance of at least $15,000,000, promptly upon any Seller becoming aware during the normal course of its business that the underlying Mortgaged Property has been damaged by waste, fire, earthquake or earth movement, windstorm, flood, tornado or other casualty, or otherwise damaged so as to affect materially (in a combined aggregate amount of at least $5,000,000) and adversely the value of such Purchased Mortgaged Loan(s);

(e) any material issues raised upon examination of any Seller or such Seller's facilities by any Governmental Authority;

(f) any material default or non-renewal or termination in any material Indebtedness of any Seller; provided that such Seller shall give Administrative Agent notice of all Indebtedness (other than Indebtedness evidenced by this Agreement) of such Seller existing as of the date of, and through the disclosure in, the Officer's Compliance Certificate required by Section 17(b); provided further that any disclosure pursuant to this Section 17(a)(8)(f) shall automatically update Exhibit J to this Agreement;

(g) promptly upon any Seller becoming aware during the normal course of its business of (i) any default related to any Repurchase Asset, or (ii) any lien or security interest (other than security interests created hereby, by the Mortgage or related documents or by the other Program Agreements) on, or claim asserted against, any Purchased Mortgage Loans that, collectively with respect to clauses (i) and (ii) combined, are with respect to any Purchased Mortgage Loan(s) with an aggregate unpaid principal balance of at least $15,000,000 and that has a material (in an aggregate amount of at least $2,000,000) and adverse effect on the value of such Purchased Mortgaged Loan(s);

(h) any other event, circumstance or condition that has resulted, or would reasonably be expected to result, in a Material Adverse Effect with respect to Sellers, taken as a whole, or Servicer;

(i) a summary, as of the end of each month of the total dollar amount and aggregate loan count of (i) each Seller's outstanding portfolio of pending repurchase/indemnification requests relating to representation and warranty breaches and (ii) the loans repurchased to date in the current fiscal year;

(j) the occurrence of any material employment dispute that would reasonably be expected to result in a Material Adverse Effect and a description of the strategy for resolving such dispute;

(k) the occurrence of any One Reverse Termination Trigger Event; and

(9) as soon as available and in any event at least three (3) Business Days' prior, notice of the intention of One Reverse to liquidate, wind up or dissolve itself.

b. Officer's Certificates. Sellers will furnish to Administrative Agent, at the time Sellers furnish each set of financial statements pursuant to Section 17(a)(1) or (2) above, an Officer's Compliance Certificate in the form of Exhibit A to the Pricing Side Letter.

c. Mortgage Loan Reports. Sellers will furnish to Administrative Agent monthly electronic Mortgage Loan performance data, including, without limitation, delinquency reports and volume information, broken down by product (i.e., delinquency, foreclosure and net charge-off reports).

d. Asset Tape. Sellers shall provide to Administrative Agent, electronically, in a format mutually acceptable to Administrative Agent and Sellers, an Asset Tape by no later than the Reporting Date.

e. Other. Sellers shall deliver to Administrative Agent any other reports or information reasonably requested by Administrative Agent or as otherwise required pursuant to this Agreement.

f. Second Lien Mortgage Loans. The Sellers hereby agree to deliver promptly to Administrative Agent (i) any notice of termination, default by a Seller or material breach by such Seller of the Take-Out Commitment relating to any Second Lien Mortgage Loan, (ii) any notice of the intention of the Take-out Investor not to perform under any Take-Out Commitment relating to any Second Lien Mortgage Loan, (iii) any amendment to a Take-Out Commitment relating to any Second Lien Mortgage Loan; provided that Sellers shall not amend, modify, waive or supplement any Take-Out Commitment relating to any Second Lien Mortgage Loan or the Schwab Purchase Agreement without the consent of the Administrative Agent, which may be granted or withheld in its sole discretion.

18. Repurchase Transactions

a. General. A Buyer may, in its sole election, engage in repurchase transactions (as "seller" thereunder) with any or all of the Purchased Mortgage Loans and/or Repurchase Assets or pledge, hypothecate, assign, transfer or otherwise convey any or all of the Purchased Mortgage Loans and/or Repurchase Assets with a counterparty of Buyers' choice (such transaction, a "Repledge Transaction"). Any Repledge Transaction shall be effected by notice to the Administrative Agent, and shall be reflected on the books and records of the Administrative Agent. No such Repledge Transaction shall relieve Administrative Agent or any Buyer of its obligations under the Program Documents, including, without limitation, its obligation to transfer Purchased Mortgage Loans and Repurchase Assets to Sellers (and not substitutions thereof) pursuant to the terms hereof; provided, that, notwithstanding any such Repledge Transaction by a CP Conduit and notwithstanding anything in the Program Agreements to the contrary, CS Cayman shall be liable for the failure of any CP Conduit to comply with any of its obligations under any of the Program Agreements.

b. Treatment of Repledge Transactions. In furtherance, and not by limitation of, the foregoing, but subject to the remainder of this paragraph b, it is acknowledged that each counterparty under a Repledge Transaction (a "Repledgee"), is a repledgee as contemplated by Sections 9-207 and 9-623 of the UCC (and the relevant Official Comments thereunder). For clarity, Administrative Agent and Buyers acknowledge and agree as follows:

(1) No Waiver. Nothing in this Section 18 shall be deemed to be an actual or implied waiver of any rights of Sellers or obligations of Administrative Agent or Buyers under the Program Agreements, including, without limitation, claims for conversion of any Purchased Mortgage Loans or Repurchase Assets that are not returned to Sellers on the Repurchase Date, claims for breach of any of the Program Agreements and rights to have income on the related Purchased Mortgage Loans credited or paid to, or applied to the obligations of, the applicable Seller pursuant to the Program Agreements.

(2) Specifically Identifiable. The Purchased Mortgage Loans and Repurchase Assets subject to Transactions under this Agreement are specifically identifiable, even after a Repledge Transaction.

(3) Sellers and Repledgees May Deal Directly. Upon an event of default by a Buyer under a Repledge Transaction, and without any interference from the Administrative Agent or the Buyers, the applicable Seller may pay the Repurchase Price with respect to the Purchased Mortgage Loans subject to such Repledge Transaction, directly to the Repledgee on behalf of the applicable Buyer in satisfaction of the applicable Seller's Repurchase Price payment obligations to Administrative Agent and Buyers under the Program Agreements with respect to the Purchased Mortgage Loan subject to such Repledge Transaction, and the Repledgee may, in its sole discretion, release any Purchased Mortgage Loans and Repurchase Assets directly to the applicable Seller on behalf of the applicable Buyers and Administrative Agent in satisfaction of its obligations under the Repledge Transaction; provided, that, such satisfaction shall not be deemed a satisfaction of any obligations related to the Purchased Mortgage Loans not subject to such Repledge Transaction.

(4) Termination of Transaction Upon Tender of Repurchase Price Even if Purchased Mortgage Loans Cannot be Returned. Upon any tender of Repurchase Price in exchange for Purchased Mortgage Loans in accordance with Section 4 hereof, if the Administrative Agent is unable to return any of the Purchased Mortgage Loans (such Mortgage Loans, the "Unreturned Mortgage Loans") in exchange for payment of such Repurchase Price, then, without releasing any other claims Sellers may have against Buyers hereunder, the Repurchase Price on account of such Unreturned Mortgage Loans shall be deemed paid hereunder by means of offset, and no further Price Differential shall accrue with respect thereto.

c. Information Sharing. Administrative Agent and Buyers are each hereby authorized to share any information delivered hereunder with the Repledgee; provided, that, any such Repledgee shall execute a confidentiality agreement reasonably acceptable to Sellers, it being understood that such agreement shall be deemed acceptable by Sellers if it contains terms at least as restrictive as those set forth in Section 32 hereof, and Administrative Agent and Buyers shall reasonably cooperate with Sellers in enforcing such confidentiality agreement for the benefit of Sellers; provided further, that no Seller shall be subject to any additional reporting requirements other than as set forth in the Program Agreements.

d. Right to Return of Purchased Mortgage Loans and Repurchase Assets. For the avoidance of doubt and notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, including, without limitation, any of the provisions of Section 45 hereof, the Administrative Agent and the Buyers covenant and agree that to the extent any Purchased Mortgage Loans or Repurchase Assets are subject to Repledge Transactions, the Sellers' right to obtain the return of such Purchased Mortgage Loans and Repurchase Assets as contemplated hereunder shall not be impaired solely as a result of the performance of any assets that are subject to the same Repledge Transactions that are not subject to this Agreement.

19. Single Agreement

Administrative Agent, Buyers and each Seller acknowledge that, and have entered hereunto, and will enter into each Transaction hereunder, in consideration of and in reliance upon the fact that, all Transactions hereunder constitute a single business and contractual relationship and have been made in consideration of each other. Accordingly, each of Administrative Agent, Buyers and each Seller agrees (i) to perform all of its obligations in respect of each Transaction hereunder, and that a default in the performance of any such obligations shall constitute a default by it in respect of all Transactions hereunder and (ii) that payments, deliveries and other transfers made by either of them in respect of any Transaction shall be deemed to have been made in consideration of payments, deliveries and other transfers in respect of any other Transactions hereunder, and the obligations to make any such payments, deliveries and other transfers may be applied against each other and netted.

20. Notices and Other Communications

Any and all notices (with the exception of Transaction Requests, which shall be delivered via facsimile or email or other electronic transmission only, statements, demands or other communications hereunder may be given by a party to the other by mail, email, facsimile, messenger or otherwise to the address specified below, or so sent to such party at any other place specified in a notice of change of address hereafter received by the other. All notices, demands and requests hereunder may be made orally, to be confirmed promptly in writing, or by other communication as specified in the preceding sentence. In all cases, to the extent that the related individual set forth in the respective "Attention" line is no longer employed by the respective Person, such notice may be given to the attention of a Responsible Officer of the respective Person or to the attention of such individual or individuals as subsequently notified in writing by a Responsible Officer of the respective Person.

21. Entire Agreement; Severability

This Agreement shall supersede any existing agreements between the parties containing general terms and conditions for repurchase transactions. Each provision and agreement herein shall be treated as separate and independent from any other provision or agreement herein and shall be enforceable notwithstanding the unenforceability of any such other provision or agreement.

22. Non assignability

a. Assignments. The Program Agreements are not assignable by any Seller. Subject to Section 37 (Acknowledgment of Assignment and Administration of Repurchase Agreement) and the provisions of this Section 22 (Non assignability) hereof, Administrative Agent and Buyers may from time to time assign all or a portion of their rights and obligations under this Agreement and the Program Agreements if (i) an Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, (ii) such assignment is to an Affiliate of Administrative Agent or (iii) such assignment is to any other Person, with (in respect of this clause (iii) and in the absence of an Event of Default) Seller's prior written consent, not to be unreasonably withheld; provided, however that Administrative Agent shall maintain, solely for this purpose as a non-fiduciary agent of Sellers, for review by Sellers upon written request, a register of assignees and participants (the "Register") and a copy of an executed assignment and acceptance by Administrative Agent, each applicable Buyer and assignee ("Assignment and Acceptance"), specifying the percentage or portion of such rights and obligations assigned. The entries in the Register shall be conclusive absent manifest error, and the Sellers, Administrative Agent and Buyers shall treat each Person whose name is properly recorded in the Register pursuant to the preceding sentence as a Buyer (or Administrative Agent, as applicable) hereunder. Upon such assignment and recordation in the Register and compliance with clause (b) below, (a) such assignee shall be a party hereto and to each Program Agreement to the extent of the percentage or portion set forth in the Assignment and Acceptance, and shall succeed to the applicable rights and obligations of Administrative Agent and Buyers hereunder, as applicable, and (b) Administrative Agent and Buyers shall, to the extent that such rights and obligations have been so assigned by them to either (i) an Affiliate of Administrative Agent which assumes the obligations of Administrative Agent and Buyers, as applicable or (ii) another Person approved by Sellers (such approval not to be unreasonably withheld) which assumes the obligations of Administrative Agent and Buyers, as applicable, be released from its obligations hereunder and under the Program Agreements. Any assignment hereunder shall be deemed a joinder of such assignee as a Buyer hereto. Unless otherwise stated in the Assignment and Acceptance, Sellers shall continue to take directions solely from Administrative Agent unless otherwise notified by Administrative Agent in writing. Administrative Agent and Buyers may distribute to any prospective assignee this Agreement, the other Program Agreements, any document or other information delivered to Administrative Agent and/or Buyers by Sellers; provided, however, that any such prospective assignee shall execute a confidentiality agreement reasonably acceptable to Sellers, it being understood that such agreement shall be deemed acceptable by Sellers if it contains terms at least as restrictive as those set forth in Section 32 hereof, and Administrative Agent and Buyers shall reasonably cooperate with Sellers in enforcing such confidentiality agreement for the benefit of Sellers; provided, further, no Seller shall be subject to any additional reporting requirements other than as set forth in the Program Agreements.

b. Participations. Any Buyer may sell participations to one or more Persons in or to all or a portion of its rights and obligations under this Agreement and under the Program Agreements; provided, however, that (i) such Buyer's obligations under this Agreement and the other Program Agreements shall remain unchanged, (ii) such Buyer shall remain solely responsible to the other parties hereto for the performance of such obligations; and (iii) Sellers shall continue to deal solely and directly with Administrative Agent and/or Buyers in connection with such Buyer's rights and obligations under this Agreement and the other Program Agreements. Administrative Agent and Buyers may distribute to any prospective or actual participant this Agreement, the other Program Agreements any document or other information delivered to Administrative Agent and/or Buyers by Sellers; provided, however, that any such prospective participant shall execute a confidentiality agreement reasonably acceptable to Sellers, it being understood that such agreement shall be deemed acceptable by Sellers if it contains terms substantially similar to those set forth in Section 32 hereof, and Administrative Agent and Buyers shall reasonably cooperate with Sellers in enforcing such confidentiality agreement for the benefit of Sellers; provided, further, no Seller shall be subject to any additional reporting requirements other than as set forth in the Program Agreements.

23. Set-off

In addition to any rights and remedies of the Administrative Agent and Buyers hereunder and by law, the Administrative Agent on behalf of the Buyers shall have the right, without prior notice to Sellers (except for such notice and right to cure as may be specifically provided hereunder in connection with certain Events of Default), any such notice being expressly waived by Sellers to the extent permitted by applicable law, upon any amount becoming due and payable by Sellers hereunder (whether at the stated maturity, by acceleration or otherwise) to set-off and appropriate and apply against such amount due and payable by a Seller hereunder to a Buyer or any of its Affiliates any and all deposits (general or special, time or demand, provisional or final), in any currency, and any other credits, indebtedness or claims, in any currency, in each case whether direct or indirect, absolute or contingent, matured or unmatured, at any time held or owing by or due from Administrative Agent or any Affiliate of Administrative Agent that is the "Administrative Agent" as defined in the Servicing Facility Agreement (but for such Affiliate of Administrative Agent, only until the earlier of (i) the date such Affiliate of Administrative Agent ceases to be the "Administrative Agent" as defined in the Servicing Facility Agreement, and (ii) the date the aggregate outstanding "Repurchase Price" under such Servicing Facility Agreement has been paid in full and all "Transactions" under the Servicing Facility Agreement have terminated) to or for the credit or the account of Sellers. Administrative Agent agrees promptly to notify Sellers after any such set-off and application made by Administrative Agent; provided, that the failure to give such notice shall not affect the validity of such set-off and application.

24. Binding Effect; Governing Law; Jurisdiction

a. This Agreement shall be binding and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto and their respective successors and permitted assigns. Each Seller acknowledges that the obligations of Administrative Agent and Buyers hereunder or otherwise are not the subject of any guaranty by, or recourse to, any direct or indirect parent or other Affiliate of Administrative Agent and Buyers.

THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE CONSTRUED IN ACCORDANCE WITH, AND GOVERNED BY, THE LAW OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, WITHOUT GIVING EFFECT TO THE CONFLICT OF LAWS PRINCIPLES THEREOF.

b. EACH SELLER HEREBY WAIVES TRIAL BY JURY. EACH SELLER HEREBY IRREVOCABLY CONSENTS TO THE EXCLUSIVE JURISDICTION OF ANY COURT OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, OR IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK, ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO THE PROGRAM AGREEMENTS IN ANY ACTION OR PROCEEDING. EACH SELLER HEREBY SUBMITS TO, AND WAIVES ANY OBJECTION IT MAY HAVE TO, EXCLUSIVE PERSONAL JURISDICTION AND VENUE IN THE COURTS OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK AND THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK, WITH RESPECT TO ANY DISPUTES ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO THE PROGRAM AGREEMENTS.

25. No Waivers, Etc.

No express or implied waiver of any Event of Default by either party shall constitute a waiver of any other Event of Default and no exercise of any remedy hereunder by any party shall constitute a waiver of its right to exercise any other remedy hereunder. No modification or waiver of any provision of this Agreement and no consent by any party to a departure herefrom shall be effective unless and until such shall be in writing and duly executed by both of the parties hereto. Without limitation on any of the foregoing, the failure to give a notice pursuant to Section 6(a), 16(a) or otherwise, will not constitute a waiver of any right to do so at a later date.

26. Intent

a. The parties recognize that each Transaction is a "repurchase agreement" as that term is defined in Section 101 of Title 11 of the United States Code, as amended, a "securities contract" as that term is defined in Section 741 of Title 11 of the United States Code, as amended, and a "master netting agreement" as that term is defined in Section 101(38A)(A) of the Bankruptcy Code, that all payments hereunder are deemed "margin payments" or "settlement payments" as defined in Title 11 of the United States Code, and that the pledge of the Repurchase Assets constitutes "a security agreement or other arrangement or other credit enhancement" that is "related to" the Agreement and Transactions hereunder within the meaning of Sections 101(38A)(A), 101(47)(A)(v) and 741(7)(A)(xi) of the Bankruptcy Code. Sellers, Administrative Agent and Buyers further recognize and intend that this Agreement is an agreement to provide financial accommodations and is not subject to assumption pursuant to Bankruptcy Code Section 365(a).

b. Any party's right to liquidate the Purchased Mortgage Loans delivered to it in connection with the Transactions hereunder or to accelerate or terminate this Agreement or otherwise exercise any other remedies pursuant to Section 16 hereof is a contractual right to liquidate, accelerate or terminate such Transaction as described in Bankruptcy Code Sections 555, 559 and 561; any payments or transfers of property made with respect to this Agreement or any Transaction to satisfy a Margin Deficit shall be considered a "margin payment" as such term is defined in Bankruptcy Code Section 741(5).

c. The parties agree and acknowledge that if a party hereto is an "insured depository institution," as such term is defined in the Federal Deposit Insurance Act, as amended ("FDIA"), then each Transaction hereunder is a "qualified financial contract," as that term is defined in FDIA and any rules, orders or policy statements thereunder (except insofar as the type of assets subject to such Transaction would render such definition inapplicable).

d. It is understood that this Agreement constitutes a "netting contract" as defined in and subject to Title IV of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Improvement Act of 1991 ("FDICIA") and each payment entitlement and payment obligation under any Transaction hereunder shall constitute a "covered contractual payment entitlement" or "covered contractual payment obligation", respectively, as defined in and subject to FDICIA (except insofar as one or both of the parties is not a "financial institution" as that term is defined in FDICIA).

e. This Agreement is intended to be a "repurchase agreement" and a "securities contract," within the meaning of Section 101(47), Section 555, Section 559 and Section 741 under the Bankruptcy Code.

f. Each party agrees that this Agreement is intended to create mutuality of obligations among the parties, and as such, the Agreement constitutes a contract which (i) is between all of the parties and (ii) places each party in the same right and capacity.

27. Disclosure Relating to Certain Federal Protections

The parties acknowledge that they have been advised that:

a. in the case of Transactions in which one of the parties is a broker or dealer registered with the SEC under Section 15 of the 1934 Act, the Securities Investor Protection Corporation has taken the position that the provisions of the SIPA do not protect the other party with respect to any Transaction hereunder;

b. in the case of Transactions in which one of the parties is a government securities broker or a government securities dealer registered with the SEC under Section 15C of the 1934 Act, SIPA will not provide protection to the other party with respect to any Transaction hereunder; and

c. in the case of Transactions in which one of the parties is a financial institution, funds held by the financial institution pursuant to a Transaction hereunder are not a deposit and therefore are not insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund, as applicable.

28. Power of Attorney

Each Seller hereby authorizes Administrative Agent to file such financing statement or statements relating to the Repurchase Assets without such Seller's signature thereon as Administrative Agent, at its option, may deem appropriate. Each Seller hereby appoints Administrative Agent as such Seller's agent and attorney-in-fact to execute any such financing statement or statements in such Seller's name and to perform all other acts which Administrative Agent reasonably deems appropriate to perfect and continue its ownership interest in and/or the security interest granted hereby, if applicable, and to protect, preserve and realize upon the Repurchase Assets, including, but not limited to, the right to endorse notes, complete blanks in documents, transfer servicing, and sign assignments on behalf of such Seller as its agent and attorney-in-fact. This agency and power of attorney is coupled with an interest and is irrevocable without Administrative Agent's consent. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the power of attorney hereby granted may be exercised only during the occurrence and continuance of any Default hereunder. Sellers shall pay the filing costs for any financing statement or statements prepared pursuant to this Section 28. In addition the foregoing, each Seller agrees to execute a Power of Attorney in the form of Exhibit E hereto, to be delivered on the date hereof. Such Power of Attorney shall terminate when all obligations under the Program Documents have been satisfied and this Agreement has been terminated.

29. Buyers May Act Through Administrative Agent

Each Buyer has designated the Administrative Agent for the purpose of performing any action hereunder, any such designation, however, shall not relieve any Buyer of any of its rights or obligations under this Agreement.

30. Indemnification; Obligations

a. Sellers agree to hold Administrative Agent, Buyers and each of their respective Affiliates and their officers, directors, employees, agents and advisors (each, an "Indemnified Party") harmless from and indemnify each Indemnified Party (and will reimburse each Indemnified Party as the same is incurred) against any and all third-party liabilities, obligations, losses, damages, penalties, judgments, suits, costs, expenses and disbursements of any kind whatsoever, including, without limitation, reasonable fees and expenses of counsel (collectively, the "Indemnified Amounts") of any kind which may be imposed upon, incurred by or asserted against Indemnified Party in any way relating to or arising out of this Agreement, any Transaction Request, any Program Agreement or any transaction contemplated hereby or thereby, except to the extent that any claim for Indemnified Amounts results from or relates to: (i) the gross negligence or willful misconduct of any Indemnified Party or (ii) a claim by one Indemnified Party against another Indemnified Party that is a Subsidiary of such Indemnified Party. Sellers also agree to reimburse each Indemnified Party for all reasonable expenses in connection with the enforcement of this Agreement and the exercise of any right or remedy provided for herein, any Transaction Request and any Program Agreement, including, without limitation, the reasonable fees and disbursements of counsel. Sellers' agreements in this Section 30 shall survive the payment in full of the Repurchase Price and the expiration or termination of this Agreement. Each Seller hereby acknowledges that its obligations hereunder are recourse obligations of such Seller and are not limited to recoveries each Indemnified Party may have with respect to the Purchased Mortgage Loans. Each Seller also agrees not to assert any claim against Administrative Agent, each Buyer or any of its Affiliates, or any of their respective officers, directors, employees, attorneys and agents, on any theory of liability, for special, indirect, consequential or punitive damages arising out of or otherwise relating to the facility established hereunder, the actual or proposed use of the proceeds of the Transactions, this Agreement or any of the transactions contemplated thereby. THE FOREGOING INDEMNITY AND AGREEMENT NOT TO ASSERT CLAIMS EXPRESSLY APPLIES, WITHOUT LIMITATION, TO THE NEGLIGENCE (BUT NOT GROSS NEGLIGENCE OR WILLFUL MISCONDUCT) OF THE INDEMNIFIED PARTIES.

b. Without limitation to the provisions of Section 4, if any payment of the Repurchase Price of any Transaction is made by Sellers other than on the then scheduled Repurchase Date thereto as a result of an acceleration of the Repurchase Date pursuant to Section 16 or for any other reason, Sellers shall, upon demand by Administrative Agent, pay to Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers an amount sufficient to compensate Buyers for any losses, costs or expenses that they may reasonably incur as of a result of such payment.

c. Without limiting the provisions of Section 30(a) hereof, if Sellers fail to pay when due any costs, expenses or other amounts payable by them under this Agreement, including, without limitation, fees and expenses of counsel and indemnities, such amount may be paid on behalf of Sellers by Administrative Agent (subject to reimbursement by Sellers), in its sole discretion.

31. Counterparts

This Agreement may be executed in one or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed to be an original, and all such counterparts shall together constitute one and the same instrument. Delivery of an executed counterpart of a signature page of this Agreement in a portable document format (PDF) or by facsimile shall be effective as delivery of a manually executed original counterpart of this Agreement.

32. Confidentiality

a. Sellers' Confidentiality Obligations. This Agreement and its terms, provisions, supplements and amendments, and notices hereunder, are proprietary to Administrative Agent and Buyers and shall be held by Sellers in strict confidence and shall not be disclosed to any third party without the written consent of Administrative Agent except for (i) disclosure to any Seller's direct and indirect Affiliates and Subsidiaries, attorneys or accountants, but only to the extent such disclosure is necessary and such parties agree to hold all information in strict confidence, (ii) disclosure required by law, rule, regulation or order of a court or other regulatory body, or (iii) disclosure required by contracts with any Seller's lenders and/or parties entering into, or contemplating the entering into, one or more transactions, including, without limitation, whole loan portfolio sales) with any Seller, and conducting due diligence in connection therewith; provided, however, that any such disclosure to any Seller's lenders and/or such other parties shall be made subject to confidentiality agreements satisfactory to Administrative Agent, in Administrative Agent's exercise of its reasonable discretion; provided, further, that Sellers shall provide to Administrative Agent copies of such contracts with such Seller's lenders and/or such other parties requesting copies of this Agreement. Notwithstanding the foregoing or anything to the contrary contained herein or in any other Program Agreement, the parties hereto may disclose to any and all Persons, without limitation of any kind, the federal income tax treatment of the Transactions, any fact relevant to understanding the federal tax treatment of the Transactions, and all materials of any kind (including opinions or other tax analyses) relating to such federal income tax treatment; provided that Sellers may not disclose the name of or identifying information with respect to Administrative Agent and Buyers or any pricing terms (including, without limitation, the Pricing Rate, Commitment Fee, Purchase Price Percentage, Purchase Price and any other fees specified in the Pricing Side Letter) or other nonpublic business or financial information (including any sublimits and financial covenants) that is unrelated to the purported or claimed federal income tax treatment of the Transactions and is not relevant to understanding the purported or claimed federal income tax treatment of the Transactions, without the prior written consent of the Administrative Agent.

b. Administrative Agent's and Buyers' Confidentiality Obligations. Reports, notices and other communications hereunder issued or to be issued by Sellers or either of them (including, without limitation, personal information relating to individual Mortgagors), are confidential and shall be held by Administrative Agent and Buyers in confidence and shall not be disclosed to any third party without the written consent of Sellers, except for (i) disclosure to Administrative Agent's and Buyers' direct and indirect Affiliates and Subsidiaries, attorneys, or accountants, but only to the extent such disclosure is necessary and such parties agree to hold all information in strict confidence, (ii) disclosure required by law, rule, regulation or order of a court or other regulatory body ("Governmental Order") or, only with respect to the names of Sellers, disclosure required by a rating agency in connection with any securities issued by Administrative Agent or an Affiliate of Administrative Agent, (iii) disclosure as Administrative Agent and Buyers deem appropriate in connection with the enforcement of Administrative Agent's or Buyers' rights hereunder or under any Transaction; provided, that Administrative Agent and Buyers shall reasonably cooperate with Sellers in their efforts to obtain a protective order or otherwise protect the confidentiality of such information for the benefit of Sellers, (iv) disclosure of any confidential terms that are in the public domain other than due to a breach of this covenant, (v) disclosure made to an assignee, participant, repledgee or any of their representatives, attorneys or accountants, but only to the extent such disclosure is necessary in connection with the transactions or performing rights or obligations hereunder; provided, that, any such disclosure under clauses (i) or (v) shall only be permitted if the recipient executed a confidentiality agreement reasonably acceptable to Sellers, it being understood that such agreement shall be deemed to be acceptable by Sellers if it contains terms at least as restrictive as those contained in this Section 32, or if such recipient is otherwise bound by law or ethical conduct to hold such information as confidential, and in each case, Administrative Agent and Buyers shall reasonably cooperate with Sellers in enforcing such confidentiality agreement or obligations, as applicable, for the benefit of Sellers.

33. Recording of Communications

Administrative Agent, Buyers and each Seller shall have the right (but not the obligation) from time to time to make or cause to be made tape recordings of communications between its employees and those of the other party with respect to Transactions. Administrative Agent, Buyers and each Seller consent to the admissibility of such tape recordings in any court, arbitration, or other proceedings. The parties agree that a duly authenticated transcript of such a tape recording shall be deemed to be a writing conclusively evidencing the parties' agreement.

34. Reserved

35. Periodic Due Diligence Review

Each Seller acknowledges that Administrative Agent has the right to perform continuing due diligence reviews with respect to such Seller and the Mortgage Loans, for purposes of verifying compliance with the representations, warranties and specifications made hereunder, or otherwise, and each Seller agrees that upon reasonable (but no less than three (3) Business Days) prior notice unless an Event of Default shall have occurred, in which case no notice is required, to such Seller, Administrative Agent or its authorized representatives will be permitted during normal business hours to examine, inspect, and make copies and extracts of, the Mortgage Files and any and all documents, records, agreements, instruments or information relating to such Mortgage Loans in the possession or under the control of Sellers and/or the Custodian. Provided that no Event of Default has occurred and is continuing, Administrative Agent agrees that it shall exercise commercially reasonable efforts, in the conduct of any such due diligence, to minimize any disruption to any Seller's normal course of business. Each Seller also shall make available to Administrative Agent a knowledgeable financial or accounting officer for the purpose of answering questions respecting the Mortgage Files and the Mortgage Loans. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, each Seller acknowledges that Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers may purchase Mortgage Loans from Sellers based solely upon the information provided by Sellers to Administrative Agent in the Mortgage Loan Schedule and the representations, warranties and covenants contained herein, and that Administrative Agent, at its option, has the right at any time to conduct a partial or complete due diligence review on some or all of the Mortgage Loans purchased in a Transaction, including, without limitation, ordering BPOs, new credit reports and new appraisals on the related Mortgaged Properties and otherwise re-generating the information used to originate such Mortgage Loan. Administrative Agent may underwrite such Mortgage Loans itself or engage a mutually agreed upon third party underwriter to perform such underwriting. Each Seller agrees to cooperate with Administrative Agent and any third party underwriter in connection with such underwriting, including, but not limited to, providing Administrative Agent and any third party underwriter with reasonable access to any and all documents, records, agreements, instruments or information relating to such Mortgage Loans in the possession, or under the control, of Sellers. Administrative Agent agrees that Sellers shall not be responsible for the payment of any out-of-pocket costs and expenses incurred by Administrative Agent in connection with Administrative Agent's activities pursuant to this Section 35; provided, that if a Default or Event of Default shall have occurred, Administrative Agent shall have the right to perform due diligence, at the sole expense of Sellers.

36. Authorizations

Any of the persons whose signatures and titles appear on Schedule 2 are authorized, acting singly, to act for the applicable Seller, Buyers or Administrative Agent, as the case may be, under this Agreement. Each Seller or Administrative Agent may amend Schedule 2 from time to time by delivering a revised Schedule 2 to the other party and expressly stating that such revised Schedule 2 shall replace the existing Schedule 2.

37. Acknowledgment of Administration of Repurchase Agreement

Pursuant and subject to the other terms and conditions of this Agreement, including, without limitation, those concerning the identity of the Committed Buyer and Section 22 (Non assignability) of this Agreement, Administrative Agent may allocate to existing Buyers certain Purchased Mortgage Loans and the related Repurchase Assets and related Transactions. Administrative Agent shall update the Register as provided in Section 22 with respect to such allocation of Purchased Mortgage Loans. The Administrative Agent shall administer the provisions of this Agreement for the benefit of the Buyers. For the avoidance of doubt, all payments, notices, communications and agreements pursuant to this Agreement shall be delivered to, and entered into by, the Administrative Agent for the benefit of the Buyers. Furthermore, to the extent that the Administrative Agent exercises remedies pursuant to this Agreement, any of the Administrative Agent and/or any Buyer will have the right to bid on and/or purchase any of the Repurchase Assets pursuant to Section 16 (Remedies Upon Default). The benefit of all representations, rights, remedies and covenants set forth in the Agreement shall inure to the benefit of the Administrative Agent on behalf of each Buyer. All provisions of the Agreement shall survive the transfers contemplated herein (including any Repledge Transactions). Notwithstanding that multiple Buyers may purchase individual Mortgage Loans subject to Transactions entered into under this Agreement, all Transactions shall continue to be deemed a single Transaction and all of the Repurchase Assets shall be security for all of the Obligations hereunder.

38. Reserved

39. Acknowledgement Of Anti-Predatory Lending Policies

Administrative Agent has in place internal policies and procedures that expressly prohibit its purchase of any High Cost Mortgage Loan.

40. Documents Mutually Drafted

Each Seller, the Administrative Agent and each of the Buyers agree that this Agreement and each other Program Agreement prepared in connection with the Transactions set forth herein have been mutually drafted and negotiated by each party, and consequently such documents shall not be construed against either party as the drafter thereof.

41. General Interpretive Principles

For purposes of this Agreement, except as otherwise expressly provided or unless the context otherwise requires:

a. the terms defined in this Agreement have the meanings assigned to them in this Agreement and include the plural as well as the singular, and the use of any gender herein shall be deemed to include the other gender;

b. accounting terms not otherwise defined herein have the meanings assigned to them in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles;

c. references herein to "Articles", "Sections", "Subsections", "Paragraphs", and other subdivisions without reference to a document are to designated Articles, Sections, Subsections, Paragraphs and other subdivisions of this Agreement;

d. a reference to a Subsection without further reference to a Section is a reference to such Subsection as contained in the same Section in which the reference appears, and this rule shall also apply to Paragraphs and other subdivisions;

e. the words "herein", "hereof", "hereunder" and other words of similar import refer to this Agreement as a whole and not to any particular provision;

f. the term "include" or "including" shall mean without limitation by reason of enumeration;

g. all times specified herein or in any other Program Agreement (unless expressly specified otherwise) are local times in New York, New York unless otherwise stated;

h. all references herein or in any Program Agreement to "good faith" means good faith as defined in Section 5-102(7) of the UCC as in effect in the State of New York; and

i. an Event of Default that has been waived in writing shall be deemed not to be continuing.

42. Joint and Several Sellers and Administrative Agent hereby acknowledge and agree that each Seller shall be jointly and severally liable for the full, complete and punctual performance and satisfaction of all obligations of either Seller under this Agreement. Accordingly, each Seller waives any and all notice of creation, renewal, extension or accrual of any of the Obligations and notice of or proof of reliance by Administrative Agent upon such Seller's joint and several liability. Each Seller waives diligence, presentment, protest, demand for payment and notice of default or nonpayment to or upon such Seller with respect to the Obligations. When pursuing its rights and remedies hereunder against either Seller, Administrative Agent may, but shall be under no obligation to, pursue such rights and remedies hereunder against either Seller or any other Person or against any collateral security for the Obligations or any right of offset with respect thereto, and any failure by Administrative Agent to pursue such other rights or remedies or to collect any payments from such Seller or any such other Person to realize upon any such collateral security or to exercise any such right of offset, or any release of such Seller or any such other Person or any such collateral security, or right of offset, shall not relieve such Seller of any liability hereunder, and shall not impair or affect the rights and remedies, whether express, implied or available as a matter of law, of Administrative Agent against such Seller.

43. Conflicts

In the event of any conflict between the terms of this Agreement and any other Program Agreement, the documents shall control in the following order of priority: first, the terms of the Pricing Side Letter shall prevail, then the terms of this Agreement shall prevail, and then the terms of the other Program Agreements shall prevail.

44. Bankruptcy Non-Petition

The parties hereby agree that they shall not institute against, or join any other person in instituting against, any Buyer that is a CP Conduit any bankruptcy, reorganization, arrangement, insolvency or liquidation proceeding, or other similar proceeding under any federal or state bankruptcy or similar law, for one (1) year and one (1) day after the latest maturing commercial paper note issued by the applicable CP Conduit is paid in full.

45. Limited Recourse

The obligations of each Buyer under this Agreement or any other Program Agreement are solely the corporate obligations of such Buyer. No recourse shall be had for the payment of any amount owing by any Buyer under this Agreement, or for the payment by any Buyer of any fee in respect hereof or any other obligation or claim of or against such Buyer arising out of or based on this Agreement, against any stockholder, partner, member, employee, officer, director or incorporator or other authorized person of such Buyer. In addition, notwithstanding any other provision of this Agreement, the Parties agree that all payment obligations of any Buyer that is a CP Conduit under this Agreement shall be limited recourse obligations of such Buyer, payable solely from the funds of such Buyer available for such purpose in accordance with its commercial paper program documents. Each party waives payment by such CP Conduit of any amount which such Buyer does not pay pursuant to the operation of the preceding sentence until the day which is at least one (1) year and one (1) day after the payment in full of the latest maturing commercial paper note (and waives any "claim" against such Buyer within the meaning of Section 101(5) of the Bankruptcy Code or any other debtor relief law for any such insufficiency until such date).

Notwithstanding anything in any Program Agreement to the contrary, including, without limitation, any of the waivers in this Section 45, CS Cayman shall be liable for all of the obligations of any CP Conduit under any of the Program Documents.

46. Amendment and Restatement

Administrative Agent, as a Buyer, and Sellers entered into the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement. Administrative Agent, Sellers and Buyers desire to enter into this Agreement in order to amend and restate the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement in its entirety. The amendment and restatement of the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement shall become effective on the date hereof, and each of Administrative Agent, Sellers and Buyers shall hereafter be bound by the terms and conditions of this Agreement and the other Program Agreements. This Agreement amends and restates the terms and conditions of the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement, and is not a novation of any of the agreements or obligations incurred pursuant to the terms of the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement. Accordingly, all of the agreements and obligations incurred pursuant to the terms of the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement are hereby ratified and affirmed by the parties hereto and remain in full force and effect. For the avoidance of doubt, it is the intent of Administrative Agent, Sellers and Buyers that the security interests and liens granted in the Purchased Mortgage Loans and Repurchase Assets pursuant to Section 8 of the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement shall continue in full force and effect. All references to the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement in any Program Agreement or other document or instrument delivered in connection therewith shall be deemed to refer to this Agreement and the provisions hereof.

SCHEDULE 1

REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES WITH RESPECT TO PURCHASED MORTGAGE LOANS

Each Seller makes the following representations and warranties to Administrative Agent with respect to each Purchased Mortgage Loan that is subject to a Transaction hereunder and at all times such Purchased Mortgage Loan is subject to a Transaction hereunder that is in full force and effect. With respect to those representations and warranties which are made to the best of a Seller's knowledge, if it is discovered by such Seller or Administrative Agent that the substance of such representation and warranty is inaccurate, notwithstanding such Seller's lack of knowledge with respect to the substance of such representation and warranty, such inaccuracy shall be deemed a breach of the applicable representation and warranty for purposes of determining Asset Value.

(a) Mortgage Loan Schedule. The information set forth in the Mortgage Loan Schedule, including any diskette or other related data tapes sent to the Administrative Agent, is complete, true and correct in all material respects as of the Purchase Date.

(b) Fee Simple. Except with respect to Second Lien Mortgage Loans, the Mortgage creates a first lien or a first priority ownership interest in an estate in fee simple in real property securing the related Mortgage Note (except as provided for in clause (k) below). With respect to a Second Lien Mortgage Loan, the Mortgage creates a second lien or a second priority ownership interest in an estate in fee simple in real property securing the related Mortgage Note (except as provided for in clause (k) below).

(c) Reserved.

(d) Payments Current. All payments due on or prior to the Purchase Date for such Mortgage Loan have been made as of the Purchase Date, the Mortgage Loan is not thirty (30) days or more delinquent in payment and has not been dishonored; there are no material defaults under the terms of the Mortgage Loan; there has been no more than one delinquency of thirty (30) days or more during the immediately preceding twelve (12) month period.

(e) No Outstanding Charges. All taxes, governmental assessments, insurance premiums, water, sewer and municipal charges, leasehold payments or ground rents and any other charges payable on the Mortgage Loan which previously became due and owing are non-delinquent, have not become a lien upon the property or have been paid, or escrow funds have been established in an amount sufficient to pay for every such escrowed item which remains unpaid and which has been assessed but is not yet due and payable. No Seller has advanced funds, or induced, solicited or knowingly received any advance of funds from a party other than the owner of the Mortgaged Property subject to the Mortgage, directly or indirectly, for the payment of any amount required by the Mortgage Loan.

(f) Original Terms Unmodified. The terms of the Mortgage Note and the Mortgage have not been impaired, waived, altered or modified in any respect, except by written instruments which have been recorded to the extent any such recordation is required by law, or, necessary to protect the interest of Buyers. No instrument of waiver, alteration or modification has been executed, and no Mortgagor has been released, in whole or in part, from the terms thereof except in connection with an assumption agreement and which assumption agreement is part of the Mortgage File and the terms of which are reflected in the Mortgage Loan Schedule; the substance of any such waiver, alteration or modification has been approved by the issuer of any related primary mortgage insurance policy and title insurance policy, to the extent required by the related policies.

(g) No Defenses. The Mortgage Note and the Mortgage are not subject to any right of rescission, set off, counterclaim or defense, including, without limitation, the defense of usury, nor will the operation of any of the terms of the Mortgage Note or the Mortgage, or the exercise of any right thereunder, render the Mortgage Note or Mortgage unenforceable, in whole or in part, or subject to any right of rescission, set off, counterclaim or defense, including the defense of usury, and no such right of rescission, set off, counterclaim or defense has been asserted with respect thereto; and the Mortgagor was not a debtor in any state or federal bankruptcy or insolvency proceeding at the time the Mortgage Loan was originated.

(h) Hazard Insurance. All buildings or other customarily insured improvements upon the Mortgaged Property are insured against loss by fire, hazards of extended coverage and such other hazards as are provided for in the Agency Guides. All such standard hazard policies are in full force and effect and on the date of origination contained a standard mortgagee clause naming the applicable Seller and its successors in interest and assigns as loss payee and such clause is still in effect and all premiums due thereon have been paid. If required by the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, as amended, the Mortgage Loan is covered by a flood insurance policy meeting the requirements of the current guidelines of the Federal Insurance Administration which policy conforms to Agency Guides (as defined below in this Schedule 1). The Mortgage obligates the Mortgagor thereunder to maintain all such insurance at the Mortgagor's cost and expense, and upon the Mortgagor's failure to do so, authorizes the holder of the Mortgage to maintain such insurance at the Mortgagor's cost and expense and to seek reimbursement therefor from the Mortgagor.

(i) Compliance with Applicable Laws. Any and all requirements of any federal, state or local law including, without limitation, usury, truth in lending, real estate settlement procedures, consumer credit protection, equal credit opportunity or disclosure laws applicable to the Mortgage Loan have been complied with in all material respects.

(j) No Satisfaction of Mortgage. The Mortgage has not been satisfied, canceled or subordinated, in whole or in part, or rescinded, and the Mortgaged Property has not been released from the lien of the Mortgage, in whole or in part, nor has any instrument been executed that would effect any such release, cancellation, subordination or rescission. No Seller has waived the performance by the Mortgagor of any action, if the Mortgagor's failure to perform such action would cause the Mortgage Loan to be in default, nor has any Seller waived any default resulting from any action or inaction by the Mortgagor.

(k) Valid First or Second Lien. The related Mortgage is a valid, subsisting, enforceable and perfected first lien, or solely with respect to a Second Lien Mortgage Loan, a second lien, on the Mortgaged Property and, including all buildings on the Mortgaged Property and all installations and mechanical, electrical, plumbing, heating and air conditioning systems affixed to such buildings, and all additions, alterations and replacements made at any time with respect to the foregoing securing the Mortgage Note's original principal balance. The Mortgage and the Mortgage Note do not contain any evidence of any security interest or other interest or right thereto. Such lien is free and clear of all adverse claims, liens and encumbrances having priority over the first lien, or solely with respect to a Second Lien Mortgage Loans, a second lien, of the Mortgage subject only to, (1) the lien of non-delinquent current real property taxes, dues/taxes and assessments not yet due and payable, (2) covenants, conditions and restrictions, rights of way, easements and other matters of the public record as of the date of recording which are acceptable to mortgage lending institutions generally and either (A) which are referred to or otherwise considered in the appraisal made for the originator of the Mortgage Loan, or (B) which do not adversely affect the Appraised Value of the Mortgaged Property as set forth in such appraisal, (3) other matters to which like properties are commonly subject which do not materially interfere with the benefits of the security intended to be provided by the Mortgage or the use, enjoyment, value or marketability of the related Mortgaged Property or (4) solely with respect to a Second Lien Mortgage Loan, the related first lien. Any security agreement, chattel mortgage or equivalent document related to and delivered in connection with the Mortgage Loan establishes and creates a valid, subsisting, enforceable and perfected first lien and first priority security interest, or solely with respect to a Second Lien Mortgage Loan, a second lien and second priority security interest, on the property described therein, and the applicable Seller has the full right to sell and assign the same to the Administrative Agent.

(l) Validity of Mortgage Documents; Full Disbursement of Proceeds. The Mortgage Note and the related Mortgage are original and genuine and each is the legal, valid and binding obligation of the maker thereof, enforceable in all respects in accordance with its terms subject to bankruptcy, insolvency, moratorium, reorganization and other laws of general application affecting the rights of creditors and by general equitable principles and the applicable Seller has taken all action necessary to transfer such rights of enforceability to the Administrative Agent. All parties to the Mortgage Note and the Mortgage had the legal capacity to enter into the Mortgage Loan and to execute and deliver the Mortgage Note and the Mortgage. The Mortgage Note and the Mortgage have been duly and properly executed by such parties. No fraud, error, omission, misrepresentation, negligence or similar occurrence with respect to a Mortgage Loan has taken place on the part of any Seller or, to the best of such Seller's knowledge, the Mortgagor or on the part of any other party involved in the origination of the Mortgage Loan. Except for HECM Loans, the proceeds of the Mortgage Loan, other than a home equity revolving line of credit, have been fully disbursed and there is no requirement for future advances thereunder, and, except for HECM Loans, any and all requirements as to completion of any on site or off-site improvements and as to disbursements of any escrow funds therefor have been complied with. All costs, fees and expenses incurred in making or closing the Mortgage Loan and the recording of the Mortgage were paid or are in the process of being paid, and the Mortgagor is not entitled to any refund of any amounts paid or due under the Mortgage Note or Mortgage (excluding refunds which may result from escrow analysis adjustments).With respect to any broker fees collected and paid on any of the Mortgage Loans, all broker fees have been properly assessed to the borrower and no claims will arise as to broker fees that are double charged and for which the borrower would be entitled to reimbursement.

(m) Ownership. The applicable Seller or its affiliate is the sole owner of record and holder of the Mortgage Loan and the indebtedness evidenced by the Mortgage Note, and upon recordation a Buyer or its designee will be the owner of record of the Mortgage and the indebtedness evidenced by the Mortgage Note, and upon the sale of the Mortgage Loan to the Administrative Agent on behalf of the Buyers, the applicable Seller will retain the servicing file in trust for the Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers only for the purpose of interim servicing and supervising the interim servicing of the Mortgage Loan. Upon the transfer and assignment to the Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers on the Purchase Date, the Mortgage Loan, including the Mortgage Note and the Mortgage, were not subject to an assignment or pledge, and the applicable Seller had good and marketable title to and was the sole owner thereof and had full right to transfer and sell the Mortgage Loan to the Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers free and clear of any encumbrance, equity, lien, pledge, charge, claim or security interest and has the full right and authority subject to no interest or participation of, or agreement with, any other party, to sell and assign the Mortgage Loan pursuant to this Agreement and following the sale of the Mortgage Loan, the Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers will own such Mortgage Loan free and clear of any encumbrance, equity, participation interest, lien, pledge, charge, claim or security interest. The applicable Seller intends to relinquish all rights to possess, control and monitor the Mortgage Loan, except for the purposes of interim servicing the Mortgage Loan as set forth in this Agreement.

(n) Title Insurance. To the extent required pursuant to the Underwriting Guidelines, each Mortgage Loan is covered by an ALTA lender's title insurance policy or other generally acceptable form of policy or insurance acceptable to Administrative Agent with respect to Non-Agency Non-QM Mortgage Loans and Non-Agency QM Mortgage Loans and Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, FHA, GNMA, HUD or VA with respect to Agency Mortgage Loans or as required by an approved Take-out Investor insuring (subject to the exceptions contained in clause (k)(1), (2), (3) and (4) above) the applicable Seller, its successors and assigns, as to the first priority lien, or solely with respect to a Second Lien Mortgage Loan, second priority lien, of the Mortgage in the original principal amount of the Mortgage Loan. Where required by applicable state law or regulation, the Mortgagor has been given the opportunity to choose the carrier of the required mortgage title insurance. The applicable Seller, its successors and assigns, are the sole insureds of such lender's title insurance policy, such title insurance policy has been duly and validly endorsed to the Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers or the assignment to the Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers of such Seller's interest therein does not require the consent of or notification to the insurer and such lender's title insurance policy is in full force and effect and will be in full force and effect upon the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement. No claims have been made under such lender's title insurance policy, and no prior holder of the related Mortgage, including any Seller, has done, by act or omission, anything which would impair the coverage of such lender's title insurance policy.

(o) No Defaults. There is no default, breach, violation or event of acceleration existing under the Mortgage or the related Mortgage Note and no event has occurred which, with the passage of time or with notice and the expiration of any grace or cure period, would constitute a default, breach, violation or event permitting acceleration; and neither the Sellers nor any prior mortgagee has waived any default, breach, violation or event permitting acceleration.

(p) No Mechanics' Liens. There are no mechanics' or similar liens or claims which have been filed for work, labor or material (and, except for HECM Loans, no rights are outstanding that under law could give rise to such liens) affecting the related Mortgaged Property which are or may be liens prior to or equal to the lien of the related Mortgage.

(q) Location of Improvements; No Encroachments. All improvements subject to the Mortgage which were considered in determining the Appraised Value of the Mortgaged Property lie wholly within the boundaries and building restriction lines of the Mortgaged Property (and wholly within the project with respect to a condominium unit) and no improvements on adjoining properties encroach upon the Mortgaged Property except those which are insured against by the title insurance policy referred to in clause (m) above and all improvements on the property comply with all applicable zoning and subdivision laws and ordinances.

(r) Origination; Payment Terms. The Mortgage Loan was originated by or for the Sellers or either one of them. The Mortgage Loan complies with all the terms, conditions and requirements of the applicable Seller's Underwriting Guidelines in effect at the time of origination of such Mortgage Loan. With respect to each Mortgage Loan that is not a home equity revolving line of credit, the Mortgage Notes and Mortgages (exclusive of any riders) are on forms generally acceptable to Administrative Agent with respect to Non-Agency Non-QM Mortgage Loans and Non-Agency QM Mortgage Loans and to Fannie Mae, Freddie Mac, FHA, GNMA, HUD or VA with respect to Agency Mortgage Loans. With respect to home equity revolving line of credits, the Mortgage Notes, Mortgages and loan agreements are on forms created in accordance with the applicable Seller's Underwriting Guidelines. The Mortgage Loan bears interest at the Mortgage Interest Rate set forth in the Mortgage Loan Schedule, and, except for HECM Loans and home equity revolving lines of credit, Monthly Payments under the Mortgage Note are due and payable on the first day of each month. The Mortgage contains the usual and enforceable provisions of the originator at the time of origination for the acceleration of the payment of the unpaid principal amount of the Mortgage Loan if the related Mortgaged Property is sold without the prior consent of the mortgagee thereunder.

(s) No Condemnation Proceeding. The Mortgaged Property is not subject to any material damage by waste, fire, earthquake, windstorm, flood or other casualty. At origination of the Mortgage Loan there was, and there currently is, no proceeding pending for the total or partial condemnation of the Mortgaged Property. There have not been any condemnation proceedings with respect to the Mortgaged Property and there are no such proceedings scheduled to commence at a future date.

(t) Customary Provisions. The related Mortgage contains customary and enforceable provisions such as to render the rights and remedies of the holder thereof adequate for the realization against the Mortgaged Property of the benefits of the security provided thereby. There is no homestead or other exemption available to the Mortgagor which would interfere with the right to sell the Mortgaged Property at a trustee's sale or the right to foreclose the Mortgage subject to applicable federal and state laws and judicial precedent with respect to bankruptcy and right of redemption.

(u) Deeds of Trust. If the Mortgage constitutes a deed of trust, a trustee, authorized and duly qualified if required under applicable law to act as such, has been properly designated and currently so serves and is named in the Mortgage, and no fees or expenses, except as may be required by local law, are or will become payable by the Custodian or Administrative Agent to the trustee under the deed of trust, except in connection with a trustee's sale or attempted sale after default by the Mortgagor.

(v) Appraisal. Unless Fannie Mae, FHA, Freddie Mac, GNMA, HUD or VA requires otherwise, the Mortgage File contains either (i) to the extent permitted by the applicable Agency, a Property Inspection Waiver (as defined in the applicable Agency guidelines) or (ii) an appraisal of the related Mortgaged Property signed prior to the final approval of the mortgage loan application by a Qualified Appraiser (as defined below in this Schedule 1), who had no interest, direct or indirect, in the Mortgaged Property or in any loan made on the security thereof, and whose compensation is not affected by the approval or disapproval of the Mortgage Loan, and the appraisal and appraiser both satisfy the requirements of Fannie Mae, FHA, Freddie Mac, GNMA, HUD or VA and Title XI of FIRREA and the regulations promulgated thereunder, all as in effect on the date the Mortgage Loan was originated. The appraisal is in a form acceptable to Fannie Mae, FHA, Freddie Mac, GNMA, HUD or VA.

(w) Doing Business. All parties which have had any interest in the Mortgage, whether as mortgagee, assignee, pledgee or otherwise, are (or, during the period in which they held and disposed of such interest, were) (A) in compliance with any and all applicable licensing requirements of the laws of the state wherein the Mortgaged Property is located, and (B) (1) organized under the laws of such state, or (2) qualified to do business in such state, or (3) federal savings and loan associations or national banks or a Federal Home Loan Bank or savings bank having principal offices in such state, or (4) not doing business in such state.

(x) No Additional Collateral. The related Mortgage Note is not and has not been secured by any collateral except the lien of the corresponding Mortgage and the security interest of any applicable security agreement or chattel mortgage referred to above and, except for Second Lien Mortgage Loans, such collateral does not serve as security for any other obligation.

(y) Disclosure Materials. The Mortgagor was provided with all disclosure materials required by applicable law with respect to the making of such mortgage loans.

(z) No Graduated Payments or Contingent Interests. The Mortgage Loan does not contain "graduated payment" or "shared appreciation" features; to the extent any Mortgage Loan contains any buydown provision, such buydown funds have been maintained and administered in accordance with, and such Mortgage Loan otherwise complies with, Fannie Mae/Freddie Mac requirements relating to buydown loans.

(aa) No Defenses. The Mortgagor is not in bankruptcy or insolvent and no Seller has knowledge of any circumstances or condition which would cause the Mortgagor to file for bankruptcy or become insolvent.

(bb) Maturity. Except of HECM Loans, the Mortgage Loans have an original term to maturity of not more than thirty (30) years with, except for home equity revolving lines of credit, interest payable in arrears on the first day of each month. Other than with respect to Second Lien Mortgage Loans that are originated as a home equity revolving line of credit and except for HECM Loans, each Mortgage Note requires a monthly payment which is sufficient to fully amortize the original principal balance over the original term thereof and to pay interest at the related Mortgage Interest Rate. Except for HECM Loans, no Mortgage Loan contains terms or provisions which would result in negative amortization.

(cc) Primary Mortgage Guaranty Insurance. Except for Conforming High CLTV Loans, FHA Loans, HECM Loans, VA Loans, RHS Loans and Mortgage Loans underwritten in accordance with the Lender Paid Mortgage Insurance Policy Program, if a Mortgage Loan has an LTV greater than eighty percent (80%), the excess of the principal balance of the Mortgage Loan over seventy-five (75%) of the Appraised Value, with respect to a Refinanced Mortgage Loan (as defined below in this Schedule 1), or the lesser of the Appraised Value or the purchase price of the Mortgaged Property, with respect to a purchase money Mortgage Loan, is and will be insured as to payment defaults by a primary mortgage insurance policy issued by a Qualified Insurer. All provisions of such primary mortgage insurance policy have been and are being complied with, such policy is in full force and effect, and all premiums due thereunder have been paid. No action, inaction, or event has occurred and no state of facts exists that has, or will result in the exclusion from, denial of, or defense to coverage. Any Mortgage Loan subject to such a primary mortgage insurance policy obligates the Mortgagor thereunder to maintain the primary mortgage insurance policy and to pay all premiums and charges in connection therewith. The Mortgage Interest Rate for the Mortgage Loan as set forth on the Mortgage Loan Schedule is net of any such insurance premium.

(dd) Transfer of Mortgage Loans. As to Mortgage Loans that are not Mortgage Loans registered on the MERS® System, the Assignment of Mortgage is in recordable form and is acceptable for recording under the laws of the jurisdiction in which the Mortgaged Property is located.

(ee) Location and Type of Mortgaged Property. As to Mortgage Loans that are not secured by an interest in a leasehold estate, the Mortgaged Property is located in the state identified in the Mortgage Loan Schedule and consists of a single parcel of real property with a detached single family residence erected thereon, or a townhouse, or a two-to four-family dwelling, or an individual condominium unit in a condominium project, or an individual unit in a planned unit development or a de minimis planned unit development, provided, however, that no residence or dwelling is a single parcel of real property with a cooperative housing corporation erected thereon, or a mobile home. As of the date of origination, no portion of the Mortgaged Property was used for commercial purposes (other than the use of a portion of such Mortgaged Property as a home office), and since the date of origination no portion of the Mortgaged Property has been used for commercial purposes (other than the use of a portion of such Mortgaged Property as a home office).

(ff) Disbursement. The date of the disbursement of the loan proceeds to or on behalf of the Mortgagor is no more than thirty (30) days prior to the date on which the Administrative Agent purchases the related Mortgage Loan pursuant to a Transaction hereunder.

(gg) No Prepayment Penalty. No Mortgage Loan contains a prepayment penalty.

(hh) Occupancy of the Mortgaged Property. As of the related Purchase Date, the Mortgaged Property was lawfully occupied under applicable law, and all inspections, licenses and certificates required to be made or issued with respect to all occupied portions of the Mortgaged Property and, with respect to the use and occupancy of the same, including but not limited to certificates of occupancy and fire underwriting certificates, have been made or obtained from the appropriate authorities.

(ii) Location and Type of Mortgaged Property. If the Mortgaged Property is a condominium unit or a planned unit development (other than a de minimis planned unit development), or stock in a cooperative housing corporation, such condominium, cooperative or planned unit development project meets the Fannie Mae's eligibility requirements as set forth in the Fannie Mae Guides.

(jj) Environmental Compliance. To the best of each Seller's knowledge, there does not exist on the related Mortgage Property any hazardous substances, hazardous wastes or solid wastes, as such terms are defined in the Comprehensive Environmental Response Compensation and Liability Act, 42 U.S.C. 9601 et seq., the Solid Waste Disposal Act, as amended by the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, 42 U.S.C. § 6901 et seq., or other applicable federal, state or local environmental laws, including, without limitation, asbestos, in each case in excess of the permitted limits and allowances set forth in such environmental laws to the extent such laws are applicable to the Mortgaged Property. There is no pending action or proceeding directly involving the Mortgaged Property in which compliance with any environmental law, rule or regulation is an issue; there is no violation of any environmental law, rule or regulation with respect to the Mortgaged Property; and nothing further remains to be done to satisfy in full all requirements of each such law, rule or regulation constituting a prerequisite to use and enjoyment of said property.

(kk) Servicemembers Civil Relief Act. The Mortgagor has not notified the Sellers of any relief requested or allowed to the Mortgagor under the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act of 2003.

(ll) Construction or Rehabilitation of Mortgaged Property. No Mortgage Loan was made in connection with the construction or rehabilitation of a Mortgaged Property or facilitating the trade-in or exchange of a Mortgaged Property.

(mm) No Defense to Insurance Coverage. No action has been taken or failed to be taken by the Sellers on or prior to the Purchase Date which has resulted or will result in an exclusion from, denial of, or defense to coverage under any Primary Mortgage Insurance Policy (including, without limitation, any exclusions, denials or defenses which would limit or reduce the availability of the timely payment of the full amount of the loss otherwise due thereunder to the insured) whether arising out of actions, representations, errors, omissions, negligence, or fraud of the Sellers, or for any other reason under such coverage.

(nn) Collection Practices. Each Mortgage Loan has been serviced in all material respects in compliance with Accepted Servicing Practices.

(oo) Origination. The Mortgage Loan was originated by a mortgagee approved by the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development pursuant to sections 203 and 211 of the National Housing Act, a savings and loan association, a savings bank, a commercial bank, credit union, insurance company or similar institution which is supervised and examined by a federal or state authority.

(pp) Ground Leases. With respect to any ground lease to which a Mortgaged Property may be subject: (i) a true, correct and complete copy of the ground lease and all amendments, modifications and supplements thereto is included in the servicing file, and the Mortgagor is the owner of a valid and subsisting leasehold interest under such ground lease; (ii) such ground lease is in full force and effect, unmodified and not supplemented by any writing or otherwise except as contained in the Mortgage File; (iii) all rent, additional rent and other charges reserved therein have been fully paid to the extent payable as of the Purchase Date; (iv) the Mortgagor enjoys the quiet and peaceful possession of the leasehold estate, subject to any sublease; (v) the Mortgagor is not in default under any of the terms of such ground lease, and there are no circumstances which, with the passage of time or the giving of notice, or both, would result in a default under such ground lease; (vi) the lessor under such ground lease is not in default under any of the terms or provisions of such ground lease on the part of the lessor to be observed or performed; (vii) the lessor under such ground lease has satisfied any repair or construction obligations due as of the Purchase Date pursuant to the terms of such ground lease; (viii) the execution, delivery and performance of the Mortgage do not require the consent (other than those consents which have been obtained and are in full force and effect) under, and will not contravene any provision of or cause a default under, such ground lease; (ix) the ground lease term extends, or is automatically renewable, for at least five years beyond the maturity date of the related Mortgage Loan; and (x) the Administrative Agent has the right to cure defaults on the ground lease.

(qq) Reserved.

(rr) Lost Mortgage Note. With respect to any Mortgage Loan as to which an affidavit has been delivered to the Administrative Agent certifying that the original Mortgage Note has been lost or destroyed and not been replaced, if such Mortgage Loan is subsequently in default, the enforcement of such Mortgage Loan will not be materially adversely affected by the absence of the original Mortgage Note.

(ss) Delivery of Documents. Except as provided in Section 3, the Mortgage Note, the Mortgage, the Assignment of Mortgage and the other documents set forth in the Mortgage File and required to be delivered on the related Purchase Date have been delivered to the Administrative Agent or its designee.

(tt) True, Accurate and Complete Information. To the best of each Seller's knowledge, all information supplied by, on behalf of, or concerning the Mortgagor is true, accurate and complete and does not contain any statement that is or will be inaccurate or misleading in any material respect.

(uu) Reserved.

(vv) Disclosure Materials. The Mortgagor has received all disclosure materials required by applicable law with respect to the making of adjustable rate mortgage loans.

(ww) No Non-Performing Mortgage Loans. No Purchased Mortgage Loan is a Non-Performing Mortgage Loan.

(xx) Loan-to-Value Ratio. Except for Conforming High CLTV Loans, no Mortgage Loan had a Loan-to-Value Ratio at the time of origination of more than one hundred percent (100%). Except for Conforming High CLTV Loans, no Mortgage Loan had a combined Loan-to-Value Ratio at the time of origination of more than one hundred percent (100%).

(yy) Negative Amortization. Except for HECM Loans, no Mortgage Loan provides for negative amortization.

(zz) Home Ownership and Equity Protection Act of 1994. None of the Mortgage Loans are subject to the Home Ownership and Equity Protection Act of 1994 or any comparable state or local law.

(aaa) Single-Premium Credit Insurance Policies. None of the proceeds of the Mortgage Loan were used to finance single-premium credit insurance policies.

(bbb) Texas Home Equity Loans. With respect to any Mortgage Loan which is a Texas Home Equity Loan (as defined below in this Schedule 1), any and all requirements of Section 50, Article XVI of the Texas Constitution applicable to Texas Home Equity Loans which were in effect at the time of the origination of the Mortgage Loan have been complied with. Specifically, without limiting the generality of the foregoing,

(i) all fees paid by the owner of the Mortgaged Property or such owner's spouse, to any person, that were necessary to originate, evaluate, maintain, record, insure or service the Mortgage Loan are reflected in the closing statement for such Mortgage Loan;

(ii) the Mortgage Loan was closed only at the office of the mortgage lender, an attorney at law, or a title company;

(iii) the mortgagee has not been found by a federal regulatory agency to have engaged in the practice of refusing to make loans because the applicants for the loans reside or the property proposed to secure the loans is located in a certain area;

(iv) the owner of the Mortgaged Property was not required to apply the proceeds of the Mortgage Loan to repay another debt except debt secured by the Mortgaged Property or debt to a lender other than the mortgagee;

(v) the owner of the Mortgaged Property did not sign any documents or instruments relating to the Mortgage Loan in which blanks were left to be filled in; and

(vi) if discussions between the mortgagee and the Mortgagor were conducted primarily in a language other than English, the mortgagee provided to the owner of the Mortgaged Property, prior to closing, a copy of the notice required by Section 50(g), Article XVI of the Texas Constitution translated into the written language in which the discussions were conducted.

(ccc) Home Equity Mortgage Loans. With respect to any Mortgage Loan that is a home equity revolving line of credit (a) the minimum Monthly Payment with respect to such loan is not less than the interest accrued at the applicable Mortgage Interest Rate on the average daily outstanding principal balance during the billing cycle relating to the date on which such minimum Monthly Payment is due; and (b) such home equity revolving line of credit accrues interest at an adjustable Mortgage Interest Rate computed on the actual number of days in a billing cycle and a 360-day year.

(ddd) Qualified Mortgage. Other than (i) any type of Mortgage Loan exempted from the requirements of 12 CFR 1026.43, or (ii) such other Purchased Mortgage Loans as Administrative Agent may, from time to time, agree in writing to exclude from this representation, each Purchased Mortgage Loan for which the loan application was taken on or after January 10, 2014 shall (a) comply with 12 CFR 1026.43 and (b) except with respect to Non-Agency Non-QM Mortgage Loans or as otherwise approved in writing by Administrative Agent in its sole discretion, be a Qualified Mortgage Loan; provided, however, that with respect to each Purchased Mortgage Loan subject to the Schwab Purchase Agreement, such Purchased Mortgage Loan need only comply with sub-clause (a).

(eee) TRID Compliance. With respect to each Mortgage Loan where the Mortgagor's loan application for the Mortgage Loan was taken on or after October 3, 2015, such Mortgage Loan was originated in compliance with the TILA-RESPA Integrated Disclosure Rule.

(fff) Notwithstanding any of the foregoing to the contrary, each of the representations and warranties set forth in this Schedule 1 with respect to Conforming High CLTV Loans (but only as to such Conforming High LTV Loans) are modified so that (i) the only representations and warranties made by Sellers with respect to such Conforming High CLTV Loans are that they meet the applicable Agency requirements for such Conforming High CLTV Loans, as modified by any variance received by either Seller from the related Agency and (ii) any additional or inconsistent covenant, representation or warranty in the Program Agreements is deemed deleted and waived with respect to Conforming High CLTV Loans.

For the purposes of this Schedule 1, the following words and phrases, unless the context otherwise requires, shall have the following meanings:

"Agency Guides": The Fannie Mae Guides, the Freddie Mac Guides and the Ginnie Mae Guides, as applicable.

"Fannie Mae Guides": The Fannie Mae Sellers' Guide and the Fannie Mae Servicers' Guide and all amendments or additions thereto, including, but not limited to, future updates thereof.

"FIRREA": The Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery, and Enforcement Act of 1989, as amended.

"Freddie Mac Guides": The Freddie Mac Sellers' Guide and the Freddie Mac Servicers' Guide and all amendments or additions thereto, including, but not limited to, any future updates thereof.

"Ginnie Mae Guides": The Ginnie Mae Issuer and Servicer's Guide and all amendments or additions thereto, including, but not limited to, future updates thereof.

"Lender Paid Mortgage Insurance Policy Program or LPMI Policy": A program or policy in which, for any Mortgage Loan underwritten with an LTV greater than eighty percent (80%), the owner or servicer of such Mortgage Loan is responsible for the premiums associated with the mortgage insurance policy.

"Loan-to-Value Ratio" or "LTV": With respect to any Mortgage Loan, the ratio of the original outstanding principal amount of the Mortgage Loan to (i) the Appraised Value of the related Mortgaged Property at origination with respect to a Refinanced Mortgage Loan, and (ii) the lesser of the Appraised Value of the related Mortgaged Property at origination or the purchase price of the related Mortgaged Property with respect to all other Mortgage Loans.

"Qualified Appraiser": With respect to each Mortgage Loan, an appraiser, duly appointed by the applicable Seller, who had no interest, direct or indirect in the Mortgaged Property or in any loan made on the security thereof, and whose compensation is not affected by the approval or disapproval of the Mortgage Loan, and such appraiser and the appraisal made by such appraiser both satisfy the requirements of Fannie Mae, FHA, Freddie Mac, GNMA, HUD or VA and Title XI of FIRREA and the regulations promulgated thereunder, all as in effect on the date the Mortgage Loan was originated.

"Refinanced Mortgage Loan": A Mortgage Loan which was made to a Mortgagor who owned the Mortgaged Property prior to the origination of such Mortgage Loan and the proceeds of which were used in whole or part to satisfy an existing mortgage.

"Texas Home Equity Loan": A mortgage originated under the provisions of Section 50(a)(6), Article XVI of the Texas Constitution, which allow a borrower to take equity out of a homestead property under certain conditions.

SCHEDULE 3

LITIGATION OF SELLERS

I. Ordinary Course of Business Litigation

As a residential mortgage lender originating, closing and servicing loans in all 50 states, Quicken Loans Inc. (and its Subsidiaries) may, at any point in time, be named as a party to dozens of legal proceedings which arise in the ordinary course of business, such as actions alleging improper lending practices, improper servicing, quiet title actions, improper foreclosure practices, violations of consumer protection laws, etc. and on account of consumer bankruptcies. In many of these actions, Quicken Loans (and its Subsidiaries) may not be the real party of interest (because Quicken Loans is not the servicer of the loan or the holder of the note) but it may appear in the pleadings because it is in the chain of title to property over which there may be a dispute. Such matters are turned over to the servicer of the loan for those loans Quicken Loans or its Subsidiary do not service. In other cases, such as lien avoidance cases brought in bankruptcy, Quicken Loans or its Subsidiary are insured by title insurance and the case is turned over to the title insurer who tenders our defense.

As to other matters that arise in the ordinary course, management does not believe that the amount of liability, if any, for any of the pending matters individually or in the aggregate will materially affect Quicken Loans' consolidated financial position in a material way. However, regardless of the outcome of this or other matters referred to herein, litigation can have a significant effect on Quicken Loans and its Subsidiaries for other reasons such as defense costs, diversion of management focus and resources, and other factors. To the best of Quicken Loans' information and belief, there are no outstanding judgments, liens or orders that have not been satisfied.

II. Non-Ordinary Course of Business Litigation

Case Title	Court	Case Number	Nature of Action	Description of Claims	Date Served
United States of America vs. Quicken Loans Inc.	US District Court, Eastern District, Michigan	16-cv-14050	False Claims Act	The U.S. claims that QL violated the False Claims Act by falsely certifying that FHA loans made by Quicken Loans met FHA underwriting requirements.	4/23/2015
Alex Jacobs vs. Quicken Loans Inc.	US District Court, Southern District, Florida	15-cv-81386	TCPA	Putative class action alleges violations of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act by claiming QL used prerecorded voice messaging and automatic dialers for marketing purposes on cell phones without consent.	10/8/2015
Residential Funding Company vs. Quicken Loans Inc., et al.	District Court, Hennepin County, Minnesota	14-cv-3111	Breach of Contract	Plaintiff asserts claims for repurchase or indemnification based on origination and underwriting errors.	12/16/2013

Case Title	Court	Case Number	Nature of Action	Description of Claims	Date Served
Deutsche Bank National Trust Company, solely as Trustee of the Harborview Mortgage Loan Trust (2007-7) vs. Quicken Loans Inc.	Supreme Court, New York County, New York	13-653048	Breach of Contract	Plaintiff-trustee, on behalf of Freddie Mac, claims that Quicken Loans breached a contract to sell loans consistent with certain representations and warranties and failed to repurchase loans when required. * Notice of Appeal filed by Plaintiff, Deutsche Bank National Trust Company.	8/30/2013
Phillip Alig, et al. vs. Quicken Loans Inc., et al.	US District Court, Northern District, West Virginia	11-c-428	Lender Liability	Class action lawsuit alleging violation of state consumer protection statutes for providing homeowner's estimated values to appraisers.	6/25/2012
Eileen Nece vs. Quicken Loans	United States District Court Middle District of Florida	8:16-cv-02605- SDM-TBM	Lender Liability	Putative class action alleges violations of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act by claiming: (a) QL called her, without express consent, on her landline using a prerecorded message; (b) QL called her, without express consent, even though her number was on the national DNC list; (c) QL called her without having procedures in place for maintaining an internal DNC list; and (d) QL failed to timely opt her out.	9/8/2016
Re/Max, LLC vs. Quicken Loans Inc.	US District Court, Colorado	16-CV-02357- CMA	Breach of Contract	Breach of contract claim alleging that RE/MAX fulfilled their duties under the terms of the contract and that Quicken Loans failed to perform its obligations, namely, to make payment for services provided.	9/20/2016

Case Title	Court	Case Number	Nature of Action	Description of Claims	Date Served
Tamika McLemore vs. Quicken Loans Inc.	US District Court, Michigan	16-cv-14397	TCPA	Plaintiff alleges violation of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act by claiming: (a) QL used prerecorded messages when calling her, (b) QL called her using an autodialer, and (c) QL called her despite the fact that her number was on the National DNC list. McLemore claims that she never provided express written consent for QL to contact her using any of the methods described above.	12/23/2016

III. Regulatory and Administrative Matters

As a non-depository mortgage banker, Quicken Loans (and its Subsidiaries) are regulated by and subject to various state agencies that oversee and regulate (a) mortgage lending and the activities of bank and/or non-bank financial institutions and/or (b) insurance agency / escrow agent activities and practices. These state agencies are generally authorized to: issue licenses or registrations where state law requires; conduct periodic on-site or remote audits or examinations of the regulated institution's books, files and practices; investigate consumer complaints; issue findings of audit or compliance variances that may require refunds to borrowers for charges beyond those permitted under the state's laws or regulations; assess fines or penalties if administrative rules are not adhered to, and/or require other corrective actions to be taken. These agencies also have the authority to seek revocation of an institution's or individual's license or registration to operate as a mortgage lender or loan originator in the state. In the ordinary course of business and in any given year, Quicken Loans (and its Subsidiaries) participate in and respond to numerous regular periodic state examinations, while at the same time responding to examination findings from other states. In some instances, Quicken Loans (and its Subsidiaries) may dispute the state agency's findings and/or attempt to reconcile our differences. In other instances Quicken Loans (and its Subsidiaries) may undertake corrective action before being required to do so by the state regulator. In some states, the state's attorney general may also investigate consumer complaints regarding mortgage lending and issue subpoenas, commence informal inquiries or formal investigations. As a licensed mortgage banker, we are in the ordinary course of business, subject to such inquiries and investigations. Quicken Loans and its Subsidiaries have thirty team members on its legal/compliance team consisting of in-house lawyers, paralegals and compliance personnel who manage this part of the business. Although Quicken Loans (and its Subsidiaries) may currently be subject to various state examinations and consumer complaint inquiries, management does not believe the outcomes of these examinations or inquiries, individually or in the aggregate, will materially affect Quicken Loans' consolidated financial position or operations in a material way.

FORM OF POWER OF ATTORNEY

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, that [ ] ("Seller") hereby irrevocably constitutes and appoints Credit Suisse First Boston Mortgage Capital LLC ("Administrative Agent") and any officer or agent thereof, with full power of substitution, as its true and lawful attorney-in-fact with full irrevocable power and authority in the place and stead of Seller and in the name of Seller or in its own name, from time to time in Administrative Agent's discretion in accordance with the terms of the Third Amended and Restated Master Repurchase Agreement (as amended, restated, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time) dated May 24, 2017 (the "Agreement"), for the purpose of carrying out the terms of the Agreement, to take any and all appropriate action and to execute any and all documents and instruments which may be necessary or reasonably desirable to accomplish the purposes of the Agreement, and, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, Seller hereby gives Administrative Agent the power and right, on behalf of Seller, without assent by, but with notice to, Seller, if permitted under the terms of the Agreement to do the following, for the purpose of:

(a) in the name of Seller, or in its own name, or otherwise, to take possession of and endorse and collect any checks, drafts, notes, acceptances or other instruments for the payment of moneys due with respect to any assets purchased by Administrative Agent on behalf of certain Buyers under the Agreement (the "Assets") and to file any claim or to take any other action or proceeding in any court of law or equity or otherwise deemed appropriate by Administrative Agent for the purpose of collecting any and all such moneys due with respect to any assets whenever payable;

(b) to pay or discharge taxes and liens levied or placed on or threatened against the Assets;

(c) (i) to direct any party liable for any payment under any Assets to make payment of any and all moneys due or to become due thereunder directly to Administrative Agent or as Administrative Agent shall direct; (ii) to ask or demand for, collect, receive payment of and receipt for, any and all moneys, claims and other amounts due or to become due at any time in respect of or arising out of any Assets; (iii) to sign and endorse any invoices, assignments, verifications, notices and other documents in connection with any Assets; (iv) to commence and prosecute any suits, actions or proceedings at law or in equity in any court of competent jurisdiction to collect the Assets or any proceeds thereof and to enforce any other right in respect of any Assets; (v) to defend any suit, action or proceeding brought against Seller with respect to any Assets; (vi) to settle, compromise or adjust any suit, action or proceeding described in clause (v) above and, in connection therewith, to give such discharges or releases as Administrative Agent may in its sole good faith discretion deem appropriate; and (vii) generally, to sell, transfer, pledge and make any agreement with respect to or otherwise deal with any Assets as fully and completely as though Administrative Agent were the absolute owner thereof for all purposes, and to do, at Administrative Agent's option and Seller's expense, at any time, and from time to time, all acts and things which Administrative Agent in its sole good faith discretion deems necessary to protect, preserve or realize upon the Assets and Administrative Agent's Liens thereon and to effect the intent of the Agreement, all as fully and effectively as Seller might do;

(d) for the purpose of carrying out the transfer of servicing with respect to the Assets from Seller to a successor servicer appointed by Administrative Agent in its sole discretion and to take any and all appropriate action and to execute any and all documents and instruments which may be necessary or desirable to accomplish such transfer of servicing, and, without limiting the generality of the foregoing, Seller hereby gives Administrative Agent the power and right, on behalf of Seller, without assent by Seller, to, in the name of Seller or its own name, or otherwise, prepare and send or cause to be sent "good-bye" letters to all mortgagors under the Assets, transferring the servicing of the Assets to a successor servicer appointed by Administrative Agent in its sole discretion; and

(e) for the purpose of delivering any notices of sale to mortgagors or other third parties, including without limitation, those required by law.

Seller hereby ratifies all that said attorneys shall lawfully do or cause to be done by virtue hereof. This power of attorney is a power coupled with an interest and shall be irrevocable, unless as otherwise provided in the Agreement. This power of attorney amends, restates and supersedes any previous power of attorney between Seller and Administrative Agent.

Any capitalized term used but not defined herein shall have the meaning assigned to such term in the Agreement.

Seller also authorizes Administrative Agent, from time to time, to execute, in connection with any sale provided for in the Agreement, any endorsements, assignments or other instruments of conveyance or transfer with respect to the Assets.

The powers conferred on Administrative Agent hereunder are solely to protect Administrative Agent's interests in the Assets and shall not impose any duty upon it to exercise any such powers. Administrative Agent shall be accountable only for amounts that it actually receives as a result of the exercise of such powers, and neither it nor any of its officers, directors, employees or agents shall be responsible to Seller for any act or failure to act hereunder, except for its or their own gross negligence or willful misconduct.

TO INDUCE ANY THIRD PARTY TO ACT HEREUNDER, SELLER HEREBY AGREES THAT ANY THIRD PARTY RECEIVING A DULY EXECUTED COPY OR FACSIMILE OF THIS INSTRUMENT MAY ACT HEREUNDER, AND THAT REVOCATION OR TERMINATION HEREOF SHALL BE INEFFECTIVE AS TO SUCH THIRD PARTY UNLESS AND UNTIL ACTUAL NOTICE OR KNOWLEDGE OF SUCH REVOCATION OR TERMINATION SHALL HAVE BEEN RECEIVED BY SUCH THIRD PARTY, AND ADMINISTRATIVE AGENT ON ITS OWN BEHALF AND ON BEHALF OF ADMINISTRATIVE AGENT'S ASSIGNS, HEREBY AGREES TO INDEMNIFY AND HOLD HARMLESS ANY SUCH THIRD PARTY FROM AND AGAINST ANY AND ALL CLAIMS THAT MAY ARISE AGAINST SUCH THIRD PARTY BY REASON OF SUCH THIRD PARTY HAVING RELIED ON THE PROVISIONS OF THIS INSTRUMENT.

[REMAINDER OF PAGE INTENTIONALLY BLANK. SIGNATURES FOLLOW.]

FORM OF ESCROW INSTRUCTION LETTER TO BE PROVIDED BY SELLER BEFORE CLOSING

The escrow instruction letter (the "Escrow Instruction Letter") shall also include the following instruction to the Settlement Agent (the "Escrow Agent"):

Credit Suisse First Boston Mortgage Capital LLC (the "Administrative Agent"), has agreed to provide funds ("Escrow Funds") to Quicken Loans Inc. and One Reverse Mortgage, LLC to finance certain mortgage loans (the "Mortgage Loans") for which you are acting as Escrow Agent.

You hereby agree that (a) you shall receive such Escrow Funds from Administrative Agent to be disbursed in connection with this Escrow Instruction Letter, (b) you will hold such Escrow Funds in trust, without deduction, set-off or counterclaim for the sole and exclusive benefit of Administrative Agent until such Escrow Funds are fully disbursed on behalf of Administrative Agent in accordance with the instructions set forth herein, and (c) you will disburse such Escrow Funds on the date specified for closing (the "Closing Date") only after you have followed the Escrow Instruction Letter's requirements with respect to the Mortgage Loans. In the event that the Escrow Funds cannot be disbursed on the Closing Date in accordance with the Escrow Instruction Letter, you agree to promptly remit the Escrow Funds to the Administrative Agent by re-routing via wire transfer the Escrow Funds in immediately available funds, without deduction, set-off or counterclaim, back to the account specified in Administrative Agent's incoming wire transfer.

You further agree that, upon disbursement of the Escrow Funds, you will hold all Mortgage Loan Documents specified in the Escrow Instruction Letter in escrow as agent and bailee for Administrative Agent, and will forward the Mortgage Loan Documents and original Escrow Instruction Letter in connection with such Mortgage Loans by overnight courier (y) to the Custodian within five (5) Business Days following the date of origination.

You agree that all fees, charges and expenses regarding your services to be performed pursuant to the Escrow Instruction Letter are to be paid by any Seller or its borrowers, and Administrative Agent shall have no liability with respect thereto.

You represent, warrant and covenant that you are not an affiliate of or otherwise controlled by Sellers, and that you are acting as an independent contractor and not as an agent of any Seller.

The provisions of this Escrow Instruction Letter may not be modified, amended or altered, except by written instrument, executed by the parties hereto and Administrative Agent. You understand that Administrative Agent shall act in reliance upon the provisions set forth in this Escrow Instruction Letter, and that Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers is an intended third party beneficiary hereof.

Whether or not an Escrow Instruction Letter executed by you is received by the Custodian, your acceptance of the Escrow Funds shall be deemed to constitute your acceptance of the Escrow Instruction Letter.

Section 1. Remittance to Account; Notice of Default.

Upon receipt of a notice of an event of default under the Repurchase Agreement from Administrative Agent (a "Notice of Event of Default") in which Administrative Agent shall identify the mortgage loans which are then pledged to Administrative Agent under the Repurchase Agreement (the "Subject Assets"), the Servicer shall segregate all amounts (the "Servicing Income") collected on account of such Subject Assets, hold them in trust for the sole and exclusive benefit of Administrative Agent, and remit such collections in accordance with the Administrative Agent's written instructions. Following such Notice of Event of Default, Servicer shall (i) continue to service the Subject Assets in accordance with the Servicing Agreement; (ii) follow the instructions of Administrative Agent with respect to the Subject Assets in accordance with the Servicing Agreement, and (iii) deliver to Administrative Agent any information with respect to the Subject Assets reasonably requested by Administrative Agent.

Upon a Notice of Event of Default, Administrative Agent will have the right to immediately terminate Servicer's right to service the Subject Assets without payment of any penalty or termination fee under the Servicing Agreement. Upon receipt of such Notice of Event of Default, [Quicken Loans][One Reverse] and the Servicer shall cooperate in transferring the applicable servicing of the Subject Assets to a successor servicer appointed by Administrative Agent in its sole discretion.

Notwithstanding any contrary information which may be delivered to the Servicer by [Quicken Loans][One Reverse], the Servicer may conclusively rely on any information or Notice of Event of Default delivered by Administrative Agent, and [Quicken Loans][One Reverse] shall indemnify and hold the Servicer harmless for any and all claims asserted against it for any actions taken in good faith by the Servicer in connection with the delivery of such information or Notice of Event of Default.

Administrative Agent, for the benefit of itself and each applicable Buyer is an intended third party beneficiary of the Servicing Agreement with full enforcement rights thereunder.

Notwithstanding any contrary information which may be delivered to the Servicer by [Quicken Loans][One Reverse], the Servicer may conclusively rely on any information or notice delivered by Administrative Agent.

Section 2. Back-up Administrative Agent; Successor Administrative Agent.

In the event that the Administrative Agent gives the Servicer written notice that a back-up Administrative Agent (the "Back-up Administrative Agent") has been appointed under the Repurchase Agreement, then to the extent that the Servicer subsequently receives written notice from the Back-up Administrative Agent that it has assumed the role of Administrative Agent thereunder (in such case, the "Successor Administrative Agent"), then the Successor Administrative Agent shall assume all rights and obligations of the Administrative Agent hereunder, with no further action required by the parties, and the Servicer shall follow the directions of the Successor Administrative Agent hereunder for all directions to be given by the Administrative Agent hereunder.

Section 3. Servicer as Bailee. Servicer hereby acknowledges and agrees that on receipt of any Mortgage Loan File with respect to the Subject Assets, it shall hold such Mortgage Loan File as bailee for Administrative Agent.

Section 4. Counterparts. This Servicer Notice may be executed in any number of counterparts, all of which taken together constitutes one and the same instrument, and each party hereto may execute this Servicer Notice by signing any such counterpart.

Section 5. Entire Agreement. This Servicer Notice, together with the Servicing Agreement, constitutes the entire understanding between [Quicken Loans][One Reverse] and Servicer with respect to the subject matter they cover and supersedes any existing agreements between the parties relating to the matters provided for herein and therein. No alteration, waiver, amendments, or change or supplement hereto will be binding or effective unless the same is set forth in writing by a duly authorized representative of each party hereto.

AMENDMENT NO. 1
TO THIRD AMENDED AND RESTATED MASTER REPURCHASE AGREEMENT

Amendment No. 1 to Third Amended and Restated Master Repurchase Agreement, dated as of October 23, 2019 (this "Amendment"), among CREDIT SUISSE FIRST BOSTON MORTGAGE CAPITAL LLC (the "Administrative Agent"), CREDIT SUISSE AG, a company incorporated in Switzerland, acting through its Cayman Islands Branch ("CS Cayman" and a "Buyer"), ALPINE SECURITIZATION LTD ("Alpine" and a "Buyer") and other Buyers from time to time party to the Master Repurchase Agreement (collectively, the "Buyers"), QUICKEN LOANS INC. ("Quicken Loans" and a "Seller") and ONE REVERSE MORTGAGE, LLC ("One Reverse" and a "Seller", and together with Quicken Loans, the "Sellers").

RECITALS

The Administrative Agent, Buyers and the Sellers are parties to that certain Third Amended and Restated Master Repurchase Agreement, dated as of May 24, 2017 (as amended, restated, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time other than by this Amendment, the "Existing Master Repurchase Agreement"; and as amended by this Amendment, the "Master Repurchase Agreement"). Capitalized terms used but not otherwise defined herein shall have the meanings given to them in the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement.

The Administrative Agent, the Buyers and the Sellers have agreed, subject to the terms and conditions of this Amendment, that the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement be amended to reflect certain agreed upon revisions to the terms of the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement.

Accordingly, the Administrative Agent, the Buyers and the Sellers hereby agree, in consideration of the mutual promises and mutual obligations set forth herein, that the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement is hereby amended as follows:

SECTION 1. Definitions. Section 2 of the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement is hereby amended by:

1.1 deleting the definitions of "BPO", "Change in Control", "Custodial Agreement", "Mortgage Loan", "One Reverse Termination Trigger Event" and "Underwriting Guidelines" in their entirety and replacing them with the following:

"BPO" means an opinion of the fair market value of a Mortgaged Property given by a licensed real estate agent or broker in conformity with customary and usual business practices, which includes three (3) comparable sales and three (3) comparable listings and complies with the criteria set forth in the Financial Institutions Reform, Recovery and Enforcement Act of 1989 for an "appraisal" or an "evaluation" as applicable.

"Change in Control" means:

(A) any transaction or event as a result of which Permitted Holders cease to directly or indirectly own beneficially or of record, more than fifty percent (50%) of the voting stock of Quicken Loans;

(B) the sale, transfer, or other disposition of all or substantially all of Quicken Loans' assets (excluding any such action taken in connection with any securitization transaction), which sale, transfer, or other disposition occurs without Administrative Agent's prior written consent; or

(C) the consummation of a merger or consolidation of Quicken Loans with or into another entity or any other corporate reorganization (which merger or consolidation occurs without Administrative Agent's prior written consent; provided that such consent shall be deemed to have been given if Administrative Agent does not respond within ten (10) Business Days after Quicken Loans' written notice to Administrative Agent of the consummation of any such events), if more than fifty percent (50%) of the combined voting power of the continuing or surviving entity's stock outstanding immediately after such merger, consolidation or such other reorganization is owned by Persons who were not stockholders of Quicken Loans immediately prior to such merger, consolidation or other reorganization; provided, however, that notwithstanding anything herein to the contrary, it is understood and agreed that, so long as it does not otherwise create a Default or Event of Default hereunder, any sale, transfer, or other disposition of all or substantially all of One Reverse's assets or equity interests in One Reverse, any consummation of a share exchange, merger or consolidation of One Reverse with or into another entity, any liquidation of One Reverse or any other corporate reorganization after which Permitted Holders continue to directly or indirectly own beneficially or of record more than fifty percent (50%) of the voting equity interests of Quicken Loans or its successor shall not be deemed to be a Change of Control.

"Mortgage Loan" means any residential, business or commercial mortgage loan (including a home equity loan and HECM Loans) evidenced by a Mortgage Note and secured by a first or second lien mortgage, which satisfies the requirements set forth in the applicable Underwriting Guidelines and Section 13(b) hereof; provided, however, that Mortgage Loans shall not include any High Cost Mortgage Loans.

"One Reverse Termination Trigger Event" means the occurrence of any of the following:

(1) While One Reverse is a Seller hereunder, any transaction or event as a result of which Permitted Holders cease to directly or indirectly own beneficially or of record, at least fifty-one percent (51%) of the membership interests of One Reverse; provided, however, so long as it does not otherwise create a Default or Event of Default hereunder, any transaction, event, sale, transfer, or other disposition of all or substantially all of One Reverse's assets or equity interests in One Reverse, any consummation of a share exchange, merger or consolidation of One Reverse with or into another entity, or any other corporate reorganization after which Permitted Holders continue to directly or indirectly own beneficially or of record more than fifty percent (50%) of the voting equity interests of Quicken Loans or its successor shall not be deemed to be a One

Reverse Termination Trigger Event; provided, that One Reverse shall be deemed removed from this Agreement and all applicable Program Agreements;

(2) the sale, transfer, or other disposition of all or substantially all of One Reverse's assets (excluding any such action taken in connection with any securitization transaction or any action that complies with clause (1) above), which sale, transfer, or other disposition occurs without Administrative Agent's prior written consent;

(3) a material impairment of the ability of One Reverse to perform under any Program Agreement and to avoid any Event of Default or a material adverse effect upon the legality, validity, binding effect or enforceability of any Program Agreement against One Reverse;

(4) One Reverse is insolvent, or is rendered insolvent by any Transaction and, after giving effect to such Transaction, is left with an unreasonably small amount of capital with which to engage in its business;

(5) One Reverse incurs, or believes that it has incurred, debts beyond its ability to pay such debts as they mature or is contemplating the commencement of insolvency, bankruptcy, liquidation or consolidation proceedings or the appointment of a receiver, liquidator, conservator, trustee or similar official in respect of such entity or any of its assets;

(6) One Reverse enters into any transaction to liquidate, wind up or dissolve itself (or suffers any liquidation, winding up or dissolution); provided, however, that if such liquidation, winding up or dissolution results in Quicken Loans owning all of the Purchased Mortgage Loans subject to rights hereunder, such action shall not constitute a One Reverse Termination Trigger Event and One Reverse shall be deemed removed from this Agreement and all applicable Program Agreements;

(7) One Reverse fails to maintain its status with GNMA as an approved lender in good standing (unless such failure is an independent decision of One Reverse and in no way attributed to a disapproval or other adverse action taken against One Reverse specifically (as opposed to all approved lenders generally) by GNMA), if such failure is not cured within ten (10) Business Days following receipt of written notice of such failure;

(8) any material adverse change in the Property, business, financial condition or operations of One Reverse, in each case as determined by Administrative Agent in its sole good faith discretion, or any other condition exists which, in Administrative Agent's sole good faith discretion, constitutes a material impairment of One Reverse's ability to perform its obligations under this Agreement or any other Program Agreement; or

(9) any Governmental Authority or any person, agency or entity acting or purporting to act under governmental authority shall have taken any action to condemn, seize or appropriate, or to assume custody or control of, all or any substantial part of the Property of One Reverse or shall have taken any action to displace the Executive Management of One Reverse or to materially curtail its authority in the conduct of the business of One Reverse, or takes any action in the nature of enforcement to remove, limit or restrict the approval of One Reverse as an issuer or buyer of Mortgage Loans or securities backed thereby, and such action (i) is determined by Administrative Agent in its sole good faith discretion to be materially adverse to Administrative Agent and Buyers taken as a whole, One Reverse, the Repurchase Assets or One Reverse's ability to perform under this Agreement and (ii) shall not have been discontinued or stayed within thirty (30) days.

"Underwriting Guidelines" means: (i) with respect to any Mortgage Loans for which an Agency is the intended Take-Out Investor, such Agency's standards, procedures and guidelines for underwriting and acquiring Mortgage Loans; (ii) with respect to any Mortgage Loans for which Administrative Agent or an Affiliate of Administrative Agent is the intended Take-Out Investor, Administrative Agent's or such Affiliate's standards, procedures, and guidelines (as provided to Sellers) for underwriting and acquiring Mortgage Loans; and (iii) with respect to any Mortgage Loans for which a Take-Out Investor other than one specified in subsections (i) or (ii) immediately above is the intended Take-Out Investor, such Take-Out Investor's standards, procedures, and guidelines for underwriting and acquiring Mortgage Loans, which standards, procedures, and guidelines described in this clause (iii), to the extent that they differ from Agency standards, procedures, and guidelines, shall be provided by Sellers to Administrative Agent and approved by Administrative Agent in writing in its sole discretion.

1.2 adding the following new definitions in their proper alphabetical order:

"BPL — Long" means a Business Purpose Mortgage Loan with respect to which (a) the related Mortgaged Property consists of not more than eight (8) units and (b) the related maturity date is five (5) years or more from the date of the Mortgage Note.

"Business Purpose Mortgage Loan" means a Mortgage Loan with respect to which the related Mortgaged Property (a) is non-owner occupied; (b) is primarily used for business or commercial purposes (as referenced in the Truth and Lending Act and its implementing regulation, Regulation Z); and (c) has been acquired or originated in accordance with applicable Underwriting Guidelines.

"Non-QM Loan — Low FICO Mortgage Loan" means a Mortgage Loan (a) that is a Non-Agency Non-QM Mortgage Loan and (b) for which the Mortgagor's FICO score at the time of origination was at least [] but not greater than []

"Permitted Holders" means any or all of the following: (i) [] together with (a) his spouse and children (natural or adopted) and (b) the estate, heirs, executors, personal representatives, successors or administrators upon or as a result of the death, incapacity or incompetency of such person for purposes of the protection and management of such person's assets), and (ii) any Person the equity interests of which are owned 80% by the Persons specified in clause (i), or in the case of a trust, the beneficial interests in which are owned 80% by, or the majority of the trustees of which are, Persons specified in clause (i).

"Successor Rate" means an alternative benchmark rate (including any mathematical or other adjustments to the benchmark rate (if any) incorporated therein) implemented by Administrative Agent (as determined in its good faith discretion) which Administrative Agent has also implemented under repurchase facilities with similarly situated sellers in repurchase facilities with similar assets and administered by Administrative Agent through its New York office.

"Successor Rate Conforming Changes" means with respect to any proposed Successor Rate, any spread adjustments or other conforming changes to the timing and frequency of determining rates and making payments of interest and other administrative matters as may be appropriate, in the good faith discretion of Administrative Agent, to reflect the adoption of such Successor Rate and to permit the administration thereof by Administrative Agent.

SECTION 2. Price Differential. Section 5 of the Existing Repurchase Agreement is hereby amended by adding the following new subsection (d) at the end thereof:

(d) If prior to any Price Differential Payment Date, Administrative Agent determines in its good faith discretion that, by reason of circumstances affecting the relevant market, adequate and reasonable means do not exist for ascertaining LIBOR, LIBOR is no longer in existence, or the administrator of LIBOR or a Governmental Authority having jurisdiction over Administrative Agent has made a public statement identifying a specific date after which LIBOR shall no longer be made available or used for determining the interest rate of loans, Administrative Agent shall give sixty (60) days' written notice to Sellers that Administrative Agent will implement a Successor Rate and such notice shall identify such Successor Rate, together with any proposed Successor Rate Conforming Changes. Seller may, within thirty (30) days after receipt of such notice, elect to terminate this Agreement on an elected termination date that is on or after the date such Successor Rate is effective. Upon such termination, Seller shall have no further liability for the Commitment Fee or to pay further installments thereof with respect to any period after such termination.

SECTION 3. Conditions Precedent. Section 10 of the Existing Repurchase Agreement is hereby amended by deleting subsection (b)(7) in its entirety and replacing it with the following:

(7) Requirements of Law. Neither Administrative Agent nor Buyers shall have determined that the introduction of or a change in any Requirement of Law or in the interpretation or administration of any Requirement of Law applicable to Administrative Agent or any Buyer has made it unlawful, and no Governmental Authority shall have asserted that it is unlawful, for Administrative Agent or any Buyer to enter into Transactions with a Pricing Rate based on LIBOR or a Successor Rate, as applicable.

SECTION 4. Representations and Warranties. Schedule 1 to the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement is hereby amended by:

4.1 deleting paragraphs (a), (v), (ee), (ll) and (eee) and replacing them with the corresponding paragraphs on Annex A attached hereto; and

4.2 adding the paragraphs on Annex B attached hereto at the end thereof.

SECTION 5. Limited Waiver. The Administrative Agent, on behalf of itself and on behalf of each Buyer, hereby confirms that it has agreed that no Default or Event of Default shall be deemed to have occurred in connection with the One Reverse's failure to comply with the net worth requirements of HUD and report such failures to HUD each pursuant to the terms of the applicable Agency guide; provided that (a) Quicken Loans remains in good standing with HUD; (b) Quicken Loans maintains all HUD and related Agency approvals and (c) no other Default or Event of Default has occurred and is continuing.

SECTION 6. Litigation Schedule. Schedule 3 to the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement is hereby deleted in its entirety and replaced with Schedule 3 as Annex C hereto.

SECTION 7. Effectiveness of Amendment. This Amendment shall become effective as of the date hereof (the "Amendment Effective Date"), subject to the satisfaction of the following conditions precedent:

7.1 Delivered Documents. On the Amendment Effective Date, the Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers shall have received the following documents, each of which shall be satisfactory to the Administrative Agent in form and substance:

(a) this Amendment, executed and delivered by duly authorized officers, as applicable, of the Administrative Agent, Buyers and Sellers; and

(b) Amendment No. 6 to the Pricing Side Letter, executed and delivered by duly authorized officers, as applicable, of the Administrative Agent, Buyers and Sellers;

SECTION 8. Representations and Warranties. Except as set forth in Section 5 hereof, each Seller hereby represents and warrants to the Administrative Agent and Buyers that it is in compliance with all the terms and provisions set forth in the Master Repurchase Agreement on its part to be observed or performed, and that no Event of Default has occurred or is continuing, and hereby confirms and reaffirms the representations and warranties contained in Section 13 of the Master Repurchase Agreement.

SECTION 9. Limited Effect. Except as expressly amended and modified by this Amendment, the Existing Master Repurchase Agreement shall continue to be, and shall remain, in full force and effect in accordance with its terms. The execution and delivery of this Amendment shall not, other than as set forth in Section 5 above, constitute a waiver of any Default or Event of Default, or otherwise affect any right, power or remedy of Administrative Agent and Buyers under the Repurchase Agreement or any other document related thereto, including without limitation, any future breaches of, or Defaults or Events of Default under, the Repurchase Agreement or other document related thereto.

SECTION 10. Counterparts. This Amendment may be executed in any number of counterparts each of which shall constitute one and the same instrument, and each party hereto may execute this Amendment by signing any such counterpart. Delivery of an executed counterpart of a signature page of this Amendment in Portable Document Format (PDF) or by facsimile shall be effective as delivery of a manually executed original counterpart of this Amendment.

SECTION 11. Severability. Each provision and agreement herein shall be treated as separate and independent from any other provision or agreement herein and shall be enforceable notwithstanding the unenforceability of any such other provision or agreement.

SECTION 12. GOVERNING LAW. THIS AMENDMENT SHALL BE GOVERNED BY, AND CONSTRUED IN ACCORDANCE WITH, THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK WITHOUT REFERENCE TO THE CHOICE OF LAW PROVISIONS THEREOF.

ANNEX A

(a) Mortgage Loan Schedule. The information set forth in the Mortgage Loan Schedule, including any diskette or other related data tapes sent to the Administrative Agent, is complete, true and correct in all material respects as of the Purchase Date. With respect to each Business Purpose Mortgage Loan, no appraisal, BPO or other property valuation referred to or used to determine any data listed on the Mortgage Loan Schedule for such Mortgage Loan was more than one hundred eighty (180) days old as of the origination date of the related Mortgage Loan.

(v) Appraisal. Unless Fannie Mae, FHA, Freddie Mac, GNMA, HUD or VA requires otherwise and except for Business Purpose Mortgage Loans, the Mortgage File contains either (i) to the extent permitted by the applicable Agency, a Property Inspection Waiver (as defined in the applicable Agency guidelines) or (ii) an appraisal of the related Mortgaged Property signed prior to the final approval of the mortgage loan application by a Qualified Appraiser (as defined below in this Schedule 1), who had no interest, direct or indirect, in the Mortgaged Property or in any loan made on the security thereof, and whose compensation is not affected by the approval or disapproval of the Mortgage Loan, and the appraisal and appraiser both satisfy the requirements of Fannie Mae, FHA, Freddie Mac, GNMA, HUD or VA and Title XI of FIRREA and the regulations promulgated thereunder, all as in effect on the date the Mortgage Loan was originated. Except for Business Purpose Mortgage Loans, the appraisal is in a form acceptable to Fannie Mae, FHA, Freddie Mac, GNMA, HUD or VA. The appraisal for such Business Purpose Mortgage Loan was written, in form and substance, to (i) customary standards for mortgage loans of the same type as such Mortgage Loan and (ii) USPAP standards, and satisfies applicable legal and regulatory requirements.

(ee) Location and Type of Mortgaged Property. As to Mortgage Loans that are not secured by an interest in a leasehold estate, the Mortgaged Property is located in the state identified in the Mortgage Loan Schedule and consists of real property with a detached single family residence erected thereon, or a townhouse, or a two-to four-family dwelling, or an individual condominium unit in a condominium project, or an individual unit in a planned unit development or a de minimis planned unit development, provided, however, that no residence or dwelling is real property with a cooperative housing corporation erected thereon, or a mobile home. Except for Business Purpose Loans, as of the date of origination, no portion of the Mortgaged Property was used for commercial purposes (other than the use of a portion of such Mortgaged Property as a home office), and since the date of origination no portion of the Mortgaged Property has been used for commercial purposes (other than the use of a portion of such Mortgaged Property as a home office).

(ll) Construction or Rehabilitation of Mortgaged Property. Other than with respect to a Business Purpose Mortgage Loan, no Mortgage Loan was made in connection with the construction or rehabilitation of a Mortgaged Property or facilitating the trade-in or exchange of a Mortgaged Property. No Business Purpose Mortgage Loan was made in connection with the ground up construction of a Mortgaged Property.

(eee) TRID Compliance. With respect to each Mortgage Loan (other than a Business Purpose Mortgage Loan or Second Lien Mortgage Loan) where the Mortgagor's loan application for the Mortgage Loan was taken on or after October 3, 2015, such Mortgage Loan was originated in compliance with the TILA-RESPA Integrated Disclosure Rule.

(ggg) FICO Scores. With respect to each Non-QM — Low FICO Mortgage Loan, the Mortgagor's FICO score at the time of origination was [] or greater.

(hhh) Type of Loan. With respect to each Business Purpose Mortgage Loan, (i) the Mortgage Loan is primarily for business or commercial purposes (as referenced in the Truth and Lending Act and its implementing regulation, Regulation Z) and not primarily for personal, family or household purposes and (ii) the Mortgaged Property securing the related Mortgage is non-owner occupied. Such Business Purpose Mortgage Loan is not subject to the Truth in Lending Act and its implementing regulation, Regulation Z, and the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act and its implementing regulation, Regulation X. The Mortgagor has executed a business purpose affidavit stating that the Business Purpose Mortgage Loan is for commercial, business or investment purposes only and that the Mortgagor is not and will not occupy or claim the property as a primary or secondary residence.

(iii) Income/Employment/Assets. With respect to each Business Purpose Mortgage Loan, the originator verified the Mortgagor's income, employment, and assets in accordance with the Underwriting Guidelines.

(jjj) Source of Loan Payments. With respect to Business Purpose Mortgage Loans, no portion of the Mortgage Loan proceeds has been escrowed for the purpose of making monthly payments on behalf of the Mortgagor and no payments due and payable under the terms of the Mortgage Note and Mortgage, have been paid by any person (other than the Mortgagor and any guarantor) who was involved in, or benefited from, the sale or purchase of the Mortgaged Property or the origination, refinancing, sale, purchase or servicing of the Mortgage Loan.

(kkk) Access; Utilities; Separate Tax Lots. With respect to each Business Purpose Mortgage Loan, each Mortgaged Property (a) is located on or adjacent to a public road and has direct legal access to such road, or has access via an irrevocable easement or irrevocable right of way permitting ingress and egress to/from a public road, (b) is served by or has uninhibited access rights to public or private water and sewer (or well and septic) and electricity all of which are appropriate for the current use of such Mortgaged Property, and (c) constitutes one or more separate tax parcels which do not include any property which is not part of such Mortgaged Property or is subject to an endorsement under the related title policy insuring such Mortgaged Property.

(lll) Local Law Compliance. With respect to each Business Purpose Mortgage Loan, the terms of the related loan documents require the related Mortgagor to cause the Mortgaged Property to comply in all material respects with all applicable governmental regulations, zoning and building laws.

(mmm) Licenses and Permits. With respect to each Business Purpose Mortgage Loan, each Mortgagor covenants in the loan documents that it shall keep all material licenses, permits and applicable governmental authorizations necessary for its operation of each related Mortgaged Property in full force and effect, and all such licenses, permits and applicable governmental authorizations are in effect. No Seller is aware of any Mortgagor, guarantor or other obligor on any Mortgage Loan having received notice of any noncompliance with any use or occupancy law, ordinance, regulation, standard, license or certificate with respect to any Mortgaged Property.

(nnn) Mortgage Provisions. With respect to each Business Purpose Mortgage Loan, the Mortgage Note or the Mortgage contain provisions regarding the rights and remedies of the holder thereof for the realization against the related Mortgaged Property of the principal benefits of the security intended to be provided thereby, including realization by judicial or, if applicable, non-judicial foreclosure, subject to receivership, bankruptcy, insolvency, moratorium and other laws and principles of equity affecting the rights of creditors, whether considered in a proceeding at law or in equity.

(ooo) Mortgage Term/No Contingent Interest. With respect to each Business Purpose Mortgage Loan, no Mortgage Loan has a negative amortization feature or an equity participation by the applicable Seller.

(ppp) General Liability Insurance. With respect to each Business Purpose Mortgage Loans, the related Mortgaged Property is required pursuant to the related Mortgage to be (or the holder of the Mortgage can require that the Mortgaged Property be), and at origination the applicable Seller received evidence that such Mortgaged Property was, insured by a hazard and rental loss insurance policy (as applicable) in amounts as required for similar properties in accordance with the Underwriting Guidelines.

(qqq) Assignment of Leases and Rents. With respect to each Business Purpose Mortgage Loan, any assignment of leases, rents and profits or similar document or instrument executed by the related Mortgagor in connection with the origination of the related Mortgage Loan, as such document may be amended, modified, renewed or extended from time to time (the "Assignment of Leases and Rents") was duly executed, acknowledged and delivered and establishes and creates a valid and enforceable first priority collateral assignment of, or lien on, the related Mortgagor's interest in all leases, sub-leases, licenses or other agreements pursuant to which any person is entitled to occupy, use or possess all or any portion of the real property subject to the related Mortgage, subject to legal limitations of general applicability to mortgage loans similar to the Mortgage Loan, and the Mortgagor and each assignor of such Assignment of Leases and Rents to the applicable Seller have the full right to assign the same. Each Business Purpose Mortgage Loan contains an Assignment of Leases and Rents, and such Assignment of Leases and Rents is included either in the related Mortgage or in a related separate assignment document. The related assignment of any Assignment of Leases and Rents not included in the related Mortgage has been executed and delivered to the Administrative Agent in blank, is otherwise in recordable form and constitutes a legal, valid and binding assignment, sufficient to convey to the assignee named therein (assuming that the assignee has the capacity to acquire such Assignment of Leases and Rents) all of the assignor's right, title and interest in, to and under such Assignment of Leases and Rents.

(rrr) Nonconforming Uses. With respect to each Business Purpose Mortgage Loan, if the Mortgaged Property constitutes a legal nonconforming use, the nonconforming improvements may be rebuilt to current density and used and occupied for such nonconforming purposes if damaged or destroyed or there is an ordinance and law endorsement to the hazard policy covering such Mortgaged Property, all unless otherwise disclosed to Administrative Agent in writing.

(sss) No Releases. With respect to each Business Purpose Mortgage Loan, no Mortgage Note or Mortgage requires the mortgagee to release all or any material portion of the related Mortgaged Property that was included in the valuation for such Mortgaged Property, and/or generates income, from the lien of the related Mortgage except upon payment in full of all amounts due under the related Business Purpose Mortgage Loan.

SCHEDULE 3

LITIGATION OF SELLERS

I. Ordinary Course of Business Litigation

As a residential mortgage lender originating, closing and servicing loans in all 50 states, Quicken Loans Inc. may, at any point in time, be named as a party to dozens of legal proceedings which arise in the ordinary course of business, such as actions alleging improper lending practices, improper servicing, quiet title actions, improper foreclosure practices, violations of consumer protection laws, etc. In many of these actions, Quicken Loans may not be the real party of interest, but it may appear in the pleadings because it is in the chain of title to property over which there may be a dispute. In other cases, such as lien avoidance cases brought in bankruptcy, Quicken Loans is insured by title insurance and the case is turned over to the title insurer who tenders our defense.

As to other matters that arise in the ordinary course, management does not believe that the amount of liability, if any, for any of the pending matters individually or in the aggregate will materially affect Quicken Loans' consolidated financial position. However, regardless of the outcome of the matters referred to herein, litigation can have a significant effect on Quicken Loans for other reasons such as defense costs, diversion of management focus and resources, and other factors. To the best of Quicken Loans' information and belief, there are no outstanding judgments, liens or orders that have not been satisfied.

II. Non-Ordinary Course of Business Litigation

Case Title	Court	Case Number	Nature of Action	Description of Claims	Date Served
Phillip Alig, et al. vs. Quicken Loans Inc., et al.	US Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit	11-c-428	Lender Liability	Class action lawsuit alleging violation of state consumer protection statutes for providing homeowner's estimated values to appraisers.	6/25/2012
Erik Mattson vs. Quicken Loans Inc., et al.	US District Court for the District of Oregon	3:17-cv-01840	Consumer Protection	Putative class action alleges violations of the Telephone Consumer Protection Act by claiming, among other things, that: (a) QL called him, without express consent, even though his number was on the national DNC list; and (b) QL called him without having the proper procedures in place for maintaining an internal do not call list.	11/29/2017
HouseCanary, Inc. vs. Quicken Loans Inc., One Reverse Mortgage, LLC, and In-House Realty LLC	US District Court for the Northern District of California	3:18-cv-01672	Intellectual Property	Lawsuit alleging that Quicken Loans (and the other defendants) have misappropriated HouseCanary's trade secret information and used the purported trade secrets to their advantage.	3/21/2018

Ajomale v. Quicken Loans, Inc. and Corelogic Credco, LLC	US District Court for the Southern District of Alabama	17-539-JB-MU	Fair Credit Reporting Act	Putative class action alleging Quicken Loans failed to provide plaintiff (and a class of others) with a credit score disclosure notice as required by the Fair Credit Reporting Act.	12/15/2017
Hill and Hyde v. Quicken Loans Inc. III. Regulatory and Administrative Matters

As a non-depository mortgage company, Quicken Loans is regulated by and subject to various state agencies that oversee and regulate mortgage lending and the activities of bank and/or non-bank financial institutions. These state agencies are generally authorized to: issue licenses or registrations where state law requires; conduct periodic on-site or remote audits or examinations of the regulated institution's books, files and practices; investigate consumer complaints; issue findings of audit or compliance variances that may require refunds to borrowers for charges beyond those permitted under the state's laws or regulations; assess fines or penalties if administrative rules are not adhered to, and/or require other corrective actions to be taken.

These agencies also have the authority to seek revocation of an institution's or individual's license or registration to operate as a mortgage lender or loan originator in the state. In the ordinary course of business and in any given year, Quicken Loans participates in and responds to numerous regular periodic state examinations. If the state agency issues a finding, Quicken Loans may dispute that finding and/or attempt to reconcile any differences of opinion. In other instances, Quicken Loans may undertake corrective action before being required to do so by the state regulator. In some states, the state's attorney general may also investigate consumer complaints regarding mortgage lending and issue subpoenas, commence informal inquiries or formal investigations. As a licensed mortgage company Quicken Loans is, in the ordinary course of business, subject to such inquiries and investigations. Although Quicken Loans may currently be subject to various state examinations and consumer complaint inquiries, management does not believe the outcomes of these examinations or inquiries, individually or in the aggregate, will materially affect Quicken Loans' consolidated financial position or operations.

EXECUTION

OMNIBUS AMENDMENT TO THIRD AMENDED AND RESTATED MASTER REPURCHASE AGREEMENT, PRICING SIDE LETTER AND AMENDED AND RESTATED MARGIN, SETOFF AND MASTER NETTING AGREEMENT

Omnibus Amendment, dated as of April 20, 2020 (this "Amendment"), among Credit Suisse First Boston Mortgage Capital LLC (the "Administrative Agent"), Credit Suisse AG, a company incorporated in Switzerland, acting through its Cayman Islands Branch ("CS Cayman", a "Committed Buyer" and a "Buyer"), Alpine Securitization LTD ("Alpine" and a "Buyer") and other Buyers from time to time party to the Repurchase Agreement (collectively, the "Buyers"), Credit Suisse Securities (USA) LLC ("CS Securities"), Quicken Loans, LLC (f/k/a Quicken Loans Inc.) ("Quicken Loans" and a "Seller") and One Reverse Mortgage, LLC ("One Reverse", and together with Quicken Loans, the "Sellers").

RECITALS

The Administrative Agent, the Buyers, and the Sellers are parties to that certain (i) Third Amended and Restated Master Repurchase Agreement, dated as of May 24, 2017 (as amended, restated, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time, the "Existing Repurchase Agreement"; and as further amended by this Amendment, the "Repurchase Agreement") and (ii) Pricing Side Letter, dated as of May 24, 2017 (as amended, restated, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time, the "Existing Pricing Side Letter"; and as further amended by this Amendment, the "Pricing Side Letter"). The Administrative Agent, the Buyers, CS Securities and the Sellers are parties to that certain Amended and Restated Margin, Setoff and Master Netting Agreement, dated as of May 24, 2017 (as amended, restated, supplemented or otherwise modified from time to time, the "Existing Netting Agreement"; and as further amended by this Amendment, the "Netting Agreement"). Capitalized terms used but not otherwise defined herein shall have the meanings given to them in the Existing Repurchase Agreement, Existing Pricing Side Letter or Existing Netting Agreement, as applicable.

The Administrative Agent, the Buyers, CS Securities and the Sellers have agreed, subject to the terms and conditions of this Amendment, that the Existing Repurchase Agreement, Existing Pricing Side Letter and Existing Netting Agreement be amended to reflect certain agreed upon revisions to the terms of the Existing Repurchase Agreement, Existing Pricing Side Letter and Existing Netting Agreement.

Accordingly, the Administrative Agent, the Buyers, CS Securities and the Sellers hereby agree, in consideration of the mutual promises and mutual obligations set forth herein, that the Existing Repurchase Agreement, Existing Pricing Side Letter and Existing Netting Agreement are hereby amended as follows:

SECTION 1. Consent to Name Change and Conversion. Quicken Loans has informed Administrative Agent and Buyers that it intends to convert from a Michigan corporation to a Michigan limited liability company and change its name from "Quicken Loans Inc." to "Quicken Loans, LLC" (the "Conversion"). Quicken Loans hereby requests and Administrative Agent and Buyers hereby agree to (a) consent to the Conversion on the terms and conditions previously disclosed to Administrative Agent and Buyers and (b) waive any and all restrictions under the Program Documents solely to the extent breached as a direct result of the Conversion.

SECTION 2. Ratification of Security Interest. On and after the Conversion, Quicken Loans hereby ratifies and confirms that is has granted, assigned and pledged to Administrative Agent for the benefit of Buyers a fully perfected first priority security interest in the Repurchase Assets.

SECTION 3. Repurchase Agreement Amendments. The Existing Repurchase Agreement is hereby amended by:

3.1 deleting all references of "Quicken Loans Inc." in their entirety and replacing them with "Quicken Loans, LLC".

3.2 deleting the definition of "Sellers" in Section 2 in its entirety and replacing it with the following:

"Sellers" means Quicken Loans, LLC and One Reverse Mortgage, LLC or any of their permitted successors and assigns.

SECTION 4. Pricing Side Letter Amendments. The Existing Pricing Side Letter is hereby amended by deleting all references of "Quicken Loans Inc." in their entirety and replacing them with "Quicken Loans, LLC".

SECTION 5. Netting Agreement Amendments. The Existing Netting Agreement is hereby amended by deleting all references of "Quicken Loans Inc." in their entirety and replacing them with "Quicken Loans, LLC".

SECTION 6. Conditions Precedent. This Amendment shall become effective as of April 15, 2020 (the "Amendment Effective Date"), subject to the satisfaction of the following conditions precedent:

6.1 Security Interest. Evidence that all actions necessary to perfect the interest of the Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers, in the Repurchase Assets with respect to Quicken Loans have been taken, including, without limitation, duly authorized and filed Uniform Commercial Code financing statements on Form UCC-1 or Form UCC-3, as applicable.

6.2 Organizational Documents. A certificate of the secretary of Quicken Loans, substantially in form and substance acceptable to Administrative Agent on behalf of Buyers in its sole good faith discretion, attaching certified copies of Quicken Loan's formation and organizational documents and resolutions approving the Conversion and transactions thereunder (either specifically or by general resolution) and all documents evidencing other necessary entity action or governmental approvals as may be required in connection with the Program Documents.

6.3 Good Standing Certificate. A certified copy of a good standing certificate from the jurisdiction of organization of Quicken Loans.

6.4 Incumbency Certificate. An incumbency certificate of an officer of Quicken Loans certifying the names, true signatures and titles of the representatives duly authorized to request transactions under the Program Documents by execution of this Amendment.

6.5 Opinion of Counsel. An opinion of Quicken Loans' counsel addressing those matters as set forth in Section 10.a(6) of the Repurchase Agreement.

6.6 Insurance. Evidence that Quicken Loans' Fidelity Insurance and as a direct loss payee/right of action under its errors and omissions insurance policy has been updated to reflect the Conversion.

6.7 Delivered Documents. On the Amendment Effective Date, the Administrative Agent shall have received the following documents, each of which shall be satisfactory to the Administrative Agent in form and substance:

(a) this Amendment, executed and delivered by duly authorized officers of the Administrative Agent, the Buyers, CS Securities and the Sellers;

(b) Power of Attorney, executed and delivered by duly authorized officers, as applicable, of Quicken Loans;

(c) Amendment No. 1 to Amended and Restated Custodial Agreement, executed and delivered by duly authorized officers, as applicable, of the Administrative Agent, Buyers, the Sellers and the Custodian;

(d) Amendment No. 1 to Amended and Restated Electronic Tracking Agreement, executed and delivered by duly authorized officers, as applicable, of the Administrative Agent, Buyers, Quicken Loans, MERSCORP Holdings, Inc. and Mortgage Electronic Registration Systems, Inc.; and

(e) Amendment No. 1 to Controlled Collateral Account Service Agreement, executed and delivered by duly authorized officers of Administrative Agent, Quicken Loans and JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A.

SECTION 7. Representations and Warranties. Each Seller hereby represents and warrants to the Administrative Agent that it is in compliance with all the terms and provisions set forth in the Repurchase Agreement on its part to be observed or performed, and that no Event of Default has occurred or is continuing, and hereby confirms and reaffirms the representations and warranties contained in Section 13 of the Repurchase Agreement.

SECTION 8. Limited Effect. Except as expressly amended and modified by this Amendment, the Existing Repurchase Agreement, Existing Pricing Side Letter and Existing Netting Agreement shall continue to be, and shall remain, in full force and effect in accordance with its terms. From and after the Amendment Effective Date, all references to the Seller in the Repurchase Agreement, the Pricing Side Letter, the Participation Agreement and the other Program Agreements shall be deemed to refer to the Seller, as converted pursuant to the Conversion.

SECTION 9. Severability. Each provision and agreement herein shall be treated as separate and independent from any other provision or agreement herein and shall be enforceable notwithstanding the unenforceability of any such other provision or agreement.

SECTION 10. Counterparts. This Amendment may be executed by each of the parties hereto on any number of separate counterparts, each of which shall be an original and all of which taken together shall constitute one and the same instrument. Delivery of an executed counterpart of a signature page of this Amendment in Portable Document Format (PDF) or by facsimile shall be effective as delivery of a manually executed original counterpart of this Amendment. The parties agree that this Amendment, any addendum or amendment hereto or any other document necessary for the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Amendment may be accepted, executed or agreed to through the use of an electronic signature in accordance with the Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act, 15 U.S.C. § 7001 et seq, Official Text of the Uniform Electronic Transactions Act as approved by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws at its Annual Conference on July 29, 1999 and any applicable state law. Any document accepted, executed or agreed to in conformity with such laws will be binding on all parties hereto to the same extent as if it were physically executed and each party hereby consents to the use of any secure third party electronic signature capture service with appropriate document access tracking, electronic signature tracking and document retention as may be approved by the Administrative Agent in its sole discretion.

SECTION 11. GOVERNING LAW. THIS AMENDMENT SHALL BE CONSTRUED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE LAWS OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, AND THE OBLIGATIONS, RIGHTS AND REMEDIES OF THE PARTIES HEREUNDER SHALL BE DETERMINED IN ACCORDANCE WITH SUCH LAWS.
